OATH OF OFFICE.

By direction of the President, the officers just elected proceeded to the bar of the Senate and there took and subscribed to the following oath of office, administered by the President of the Senate:

I do solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office to which I have recently been elected according to the best of my ability.

RESOLUTION.

Senator Cutter offered the following resolution, and moved its adoption:

Resolved, That the standing rules of the Senate at the thirty-third session be and they are hereby adopted as the temporary rules of the Senate, except that Rule 1 be amended to read:

RULE 1.

The sessions of the Senate shall be daily (Sundays excepted), beginning at eleven o'clock A. M., unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

And further excepting that Rule 35 be amended to read:

RULE 35.

The following standing committee shall be appointed by the President of the Senate:
1. Rules and Revision—three members.

Resolution read and adopted.

TEMPORARY RULES OF THE SENATE.

1. Time of Meeting of Senate.

The sessions of the Senate shall be daily (Sundays excepted), beginning at eleven o'clock A. M., unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

2. Calling to Order—Reading Journal.

The President shall call the Senate to order at the hour stated, and, if a quorum be present, the journal of the proceedings of the preceding day shall be read, unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

3. Order of Business.

1. Roll Call.
2. Prayer by the Chaplain.
3. Reading and Approving of the Journal of the Preceding Day.
4. Presentation of Petitions.
5. Motions, Resolutions, and Notices.
6. Reports of Standing Committees.
7. Reports of Select Committees.
8. Messages from the Assembly.
9. Introduction and First Reading of Bills.
10. Consideration of Daily File.
11. Unfinished Business.
12. Special Orders of the Day.

13. Reports from the Committee on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills shall at all times be in order; provided, that the messages from State officers, other than the Governor, and from the Assembly, may, on motion of any Senator, be considered at any time.

4. President pro tem.—His Powers and Privileges.

The President pro tem. shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same power as the President; but the President pro tem. shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

5. The Duties of Secretary.

1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every day, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers handed to him for that purpose by any member.

2. To superintend all copying and work necessary to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all officers and employes of the Senate, other than the President of the Senate. To certify to, and transmit to the Assembly, all bills, resolutions, and other papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly on the concurrence or disagreement by the Senate in any vote of the Assembly.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

6. To assign to the Assistant Secretaries, and other officers, the duties pertaining to their offices.

6. Attendance, Duties, and Obligations of Senators.

No Senator shall absent himself from the service of the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators, as the majority of such Senators present shall agree, at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance shall be made as the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum thereof, shall have the power to issue process, directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process, unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

7. Reading of a Paper, if Objected to, Determined Without Debate.

When the reading of a paper is called for (except petitions), and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the Senate without debate. But this rule is not applicable to any bill, resolution, amendment, or other proposition which may be at the time directly under consideration.

8. Senators Must Address the President.

Every Senator, when he speaks, shall, standing in his place, address the President, and when he has finished he shall sit down.

No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken shall desire to do so.

9. The Senators Entitled to Floor.

When two or more Senators rise at once, the President shall name the Senator who is to speak first.

10. Printing.

Five hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator, and a number equal to the committee to which such bill is referred, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

11. Number of Copies to Be Printed.

Five hundred copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered unless the Senate specially direct a different number.

12. Executive Session.

On a motion, made and seconded, to close the doors of the Senate on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of Senate, Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said motion the doors shall remain closed; and every member and officer of the Senate shall keep secret all such matters, proceedings, and things whereof secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

13. Printing the Daily Journal.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall print five hundred copies of the Journal of every day's proceedings of the Senate to supply Senators and Assemblymen daily, during the session, with the Journal of the previous day's proceedings; and also a sufficient number of copies, with proper repaging, to bind at the end of the session of the Legislature, in book form, as the Journal of the Senate, required by law.

14. Committees—When to Report.

All committees of the Senate shall report their action on all bills referred to them before January 25th within ten days, except that all bills referred to them on and after January 25th shall be reported within five days, unless otherwise specially ordered, and when such extension of time is ordered the Senate shall state the length of time, and the Secretary shall make record of the same in a book kept for that purpose.

15. Bills "Passed on File," Placed at Foot of File.

When bills have been "passed on file" for the second time, they must be placed at the foot of the file in their regular order, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate by reason of the absence of the author.

16. Standing Committees, Quorum of—What Constitutes.

The standing committees shall determine the number of such committees which shall constitute a quorum; provided, that not less than one third of the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum.

17. Author to Speak Last.

The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

18. Form of Previous Question—Call of Senate.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present, upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the seconding of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order; but after a majority of Senators shall have seconded such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

19. Order of Questions on Motion to Refer.

When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject, and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

20. Order of Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered to the Engrossing Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate, and the receipt, in writing, of the Engrossing Clerk taken therefor; and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by said Engrossing Clerk. And all Senate bills shall, after their final passage by and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered to the Enrolling Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, and the receipt, in writing, of said Enrolling Clerk taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled by the Enrolling Clerk in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

21. Printing for the Senate.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary.

The Secretary may, when necessity requires, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

22. Petitions.

Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate, shall be entered on the Journal.

23. No Records or Papers to be Taken from Desk.

The Secretary of the Senate shall not suffer any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper, to be printed, to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills, and take their receipt therefor.

24. Appointment of Committees.

All standing committees of the Senate shall be named by the President of the Senate, unless otherwise ordered, and the first named shall be the chairman thereof. All other committees shall be appointed in such manner as the Senate shall determine.

25. Assembly Bills to be Read First Time.

All Assembly bills shall be read the first time, when taken up in Assembly messages, and then referred to the proper committee.

26. Oaths and Affirmations.

The oaths and affirmations required by the Constitution, and prescribed by law, shall be taken and subscribed by each Senator in open Senate, before entering upon his duties.

27. Resolutions.

Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), titles of bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments shall be printed in the Journal in full.

28. Special Orders.

Any subject may, by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate, unless there is unfinished business of the preceding day; and if it is not finally disposed of on that day, is to take its place on the file of special orders in the order of time at which it was made special, unless it become, by adjournment, the unfinished business.

29. Voting.

When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

30. Reconsideration.

When a bill, resolution, amendment, order, or message, upon which a vote has been taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be accompanied by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

31. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill or resolution has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the majority; and it shall not be in order for any Senator to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and it shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill has been passed or defeated. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

32. Secretary, upon Notice of Reconsideration, Not to Report Bill to Assembly.

If a Senator give notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not report the bill or resolution to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has been ordered transmitted to the Assembly.

33. Motion to Reconsider May Be Debated.

A Senator, after a notice of motion to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 31, may, at the time of consideration of such motion, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same may be debated by the Senate.

34. Reference of Bills to Finance Committee.

All bills or resolutions appropriating money from any fund within the control of the State, shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time.

35. Standing Committee.

The following standing committee shall be appointed by the President of the Senate :
1. Rules and Revision ; three members.

36. Amendments to Original Question.

An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contain several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided ; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. But the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert ; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. And motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

37. Engrossed Bills to be Examined and Reported.

All bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossed Bills, the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly, with the proper indorsements, and the original retained by the Senate.

38. Engrossed Bills Have Preference.

All bills, after the second reading (if the same be not committed, then upon being reported), shall be placed upon a general file, and shall be taken up for consideration and passage in the order of their being placed on file.

39. Amendments and Substitutes.

Substitutes may be offered at any time when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment ; and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment.

40. Amendments and Substitutes Must Be Germane.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or substitute.

41. Least Sum and Shortest Time in Filling Blanks.

In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

42. Short of Final Question, Two-Thirds Vote Not Requisite on Propositions to Amend Constitution.

When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two thirds shall not be required to decide any question for amendment, or extending to the merits, being short of the final question.

43. Leave of Absence.

When leave of absence shall be granted to any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by two-thirds vote, and no expenses or mileage of attachés shall be allowed.

44. Claims on Contingent Fund Must Go to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

No claim shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate until the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

45. Order of Privileged Questions Under Debate.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order :

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely

46. Motion Not to be Debated until Seconded and Announced.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President ; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn at any time before amendment.

47. Senator When Called to Order Must Sit Down.

When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not ; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the exceptional language shall immediately be taken down in writing.

48. Final Question on Second Reading of Bill—No Amendment on Third Reading, but May Commit.

The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate, and requiring three readings previous to being passed, shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed and read the third time?" And no amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions.

49. Ayes and Noes—Members Must Answer—No Vote After Announcement of Vote.

When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the decision is announced from the chair.

50. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same; and the title shall be announced from the Secretary's desk, shall be read the first time, when it shall be referred to a standing committee. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless, in case of urgency, two thirds of the Senate shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision), and the last reading shall be at length. The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator have objected to such reading). Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be read but once, unless the Senate, by a majority vote of all the Senators present, otherwise directs.

51. The General File: Its Hours—Special Order of Bills on File.

The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may hereafter set, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration; and this order shall take precedence of all others.

52. Titles of Bills Must Be in Journal.

The titles of bills, and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by proposed amendments, shall be inserted in the Journal.

53. When Not in Committee of the Whole, Proceedings Must Be Entered in Journal.

The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as Committee of the Whole, shall be entered on the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

54. Rules in Senate and Committee of the Whole.

The rules of the Senate shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times of speaking, and except that the ayes and noes shall not be taken.

55. Cases Not Provided for, Cushing to Govern.

In all cases not provided for by these rules, the Senate shall be governed by the laws and practice as laid down in Cushing's Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies.

56. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of three fifths, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of three fifths of the Senators present, except that portion of Rule 52 relating to the final passage of bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

57. Powers and Prerogatives of President.

The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the Journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to reporters.

58. President May Order Lobbies Cleared.

In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.

59. President May Call Senators to the Chair.

The President shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the Chair, who is hereby vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

60. Sergeant-at-Arms.

A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate, from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof as shall be directed to him by the President. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms, for every arrest, for each day's custody and releasement, and the traveling expense for himself and special messenger, going and returning, shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators, to prepare checks, and, if required so to do, draw the money on such checks for the Senators (the same being previously signed by the President, and indorsed by the Senator or person to whom the check is made), and pay over the same to the Senator or person entitled thereto.

61. Messengers—When Introduced.

Messengers are introduced in any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes and noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

62. Doorkeeper.

It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to prohibit all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such reporters as have seats assigned them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless invited by the President, or a Senator, and to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found engaged in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise, to the disturbance of the Senate.

63. Executive Communications and Nominations.

When executive communications or nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Executive Communications and Nominations, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

64. Printed Bills, Etc., Must Be Placed on Desks.

All bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, when printed, must be placed on the desks of Senators at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

65. San Francisco Delegation.

The members of the Senate from the City and County of San Francisco shall constitute a standing committee, to be known as the San Francisco Delegation.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 1.

WHEREAS, The quarantine which this State has maintained against the introduction of insect pests and plant diseases has been of immeasurable benefit to our horticultural and agricultural interests; and

WHEREAS, There is now before Congress a bill which was introduced by Hon. Mr. Wadsworth, and is entitled "H. R. Bill No. 96," and which bill provides for a national quarantine against such pests and plant diseases; and

WHEREAS, The operation of this bill would be very beneficial to the horticultural interests, and especially to the citrus fruit industry; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly. That we respectfully, but urgently, request the Congress of the United States to enact said bill, "H. R. No. 96," at its present session, thereby securing to our horticultural interests immunity from further insect enemies, and to the citrus fruit growers freedom from the introduction of the orange fruit maggot.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be directed to immediately telegraph these resolutions to the Honorable President of the Senate and the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

PRAYER.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. W. C. Evans.

READING OF THE JOURNAL.

The Journal of Tuesday, January 8, 1901, was read.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Davis:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby instructed to rent the necessary number of typewriting machines for the use of the stenographers of the Senate, and the Controller of State is hereby authorized to draw his warrants for the amount of the rental, and the Treasurer is directed to pay the same—the same payable out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate.

Resolution read and adopted.

By Senator Luchsinger:

Resolved, That the Controller of State be and he is hereby directed to draw his warrant for fifteen dollars ($15.00), in favor of the Secretary of the Senate, payable from the Contingent Fund of the Senate, to be used as a revolving fund for the purchase of stamps, wrappers, and envelopes at the Senate Postoffice.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Contingent Expenses, when appointed.

By Senator Smith of Los Angeles:

WHEREAS, It has come to the knowledge of this Senate that there has been taken from this life Dr. J. J. Nutt of San Diego, the father of Hon. A. E. Nutt, member of this Senate; therefore, be it Resolved, That the Senate hereby express its heartfelt sympathy to the Hon. A. E. Nutt and the members of his family for their great bereavement.

Resolved, That when this Senate adjourns, it is out of respect to the memory of the deceased.

Resolution read, and by standing vote adopted.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Senator Nutt was, on motion of Senator Smith of Los Angeles, granted leave of absence until Saturday, January 12, 1901.

RESOLUTIONS—(CONTINUED).

By Senator Simpson:

Resolved, That the Controller be and he is hereby directed to deliver to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or his bookkeeper, all the warrants of the members of the Senate, and the officers and attachés thereof, taking his receipt therefor.

Resolution read and adopted.

By Senator Tyrell of Nevada:

Resolved, That the Controller of State be and he is hereby directed to draw his warrant in favor of the Secretary of the Senate for the sum of seventy-five dollars ($75.00), for rubber stamps, expressage, and contingent expenses, the same payable out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Contingent Expenses, when appointed.

By Senator Cutter:

Resolved, That the Lieutenant-Governor, Hon. J. H. Neff, be and he is hereby allowed twenty-five ($25.00) for contingent expenses, as allowed to the members of the Senate, payable out of the appropriation for the contingent expense of the Senate. The Controller is hereby directed to draw his warrant for and the Treasurer to pay the same.

Resolution read.

Senator Cutter moved that the rules be suspended for the purpose of immediately considering the resolution.

The question being on the suspension of the rules.

The roll was called, and the rules suspended by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Belshaw, Bettman, Burnett, Byrnes, Caldwell, Corlett, Currier, Curtin, Cutter, Davis, Devlin, Flint, Goad, Greenwell, Hoey, Laird, Lardner, Leavitt, Luchsinger, Lukens, Maggard, Muentner, Oneal, Plunkett, Rowell, Selvage, Shortridge, Simpson, Sims, Smith of Kern, Smith of Los Angeles, Taylor, Tyrrell of Nevada, Tyrrell of San Francisco, Welch, and Wolfe—36.

NOS—None.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called, and the resolution adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Belshaw, Bettman, Burnett, Byrnes, Caldwell, Corlett, Currier, Curtin, Cutter, Davis, Devlin, Flint, Goad, Greenwell, Hoey, Laird, Lardner, Leavitt, Luchsinger, Lukens, Maggard, Muenter, Nelson, Oneal, Plunkett, Rowell, Selva, Shortridge, Simpson, Sims, Smith of Kern, Smith of Los Angeles, Taylor, Tyrrell of Nevada, Tyrrell of San Francisco, Welch, and Wolfe—37.

INTRODUCTION OF JOINT RESOLUTIONS.

The following joint resolutions were introduced:

By Senator Belshaw: Senate Joint Resolution No. 3—Relative to Chinese and Japanese, and other alien pauper labor immigration into the United States.

Referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

By Senator Lukens: Senate Joint Resolution No. 4—Relative to petitioning Congress for the protection of American labor, etc., against Chinese and Japanese competition.

Referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

By Senator Wolfe: Senate Joint Resolution No. 5—Relative to Chinese and Japanese, and other alien pauper labor immigration into the United States.

Referred to Committee on Federal Relations.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

On motion of Senator Simpson, the following message from the Governor was taken up for consideration:

FIRST BIENNIAL MESSAGE OF GOVERNOR HENRY T. GAGE TO THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, January 7, 1901. }

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: In presenting to your honorable bodies the suggestions in this first biennial message of my administration, I am most deeply moved by my sense of public duty and public responsibility.

We all have in view the public weal, but as your powers are the highest and most extensive under the Constitution, I confide in your integrity and ability that when public duty demands I may receive from your honorable bodies ready and responsive assistance.

CAREFUL EXAMINATION OF ALL BILLS BY THE LEGISLATORS A PUBLIC DUTY.

The evil of an individual, as a general rule, affects him alone, for his power of injuring the few around him can be summarily restrained; but the wrong of a bad law affects the whole community, and its poison may spread before discovery, and the injury may be irreparable, though afterward annulled by a decision of a court or repealed by an act of a future Legislature.

Hence it becomes your duty not to rely upon the Executive, with his limited assistance, for a remedy by way of veto, but you should carefully scrutinize each measure introduced, both in committee and in the house. Your familiarity with the history of bills and your opportunity of hearing discussions thereon give you an advantage, for this purpose, over the Executive. Nor should you rely exclusively upon the mere reports of committees. It often happens that the hard-worked members of committees have little or no opportunity for a thorough examination of an obnoxious measure, and only approve it through courtesy, and the house, in turn, relies upon the mere formal approval of such committee.

THE EVIL OF LEGISLATIVE BARGAINS.

My confidence in the integrity of the representatives selected by the people is such that I have never harbored a fear that any of the splendid representative bodies, of whatever party, who have met at this capital, would consciously tolerate a wrong against the people of the State.

It is, however, a significant fact that where many able and honorable men meet as legislators, having necessarily variant views as to prudence and economy in the expenditure of public money, there compromises and trades are made, resulting in unconscious extravagance through excessive appropriations.

Experience in office since my inauguration has confirmed the view which I then took with respect to legislative trading, and I beg leave to repeat the following words from my Inaugural Address:

"In the heat of legislative business, agreements have been made with fellow legislators having other measures to be passed, by which votes have been exchanged, and thereby excessive appropriations have passed both houses. On account of this system of bartering in votes, and the facility with which large appropriations have been obtained, the officers of these public institutions have become reckless and prodigal in the expenditure of public money."

I again advise against such legislative trading.

THE PEOPLE DEMAND ECONOMY.

While you are assembled, among other things, for the purpose of legislating and providing appropriations for the maintenance of the several institutions of the State, the people demand that the law-making power be exercised with circumspection and economy; hence over-legislation is an evil in this regard, as well as direct waste in the expenditure of the State's funds.

Commenting upon the subject of over-legislation, Alexander Hamilton, in one of the numbers of the "Federalist," wrote as follows:

"It poisons the blessing of liberty itself. It will be of little avail to the people that the laws are made by men of their own choice, if the laws be so voluminous that they cannot be read, or so incoherent that they cannot be understood; if they be repealed or revised before they are promulgated, or undergo such incessant changes that no man, who knows what the law is to-day, can guess what it will be to-morrow. Law is defined to be a rule of action; but how can that be a rule, which is little known, and less fixed?"

The wisdom of these observations of that eminent statesman will doubtlessly meet with your approval. In addition to the policy of avoidance of over-legislation, your constituents are intensely interested in the prudent management of the State's income.

The legislative power to appropriate and expend the public money is a most solemn trust. This power, when prudently exercised, gives vitality to the State; but when that power is so used as to result in extravagance and waste, thereby burdening the people with unnecessarily high taxes, such misuse of the power is the worst form of tyranny.

PRESENT NEED FOR ECONOMY—CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

The people at the last general election adopted Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 6, exempting from taxation all buildings and real property upon which the same are situated used exclusively for religious worship; also Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 23, exempting from taxation the trusts and estates created for the founding, endowment and maintenance of the Leland Stanford Junior University; and further adopted Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 14, exempting from taxation all property now or hereafter belonging to "The California School of Mechanical Arts."

The exemption from taxation of so much property will necessarily throw the burden upon the remaining property now subject to taxation; hence the State rate of taxation will necessarily be somewhat higher, unless the strictest economy be exercised.

In order to prevent this increase in the State tax rate, I most urgently appeal to you to exercise such economy as is compatible with the necessities of each case, by preventing the passage of excessive appropriations, and of laws creating unnecessary offices, with their incidental charges against the State.

I would likewise suggest that the number of employes in your honorable bodies be reduced to a useful minimum, so that this Legislature may surpass by its economy and efficiency all previous Legislatures, not only because it is your public duty so to do, but as well for the honor which it will bring to you all as legislators, and for the credit it will afford to the party which has nominated and elected a majority of your members, upon the pledge of an economic and able administration.

APPROPRIATIONS SHOULD NOT BE MADE PAYABLE IMMEDIATELY.

I beg leave to repeat my advice, which my experience in office has confirmed, given in my Inaugural Address, where I used the following language:

"Another mistake on the part of legislators has been to make all appropriations payable immediately out of the General Fund, instead of authorizing such payments to be made, as they should be, at least six or ten months thereafter out of future revenue receipts. Such mistaken policy depletes the treasury by adding to the existing demands the amounts of such new appropriations. This is a grave financial wrong. By this improper practice the money in the General Fund, which ought only to be expended for the payment of justly accrued demands, is diverted from its purpose, so that a transfer of money from special funds is required to make up the deficit, it being necessary afterward to reimburse such special funds from the tax receipts of the next fiscal year. This system is not only unwise, but not warranted by good governmental policy. Each fund should remain intact, to be devoted to the special purposes authorized by law. The State, as well as each department of it, should live within its actual means."

The revenues for the year 1901 will not be available until after January 1, 1902; hence all appropriations other than those necessary for the actual conduct of the State government, which are usually embraced in the general appropriation act, should be made payable out of such future revenues.

This plan, as suggested by me and adopted by the Legislature in 1899, enabled the administration to conduct the State affairs without adopting the method pursued by many of my predecessors of transferring money from special funds to meet accrued demands against the General Fund.

NECESSITY FOR THE EXCLUSION OF CHINESE AND JAPANESE LABORERS.

The people of California, from their experience in the past, and in view of their prominent seacoast position with respect to the ports of the Orient, have reason to dread the immigration of Chinese and Japanese laborers into this State, a fear justly founded and shared in by the American workmen of other States. It is essential, therefore, that American labor shall be protected against competing Mongolian labor. Our tariff laws, while protecting the products of labor, require as a supplement the exclusion of Chinese and Japanese laborers.

The party, both National and State, which has nominated the majority of your honorable bodies, is pledged to the protection of American labor, and I am satisfied that our great President is wholly in sympathy with every measure, and is determined to maintain American labor at its high standard of skill and intelligence, and to assist in the making of all treaties and the approval of laws which will protect that labor from foreign competition.

On May 5, 1892, an Act of Congress, entitled "An Act to prohibit the coming of Chinese persons into the United States," was approved, which Act was, in addition to previous Acts of Congress, intended to more effectually exclude the immigration of Chinese laborers. By the terms of this Act the law is continued in force for the term of ten years from its passage, so that Act will expire in May next year (1902).

A convention concerning the subject of emigration between the United States of America and the empire of China was concluded and signed by the respective plenipotentiaries at the City of Washington, D. C., on March 17, 1894, and ratifications exchanged at the same city on December 7, 1894, by the terms of which convention, among other things, China agreed to the exclusion from the United States of further Chinese laborers, and also assented in direct terms to the enforcement of the provisions of the Act of Congress of May 5, 1892, as amended by an Act approved November 3, 1893.

By Article VI. of this convention it is provided as follows: "This convention shall remain in force for a period of ten years, beginning with the date of the exchange of ratifications, and if six months before the expiration of said period of ten years neither government shall have formally given notice of its final termination to the other, it shall remain in full force for another like period of ten years."

It will be perceived from the above language of Article VI that the convention is terminable by either of the nations, provided six months' notice be given before the expiration of ten years, so that in December, 1904, there is a possibility of this convention being terminated by the action of China. But there is another feature of the convention which may require action on the part of the United States before the expiration of the period limited which might require a revision of its terms.

Article I of the said convention reads as follows: "The High Contracting Parties agree that for a period of ten years, beginning with the date of the exchange of ratifications of this convention, the coming, except under the conditions hereinafter specified, of Chinese laborers to the United States shall be absolutely prohibited."

Since December 7, 1894, the date of the exchange of ratifications, we have acquired additional territory, both by annexation and war. Questions of the rights and privileges of subjects of China, while in the Philippines and the other islands acquired from Spain, may arise, and contentions by the Chinese diplomats are possible that inasmuch as the contracting parties had not in view future territory conquered or acquired by the United States of America, but only the United States as then bounded and known, and that when the United States assumed the sovereignty which Spain abdicated in its favor, this republic took that territory subject to the obligations which Spain owed to the Empire of China. Whether this possible plea be specious or not, it at least might pave the way for international discussion. To avoid all questions, therefore, Acts of Congress are necessary to be passed in order to afford protection to American labor, and the convention with China should be so revised as to cover beyond all question every part of the territory of the United States.

The peril from Chinese labor finds a similar danger in the unrestricted importation of Japanese laborers. The cheapness of that labor is likewise a menace to American labor, and a new treaty with Japan for such restriction as well as the passage of laws by Congress is desired for the protection of Americans.

I therefore most earnestly appeal to your honorable bodies for the passage, as a matter of urgency, of appropriate resolutions instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress for the immediate institution of all proper measures leading to the revision of the existing treaties with China and Japan, and the passage of all necessary laws and resolutions for the protection of American labor against the immigration of Oriental laborers.

BUBONIC PLAGUE SCARE.

The year 1900 began most prosperously for the people of this State, with the adjustment of the affairs of the different islands won by American valor and diplomacy from the kingdom of Spain. The rains of the preceding winter had allowed our farmers and fruit-growers to garner full crops, and the merchant and manufacturer, owing to the free communication with the Philippines, exhibited business activity, and a most profitable harvest was presaged for the people of the State. At this most favorable juncture for our people a fearful shadow was cast upon our State through the recklessness of certain city officials of San Francisco, assisted by a Federal officer, one Doctor Kinyoun.

Intimations were thrown out in the months of March and April last that the dreadful bubonic plague existed in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco. Secret consultations and alleged investigations were had by said city officials, in conjunction with the said Federal quarantine officer, and the result of such alleged investigations was that the Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital at Washington was informed by some of these ill-advised persons that the terrible plague was epidemic in the city of San Francisco. Theretofore cultures and slides containing genuine plague bacilli were imported into the State, and such cultures and slides were carried by certain physicians and others in their pockets while riding in cars and stopping at hotels and other public places.

Efforts were made by the said city officers to remove the Chinese from their quarters in San Francisco to Mission Rock, and the Chinese Consul of San Francisco communicated this attempted violation of the treaty rights to the United States Secretary of State, through the Chinese Minister at Washington.

During the course of these events a few sensational newspaper organs, like carrion birds, scented the subject, and boldly espoused the cause of the plague creators, publishing daily sensational accounts of suspected cases, and declaring them to be cases of plague. In the latter part of May, and until about the middle of June I spent some weeks in San Francisco, ably assisted by Hon. Daniel Kevane, Secretary of the Board of Examiners, and also by most eminent local physicians and bacteriologists, as well as by distinguished and level-minded citizens, in a careful, fair, and full examination of the matter. After a most impartial examination, in which I sought to be apprised of every fact from reliable sources which would tend to throw light upon the subject, I finally became convinced beyond doubt that the bubonic plague did not exist, and had not existed, notwithstanding the alarming reports to the contrary.

Could it have been possible that some dead body of a Chinaman had innocently or otherwise received a post-mortem inoculation in a lymphatic region by some one possessing the imported plague bacilli, and that honest people were thereby deluded?

On May 31, 1900, while in San Francisco conducting such investigation, I received a dispatch from His Excellency John Hay, Secretary of State at Washington, inquiring if the plague really existed, and requesting me to report at an early opportunity. I replied immediately that I was then investigating the matter, and would report as quickly as possible.

Thereafter, upon the 13th of June, 1900, my labors, occupying weeks, were completed, the different medical views maturely considered, and I was satisfied beyond all reasonable doubt that the bubonic plague had not been in the Chinese quarter of San Francisco nor in any other part of the city, nor in any part of the State.

I thereupon transmitted to His Excellency John Hay the following dispatch, which was signed and concurred in by the distinguished medical authorities and by the prominent citizens whose names appear below, to wit:

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13, 1900.

"To His Excellency JOHN HAY, Secretary of State, Washington, D. C.:

"SIR—In reply to your telegram of date May 31, I have the honor to report:

"First—That no case in San Francisco or California has been diagnosed as bubonic plague by any attending physician while the victim was alive, nor by the attending physician after death. In some of the suspected cases death has occurred when no regular physician was in attendance. There have been in all only eleven suspected cases among a population of 35,000 Chinese (15,000 of whom are quarantined), and no cases among whites and other races. The examinations made after death of the bodies of the suspected cases since the alleged discovery of the disease, more than three months ago, fail to furnish satisfactory proof of plague.

"Second—That the quarantined district contains upward of 15,000 Chinese subjects, 3,500 of whom are unable to support themselves by virtue of the quarantine.

"Third—That full and fair investigation has been denied the physicians of the Chinese by the City Board of Health.

"Fourth—That the Chinese were forced to appeal to the courts, and were then accorded the right of investigation into the cause of death of the dead suspects.

"Fifth—That since the procurement of the order of court, granting privilege to the white physicians of the quarantined Chinese to visit the sick and be present and take part in autopsies had, neither the City Board of Health nor Federal officers have been able to discover any bubonic plague case, dead or alive.

"Sixth—That there has been no epidemic in Chinatown.

"Seventh—That the municipal records show the proportion of deaths in Chinatown has been no greater than that of any other portion of San Francisco since the date of the discovery of the alleged plague in Chinatown.

"Eighth—That I cannot find proof that the plague alleged to be here is either infectious or contagious. I find no proof that any person has contracted it from another; and I further find that certain individuals who have been repeatedly exposed at autopsies and elsewhere to the alleged plague, and others who have moved about in the houses and rooms where the suspects expired, having done so without taking any precaution whatever against the supposed malady, have neither contracted the same nor spread the disease elsewhere.

"Ninth—That no two persons of the same family have contracted the disease, and that no two cases have occurred within the same house or building, no matter how great the exposure may have been.

"Tenth—That the medical gentlemen and experts of the City Board of Health and the Federal quarantine officers who have ventured the injurious opinions which have spread broadcast over the world the rumor of the existence of the dreadful plague in the great and healthful city of San Francisco have never seen a living case of plague; whereas, some among the physicians, surgeons and scientists with whom I have advised have had personal experience and wide opportunities in observing bubonic plague when it was raging in India and elsewhere, and they all pronounce the suspected cases here not bubonic plague.

"Eleventh—From the best light I have been able to procure, and from a most careful consideration of the whole subject, I am pleased to inform Your Excellency that I firmly believe no case of bubonic plague has at any time existed within the borders of our State.

"Twelfth—That if the cases referred to were genuine plague, even then the quarantine as conducted by the City Board of Health, in conjunction with the Federal quarantine officer, is discriminating against the Chinese, and also unreasonable, according to information derived from the highest authority here obtainable.

"Thirteenth—It is undetermined by the court whether the injunction referred to has been violated.

"Fourteenth—Since the report to Your Excellency involves, among other things, the question whether there is plague in Chinatown, and also vitally touches the commercial and other interests of San Francisco, as well as deeply concerns the welfare of the entire State, I have deemed it my duty to call into consultation distinguished physicians, surgeons and bacteriologists, able financiers and business men and others, as well as my eminent predecessor in office, the Hon. James H. Budd, some of whose names are, therefore, in concurrence hereto attached.

"HENRY T. GAGE.

"We concur in the foregoing conclusion that bubonic plague does not exist, and has not existed, within the State of California:

"Physicians of the Regular School: L. C. Lane, President Cooper Medical College; C. N. Ellinwood, M.D., Professor Cooper Medical College; Winslow Anderson, M.D., M.R.C.P. Lond., M.R.C.S. Eng., President College of Physicians and Surgeons of San Francisco.

"Physicians of the Homeopathic School: Edwin S. Breyfogle, M.D.

"Bankers, Merchants, Etc.: Levi Strauss, President of Levi Strauss & Co.; James H. Budd, former Governor of California; Wm. Alvord, President of Bank of California; Robert J. Tobin, Hibernia Savings and Loan Society; Adam Grant, of Murphy, Grant & Co.; Lewis Gerstle, President Alaska Commercial Company; Isaias W. Hellman, President Nevada National Bank; Henry F. Fortmann, President Alaska Packers Association; A. B. Spreckels."

Many other eminent bacteriologists and physicians whose names are not attached to said report participated in this most important investigation, reached similar conclusions, and concurred in the findings of the foregoing telegram.

While these events were transpiring, the City Board of Health of San Francisco had already quarantined the Chinese district, but a test case having been heard in the United States Circuit Court before the Hon. W. W. Morrow, Judge thereof, the city quarantine was held illegal by a decision rendered June 15, 1900. In the course of this decision the eminent Judge observed as follows:

"If it were within the province of this Court to decide the point, I should hold that there is not, and never has been, a case of plague in this city."

Upon the day following the decision of the Circuit Court and the raising of the quarantine about the Chinese district, Dr. J. J. Kinyoun, the Federal quarantine officer (who had been previously a party to some of the investigations of those favoring the plague scare) arbitrarily and without proper cause quarantined the entire State. This summary and unjustifiable action appalled our citizens. The fruit and other industries were threatened with ruin. Business was partly paralyzed. Gloom settled over our State, and the promise of a prosperous and happy ending of the year was dispelled. On the night of Saturday, June 16, 1900, the date of the arbitrary quarantine of Dr. Kinyoun, I telegraphed the President, appealing in behalf of the people of the State to release the quarantine, and I referred for the facts to my previous report to the United States Secretary of State. Appeals to the President were also made by the Republican State Central Committee and by its officers, and by many distinguished citizens irrespective of party, while the members of the California Republican Delegation to the Republican National Convention personally called upon the President at Washington, making similar appeals.

The President, being sufficiently advised of the true condition of affairs, acted promptly, and on Monday, June 18, 1900, he communicated with the Secretary of the Treasury, so that U. S. Surgeon-General Wyman was directed to order a release of the State quarantine, which was done at once.

Although our great and just President acted almost immediately when the injustice of Dr. Kinyoun and the said certain city officials of San Francisco was submitted to him, still, prior to the establishment of the quarantine, other States in the Union, being misled by the reports from the said officials who fostered the plague scare, quarantined against us, a course which was followed by the Republic of Mexico and a few other foreign States. Even yet, on account of the reports of the said city officers and of Dr. Kinyoun, the State of Texas continues an unjust quarantine against us, checking travel and interfering with the shipment of our commodities.

Assuming that we are fully justified in believing that the false reports of the plague, which were temporarily credited at Washington, in other States and in foreign countries, were innocently circulated, may we not have cause to think that in certain instances, when prosecuting scientific investigations within this State, with all sorts of slides, cultures, etc., for the purposes of discovery and comparison, some investigator innocently caused slides and cultures containing genuine imported bacilli to be accidentally mixed with or substituted for harmless slides and cultures prepared from human suspects, and in that way the medical department in Washington as well as in this State were deceived and induced to foster the false reports?

I personally know, with respect to some of the same subjects, officially reported as plague-stricken, that where lymph was taken from such subjects under my direction and most carefully watched and handled, no such results were produced under the microscope or upon animals as those reported by Dr. Kinyoun. When this Federal quarantine officer reported that his inoculated animals died of plague, those inoculated under my direction fattened and thrived.

In the glands which were taken during my investigation for experiment and examination, extreme care was taken to guard against tampering, and to prevent them from being mixed with imported slides and cultures.

Under such circumstances would it not be fair and just to assume that by accident some one erred in the selection of slides and cultures, if such results as those reported by Dr. Kinyoun were in truth obtained? But at all events it must be remembered that Dr. Kinyoun, who has been so persistently obstinate in his reports of plague, never had any experience with the disease proper, his experience being derived wholly from books and laboratory work, and not from practice among victims of the plague, as was stated in my report, above set forth, to His Excellency John Hay.

Notwithstanding some official and private reports to the contrary, I am still convinced that up to this time no case of bubonic plague has existed in this State: and with ordinary vigilance of the Federal quarantine officers to prevent its importation from foreign countries, none will exist in the State, unless through the criminal negligence or connivance of those who might possess genuine imported bacilli, and who would be interested in planting the dread disease in our midst.

The false reports of the existence of the plague and the unjust quarantine of the State irreparably injured many of our business interests and numerous industries of the State. Travel was stopped to California, and visiting tourists made haste to leave our State. The prices of California fruits and cereals shrunk, and in the markets of other States this placard was observable: "No California Fruits for Sale." Our commodities were for sale at a discount in foreign markets, and the reputation of this State as a Mecca for health-seekers has been blackened for years to come.

It is unnecessary to go further into details of our injuries as a people, in view of our widely-known bitter experience.

EXTREME DANGER FROM THE IMPORTATION AND HANDLING OF PLAGUE BACILLI—RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LEGISLATION.

The deadly character of the bubonic plague germs is such that medical authorities are agreed that such bacilli are transmissible, not only by secretions and excretions, but also from man to man, from animals, insects, and from objects, as well as from the soil.

The awful nature of this disease, and the necessity for the State taking all precautions against its importation, will be appreciated from the following excerpts from the pamphlet on the bubonic plague written by Dr. Walter Wyman, Surgeon-General of the United States Marine Hospital Service (the superior officer of Dr. Kinyoun), and published at Washington by the Government Printing Office. Dr. Wyman says:

"In the Christian era it is not until the sixth century that we find bubonic plague in Europe. In 542 it spread over Egypt, and passed to Constantinople, where it carried off 10,000 persons in one day, and in the same century appeared in Italy, and extended also along the northern coast of Africa. It prevailed in England in the seventh century. In the fourteenth century it was introduced from the East and prevailed throughout Armenia, Asia Minor, Egypt, Northern Africa, and nearly the whole of Europe. Hecker calculates that one fourth of the population of Europe, or 25,000,000 persons, died in all of the epidemics in the fourteenth century. It was in this century that the first measures were taken to check the spread of the plague, Venice appointing in 1348 three guardians of the public health for this purpose. In the fifteenth century it recurred frequently in nearly all parts of Europe, in one year, 1466, the mortality reaching 40,000. The first quarantine establishment was founded in this century, namely, at Venice, in 1403, on a small island adjoining the city. The sixteenth century was not more free from plague than the fifteenth. In 1572 50,000 died at Lyons. In 1576 Venice lost 70,000. In the seventeenth century it still prevailed in Europe, though less widely than in the middle ages. In 1656 one of the most destructive of all recorded epidemics raged at Naples. It is said to have carried off 300,000 in a period of five months. The great plague of London was in 1664 and 1665.

"The total number of deaths in 1665, according to the bills of mortality, was 68,596 in an estimated population of 460,000, out of whom two thirds are supposed to have fled to escape contagion. In the eighteenth century it prevailed extensively in Europe, the most notable epidemics being in Marseilles (1720), when from 40,000 to 60,000 persons were carried off. In 1721 it appeared at Toulon and spread over Provence, and out of a population of 250,000 persons, 87,659 are said to have died. Sicily was visited in 1743, namely, at Messina, where the mortality was between 40,000 and 50,000. In 1771 it broke out in Moscow, and more than 50,000 persons, nearly one quarter of the population, were carried off."

Again on page 8 of the pamphlet, Dr. Wyman, speaking of the appearance of the plague subsequent to 1893, observes:

"Through the channels as detailed above has resulted an epidemic outbreak, which in Bombay (presidency) alone, has resulted in 220,907 cases, with the enormous mortality of 164,083; in Hongkong, 1,600 cases, with 1,541 deaths; Amoy, within a limited period, 540 deaths; Calcutta, approximately, 500 deaths, and in Formosa, 2,468 cases, with 1,866 deaths."

That danger may result from the use of plague bacilli in scientific experiments, is evidenced by the comment of Dr. Wyman upon the Austrian cases, where he says:

"Cases in Vienna, resulting from accidental inoculation while studying the disease in one of the laboratories, were controlled, and were limited to the two original victims and a physician and a nurse who ministered to them. The same may be recorded of a case introduced into Trieste, Austria."

The importation and possession of such deadly germs is, therefore, fraught with danger to the people, and should be prohibited by law. Who can tell what an unscrupulous or negligent man, scientific or otherwise, might not do while possessing plague bacilli, and knowing how to use the same? Why should not the people be protected against the importation by scientific men of these dangerous microbes, as well as to be guarded by quarantine regulations against the victims of the disease? Convinced as I am that the actions of those persons who, during the recent plague scare, carried about with them these deadly imported bacilli, were full of recklessness, if not bordering on criminal lines, I now urge that vigorous laws be passed, so as to prevent such actions in the future. I recommend the passage of laws, carefully drawn, relating to this subject, in substance, as follows:

First—That it be made a felony, punishable with an extreme penalty of life imprisonment, for any person for any purpose to import or bring or cause to be imported or brought into this State, or to have in his possession within this State, without the written authority of the State Board of Health, approved by the Executive, any plague bacilli, or plague cultures, or plague slides, and also that attempts to accomplish the same purpose be made punishable as ordinary felonies.

Second—That it be made a felony, punishable with an extreme penalty of life imprisonment, for any person for any purpose, within this State, to develop bubonic plague cultures, or to make cultures or slides from any plague subject or so-called plague suspect, or to take tissue, glands, or lymph from any plague subject or suspect, or to otherwise operate upon the body of any plague subject or suspect, or to inoculate any animal, bird, or insect with plague bacilli, except under the supervision or with the written permission of the State Board of Health and with the approval of the Executive, and that any attempt by any person to commit any of such acts without such direction, supervision, and approval, be made punishable as ordinary felonies.

EXTENSION OF POWERS AND DUTIES OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH—A STATE QUARANTINE OFFICER NECESSARY.

The paramount concern of the State of California for the sanitary condition of the people may be observed from the great damage done to the business and industries of the State through the recent false reports of the existence of plague. The merchants, business men, producers, manufacturers, farmers, and fruit-growers throughout the State who suffered extremely on account of the unreliable reports of reckless persons concerning the appearance of plague in the City of San Francisco, will agree that there is an immediate necessity for the passage of rigid laws giving within this State jurisdiction to the State Board of Health over all local Boards of Health in the matter of quarantine regulations, and the supervision and direction over all bubonic plague cases or plague suspects. The falsity of the report of the existence of plague in this State having been made manifest to the President, who caused the removal of the quarantine, justifies the State in attributing incompetency to the Federal quarantine officer stationed in this State. Even had the reports of that officer been well founded, which they were not, it still justifies the State in assuming that it was due to that Federal officer's incompetency in failing to properly quarantine the State, that suspected cases of plague were reported.

The time, therefore, has arrived for the State to protect its people, their business and their industries, against reported bubonic plague cases or plague suspects. I recommend, therefore, the extension of the powers and duties of the State Board of Health so that its dignity may be raised in proportion to its importance, and that the most eminent physicians may be proud of occupying a place in the Board, or acting under its supervision and direction. I recommend that in the matter of bubonic plague cases or plague suspects, as well as in all other dangerous, epidemic, contagious and infectious diseases, the State Board of Health have for State purposes full control and supervision of all county, city and county, city, and town Boards of Health, and medical officers, with a right at all times to demand a report from such boards and officers respecting epidemic, contagious, and infectious diseases.

I further recommend that a refusal or neglect by such officers to so report to the State Board of Health be declared a felony, and punishable as such.

In view of the fact that by reason of the powers vested in the City Board of Health by the Charter of San Francisco, the legality of the office of State Quarantine Officer to such city under the Act has been disputed, I recommend that a law be passed repealing said Act, and creating the office of State Quarantine Officer, to be vested with State quarantine powers, and to perform his duties under the supervision of the State Board of Health, such officer to be stationed at the Port of San Francisco. I recommend a moderate appropriation for the payment of such officer's services and expenses. I further recommend that full power be given the State Board of Health for the establishment and enforcement of all reasonable rules and regulations for a quarantine of the State and its waters.

I further recommend the passage of a law preventing the landing at any of the State, city and county, city, or town bulkheads or breakwaters of any vessel arriving from any other State or from a foreign country, at any port, sub-port, or harbor of the State, without a certificate of health first obtained from the said State Quarantine Officer at the Port of San Francisco, or from the State Board of Health, or from an officer duly authorized in writing by the State Board of Health.

It might be well, perhaps, that an Act be passed providing for the establishment of a laboratory for bacteriological and experimental purposes, for the use of the State Board of Health, and that an adequate appropriation be made therefor.

I recommend further, that it be made the duty of every city, county, and State officer, physician, or other person having knowledge of the existence of any case of plague or suspected case of plague, within the State, to report the same at once to the State Board of Health, or to the Sheriff or Coroner of the county, and that it be made the duty of such Sheriff or Coroner to immediately report such information to the State Board of Health. Refusal or neglect to perform such duty should in the case of physicians, city, county, and State officers, be made punishable as ordinary felonies, and in the case of other persons, such refusal or neglect should be punishable as a misdemeanor.

I recommend that it be made the duty of the State Board of Health, upon receiving such report, to immediately investigate or take charge of such case, or depute or authorize some physician to investigate and take charge of such case, and in the event of death that a member of said State Board of Health or physician delegated by said Board be present at the autopsy.

Upon the verification by the State Board of Health of any case of reported plague, it should be made the duty of such State Board to immediately notify all local Boards of Health in the State, and also notify by telegraph the United States Treasury Department at Washington, and the State Boards of Health of all the States of the Union.

LEGISLATION AGAINST FALSE REPORTS NECESSARY.

I recommend that all appropriate laws to protect the State from this dread disease should be enacted.

It is an extremely regrettable fact that the injury to the business and industries of the State was largely increased through false and sensational pictures and writings of a very few newspaper organs, managed and edited by those who certainly had not at heart the welfare of the State above their own selfish interests. The circulation of such untrustworthy publications disseminated the plague scare broadcast, and wrought much of the injury which the people of the State have sustained.

No State should permit such an outrage to be committed against its citizens by any man, set of men, or corporation. I believe in a free, but not in a licentious press. I believe in just public criticism by the press of public officers, and in proper and just warnings by the press of public and private dangers, whether from disease or otherwise. I would not desire, were it possible under our constitution and laws, for a censorship to be established over the press, notwithstanding some abuses. I am, however, firmly of the opinion that legislation is necessary to protect the people in the conduct of their business and the sale of their products and commodities. Such acts, causing great wrongs to the State by an individual or a corporation, should be declared criminal, and severe punishment should be meted out to such offenders.

We have a law now in our statute books entitled "An Act to protect stockholders and persons dealing with corporations in this State" (approved March 29, 1878), declaring as a felony the making and publication of false reports respecting the value of stocks sold in the market. Such a wrong, punishable under such Act, only affects a limited number of individuals, while the circulation and publication of false reports respecting the public health tends to the destruction of all the interests of all the people of the State.

The recent false press reports respecting the existence of bubonic plague within this State stopped for a time travel to this State, and ruined much property of our citizens, and imperiled our industries; and immediate legislation is needed to prevent a recurrence of these vicious publications.

I suggest, therefore, that it should be declared a felony for any person or corporation to publish or procure to be published within this State any false report of the presence of bubonic plague within this State, and that it be likewise declared a felony for any person or corporation within this State to publish or procure to be published without this State the existence within this State of bubonic plague.

The reputation for public health is a most valuable right of the State and of its people. That reputation of the State for health should not be destroyed nor the business nor industries of its citizens interrupted nor impaired through the malicious pen of a scribbler writing either for profit or sensation.

Reputation for public health is connected closely with public safety, and with the enjoyment by the citizens of their private property, and the care and maintenance of that public health is within the sovereign powers of the State.

The passage of such laws will not be repressive of the liberty of the press.

Judge Cooley, in his admirable work on Constitutional Limitations, thus defines that liberty, p. 518 (6th ed.):

"The constitutional liberty of speech and of the press, as we understand it, implies a right to freely utter and publish whatever the citizen may please, and to be protected against any responsibility for so doing, except so far as such publications, from their blasphemy, obscenity, or scandalous character, may be a public offense, or as by their falsehood and malice they may injuriously affect the standing, reputation, or pecuniary interests of individuals. (Or, to state the same thing in somewhat different words, we understand liberty of speech and of the press to imply not only liberty to publish, but complete immunity from legal censure and punishment for the publication, so long as it is not harmful in its character, when tested by such standards as the law affords. For these standards we must look to the common law rules which were in force when the constitutional guaranties were established, and in reference to which they have been adopted.")

Again, the same learned author on pages 516-17 of the same work thus expresses the law:

"It is conceded on all sides that the common law rules that subjected the libeler to responsibility for the private injury, or the public scandal or disorder occasioned by his conduct, are not abolished by the protection extended to the press in our Constitutions."

The common law afforded full protection against malicious and seditious libels and publications, and where the public health and public safety are liable to be assailed by evil and designing persons, laws should be passed for the protection of the people in this regard. The people cannot permit their business and industries to be checked, injured, or destroyed at the mere whim or caprice of a private person or private corporation conducting a newspaper, which is capable of disseminating far and wide malicious or false reports respecting the condition of the public health of the State.

THE PASSAGE OF LAWS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT OF THE SAN FRANCISCO HARBOR AT THE EXTRA SESSION OF 1900.

In January, 1900, after very mature consideration of the many reasons then existing for reconvening the Legislature, I called an extraordinary session.

The legislators, actuated by patriotic motives, vied with each other in rapid, efficient, and economic work.

Among other principal matters for which the Legislature was convened was to pass enabling laws in aid of the State Harbor Commissioners of San Francisco by amending Sections 2524 and 2527 of the Political Code of this State. As Section 2524 previously stood, the length of wharves at San Francisco could not exceed six hundred feet from the bulkhead line, and this limitation was not adapted to the large modern ships arriving in the harbor. The wharfage facilities of San Francisco were insufficient to accommodate the great number of vessels already in port in 1899, and as the year 1900 promised a great increase in shipping, it became a matter of immediate necessity to provide in advance for that emergency.

Many merchants and commercial associations of San Francisco, having the interests of the State, as well as of that city, at heart, viewed with alarm the limited harbor accommodations to meet the constantly increasing demand of the shipping interests of that great and flourishing city, and urged me to call an extra session of the Legislature to afford relief in the premises. Among them, the North Central Improvement Association of San Francisco, composed of active business men of advanced views upon the subject of the commercial needs of the State, addressed to me a strong petition signed by numerous energetic and public-spirited citizens, requesting an extraordinary session, in order to afford the much needed relief, while the State Harbor Commissioners (a majority of whom are Democratic), together with my able and distinguished Democratic predecessor, Hon. James H. Budd, filed a petition on December 13, 1899, for an extraordinary session, stating the immediate necessity of amending said Sections 2524 and 2527 of the Political Code, in order to accommodate the increased tonnage arriving at the port.

The Legislature in the extra session of 1900 passed the principal measures for the relief of the Harbor of San Francisco recommended in my proclamation, so that under the present law, with the approval of the Federal authorities. State wharves and piers may now extend out a distance of about eight hundred feet from the bulkhead line, which, when completed, will accommodate the largest ships afloat. The Board of State Harbor Commissioners, after the passage of the law, prepared a contour map for the establishment of a new harbor pierhead line, which was by me forwarded to the United States War Department at Washington, with the request that the new extended pierhead line be established in place of that previously existing. This request was referred to a Board of United States Army Engineers, which board recently met in San Francisco, and after due advertisement, made a favorable report to the War Department.

Upon the 18th day of December, 1900, I received official notice that the Honorable the Secretary of War had approved and confirmed the extension of the pierhead line into the Bay of San Francisco from Van Ness Avenue to Folsom Street.

By the amendment to Section 2527 of the Political Code, also passed at the said extra session, the Board of Harbor Commissioners, instead of being limited for the purpose of improvements to the use of their revenue for one year in advance, as was the case previous to the amendment of 1900, are now enabled to enter into contracts of leases for a period not exceeding five years after competitive bids, whereby the lessee shall undertake the construction of new wharves, bulkheads, or breakwaters, the rents therefrom to be applied in whole or in part payment for the cost of construction, discretion resting in the State Harbor Commissioners to provide in the contracts with the lessees that the rents from such wharves, bulkheads, or breakwaters shall be applied upon such contracts, or the work to be paid for in whole or in part from such rents and revenues, as may be deemed best by said Commissioners. By this amendment the State Harbor Commissioners may continually improve the harbor, without asking the Legislature to appropriate a single dollar toward the work, the plan in the amendment being wholly self-supporting.

The State Harbor Commissioners have reported that since the said extra session they have made contracts for improvements of the harbor aggregating in amount $542,410.33 and of which sum $326,847 will be applied to the construction of four modern substantial wharves and two car ferry slips.

With these grand harbor improvements and other probable improvements under the same plan, to meet our fast growing commerce, we need not fear, in the future, competition from the ports of Oregon and Washington, nor from the East upon the opening of an isthmian canal.

Since the filing by the State Harbor Commissioners of their biennial report, in which they have set forth the advantages to the harbor of San Francisco from the amendments passed at the extra session, I have received the following supplementary report, from which we may predict that the commercial future of the State is now firmly assured.

I beg leave to include in this message the supplementary report of the Harbor Commissioners, as follows:

"BOARD OF STATE HARBOR COMMISSIONERS,
"OFFICE UNION DEPOT AND FERRY HOUSE, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., }
"SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., December 17, 1900. }

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California, Sacramento, Cal.:

"SIR: In the biennial report of this Commission for the two fiscal years ending June 30, 1900, and forwarded to you some time ago, the subject of port facilities in this harbor was referred to at some length. Legislation enacted at the extra session of the Legislature relating to the powers and duties of this Board was taken up therein in detail, and an outline of the increased port accommodations contemplated mapped out. Since this biennial report was forwarded, and on November 22, 1900, the Board, under the authority conferred by the law as amended at the extra session, awarded contracts for the construction of four (4) new wharves and two (2) car ferry slips.

"The aggregate amount of these contracts is $326,847, and the terms of the contracts which have been entered into provide for the payment of twenty per cent of contract price on completion of the work, and sixteen quarterly payments thereafter of five per cent each. There is also a stipulation that should the Board determine to pay before maturity, then a deduction shall be made at the rate of five per cent per annum. The contracts awarded do not include the furnishing of cement, wharf sheds, and drive-ways, nor preservation of piles for the car ferry slips to protect them from the ravages of marine pests. With these additions, the structure will cost about $425,000.

"These contracts are the largest ever entered into at any one time for wharf construction by the Board of State Harbor Commissioners, and the improvements embraced therein will add greatly to the port accommodations, and in a very marked degree relieve the shipping congestion experienced during the past year.

"These new wharves will be built as permanent as scientific skill will permit, and will have a loading capacity of 500 pounds to the square foot. This, in comparison with the ordinary pile wharves upon our water front, the capacity of which is reckoned at 100 pounds to the square foot, affords convincing proof of their stability. Each of these new wharves will cost as much again as a pile wharf; but, built as they will be, on permanent lines, the cost of maintenance will be reduced, aside from the fact that their capacity will be so much greater.

"The inauguration of these improvements was made possible by the enabling legislation of the extra session. No such extensive work could have been projected without it. Extensive as is the work alluded to, the enabling legislation will permit this Board to prosecute other work of corresponding importance to our shipping industry, and in fact make it possible to provide all accommodations the volume of the commerce of this port will require, without issuance of bonds or a tax upon the people of the State.

"The next important work to be taken up is:

"First—The removal of the floating dry dock to Central Basin, near the Arctic Oil Works, and making additional wharf room at the present location of the dry dock, between Spear and Main streets.

"Second—The construction of two repair wharves in Central Basin, adjacent to new dry dock.

"As stated in our biennial report, the purpose of building these repair wharves is to enable the Board to assign vessels thereto undergoing repairs, and preclude the necessity of permitting them to occupy berths at wharves that could otherwise be utilized by vessels loading or discharging cargo.

"Third—Lengthening such number of wharves as are necessary to accommodate modern vessels of the greatest length, to be done after the Federal Government has established a new pierhead line."

(Note by Governor.—Since the writing, this has been granted by the Federal Government.)

"Fourth—Rebuilding of some of the old piers on permanent lines.

"Fifth—Extending the seawall south from its present terminus near Mission Street.

"The enabling legislation of the extra session has made it possible for this Board to anticipate its revenue for a period of five years in advance, and after deducting therefrom the amount estimated for current expenses during said period, enter into contracts to the amount of the difference or any part thereof for harbor improvements, and to stipulate that payments on such contracts shall be made at any time within a period of five years from the completion thereof.

"The revenue of the Board for the five fiscal years ending June 30, 1900, has been $3,068,481.02, or an average of $613,696.20 per annum. For the eleven months of the present year the revenue has been $667,922.77, an average of $61,174.79 per month, or for twelve months, $734,097.40. There is no doubt but that when the returns for this present month are in, the receipts for the twelve months of this year will reach $735,000, or an increase over the yearly average receipts of the five last fiscal years of $121,303.80.

"With our increase in wharfage facilities, we believe we may safely calculate on a still greater increase in our receipts. For the coming five years the receipts of this Commission, in our judgment, will average $750,000 per annum, and on this basis the following will clearly demonstrate the possibilities for harbor improvements under the enabling legislation of the extra session:

Estimated receipts for the coming five years at $750,000 per year	$3,750,000
Estimate of current expenses, including necessary repairs, during the coming five years	2,540,000
Gain	$1,210,000
Amount of contracts entered into	326,847
Estimated surplus for permanent improvements	$883,153

"The building of the seawall from its present terminus to Channel Street, a distance of about 6,000 feet, including the inside filling between the wall proper and the shore line, would cost about $820,000.

"It is believed that in the near future the Board can under the enabling legislation of the extra session proceed to make further permanent improvements on the water front aggregating $883,000.

"Thus it will be observed that the accumulated residue in five years, after paying in full for the four new wharves and two car ferry slips already contracted for, will exceed the amount that would be required to extend the seawall to Channel Street, if the immediate prosecution of this work were practicable.

"But before work on seawall extension is commenced, wharf additions in the harbor must first be made, so that our shipping will not suffer in any respect in the handling of inward and outward cargo. When these necessary additions are first perfected, as is now possible under the existing law, then the seawall can be extended, and the work paid for without any bond issue or tax upon the people.

"In our biennial report we referred at some length to the large increase of the business of the Belt Railroad. This business has continued to increase since June 30, 1900. Tenants occupying seawall lots have been notified to vacate, so that additional yard room can be secured for railroad purposes. The Board has advertised for bids for the construction of a freight depot for the Santa Fé Railroad System, and these bids will be opened December 27, 1900, and with other changes and alterations under way, this department will have increased and adequate facilities for the expeditious handling of the railroad business regardless of volume.

"With the addition of new wharves, work of the two State dredgers has been taxed to the limit. As proper dredging of the slips and channels of the harbor is a matter of the first importance, the Board has determined to build a new dredger of the most modern design and equipment, thereby precluding the possibility of any inconvenience to the shipping of the port.

"Very respectfully,

"PARIS KILBURN, President.

"P. J. HARNEY, Commissioner.

"RUDOLPH HEROLD, JUN., Commissioner.

"Attest: WM. D. ENGLISH, Secretary."

The excellent results attained by the gentlemen constituting the present State Board of Harbor Commissioners under the new law during the brief period which has elapsed since the extra session of 1900, reflect great credit upon their management of the affairs of the harbor of San Francisco.

THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

Notwithstanding the careful management and control of the affairs of the University of California by the able gentlemen constituting the Board of Regents, and despite their devoted and generous labors without compensation for the welfare of that excellent institution of learning, it has been represented to me that the University is again in need of additional support, in order to meet present contingencies.

The condition of the University will doubtlessly be submitted to you for consideration by some of its officers, and its condition should receive from you close and careful examination.

The University is, independently of donations, maintained by a continual ad valorem tax of two per cent upon the taxable property of the State, and by income received from its investments and from special funds.

By an Act of the State Legislature to provide for the permanent support and improvement of the University, approved February 14, 1887 (Stats. 1887, p. 2 et seq.), the people of the State are annually taxed one per cent ad valorem upon each one hundred dollars of value of the taxable property of the State, and the taxes so received are paid into a fund called the "State University Fund," subject to be drawn out by order of the Board of Regents or such officers of the Board as may be duly authorized thereto. The money thus derived is to be applied to the support and permanent improvement of the University. By another Act of the State Legislature, approved February 27, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 44), to provide additional support and maintenance for the University, an additional one per cent ad valorem tax is annually levied upon each one hundred dollars of value of the taxable property of the State, the money derived therefrom being likewise paid into the State University Fund, subject to like order of the Regents or such officers duly authorized by them. Under the provisions of this last statute, one half of the revenues raised by this tax during the first ten fiscal years from the approval of the statute is to be devoted to the purpose of acquiring lands, buildings, and other permanent improvements.

About the time of the passage of the last statute of 1897, during the administration of my able predecessor, I have been informed that public assurance was given by the representatives of the University that, as a result of this law ample funds would be provided for the permanent support of the University, and further calls upon the Legislature for appropriations for support would be unnecessary, and would not be demanded. The people have since the passage of this last Act of 1897, graciously submitted to the two per cent tax for the support of the University, but it must be admitted that the maintenance of the University through standing taxes, in the light of this experience, is, to say the least, very disappointing.

Prior to the passage of the Act of February 14, 1887, providing for a continual tax for the support of the University, it had been the rule for each Legislature to provide sufficient appropriations for its maintenance for two years in advance in the same manner adopted for the support of other public institutions. The condition of the University was therefore exhibited directly to the representatives of the people, and became thereby a subject of public discussion and concern. By this method the people were brought in touch with the management of the institution, and could easily learn through their representatives its actual condition. While the Regents are obliged under the law to report the condition of the University annually, such reports are not read by the people, and generally their representatives, by reason of their many and varied duties, have neither time nor opportunity to give such reports careful attention. In consequence, the real condition of the University is withheld from the people.

The people, through their representatives in the Legislature, have never been parsimonious in appropriations for the support of the University, but have, on the contrary, generously assisted it when its condition was shown to require assistance. I venture the opinion, therefore, in the light of the past history of the University, that standing taxes for its support are not as productive of benefit to that splendid crown of the common schools as appropriations passed by each Legislature, according to its increased or diminished necessities.

The people have the highest concern in knowing the condition of the University, as well as that of other public institutions.

No State institution should be above the law, nor removed from public scrutiny.

From a report recently received by me from the Secretary of the Board of Regents, the sum received by the University from the two per cent tax for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, amounted to $236,298.28. The sum to be received from the taxes of this year will, in my opinion, slightly exceed this amount. The total income for the said fiscal year, including the two per cent tax, aggregated $368,401.64.

It is said that this large sum is not sufficient to provide for the growing needs of the University, and relief from the present Legislature will be sought by the officers of the University.

THE BENEFACTIONS OF MRS. PHOEBE HEARST—SOME RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THE RELIEF OF THE UNIVERSITY.

Inasmuch as one half of the revenues derived from the additional tax provided by the Act of February 27, 1897, must under the law be used for permanent improvements, such as the acquisition of lands and buildings, it is my opinion that it is unnecessary that the tax for that purpose be continued, in view of the munificent donations which that most excellent lady and public benefactress, Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, is about to bestow upon the University for this special purpose.

I beg leave here to quote with approval the language of Governor Budd in his first biennial message, dated January 4, 1897, where, referring to this subject, he pays a well-merited tribute to Mrs. Hearst, as follows:

"Under an Act of the last Legislature, buildings for the affiliated colleges are being constructed in San Francisco, and as soon as a general plan for the construction of buildings at Berkeley can be adopted, the Regents will receive, by the donation of generous people of the State, sufficient money to construct all the buildings the University will need for many years to come. The means by which to procure these plans has already been donated by that public-spirited philanthropist, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, whose aid has heretofore been graciously extended to the University; and as soon as the plans are adopted we are assured by her of an additional benefaction of over half a million dollars, for the erection and maintenance of buildings for the use and extension of the University."

Since Governor Budd delivered that message, Mrs. Hearst has, during the present administration, exceeded all expectations, by the adoption of plans for the University prepared upon a magnificent and almost royal scale, and has paid very high rewards to several competing architects, as well as to the designer of the approved plans. The future of the University regarding permanent improvements is therefore assured by the philanthropy of this most public-spirited lady and Regent of the University; and whatever may be lacking for the carrying out of the grand ideas of Mrs. Hearst will be gladly done at the proper time by the people of the State through their representatives, as occasion demands.

In view of this condition, I recommend for the present relief of the University that the Act of February 27, 1897, be amended so as to permit all of the revenues derived from the one per cent tax to be devoted to the support and maintenance instead of being in part used for permanent improvements.

The report of the Secretary of the University, recently submitted to me, shows that the amount of $59,074.57 derived from this tax for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1900, was under that law devoted to the fund for the permanent improvement of the University.

By the adoption of the amendment now proposed by me the University will receive the benefit of this sum, which would otherwise be used for the erection of buildings and like improvements.

An Act was passed by the Legislature at its last regular session providing for the erection and furnishing of a residence for the Governor, but on account of the sudden rise in materials and for other reasons specified in the report of the State Capitol Commission, which is submitted for your consideration, the erection and furnishing of such residence was not possible; and in view of the immediate needs of the University, and the fact that such residence is not a matter of urgency, I recommend that a law be passed appropriating the balance of that appropriation, which is now in the State Treasury, to wit: the sum of $48,758, for the support and maintenance of the University, and the subject of the erection of a residence for the Governor may be considered at a future session of the Legislature, if deemed advisable.

By the adoption of these two suggestions, a sum approximating $109,000 will be immediately available for the needs of the University without increasing the appropriations to be passed at the present session, or requiring the passage of a law augmenting the taxes which will be payable by the people.

NON-RESIDENT STUDENTS SHOULD PAY TUITION FEES.

Some time ago it was proposed before the Board of Regents that all University students should be subjected to a tax for the support of the University. I took occasion then to vigorously oppose such an unjust plan, among other grounds, because the University, being supported by the people of California as a part of its plan of public education, and open to rich and poor alike, such a tax would be in violation of the rights of the people who supported this institution. The student tax was defeated. The injustice of the proposed student tax lay in the fact that it was sought to impose a tax upon the children of the taxpayers of the State whose money was already maintaining the University. Since the foundation of the University the people of California have maintained and supported that institution by the payment of taxes. It is manifestly unjust that the people of this State should be taxed to educate the children of non-residents and non-taxpayers of other States and of foreign countries.

If it be a fact that our University is becoming overcrowded, certainly measures should be adopted giving preference to the children of our taxpayers rather than giving place to children of non-residents of other States and foreign countries.

I therefore recommend that Section 1394 of the Political Code should be so amended, or that a law be passed, requiring non-resident students of the University to pay reasonable tuition fees.

In this connection I also recommend that tuition fees be required of all non-resident students attending the State Normal Schools.

In thus submitting my views upon the necessity of amending the laws relative to the maintenance of the University, it must not be supposed that I would desire to have its growth impaired by any parsimonious legislative remedies. On the contrary, I believe firmly in higher education. While my love for the common school is intense, I would also like to see the State University a greater institution of learning than any other in the world. But I do not believe in waste and in idle show. I would like to see the highest scientific and classical ideals attained, but I would also wish to see those ideals anchored in this practical, matter-of-fact world. Education should not be mere ornamentation. The student of the University, whether graduating as Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Philosophy, or otherwise, should be already in touch with the busy world about him, and able to cope from a practical standpoint with the difficulties which ordinarily beset the graduates of our schools and colleges.

I believe in substantial appropriations to assist every wise and practical method of education which may be adopted by the University in its course. I believe, therefore, that the University should be liberally maintained, but not lavishly, so as to become an unnecessary burden upon the taxpayers of the State.

LELAND STANFORD JUNIOR UNIVERSITY.

By the passage, at the last election, of Assembly Constitutional Amendment No. 23, the trusts and estates for the endowment and maintenance of the Leland Stanford Junior University are exempted from taxation, and therefore imposes upon this institution a quasi-public character. In consideration of this exemption it is provided that the University will admit student "residents of California" free from tuition fees. This advantage will doubtlessly attract to that splendid institution many students who might otherwise avail themselves of the free tuition in the State University, which may in time tend to prevent the overcrowding of the University of California. Legislation will be necessary in connection with this as well as other of the constitutional amendments, to properly carry into effect the intention of the people in exempting this University from taxation.

ADJUSTMENT OF LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS AND REAPPORTIONMENT.

Under Section 6 of Article IV of the Constitution of this State, your honorable bodies are vested with the power of fixing and adjusting the legislative districts of the State, and of reapportioning the representation, "so as to preserve them as near equal in population as may be."

My confidence in your integrity and fairness permit me to predict that this duty will be justly performed, and the matters disposed of upon the basis of abstract right.

ABOLITION OF THE OFFICE OF COMMISSIONERS FOR THE PROMOTION OF UNIFORMITY OF LEGISLATION IN THE UNITED STATES.

I recommend the repeal of the Act approved March 9, 1897 (Stats. 1897, p. 74), creating "A commission for the promotion of uniformity of legislation in the United States," as the office serves no useful purpose, and its continued existence is an unnecessary expense to the State.

INVENTORY OF STATE PROPERTY.

Previous to the present administration no complete record had been kept at the Capitol of the various classes of State property under the control of State officers, and in the various institutions of the State. The Act requiring State officers to give an inventory of State property was approved February 9, 1897, and is entitled "An Act to require an inventory of State and County property, and directing that a record of the same be kept."

This Act is very loosely drawn, and requires only that a biennial report, under oath, of the inventory of all State property in their keeping, be given by State officers, boards, and commissioners, without attaching any penalty for non-performance.

The present Secretary of the Board of Examiners prepared a notice and demand under the terms of said Act, and caused the same to be served upon all State officers, boards, and commissioners, requesting a prompt return of the inventory. As a result of the urgent demands of the said Secretary, the Board of Examiners have now a more complete record and estimate of the nature and value of all State property than ever before.

I recommend that the said law be so amended, or that a new law be passed, requiring all State boards, commissioners, and officers to furnish the State Board of Examiners with verified inventories of all State property in their keeping or under their control at least once a year, and whenever reasonably demanded by said Board, and that a willful refusal to give such statement be declared a misdemeanor, and that such refusal be likewise punished by forfeiture of office.

PRIMARY LAW.

At the recent election the people adopted by a large vote Senate Constitutional Amendment No. 4, which vests in the Legislature the power to enact primary laws and to embody in such laws valid tests and conditions. In view of the clearly expressed will of the people, it becomes your duty, under the said constitutional amendment, to pass reasonable laws for the conduct of primary elections; but it must be remembered that the State is not absolute, so that care should be taken that such legislation may not contravene any of the provisions of the United States Constitution or of the Federal laws, and such laws providing for primary elections should be the least complex and as inexpensive in character as is consistent with the rights and privileges of electors.

WHITTIER STATE SCHOOL.

The report of the Board of Trustees of the Whittier State School has been printed as required by law, and I beg leave to refer you to a printed copy of said report for the details of the present management.

Since the adjournment of the thirty-third regular session, namely on the 16th day of June, 1899, the refectory building of the Whittier State School was accidentally destroyed by fire. As none of the State institutions, except the University and the State Printing Office, are permitted to carry insurance, and as no part of any money appropriated for the maintenance of the school could under the law be applied for the reconstruction of the burned buildings, great inconvenience has hampered the management. It is now necessary that contracts be let for the immediate rebuilding of the dining-room and kitchen, and I recommend that a law be passed appropriating a sum not to exceed $15,000 for that purpose, which said appropriation should be made at once available.

PRESTON SCHOOL OF INDUSTRY.

The former superintendent, Mr. Hirschberg, of this School of Industry, recently tendered his resignation, and on the 7th day of December, 1900, a strong petition having been presented recommending Rev. C. B. Riddick, of Alameda County, for the vacant place, the Board of Trustees, I am pleased to note, selected this most accomplished and competent gentleman.

In view of the recent report before you of the former management, it is unnecessary at this time to detail the work heretofore done in this important reform school.

STATE INSTITUTIONS GENERALLY.

All State institutions appear to be efficiently and satisfactorily managed, with a few exceptions, where the control and supervision are not vested in this administration.

SCANDALS IN STATE DENTAL AND PHARMACY BOARDS.

The members of these boards (with one exception in the State Dental Board) were appointed prior to my induction into office.

Now it must be remembered, owing to the exceedingly limited powers of the Governor, that neither my own appointees, nor those of my predecessors holding for terms, are subject to removal or change.

In the management of the State Board of Pharmacy and the State Board of Dental Examiners scandals have been bruited, and appeals made to me for redress; but inasmuch as I am deprived of all power in the premises, such appeals are both idle and useless. As a result of these scandals, the said boards are in a lamentable condition, and their efficiency is practically destroyed.

At the extra session of 1900 I asked the Legislature for the power of removal in cases of malversation in office, which my predecessor had likewise requested, in order that such abuses might be rectified; but the Legislature then deemed it unwise to vest in the Executive of this State such power, although much greater power in respect to such matters has been granted to the Mayor of San Francisco and the Mayors of other cities in this State.

In this aspect of the case I quote the following language of Governor Budd in his second biennial message on the very eve of his retirement from office, and submit the same for your careful consideration:

"But," as I said in my message to the Legislature, 'if the Governor is to be held responsible for the conduct of the departments whose incumbents he names, he should be given control of those functionaries,' etc. Such control has not been given. I appealed to the last two Legislatures to pass some law empowering the Governor to control the institution, and pointed out how much I had been embarrassed by the lack of such laws. Both Legislatures refused to pass the requisite bills, and I found myself helpless when occasion arose for severe and determined treatment. If abuses exist, they are the direct result of such failure to pass the bills recommended. I again recommend that 'for cause and upon a hearing' the Governor be given the power to remove his own appointees."

Again, matters sometimes arise within the State which are the grounds of international questions, and the Executive is requested by the United States Secretary of State to forward a report of the facts of an alleged breach of treaty through the act of some term holding State, County, or Municipal officer. While the mere privilege of requesting such report of such officer is afforded the Executive, it is equally a privilege on the part of such officer to either notice or wholly ignore the request of the Executive. In consequence it has happened in some instances that little or no information could be afforded the Department of State at Washington, and that little information was only given this office through the barest official courtesy. I have been compelled many times to call the attention of the Federal authorities to the inability of the Executive, under the laws of this State, of compelling the transmission of proper or much-needed information from our State, County, and Municipal officers. I submit that this defect in the law should be appropriately remedied, especially as you will remember that, outside of the appointees in the Governor's office, there are very few state officers whom the Governor has the power to remove for misconduct. An officer once appointed for a term of years has the power to defy both the people and the Executive, and to conduct his office according to his own pleasure, provided he does not reveal tangible evidences of crime.

The State Constitution provides that the Governor "shall see that the laws are faithfully executed" * * * and that "he shall communicate by message to the Legislature at every session the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient."

How is it possible for him to report the condition of the State in all instances unless he shall be entitled to call upon the various officials throughout the state for such information as may be desired pertaining to their particular departments? And how is this possible unless it be made the duty of such officials, State, County, and City, to furnish the Governor, on reasonable demand, such needed information, and unless there be some mode provided by law to punish a dishonorable official for neglecting or refusing compliance therewith?

NATIONAL GUARD OF CALIFORNIA.

The present condition of the National Guard, as compared with its condition at the beginning of this administration, reflects credit upon the Adjutant-General and the officers of the National Guard. The Spanish-American War of 1898 as well destroyed the efficiency of the Guard as it depleted it in point of numbers. About twelve hundred officers and men, scattered throughout the State, represented its entire numerical strength. At the present time the Guard numbers over four thousand officers and men, inclusive of the Naval Militia consisting of four hundred and twenty five men and officers.

One of the efficient aids to the present improved condition of the Guard was the passage by the Legislature at its thirty-third session, of the Act entitled "An Act regarding organizations, officers, and members of the National Guard who entered the United States Volunteer Service in the Spanish-American war of 1898," etc., approved March 21, 1899 (Stats. Cal. 1899, p. 158, et seq.), which enabled the returned officers and men of the National Guard, California Volunteers who had been mustered into the United States Service, to reënter the National Guard, and report for duty.

The patriotism of our California Volunteers, as well as their loyalty to this State, induced them eagerly to avail themselves of the benefits of the statute, and their active service in camp and field gave as well new vigor to the Guard, as it inspired emulation.

The Adjutant-General's department has been managed with commendable economy, and at the same time sufficient supplies and equipments have been purchased by the State and furnished by the United States Government so that the Guard is now better equipped than ever before in the history of the State.

The following is a list of the Adjutant-General given to me of stores and supplies issued to the Guard:

CALIFORNIA STATE RELIEF COMMITTEE FOR TEXAS SUFFERERS.

On the 7th and 8th days of September, 1900, great storms destroyed the City of Galveston and adjoining towns in the State of Texas, and the people of the United States were appalled by news of the loss of thousands of lives of their fellow beings and of an enormous destruction of property. The electric current of human sympathy sped east and west and north and south. The people of California were quick to respond without the need of an appeal from the people of Texas. When the reports of the destruction reached me I communicated with the Governor of Texas by wire, who responded that the people of Galveston were in need of all possible help. Appreciating the necessity of an organized movement for the distribution of money in aid of the survivors and for the burial of the dead, I appointed as a State Relief Committee for the Texas sufferers the following distinguished citizens of San Francisco, namely, Messrs. Isaias W. Hellman, Claus Spreckels, William Alvord, F. W. Dohrmann, A. A. Watkins, Charles Nelson, Robert J. Tobin, and J. L. Flood. Each of the above-named citizens readily accepted the responsibility, and unselfishly devoted his time and attention to this most humane work. The committee labored unremittingly in the cause of the distressed people of Texas, and on the 20th day of September, 1900, filed with me a preliminary report, and thereafter on the 4th day of December, 1900, filed a final report of their labors. The report is an excellent and business-like document. It shows that the committee received and transmitted to Governor Sayers of Texas for the relief of the sufferers cash contributions amounting to $18,871.42, and that the total contributions to the Texas Relief Fund reported from the State of California aggregated $85,273.85—a splendid testimonial to the generosity of the people of California and to their fraternal love for their fellow-citizens of other States.

Considering the care and labor devoted by the Relief Committee to this charitable object, I beg leave here to publicly thank each and all of the members of the committee, and to recommend that a resolution of thanks to all of the members of the Relief Committee be adopted by your honorable bodies.

CLAIMS OF COUNTIES AGAINST THE STATE.

Of the sources of fertile litigation against the State, the claims of counties predominate. Outside speculators yearly employ attorneys to examine the county records and prepare county claims against the State, among which claims are those based upon the alleged care of orphans, half orphans, and abandoned children. After the preparation of such claims, these speculators secure contracts with the County Boards of Supervisors, by which contracts they may lay claim to a large percentage of the county money in the event of recovery. In consequence of the acts of these speculators, county claims, five, ten, and twenty years back, are resurrected, and presented to the Board of Examiners, suits being threatened in the event of disallowance.

Many claims of this character, approximating the sum of $200,000, are now pending, all of which arose (if they have any real foundation) long prior to my induction into office. The present administration has not only paid all claims properly arising under it and chargeable against it, but even claims due six months prior to its commencement.

What was said by me in my Inaugural Address applicable to a portion of such claims, may be here reiterated:

"The spirit of the county officials which inspires these demands is neither patriotic nor business-like. The officers of the counties should remember that these suits, if successful, will 'return to plague the inventor' in the form of increased taxation. The people of the State will be moreover ultimately compelled to pay through taxation whatever amounts may be expended by the several counties for the compensation of counsel and the payment of the other expenses incident to the litigation; and since the counties form a part of the State, it is clear that they will gain nothing by the litigation, but sustain a loss of whatever sums are paid in their attempts to collect these commissions."

The time for the presentation of claims of every nature by counties and persons against the State should be limited by law. No county claim arising more than six months prior to any new administration should be permitted to be paid by such administration. It is impossible to obtain proof of the validity of such claims where years elapse before presentation. It is proper, therefore, that a stringent law should be passed for the protection of the State against State claims of whatsoever nature.

DÉBRIS COMMISSION.

The United States Government appropriated $250,000 in order to carry out, in conjunction with the State and its officers, the purposes of the Act of the Legislature of California, approved March 24, 1893, entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment, duties, and compensation of a Débris Commissioner, and to make an appropriation to be expended under his directions in the discharge of his duties as such Commissioner," and as amended by an Act of the Legislature passed under the administration of Governor Budd, approved March 17, 1897 (Stats. of 1897, p. 171 et seq.).

The plans for the work have been completed by the officers appointed by the Federal Government, and have met with the indorsement and approval of the Débris Commissioner holding this office by appointment of Governor Budd.

These plans, as prepared and completed by the Federal officers, propose a joint expenditure of $800,000 by the United States Government and the State of California in order to fully complete the great work, but the general plan permits the work to be done in sections, some of which sections together will cost $500,000.

When the State passed the Acts of 1893 and of 1897, appropriating said sum of $250,000, it was estimated that the whole work could be done for $500,000, and it was deemed proper, in view of the nature of the work proposed, that both the State and Nation should each pay one half thereof.

Accordingly the State Board of Examiners have approved the said plans, with a proviso that the State shall not be liable in any sum in excess of the $250,000 appropriated as aforesaid.

A part of the contemplated work may, therefore, be constructed and completed without further delay.

The Federal plans propose the construction of dams, etc., for the benefit of the important industries of mining and agriculture.

It would appear to be conceded that the construction of these works will at least tend to the solution of a long-veexed question between the miner and the farmer, and result in great benefit to the mining counties of the mountains, and the agriculturists of the valleys below, as well as to improve the navigability of the rivers.

While it is not usual for the State to join with the Federal Government in appropriations designed to be used for the improvement of rivers and harbors within its boundaries, still it was thought advisable by the Legislature making the aforesaid appropriations to do so in this instance, because these proposed improvements were designed to go beyond the strict scope of river improvements.

You will observe that, in order to finally complete the work undertaken, either the State alone, or the Nation and State, will be required to furnish $300,000.

It is to be hoped that our Senators and Representatives in Congress may induce the United States Government to make up this shortage without further demands upon the State; but should this be found impossible, and should the National Government insist that the original plan obligated the State to pay one half of the expense of the completed work, then in view of the great benefit to be derived, rather than see the work fail or remain incomplete after the expenditure of $500,000 thereon, of which sum the State has already appropriated $250,000, it would be well, perhaps, to make an appropriation for the payment of one half of such balance.

Again, the particular mining counties to be also benefited by this improvement, having for many years uncomplainingly paid taxes into the State Treasury, and having so much less direct benefit than the rest of the State incident to public expenditures upon State buildings, etc., for which all of the mountain counties paid their proportions with the rest of the State, it is but just, perhaps, that they should be accorded some extra consideration in this especial instance, inasmuch as our rivers, and valley lands likewise, will be greatly improved by the proposed work.

STATE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

So far as it has been possible for the State Lunacy Commission to control and regulate the internal management of the State Hospitals for the Insane, its efforts have been very effective, but it must be remembered that the Managers of the several Hospitals hold for terms, and that the Governor has no power of removal or change of such Managers. This is true of all subordinate State officers holding for fixed terms. At the extra session of 1906 upon my recommendation the Act to establish a State Lunacy Commission approved March 31, 1897, was so amended as to allow the Commission to fix the salaries of all officers and employes of the several State Hospitals for the Insane. This most salutary measure enabled the Commission subsequently to arrange uniform salaries for such officials, and to make reductions amounting to nearly $20,000 annually. It was found, however, necessary, on account of the increased number of patients, and because of the previous limited service, which had sometimes permitted escapes from the asylums, to apply much of this saving in the employment of additional subordinate attendants, as well as to secure the services of female physicians. The number of patients in the asylums of this State is 5,311, of which 1,960 are females.

While some abuses remain which require attention at the hands of the Boards of Managers (which it is to be hoped will soon be removed), yet on the whole the State Hospitals for the Insane, so far as it has been possible for the present administration to deal with the questions, are much better managed than ever before.

FEMALE PHYSICIANS APPOINTED.

At the inception of my administration I perceived the necessity of employing female physicians in the State Hospitals for the Insane, on account of the large number of female patients. I laid the matter before the Lunacy Commission, and I am pleased to say that the plan met with the hearty approval of the members of the Commission, and two female physicians were appointed, after due examination as to their qualifications—one being assigned to Napa, and the other to Stockton, and duty required them to visit the other State asylums.

The appointment of these female physicians was only made possible by the reduction by the Lunacy Commission in the salaries of the officers and employes of the asylums, by reason of the amendment to the law passed pursuant to the proclamation at the extraordinary session of 1900.

PRIVATE ASYLUMS FOR INSANE AND FEEBLE-MINDED PERSONS.

Grievous wrongs have been sometimes reported of the misuse of private asylums for insane and feeble-minded persons. Such private asylums are, when rightly conducted, of great benefit to the relatives of unfortunates, who are enabled to have proper care taken of incompetents, without subjecting the patients to the publicity which accompanies their custody in the State Hospitals; but as forcible detention of the unfortunates is necessary in all cases, it sometimes happens that such asylums are used as engines of great oppression. There may arise cases where certain sane and competent persons may be duped and coerced by designing persons interested in securing their property, or interested in their incarceration for other purposes. Because of the possible danger of such felonious coercion, I recommend that the law be amended so that the State Lunacy Commission may have the power, upon inquiry and investigation, of liberating all competent persons therein confined.

In this connection I suggest that like power be vested in the said Lunacy Commission of liberating all incompetents found in any of the State Hospitals. As the law now stands, a court proceeding must be first had, in order to determine the question of competency, before liberation, where the superintendent refuses to discharge the inmate. Human life, liberty, and human reason cannot be too strongly protected.

DEPORTATION OF JAPANESE.

The following is a report to me by the secretary of one of the State Boards of a saving to the State through the action of the State Lunacy Commission in causing the deportation from the State of certain insane Japanese subjects, to wit:

Hospital.	No. of Japs.	July 7, 1899. Cost of Deportation	Cost of Maintenance for One Year.
Stockton -----	5	$441 60	$637 00
Napa -----	5	478 85	672 80
Agnews -----	5	471 85	685 05
Mendocino -----	3	120 00	403 67
Southern California -----	1	87 15	155 90
	19	$1,599 95	$2,654 42

"The cost of maintenance for one year is based on the per capita cost of each hospital for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1899.

"Figuring on recoveries at the rate of 20 per cent will give us 15.2 who would probably have been maintained, say twelve years, or average life of insane in hospitals, at an average cost of $140 per year, or $25,536 for the 80 per cent who would have been maintained; deducting from this the cost of deportation ($1,599.95) gives us $23,936.05, net saving to the State."

It will be the endeavor of this administration to induce the various foreign consuls to take care of their insane citizens confined in our insane asylums by deportation to their respective countries.

QUARANTINE AGAINST THE INSANE FROM OTHER STATES AND FROM OTHER COUNTRIES.

The means sometimes adopted of spiriting into our State Hospitals the insane of other States and of foreign countries should not be tolerated.

The State Hospitals are in part maintained by the taxation of our own people in charity to those in our midst who are or may become demented. It is not right, therefore, that residents of other States should, as has been sometimes done, secretly carry their insane into this State, to be supported at the expense of the taxpayers of this State.

I suggest that some measures be passed empowering the State Lunacy Commission to effectually quarantine against the insane of other States and other countries.

PARDONS, REPRIEVES, AND COMMUTATIONS.

The most painful duty which comes within the province of the Executive is to decide upon petitions for pardon, reprieve, and commutation.

There are now pending before me about two hundred different applications for pardon. Perhaps seventy-five per cent have some circumstances appealing for clemency. The tendency of the human mind is not to resist, but to yield, to the appeals of unfortunate criminals and their heart-broken relatives.

There is a higher duty which the Executive owes to the people. He must not allow his personal sympathies to be swayed. The law-abiding people of the State require protection. Crimes, whether due to weakness of nature or to cool deliberation, must be punished. To liberate criminals upon the appeal of relatives in all instances where the convicts have repented and have served very long and severe sentences, would be practically to declare that crimes should not be punished. Influence savoring of a political character, which is sometimes attempted, is most objectionable, and should never be the key to Executive clemency. Appeals to me of this nature will result, as in the past, in speedy denials.

In nearly fifty per cent of the cases which have been presented, the applications are accompanied by a petition signed by the jury which convicted the criminal, and by a letter of the trial judge, expressing his opinion that the sentence imposed was perhaps too severe, or that the ends of justice would be subserved by the liberation of the convict.

This means of attempting to shift the responsibility of a severe sentence upon the Executive is not an argument which can have much effect upon me, where the trial has been presumably a fair one, and where the evidence tends to prove the guilt of the accused.

Judges are sworn to do their duty. The trial judge has the case before him, with the living witnesses, whose demeanor and words bear the impress of truth or falsehood. The judge has heard the case, and while the jury may convict, the power of granting a new trial still rests with him.

Under these circumstances, acting upon the presumption that the sworn officers of the law have done their duty, I have steadfastly disregarded such appeals in clear cases.

I have patiently examined each case in the light of my duty to the people, and while my heart has many times urged me to sign the paper which would bring joy to the prisoner and to his anxious friends, yet my oath of office and my responsibility to the people to maintain the law, have demanded a different course.

The number of pardons, reprieves, and commutations during the last two years of my administration is, I regret, necessarily small—only one pardon being granted. The following is the list:

First—William Nagel, a butcher by trade, over seventy years of age, in the month of January, 1899, in the Superior Court of Modoc County, pleaded guilty to the crime of furnishing liquor to an Indian, and was sentenced to eight months' imprisonment in the county jail of Modoc County. A petition for his pardon, signed by many leading business and professional men of Modoc County, and by many of the county officials, was duly presented to me. The District Attorney joined in the petition for clemency, and the Judge who tried the case waived in writing all objection to Executive clemency. A full pardon was granted by me to William Nagel on the second day of June, 1899, for the following reasons: It satisfactorily appeared to me from the papers and evidence submitted that the Indian to whom the liquor was furnished sustained no tribal relations; that the time of furnishing the liquor by Nagel was on one of the Christmas holidays; that Nagel was so intoxicated at the time as not to know the nature of the act he was committing; and the liquor was furnished, not for profit, but as an act of drunken generosity. It further appeared that Nagel had borne a good reputation, was honest, industrious, law-abiding, and patriotic, and was a veteran of both the Mexican and Civil Wars. It appeared, further, that upon the facts, had he been tried before a jury, he would have been in all probability acquitted. It appeared, also, that longer detention would in all likelihood impair seriously his health, and he had, at the time the pardon was granted, served more than five months of his sentence.

Second—Ysabel Molina, a Mexican subject, was convicted in Kern County of the crime of murder in the first degree for the killing of Ameliano Ramos, a Mexican or Indian, at Bakersfield, in December, 1897, and was on December 11, 1899, sentenced by the Judge of the Superior Court to be executed at the prison of San Quentin on January 12, 1900. On the 31st day of December, 1899, I received a telegraphic appeal from the Mexican Ambassador at Washington requesting an examination into the case, and the extension of clemency to the condemned. Upon an examination of the records in the Executive Department, I discovered that certain papers had not been transmitted to me from the Superior Court of Kern County as required by law, and also that it would be necessary, in view of the previous record, that the Supreme Court should pass upon the question of the exercise of clemency. Therefore, on January 6, 1900, I reprieved the sentence of the prisoner until April 6, 1900, in order to secure the needed records and to enable a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State to pass upon the recommendation for clemency. Subsequently, and before the expiration of the reprieve, I submitted all the records transmitted to me bearing upon the case to the Justices of the Supreme Court. On the 3d day of April, 1900, I received from a majority of the Justices of the Supreme Court a recommendation that the sentence of the prisoner be commuted to imprisonment for life as prayed for. None of the other Justices of the Supreme Court indicated an opinion to the contrary. Upon a review of the testimony in the case, I determined that the killing occurred as the consequence of a brawl with the deceased, and that the recommendation of the learned Judges was in conformity with justice. Therefore, agreeably to the recommendation of the Supreme Justices, on the 5th day of April, A. D. 1900, I commuted the sentence of Ysabel Molina to imprisonment for life.

Third—Harry Winters, convicted of murder in the first degree in San Mateo County, was sentenced to be executed on October 27, 1899, at the State Prison at Folsom. Prior to the date of the sentence, to wit: on October 9, 1899, Warden Aull of the prison died, and the Attorney-General having given his opinion that the sentence could not be carried into effect on October 27, 1899, by reason of the failure of the Prison Directors to elect a new Warden, I therefore on October 26, 1899, reprieved the sentence of said

Harry Winters until December 8, 1899, on which day said prisoner was executed according to law—a new Warden having been previously elected.

Fourth—George Puttman was convicted of the crime of murder in the first degree for killing a fellow convict in the State Prison at Folsom on September 18, 1900, and was afterward, by an order of the Judge of the Superior Court of Sacramento County, sentenced to be executed at said prison on October 5, 1900. Upon petition by his counsel that he desired to perfect his appeal to the Supreme Court from the judgment of death, and he being by Section 1239 of the Penal Code entitled to sixty days in which to perfect said appeal, and said date of sentence being less than the time allowed defendant by law to perfect his said appeal, on the 3d day of October, 1900, I reprieved the sentence of said prisoner until November 19, 1900, on which day said prisoner was executed according to law.

DEATH PENALTY FOR LIFE CONVICTS FELONIOUSLY ASSAULTING ANY PERSON IN THE STATE PRISONS.

The discipline of the State Prisons must be preserved. Prisons are not only intended for the reform of the prisoner and as an example to the lawless element of the community, but likewise for punishment of crimes. The greatest vigilance of the prison officers cannot prevent occasional outbursts of violence where criminals are kept together in such numbers as in this State. It has been a matter of observation that in many cases where desperate convicts have been sentenced to life imprisonment, a spirit of abandon has overcome them. Knowing that they are immune from any higher punishment where crimes less than murder are committed by them within the prison walls, they have sometimes feloniously assaulted the turnkeys, guards, and even their fellow prisoners. The case of Jacob Oppenheimer at San Quentin is more notorious and suggestive of the need of legislation than that of Puttman at the Folsom Prison. Oppenheimer, a vicious life prisoner and a ringleader of a few desperate convicts, had made felonious assaults upon guards and fellow prisoners, and on one occasion he attempted to strangle one of the guards. On another occasion he deliberately stabbed one of the guards a number of times, inflicting severe wounds. He seemed not to dread the ordinary punishment of the prison. This and other examples of the criminal deeds of life convicts bid me urge the passage of a law which shall make it a crime punishable with death for any life convict to feloniously make an assault with intent to do great bodily harm upon any person.

I am satisfied that the enactment of such a law would tend to sustain the discipline of our State prisons by holding out the dread alternative of death to such of the abandoned life prisoners as devote their spare moments to the hatching of infamous plots.

NUMBER OF STATE PRISONERS.

The number of prisoners confined in the State Prisons is 2,045, of which number 1,293 are confined in San Quentin, and 752 in Folsom. Of these 2,045 State prisoners only nineteen are women—these latter being confined in the State Prison at San Quentin. This exceeding small number of female convicts, unparalleled in any State in the Union, is a splendid testimonial to the character of the women of California.

POWERS OF THE STATE PRISON DIRECTORS IN PAROLING PRISONERS SHOULD BE EXTENDED.

There are frequently appeals made on behalf of State prisoners who are not permitted to be paroled under the provisions of an Act of March 23, 1893, entitled "An Act to establish Board of Parole Commissioners for the parole of and government of paroled prisoners," and yet whose cases are so worthy as to impress the Governor that their behavior would indicate a complete reform. Yet as the conduct of such prisoners would not without a test justify the Executive in granting a full or even a conditional pardon, it would appear just that such prisoners should be tried by a limited parole, with full power on the part of the Executive at any time of terminating the parole granted by the State Board of Prison Directors.

I suggest that the powers of the State Board of Prison Directors under the said Act be extended to the granting of such limited paroles to all worthy reformed prisoners; provided, however, that no such limited parole be granted until such prisoner shall have served at least two calendar years in one of the State Prisons.

CALIFORNIA WAR CLAIMS.

I beg leave here to call your attention to what was said by me in my Inaugural Address on January 4, 1899, respecting the unsettled claims of our State against the National Government arising out of the Civil War, in order that you may, if you deem such course advisable, pass appropriate resolutions instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives to urge the passage of a law refunding to the State the money advanced for equipping and paying the California Volunteers.

In my Inaugural Address I expressed my convictions as follows:

"The claims of California against the General Government for furnishing, equipping, and paying volunteers during the Civil War, aggregating over $4,000,000, are still unsettled. Various bills have been from time to time introduced in both the United States Senate and House of Representatives, but they have been either abandoned after introduction or referred to committees without final action taken thereon. On June 9, 1898, the United States Senate adopted a resolution in the matter of H. R. 4936 respecting these claims, and appointed three Senators, viz: Teller, Pascoe, and Stewart, to confer with the House of Representatives. A provision for the payment to this State of $3,951,915.42, in full settlement of California's claims, has been included in the Senate amendment. California cheerfully furnished to the Federal Government soldiers in defense of the Union, and while the nation had the right to this support, it had no right to the money, amounting to over $4,000,000, which the State advanced for the equipment of its volunteers; and this money should now be restored to the State, with interest. Our Senators and Representatives in Congress should be requested to use every lawful effort for the passage of a bill allowing these war claims for at least $3,951,915.42, the amount allowed in the Congressional bill to which reference has just been made. These war claims are both just and equitable, and the State has long and patiently waited for this settlement."

THE PARIS EXPOSITION COMMISSION.

Under the Act of the Legislature approved March 20, 1899, I appointed the three following distinguished citizens of our State as Commissioners to the great Paris Exposition: The Honorable Ben C. Truman, of Los Angeles; W. W. Foote, of San Francisco; E. W. Runyon, of Red Bluff; all of whom duly qualified according to law, and entered upon the discharge of their duties.

Commissioners Foote and Runyon have recently returned from Paris, but the other Commissioner is still in Europe.

The Commission has not as yet filed with me the report of its proceedings, and in the absence of which I cannot make further official statement.

JUDGMENTS AGAINST THE STATE.

Under the provisions of Section 6 of an Act entitled "An Act to authorize suits against the State, and regulating the procedure therein," approved February 28, 1893 (Stats. 1893, p. 58), it becomes my duty to report to your honorable bodies all judgments rendered against the State and not heretofore reported.

The following is a list of such judgments which has been brought to my knowledge by the Attorney-General:

First—"James C. Daly, plaintiff, vs. State of California, defendant. By complaint in Superior Court, City and County of San Francisco, for $10,000, legal services in S. P. Co. vs. Board of Railroad Commissioners. Judgment for plaintiff, September 3, 1898, for $11,050 and interest until paid. Stipulation waiving appeal filed November 4, 1898. Closed."

From communications received from Mr. D. E. Collins, it is made to appear that the above judgment was at some time assigned to the California Bank of Oakland, but of the correctness of this information I have no knowledge from the records.

Second—"J. R. Hanify, plaintiff, vs. State of California, defendant. Justice's Court, City and County of San Francisco. No. 91,512. Complaint filed June 25, 1896, to recover $197.70 damages caused to a lot of shingles dumped into San Francisco Bay by collapse of Fremont Street wharf. Cause tried and submitted December 20, 1898. On February 7, 1899, judgment rendered for plaintiff for $197.70 damages and $63 costs. Records of Court show no satisfaction or assignment of judgment."

Third—"The People of the State of California, by Tiley L. Ford, Attorney-General of said State, plaintiff, vs. Pacific Land Improvement Company (a corporation) and Emil Wickman, defendants. Superior Court, Los Angeles County. No. 33,738. Complaint filed October 25, 1899. Action to quiet title to certain lands in the town of Santa Fé Springs, County of Los Angeles, dedicated as a public park. Cause tried December 5, 1899, and on that date judgment rendered for defendants, because of insufficient proof of acceptance by the public."

ECONOMIC REFORM REQUIRED.

My efforts to fulfill my pre-election pledges of giving the people an economic government were sustained by the excellent body of Senators and Assemblymen who sat in the thirty-third legislative session. I am satisfied, however, that the members of the present Legislature, if you will only resolve so to do, can surpass the good work of the preceding Legislature, by urging still further economic reform. The times are auspicious. The people of our State have been just disburdened from years of depression. The recent election has demonstrated how near President McKinley is to the hearts of the people, and how fully his foreign and domestic policy reflects their wishes. The Philippines, a key to Oriental commerce, being now American territory, will enrich and build up the varied industries of this State.

It is right, therefore, that no reactionary depression should be developed by the imposition of a heavy tax rate through excessive appropriations or otherwise. Let the buoyant feeling which inspirits alike the laborer and the merchant, the farmer and the banker, continue unchecked, so that business activity may not be marred by the shadow of a too greedy tax-gatherer.

It lies with you, as legislators, to so apportion the State's money that all proper debts may be paid and the wants of all public institutions be sufficiently, but not extravagantly, supplied.

CONCLUSION.

It is impossible in a message to call attention to all the necessities of the State, and as you are each acquainted with a particular district and with its actual needs, I will be pleased at all times during the session to confer with you as to all such needs, so that the legislative and executive departments may intelligently cooperate in an economic government, by giving the people the lowest rate of taxation in the history of the State.

In view of the number of appropriations necessary to pay the current expenses of government, the maintenance of the several public institutions, and the various just claims against the State, I invoke your honorable bodies to exercise rigid economy in the matter of small as well as large expenditures, for extravagance in the management of the State may grow great by the unnecessary addition and multiplication of what may appear to be small items.

I most respectfully again request that a close examination may be made of each measure, both in the House as well as in the Committee, before it receives your final sanction. Perfection in legislation we cannot expect, but if the lawmakers be earnest and active, and if the laws passed be intrinsically just, their object conformable with the prevalent public spirit, and if they be expedient, then will such measures contribute to the public welfare.

The subordination of self to public obligation is the first duty of the legislator. Good laws are the forceful expressions of the public will. To recognize the equity of the law and to so frame its provisions as to be adapted to the general welfare, the legislator should advise himself of the dominant sense of public right. When the individual conscience of the legislator harmonizes with the public conscience, the unfoldment of law is both easy and reasonable, and the legislation is commensurate with the public good and public demands.

Obedying the dictates of right conscience, and swayed by our sacred official oaths, let us patriotically, zealously, and economically labor together, so as to assist in the highest development of the State.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were offered :

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

The following report of standing committee was received:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 10, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: The Committee on Rules respectfully report the following as the Standing Rules of the Senate for the thirty-fourth session, and recommend their adoption.

STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE.

1. Time of Meeting of Senate.

The sessions of the Senate shall be daily (Sundays excepted), beginning at ten o'clock A. M., and after Monday, January 28, 1901, a recess shall be given at twelve o'clock and thirty minutes P. M. to two o'clock P. M., unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

2. Calling to Order—Reading Journal.

The President shall call the Senate to order at the hour stated, and, if a quorum be present, the Journal of the proceedings of the preceding day shall be read, unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

3. Order of Business.

1. Roll Call.
2. Prayer by the Chaplain.
3. Reading and Approving of the Journal of the preceding day.
4. Presentation of Petitions.
5. Messages from the Assembly.
6. Messages from the Governor.
7. Motions, Resolutions, and Notices.
8. Reports of Standing Committees.
9. Reports of Select Committees.
10. Introduction and First Reading of Bills.
11. Consideration of Daily File.
12. Unfinished Business.
13. Special Orders of the Day.
14. Reports from the Committee on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills shall at all times be in order; provided, that the messages from State officers, other than the Governor, and from the Assembly, may, on motion of any Senator, be considered at any time.

4. President pro tem.—His Powers and Privileges.

The President pro tem. shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same power as the President; but the President pro tem. shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

5. The Duties of Secretary.

1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every day, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers handed to him for that purpose by any member.
2. To superintend all copying and work necessary to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all officers and employes of the Senate, other than the President of the Senate. To certify to, and transmit to the Assembly, all bills, resolutions, and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.
3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.
4. To notify the Assembly on the concurrence or disagreement by the Senate in any vote of the Assembly.
5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.
6. To assign to the Assistant Secretaries, and other officers, the duties pertaining to their offices.

6. Attendance, Duties, and Obligations of Senators.

No Senator shall absent himself from the service of the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators, as the majority of such Senators present shall agree, at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance shall be made as the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum thereof, shall have the power to issue process, directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process, unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

7. Reading of a Paper, if Objected to, Determined Without Debate.

When the reading of a paper is called for (except petitions), and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the Senate without debate. But this rule is not applicable to any bill, resolution, amendment, or other proposition which may be at the time directly under consideration.

8. Senators Must Address the President.

Every Senator, when he speaks, shall, standing in his place, address the President, and when he has finished he shall sit down.

No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken shall desire to do so.

9. The Senators Entitled to Floor.

When two or more Senators rise at once, the President shall name the Senator who is to speak first.

10. Printing.

Five hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator, and a number equal to the committee to which each bill is referred, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

11. Number of Copies to Be Printed.

Five hundred copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered, unless the Senate especially direct a different number.

12. Executive Session.

On a motion, made and seconded, to close the doors of the Senate on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons except the Senators, President of Senate, Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper, to withdraw, and during the discussion of said motion the doors shall remain closed; and every member and officer of the Senate shall keep secret all such matters, proceedings, and things whereof secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

13. Printing the Daily Journal.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall print five hundred copies of the Journal of every day's proceedings of the Senate to supply Senators and Assemblymen daily, during the session, with the Journal of the previous day's proceedings; and also a sufficient number of copies, with proper repaging, to bind at the end of the session of the Legislature, in book form, as the Journal of the Senate, required by law.

14. Committees—When to Report.

All committees of the Senate shall report their action on all bills referred to them before January 25th within ten days, except that all bills referred to them on and after January 25th shall be reported within five days, unless otherwise specially ordered, and when such extension of time is ordered the Senate shall state the length of time, and the Secretary shall make record of the same in a book kept for that purpose.

15. Bills "Passed on File," Placed at Foot of File.

When bills have been "passed on file" for the second time, they must be placed at the foot of the file in their regular order, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

16. Standing Committees, Quorum of—What Constitutes.

The standing committees shall determine the number of such committee which shall constitute a quorum; provided, that not less than one third of the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum.

17. Author to Speak Last.

The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

18. Form of Previous Question—Call of Senate.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present, upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the seconding of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order; but after a majority of Senators shall have seconded such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

19. Order of Questions on Motion to Refer.

When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject, and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

20. Order of Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered to the Engrossing Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate, and the receipt, in writing, of the Engrossing Clerk taken therefor; and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by said Engrossing Clerk. And all Senate Bills shall, after their final passage by and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered to the Enrolling Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, and the receipt, in writing, of said Enrolling Clerk taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled by the Enrolling Clerk in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

21. Printing for the Senate.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary.

The Secretary may, when necessity requires, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

22. Petitions.

Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate, shall be entered on the Journal.

23. No Records or Papers to be Taken from Desk.

The Secretary of the Senate shall not suffer any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee, but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills, and take their receipt therefor.

24. Appointment of Committees.

All standing committees of the Senate shall be named by the President of the Senate, unless otherwise ordered, and the first named shall be the chairman thereof. All other committees shall be appointed in such manner as the Senate shall determine.

25. Assembly Bills to be Read First Time.

All Assembly bills shall be read the first time, when taken up in Assembly messages, and then referred to the proper committee.

26. Oaths and Affirmations.

The oaths and affirmations required by the Constitution, and prescribed by law, shall be taken and subscribed by each Senator in open Senate, before entering upon his duties.

27. Resolutions.

Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), titles of bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments shall be printed in the Journal in full.

28. Special Orders.

Any subject may, by vote of two thirds of the Senators present, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate, unless there is unfinished business of the preceding day; and if it is not finally disposed of on that day, is to take its place on the file of special orders in the order of time at which it was made special, unless it become, by adjournment, the unfinished business.

29. Voting.

When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

30. Reconsideration.

When a bill, resolution, amendment, order, or message, upon which a vote has been taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be accompanied by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

31. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill or resolution has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the majority; and it shall not be in order for any Senator to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and it shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill has been passed or defeated. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

32. Secretary, upon Notice of Reconsideration, not to Report Bill to Assembly.

If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not report the bill or resolution to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has been transmitted to the Assembly.

33. Motion to Reconsider May be Debated.

A Senator, after a notice of motion to reconsider is given as provided in Rule 31 may, at the time of consideration of such motion, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same may be debated by the Senate.

34. Reference of Bills to Finance Committee.

All bills or resolutions appropriating money from any fund within the control of the State shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time.

35. Standing Committees.

The following standing committees shall be appointed by the President of the Senate:

Agriculture—Seven members
Apportionment—Thirteen members.
Banking—Five members.
Code Revision—Seven members.
Commerce—Seven members.
Contingent Expenses—Three members.
Corporations and Public Morals—Thirteen members.
Constitutional Amendments—Seven members.
County Governments—Seven members.
Drainage—Five members.
Elections—Eleven members.
Education—Seven members.
Enrolled and Engrossed Bills—Three members.
Executive Communications—Three members.
Federal Relations—Three members.
Finance—Thirteen members.
Fish and Game—Five members.
Food Adulteration—Three members.
Forestry and Water Storage—Nine members.
Health—Five members.
Highways—Seven members.
Hospitals—Seven members.
Irrigation—Five members.
Judiciary—Nineteen members.
Labor and Capital—Three members.
Manufactures—Three members.
Military Affairs—Five members.
Mining—Five members.
Municipal Corporations—Seven members.
Printing—Three members.
Prisons—Seven members.
Reformatories—Five members.
Revenue and Taxation—Five members.
Rules—Three members.

36. Amendments to Original Question.

An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contain several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. But the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. And motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

37. Engrossed Bills to be Examined and Reported.

All bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossed Bills, the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper indorsements, and the original retained by the Senate.

38. Engrossed Bills Have Preference.

All bills, after the second reading (if the same be not committed, then upon being reported), shall be placed upon a general file, and shall be taken up for consideration and passage in the order of their being placed on file.

39. Amendments and Substitutes.

Substitutes may be offered at any time when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment; and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment.

40. Amendments and Substitutes Must be Germane.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or substitute.

41. Least Sum and Shortest Time in Filling Blanks.

In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

42. Short of Final Question, Two-Thirds Vote Not Requisite on Propositions to Amend Constitution.

When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two thirds shall not be required to decide any question for amendment, or extending to the merits, being short of the final question.

43. Leave of Absence.

When leave of absence shall be granted to any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by two-thirds vote, and no expenses or mileage of attachés shall be allowed.

44. Claims on Contingent Fund Must go to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

No claim shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate until the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

45. Order of Privileged Questions Under Debate.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

46. Motion Not to be Debated until Seconded and Announced.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn at any time before amendment.

47. Senator, When Called to Order, Must Sit Down.

When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the exceptional language shall immediately be taken down in writing.

48. Final Question on Second Reading of Bill—No Amendment on Third Reading, but May Commit.

The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate, and requiring three readings previous to being passed, shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed and read the third time?" And no amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions.

49. Ayes and Noes—Members Must Answer—No Vote After Announcement of Vote.

When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the decision from the chair.

50. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same; and the title shall be announced from the Secretary's desk, shall be read the first time, when it shall be referred to a standing committee. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless, in case of urgency, two thirds of the Senate shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision), and the last reading shall be at length. The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator have objected to such reading). Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be read but once, unless the Senate, by a majority vote of all the Senators present, otherwise directs.

51. The General File: Its Hours—Special Order of Bills on File.

The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may hereafter set, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration; and this order shall take precedence of all others.

52. Titles of Bills Must Be in Journal.

The titles of bills, and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by proposed amendments, shall be inserted in the Journal.

53. When Not in Committee of the Whole, Proceedings Must be Entered in Journal.

The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as Committee of the Whole, shall be entered on the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

54. Rules in Senate and Committee of the Whole.

The rules of the Senate shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times of speaking, and except that the ayes and noes shall be taken.

55. Cases Not Provided for, Cushing to Govern.

In all cases not provided for by these rules, the Senate shall be governed by the law^s and practice as laid down in Cushing's Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies.

56. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of three fifths, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of three fifths of the Senators present, except that portion of Rule 52 relating to the final passage of bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

57. Powers and Prerogatives of President.

The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the Journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to reporters.

58. President May Order Lobbies Cleared.

In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same cleared.

59. President may Call Senators to the Chair.

The President shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the Chair, who is hereby vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

60. Sergeant-at-Arms.

A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate, from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof as shall be directed to him by the President. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms, for every arrest, for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expenses for himself and special messenger, going and returning, shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators, to prepare checks, and, if required so to do, draw the money on such checks for the Senators (the same being previously signed by the President, and indorsed by the Senator or person to whom the check is made), and pay over the same to the Senator or person entitled thereto.

61. Messengers—When Introduced.

Messengers are introduced in any stage of business, except while a question is being put, while the ayes or noes are being called, while the ballots are being counted, or while a Senator is addressing the Senate.

62. Doorkeeper.

It shall be the duty of the Doorkeeper to prohibit all persons, except Senators, ex-Senators, members of the Assembly, State officers, officers of the two houses, and such reporters as have seats assigned to them by the President, from coming within the bar of the Senate, unless invited by the President, or a Senator, and to arrest for contempt all persons outside the bar, or in the gallery, found engaged in loud conversation, or otherwise making a noise to the disturbance of the Senate.

63. Executive Communications and Nominations.

When executive communications or nominations shall be sent by the Governor to the Senate for their confirmation, the same shall be referred to the Committee on Executive Communications, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, which motion shall be determined without debate.

64. Printed Bills, etc., Must Be Placed on Desks.

All bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, when printed, must be placed on the desks of Senators at least one hour previous to the opening of session.

65. San Francisco Delegation.

The members of the Senate from the city and county of San Francisco shall constitute a standing committee, to be known as the San Francisco Delegation.

ADJOURNMENT.

At eleven o'clock and thirty-five minutes A. M., on motion of Senator Leavitt, the Senate adjourned until eleven o'clock and thirty minutes A. M. of Monday, January 14, 1901.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INVESTIGATION OF THE STATE PRINTING OFFICE.

SACRAMENTO, CAL., January, 1901.

To the Senate of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: On the 10th day of February, 1900, the Senate of the State of California, in extra session assembled, by its resolution duly passed on said day, provided for the appointment of a committee composed of three hold-over Senators, whose duty it should be to make a thorough examination and investigation of the State Printing Office, and to report at the next regular session of the Legislature the condition and manner of conducting the same and the expense of State printing. The undersigned, your committee, appointed by virtue of said resolution, having made the investigation required thereby, beg leave to submit the following as their report:

The office of Superintendent of State Printing was created, and the State Printing Office established, by an Act of the Legislature passed in 1872, which took effect upon July 1, 1875 (Statutes 1872, page -). The office of State Printer was originally an appointive one, but in 1891 the statute was so amended that it became elective. The present State Printer, A. J. Johnston, was appointed to the office by Hon. H. H. Markham in 1891. In 1894 he was elected, and re-elected in 1898. Prior to July 1, 1875, when the statute creating the State Printing Office went into effect, all State printing was done, under the direction of the State Printer, by contracts let for the work. This system was abolished in 1875, since which time all State printing has been done in the State office.

The cost to the State under the contract system, we find to have been from 150 to 600 per cent in advance of the cost under the present system. As will be seen from the tables herewith presented, and from the deductions of your committee to be found at the close of this report, the expense to the State of its printing under the present system can be still further very materially reduced. In the year 1899 the separate appropriations made by the Legislature in the different departments of the State amounted in the aggregate to the sum of $125,852.50. This amount includes the printing expense of the extra session of 1900. Of this amount $51,900.80 was used during the fifty-first fiscal year, leaving a balance available for use during the fifty-second fiscal year of $73,951.70.

The limited appropriation made by the last Legislature for its maintenance had the effect, doubtless, of holding back the considerable quantity of the work heretofore done for the various officers, departments, and commissions of the State government. In addition to the amount of the appropriation for the fifty-first fiscal year, several of the State departments have paid in cash to the State Printing Office for work there done various amounts, aggregating the sum of $5,387.90, which amount was received from the funds of the departments paying the same, and was not included in the appropriation of the Legislature for public printing.

The recent change in the manner of making appropriations, from that of making them to the State Printing Fund direct, to that of appropriating a fixed amount for each department, commission, and institution of the State government, has been a very beneficial one, and has resulted in a saving to the State of one half the former cost of printing, by reason of the fact that when officials and departments have a fixed amount within which their requisitions for State printing must be confined, the amount of printing ordered is materially reduced. Under the present system it is necessary for officials and heads of departments to economize in their printing supplies and to guard against the extravagances that were prevalent previous to the inauguration of the present mode; otherwise, if an institution or department exhausts its appropriation during its fiscal year, it must do without printing material until the Legislature makes a new appropriation. The danger of such a consequence results in a very commendable watchfulness upon the part of officials lest their printing fund should be depleted before the provision of another by the Legislature.

The following is a tabulated result of the investigation of your committee into the expense of conducting the various departments of the State Printing Office:

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF STATE PRINTING.

The main business office of the Superintendent of State Printing is in the Capitol Building, and apart from the State Printing Office.

The force consists of:

	Salary.
Superintendent of State Printing.....	$3,000 00
Deputy	2,400 00
Clerk	1,600 00
Assistant Clerk.....	900 00
Messenger	1,200 00

During sessions of the Legislature this force is increased by one additional assistant clerk and one or two messengers.

All bills for supplies and materials are presented here; and all orders for printing, binding, etc., are first examined by the Superintendent of State Printing or his deputy before they are filled. All printing, when finished, is distributed from this office and a receipt taken for each job of work. Here the correspondence of the office and all business matters are attended to.

COMPOSITION.

From observation and information procured from operators on the Mergenthaler Linotype, the following facts and figures are presented:

The linotype performs the work of distribution by means of melting the metal, which is again used for new type, and at no cost except the fire for heating, which is much more than offset by the loss by compositors when distribution is performed by hand. When distribution is made by compositors, or when men are paid by "piece," the linotype will do the average work of four compositors. If distribution is not considered, the work of this machine equals that of from six to seven men, where men are employed by the day, as is the case in the State Printing Office.

There is to be considered the wastage by dross and waste metal, which will amount to 750 pounds per year to each machine, at an approximate cost of 25 cents per day for each machine, or 5 cents per day for the work that would be done by one compositor.

The "wear and tear" on each machine is figured at $50 per annum, or 15 cents per day, and the life of each machine is from ten to fifteen years, and the cost of same is $3,375 each.

Gas, gasoline, or oil is used for metal melting, and costs about 35 cents per day.

The following table shows the comparative cost of the same class of work done by the linotype and as done by the State Printing Office:

Cost of One Day's Work of Linotype.

$1.32 per page, or difference in favor of machine, on 10-page bill, of $13.20.

The amount paid for composition only, at the State Printing Office, from July 1, 1895, to June 30, 1900, or for the last five fiscal years (at $4.50 per day), was $168,347.99. The cost of this same composition, if done at the rates paid by private printing firms, or $3.00 per day, would be $112,231.99, which would be a saving to the State of an average of $11,223 per year for composition.

Using the figures shown herein, as a basis for calculating the cost of the same work, if done by machine, there would be an additional saving of $12,158.76 per year, or a total saving per year of $23,381.76 in composition alone.

To show the difference in hand composition in the State Printing Office, as compared with machine composition, let us take Senate Bill No. 136, the County Government Bill of 1899. The first cost of printing 500 copies of that bill of 150 pages in length, was $425.50. The bill was printed, copies of which were sent to the Legislature, referred to the committees and debated, for from two to five weeks. In the interim, other bills came crowding in and it was absolutely necessary to use the type that was used in the composition of Senate Bill No. 136, and it was "thrown in" or distributed. Amendments were offered and it was sent to the printer as amended. It cost, at that time, $466 to reset that bill, being 14 pages longer than it was in the first instance. It was again debated and amended, and while being debated and amended the type was absolutely necessary in the composition of other matters and was again thrown in. It came back to be printed a third time and had to be set up over again, from its very commencement. It was set up four times. Then it went to engrossment and then to enrollment, and again set up each time. Finally, it was printed in chapters, and cost, as a whole, $2,777.

Under the machine system the bill would be set up on the machine, the cost of metal being so slight that any amount of it could be kept on hand, and this bill would be laid away on galleys and kept in a condition to be corrected, and, at a cost of from 25 to 50 per cent, could be again put in shape for printing for the second, third, or subsequent amendments.

In other words, we desire to call the attention of the Senate to that particular department of composition known as "standing type." Metal used in machines can be purchased at a very nominal figure, and an immense amount could be kept on hand, so that it would be entirely unnecessary to melt that metal for use of other bills. The difference would be at least 75 per cent in favor of machine composition. Other bills are not so large, but yet have to be reprinted and reset at every amendment, because it is impossible to keep from two to three thousand different bills, ranging from 1 to 150 pages in length, standing in a printing office, such as the State of California should have.

Referring to this one item of what is an expense incurred by the Legislature, and is made a charge against the State Printer, we append herewith a statement showing the Cost of Senate Bill No. 136—"County Government Bill of 1899."

This table shows the cost of printing legislative bills during the session of 1899 to have been 55 per cent of what the same work cost the State when done by contract. It also shows that the cost of printing this class of work has been reduced about 18 per cent since 1893.

Totals				$245 54	$134 15	$40 70

From this table it appears that the printing of legislative files cost 600 per cent more when done by contract than as done by the State Printing Office in 1899.

It is also shown that the cost of printing this class of work has been reduced 70 per cent since 1893.

This is to be accounted for by the diligence displayed in requiring more work during office hours from the employes, and by the reduction of expenses attached to the office.

The amount of the cost of work done by the State Printer for the different departments for each fiscal year, since July 1, 1890, is set forth in the following table:

1891	93,499 65
1892	83,235 70
1893	82,834 55

1896	86,616 00
1897	99,301 00
1898

of which the lithographing amounted to $6,863 85.

The following departments and commissions have incomes from other sources than State appropriation, and, in the opinion of your committee, all such commissions should pay to the State Printing Fund out of their receipts for work done for them.

Less than one half of the amount appropriated was paid for printing during the fifty-first fiscal year. The amount of the appropriation for printing for the several departments for that year was $60,776.25. The average cost per year for printing, binding, and work done by the State Printer from 1890 to 1897, inclusive, was $89,128, showing a saving in the fifty-first fiscal year of $28,352.

By reason of the plan adopted by the last Legislature in providing that each department pay from its own fund for its printing, the full amount appropriated for the fifty-first fiscal year has not been used; the total work charged for by the State Printer being $51,900.80, or $11,025.45 less than the appropriation. It must be borne in mind, however, that the biennial reports have not been issued, but will be charged as printing done during the fifty-second fiscal year.

PAYING EMPLOYÉS.

A timekeeper is employed, who daily notes the time of the various employés, as handed to him each morning from the head of each department.

The work to be paid for from separate funds, viz: State Printing, School Book, University, and Legislative, is shown by different payrolls and charged to the respective funds. Monthly these payrolls are submitted to the State Printer, who, after certifying, under oath, to their correctness, files them with the State Board of Examiners. The amounts are passed upon by this Board, and the payrolls are then filed with the State Controller, who draws a warrant for the amount due, and in favor of each person whose name appears thereon.

In all cases of employés who are paid by the day, the timekeeper, under authority of a "power of attorney" signed by these employés, receives all warrants and draws all money due them, and, after deducting any amounts that may have been advanced by parties not connected with the State Printing Office, pays the balance due each employé, to him or his representative. Where money has not been borrowed by an employé, on account of his wages, there is, of course, no deduction to be made. This arrangement is one made by the employés with the timekeeper, for which the State Printer is in no way responsible, but permits it as the wish of the employés. Upon inquiry made of several persons working at the office, we find that they are fully satisfied with this mode of receiving their wages, and they consider the plan as conducive to their advantage and convenience.

Heretofore it has not been customary for employés to sign a receipt or payroll when paid, but, on the recommendation of your committee, a book has been prepared that will show the signatures of all persons who receive their pay in cash from the timekeeper. This book began with the fiscal year July 1, 1900.

Previous to July 1, 1899, all employés were paid at the end of each two weeks, since which time, however, owing to separate appropriations having been made for each State officer and institution, pay day occurs once a month, and then on no regular date, as bills are not audited by the various officers and institutions for whom the work was done, promptly on the first of the month.

NON-PRODUCING ELEMENT.

There enters into the cost of conducting the various departments of the office, a certain class of labor that is not directly that of the printers; such as the service of foremen, clerks, proofreaders, stonemen, bookkeepers, drivers, porters, etc. There is also fuel, light, insurance, care of horse, repairs, etc., to be considered in the cost of all work turned out.

It has been customary (and the adopted plan is still in use) to charge an additional percentage, over and above the actual cost of the labor directly employed on the work, and of the stock, upon each job of work. This percentage is intended to cover the cost of the "non-producing element," and it varies in accordance with the amount of indirect labor employed, and is from 10 to 45 per cent additional.

In the opinion of your committee, the system of charging for the "non-producing element" is not a proper one, as the percentage charged on each lot of work is arbitrary, and is not, in all instances, correct.

We would suggest, as a proper manner of ascertaining the percentage to be charged on jobs of work for the "non-producing element," the following plan: Add together the daily wages, the daily amount of water, light, power, etc., used, and divide this by the number of hours worked, to obtain the cost per hour, each day, of the "non-producing element." If the foreman received $6 per day, the assistant $5, other employés $50, incidentals daily, $14—the total expense per day (8 hours per day) would be $75, or, per hour, $9.33. A time card, following each job of work as it progresses through departments, would show the time spent on the work. If a job requires ten hours' labor in composing room, bindery, and press room, and there are fifty people employed in the different departments on that day (or 400 hours of one person), the cost of each hour's work of the "non-producing element" would be one four hundredths of $75, or 18½ cents for each hour's work, which is the proper amount to be added to the cost of composition, binding, press work, stock, and ink.

If these costs are considered daily for a full previous fiscal year, the average percentage is easily ascertained, which should be the ruling percentage to charge on all printing and binding done by the office.

The charges made by the foreman are seemingly excessive for work done on school books (as well as other work) in the matter of "press use"—$5 per day. Several other items of a like character are set out in the schedule, marked "Rates for fixing prices." These items and the item of charging for "non-producing element" by composing room, press room, and bindery, should not be added to the cost of work when the foreman makes a charge of from 10 to 45 per cent to cover incidental expenses, including his salary and that of others who are embraced in the "non-producing element."

There is a vast difference between the amount paid for labor in the State Printing Office and that paid for labor in the average commercial offices of California. For the purpose of showing exactly what difference does exist, your committee wrote to several printing offices in different portions of the State, requesting a statement of the amount paid labor, and guaranteeing strict confidence. We were gratified to receive full and satisfactory replies, from which have been made the following table of comparative amounts paid each class of labor by the State and by private printing offices:

COST OF PLANT.

It has been a rule to charge each job of work done, with a certain percentage for the wear and tear of the "plant." This is done in all instances, and to such an extent that the plant has been cleared of its indebtedness $2\frac{3}{4}$ times over.

The practice of making this charge still prevails and forms a small part of the additional cost over and above the actual cost of production.

PURCHASE OF MATERIAL.

Estimates are advertised and bids solicited for all paper, inks, and other supplies used by the State Printing Office. The bids, when received, are opened by the State Board of Examiners, acting in conjunction with the Superintendent of State Printing, and the contracts for furnishing the different articles are awarded to the lowest bidder. The amount of these bids, together with the name of bidders, and other information concerning the awarding of contracts for supplies and material, is set forth in detail in the report of the Superintendent of State Printing for 1900.

We find, on comparing the prices paid for paper, that the State is now supplied by contract with paper at a much less cost than it can be purchased in open market. This is due to the fact of the rise in the market price of paper since the State contract for supplying the same was made.

BINDERY.

The bindery is the most complete and up-to-date department of the State Printing Office, although in order to economize and cheapen the work it is necessary to place therein additional machinery that will facilitate its operation at a less cost than at present.

We submit a list of the machinery now in use:

- 1 46-inch Sheridan self-clamper cutter—power.
- 1 34-inch Donnell hand cutter.
- 1 32-inch Gem cutter—hand.
- 1 Seybold automatic trimmer—power.
- 1 Standard book trimmer.
- 1 17½-inch Sanborn roller backer.
- 1 17½-inch Donnell roller backer.
- 1 29-inch Donnell hand backer.
- 1 17-inch Hickok hand backer.
- 1 34-inch Donnell table shears.
- 1 Hickok book-sawing machine—power.
- 1 Sheridan smasher—power.
- 1 Sheridan combination inking and stamping machine—power.
- 1 Donnell embosser—power.
- 1 Donnell embosser—hand.
- 1 Donnell rotary board cutter—power.
- 1 Peerless perforating machine—power.
- 1 Singer sewing machine—power.
- 1 Hickok numbering machine—power.
- 1 Donnell stamping machine—power.
- 1 Donnell stamping machine, round cornered—hand.
- 1 Thompson wire stitcher—power.
- 1 Success wire stitcher—power.
- 1 54-inch Hickok ruling machine, patent striker—power.
- 1 52-inch Donnell ruling machine, patent striker—power.
- 6 Donnell standing presses.
- 4 Hickok standing presses.
- 1 Donnell hand press.
- 2 sets case rollers—power.
- 3 Donnell gilding presses.

The working force in the bindery is at the present time employed to the best advantage. Women, who are engaged on the different machines, are, upon occasions when there is no work for the machines (such as perforating, stitching, etc.), immediately placed at other regular work, such as collating, folding, sewing, etc., if there is such work to be done. If no work is listed, their wages cease. No time is paid for, unless the employé is actually engaged.

PRESS ROOM.

Following is a list of presses in Press Room, and approximate cost of same:

1 Sanborn steam cutter, 32-inch	$1,200 00
3 jiggers, 40 x 60
2 jiggers, 32 x 50
2 jiggers, 30 x 42	142 00
1 dry press, price not obtainable
1 calendering machine	2,400 00
1 ¼ Colt's armory platen press, 10 x 15	600 00
2 ½ medium Gordon platen press, 10 x 15, at $500	1,000 00
1 Pony Campbell, 22 x 27	2,500 00
1 No. 7 Hoe stop cylinder 2 rev., 36 x 51	5,300 00
2 No. 5 Hoe stop cylinder 2 rev., 29 x 42, at $4,500	9,000 00
1 No. 2½ Cottrell cylinder 2 rev., 25 x 38	3,500 00
2 No. 6 Cottrell cylinder 2 rev., 37 x 52, at $5,700	11,400 00
2 No. 7 Cottrell front delivery, 38 x 56, at $6,500	13,000 00

Most of the machinery enumerated above is antiquated and cannot be used to the same advantage as machinery of later patterns, with modern improvements. The presses, during legislative sessions, are taxed to their utmost capacity, and the cost of the production of work is far in advance of what the same work could be done for by an office equipped with presses that have a greater speed, more modern appliances, and require a less amount of labor in their manipulation and care.

LITHOGRAPHING.

Lithographing and "fancy" printing are not usually ordered in large quantities, consequently the cost of the first lot (when the order is for a small lot) is greater than the subsequent lots, because cost of stone is charged.

The office is not equipped for this class of work, and is compelled to have the work done by outside offices.

The electrotyping department is practically "up to date," and with the expenditure of about $250 can do all the work, in first-class shape, that would naturally come to the office during the next ten years.

The machine shop is in good condition, and repairs are promptly and well done.

ENGINE ROOM.

Power is furnished by the Sacramento Electric, Gas, and Railway Company, at a cost of $130 per month. The machinery is operated through a Westinghouse-Esda, 3-phase, 500 volts, 50 horse-power motor, which is supplemented with the reserve of a Wheelock automatic cut-off engine and boiler of 40 horse-power capacity. Both engine and motor are in good condition, and in the event of a failure in the supply of current for the motor, the engine and boiler can be placed in almost immediate use.

In addition to the above, there is connected with the engineer's department, one New Era duplex steam pump.

WAREHOUSE.

All binding, printing, or press work done by the Printing Office, is, on its completion, delivered to the warehouse, from whence it is distributed.

School books are also kept in stock there, and all books sold through the Superintendent of Public Instruction are boxed, weighed, and shipped from this department. One wagon is kept busy delivering to trains and boats, to State officials and departments, the work done by the State Printing Office.

SCHOOL BOOKS.

The work of the State Printer may be classified under two divisions, or heads—(a) that of school books, and (b) that of all other work done for State officers and institutions.

The printing, binding, etc., of school books are separately kept, and the cost of the work on each book is charged to it, as the edition progresses, and is completed; a percentage is added for such additional expenses as foreman of the several departments, insurance, repairs, etc. These last mentioned items do not enter into the items of printing and binding, and are not considered by the foreman of the Printing Office in his computation of the cost of producing the edition. The State Printer, however, properly adds these items to the cost of the book; and charges accordingly for them in rendering his statement to the State Board of Education.

This sum total is the amount that the State Board of Education considers as one of the items on which they base the cost of each book. The following is the body of rules adopted by the State Board of Education, which, when put to the test, did not agree with the actual cost of the book, and your committee was compelled to adopt new rules for their own guidance, which will be found following the rules of the State Board of Education.

Rules Adopted by the State Board of Education for Computing Cost of State Text-Books.

1. Divide cost of press work, paper, binding of a given edition by the number of that edition printed.
2. Divide cost of preparing plates, including composition, engraving, and electrotyping, by estimated supply for 12 years.
3. Divide the share of the plant chargeable to a given book by the estimated supply for 12 years.
4. Divide three-fifths cost of compilation and illustration by estimated supply for 4 years.
5. Take the sum of the preceding quotients for the cost.

Rules of Committee for Ascertaining Cost of School Books.

1. Take from book of Superintendent of Public Instruction, cost and estimate of school books, the amount of cost and compilation and cost of plates, etc.; add together. Divide sum so obtained by the actual average annual sales, to procure the cost per book for these items.

2. Then take the cost of each issue from books of State Printer (excepting the first issue) and divide by the number of books printed, to ascertain the cost of printing per book; then to which add the cost of incidental expenses of the Printer on each book, which is shown as handling, warehouse, etc. This is reduced to cost per book and added to other amounts.

3. The sum total of cost for compiling, etc., as shown by books of Superintendent of Public Instruction, added to the cost of printing, and incidental expenses (warehouse, etc.) as shown above, gives the actual cost per book.

4. The cost of last issue is ascertained by dividing the cost of the issue as shown by the State Printer's book by the number of books printed as that issue, to which is added the incidental expense of Printer and cost per book for compiling, electrotype, etc., as shown by books of Superintendent of Public Instruction.

COST OF BOOKS.

In computing the cost of books, the estimate of probable supply, as made by the State Board of Education, is disregarded by this committee; and the actual supply as shown by Warehouse and Printer's books, is taken as a basis to calculate the pro rata of cost of each book. In but few instances are the estimates of the State Board correct as to the actual sales; generally the quantity sold is much less than the estimate, which makes the cost in excess of the price for which the books are sold. In one case, that of the Revised English Grammar, the estimate of supply is less than the actual sales.

The State Board of Education, acting in accordance with the law, annually fix the price for which school books shall be sold during the ensuing year.

The following table shows why the State School Book Fund has a balance of $117,487.52, instead of an amount that by this time should have paid back to the State the full amount of its original outlay.

Had the full estimate of demand been called for, as calculated by the State Board of Education, the State Text-Book Fund would now have to its credit the amount originally appropriated, less the amount of cost of production. The cause of deficiency in the expected amount of the funds is therefore (1st) miscalculation as to length of time that would be required to dispose of a sufficient number of copies, (2d) miscalculation in the cost of production; (3d) that a sum amounting to $83,660, as shown by a statement referred to herein, has been diverted from the School Book Fund, for the purpose of compiling and revision.

The State Board of Education has, however, overestimated the sale of school books annually to the following extent:

	Board's Estimate	Actual Annual Sale.	Overesti- mate.	Cost Value.
Civil Government	$12,500	$5,248	$7,252	$3,335 92
Physiology	10,000	8,405	1,595	787 50
United States History	15,000	9,082	5,918	4,142 60
Elementary Grammar	30,000	15,042	14,958	3,739 50
Speller	34,000	19,055	14,945	3,736 25
Revised Fourth Reader	25,000	21,641	3,359	1,780 27
Revised Third Reader	30,000	24,647	5,353	2,355 32
Revised Second Reader	26,200	22,621	3,629	1,016 12
Revised First Reader	40,625	36,203	4,422	807 52
Advanced Geography	20,000	14,810	5,190	5,293 80

Primary Number Lessons	55,000	14,798	40,202	8,040 40
Elementary Lessons
			$136,974	$48,563 98

In other words, they have overestimated the sale of school books annually to the extent of $48,563.98, or during the estimated life of a book, to wit: 8 years, $398,511.84.

Summary of Books Sold Since 1892.

Showing that the books sold amounted to but 37% per cent of the estimate of the State Board of Education, which goes toward making the deficiency in the quantity in the School Book Fund.

The Board of Education has charged as the cost of the several books issued a percentage of the "cost of the plant," which is fixed at $36,500, and which is pro rated as follows:

Old First Reader.....	10%	Grammar.....	5%
Old Second Reader.....	15%	Physiology.....	5%
Old Third Reader.....	20%	Elementary Geography.....	8%
Speller.....	9%	Civil Government.....	10%

Elementary Arithmetic.....	6%
			165

Showing that the cost of plant was charged to these books only, while no amount is seemingly charged to Lessons in Language, Revised First Reader, Revised Second Reader. It is to be noted that the amount charged for the cost of plant is 65 per cent in excess of the actual cost, or rather actual percentage.

STATE SCHOOL BOOK FUND.

Your committee has devoted a considerable time in the investigation of the printing and compiling of school books, as provided and furnished under the direction of the State Board of Education. To make the examination thorough and complete it was found necessary to commence our investigation of the subject at the beginning; and in order to be advised as to the condition and the reason for these conditions, we procured from the Controller of State, a statement of the financial condition of the several funds that deal directly with all propositions pertaining to the publishing and issuance of the school book series.

The first appropriation made under the Act of 1885, for the compiling, printing, etc., of a State series of school books, amounted to $150,000. This was followed by additional appropriations in 1887, 1889, and 1891, amounting to $255,000, or a total of $405,000, which was set apart in a fund known as the "State Text-Book Fund." This fund was depleted in the furnishing of material, the compiling, electrotyping, etc. For the purpose of compilation, special appropriations, amounting to $40,000, were set apart. To this amount was added $1,600 and $25,000, which amounts were, on March 3, 1893, transferred from the School Book Fund, by Acts of the Legislature. The total of $66,600 was expended from 1886 to 1900, and charged to the fund "for purposes of compilation," excepting $720.04, which balance now stands to the credit of the fund.

The School Book Fund, sometimes erroneously termed "The Revolving Fund," was inaugurated in 1887, the receipts for that year being $3,330.15. Each subsequent year, up to and including the fifty-first fiscal year (1900), has increased the amount of receipts of this fund, until the aggregate amount of receipts is $1,059,977.26. This amount of money shows the total amount of receipts from the sale of school books. It is to be understood that the so-called "Revolving Fund" was made for the purpose of supporting the continuation of the publishing of the State series of school books. The first annual receipts being the amount first alluded to above as "Receipts for 1887, $3,330.15." When books are sold to dealers or individuals, as provided for by statute, the money derived from this source is placed to the credit of this fund, and as new editions are issued, or additional changes made in revision, the cost of such changes, the revision, the printing of the edition, and all necessary expenses are charged to this fund. These charges, in the opinion of your committee, are altogether in error, as the price fixed on the book by the State Board of Education includes only the first cost of compiling, engraving, composition, and printing, and if other work be done in the way of revision, it must be clear to any one that the fund will be depleted to the extent paid for such additional revision, and the fund cannot be restored to its original condition, from the sale of the book, if the present system prevails. But the School Book Fund shows an increase of receipts, over and above expenditures, in the amount of $117,487.52. This amount is to be considered as $133,487.52, as there has been transferred $26,600 to the fund "for purposes of compilation."

An appropriation of $40,000 was made by the Legislature of 1895, with the intention of replacing the $26,600 transferred to the fund "for purposes of compilation," but during the same year that the appropriation was made it was used in its entirety, as shown by the accompanying statement, and the return of the $26,600 disregarded.

The "State Text-Book Fund" has received no credits since the appropriation of $40,000 in 1891. The State Board of Education, in computing the price at which school books should be sold, figured a percentage on each book for the cost of plant, or for the payment of the $405,000 expended from the State Text-Book Fund. This percentage, although collected through the sales of books, has never been placed to the credit of this fund. In which particular, your committee would recommend that this percentage, as collected, be transferred from the School Book Fund to the State Text-Book Fund.

As charges have been made openly that the State Printer was responsible for the expense attached to the issuance of school books, your committee was compelled to investigate all matters relating to the compiling and other charges made by the State Board of Education, as well as the work done by the Printer, in order to determine and report.

The following tables will show the condition of the funds pertaining to school books, in 1891:

We also submit tables that furnish information on the cost of publishing the State school books, in so far as the printing and binding are concerned. In the first table is only given the cost of composition and press work. The cost of binding is not itemized, as separate accounts with the several departments of the bindery were not formerly kept, but later the items of cash in connection with the binding are shown in detail by the books of the foreman of the bindery.

To illustrate the charges of the State Printer for work done by his office, we append the cost of printing, binding, etc., of one of the books, viz: Advanced Geography. It is to be noticed that the cost of this book was different for each edition. Two of the editions are for 50,000 copies each. The cost of one edition of 1891 was 82½ cents per copy, while for the second edition of 1894 the cost was 99 cents per copy. These amounts are for the printer's work alone, and to which is to be added the cost of compiling, electrotypes, cost of plant, etc. On the second edition, which was in part printed and bound during, and subsequent to the session of the Legislature, the cost for binding alone is approximately $3,000 in excess of the cost of binding the edition that was issued when the Legislature was not in session. In the matter of men employed, there is a difference in cost of nearly $2,000. It is a fact that when the Legislature is in session, the cost of printing is in excess of the cost in the interim. This matter is fully explained and dealt with at greater length in another part of this report.

The last edition of 25,000 copies issued since April, 1899, has cost but 70½ cents, which conclusively shows that the Printing Office is at the present time conducted with an economy not heretofore shown.

The figures given in the following example show the cost when delivered at the warehouse only, to which is to be added the cost for boxing, warehouse, and incidentals. A table itemizing the cost of this portion of the Printer's cost, follows the example, showing the cost of printing and binding.

In the following table it will be noticed that the cost of work done on the different text-books varies considerably, which is explained by the State Printer and his deputies as follows (see tables):

"There is a constant change in the force at the State Printing Office. At one time there will be a small and select force working, and at other times the force will be very large and necessarily less competent. The small force, being chosen from among the most competent workers in the office, can do the work on school books in a much quicker and better manner than when it is augmented by more and less competent people; and also in the fact that in some of the books a change has been made in the binding that has, in some cases, reduced the price, and in others raised it."

The same cause and reason applies in the case of all books printed.

We have already called attention to the manner in which the cost of work performed by the State Printer can be materially reduced, and have given tables for comparison on job and general work. We add herewith a table showing the saving on each edition, if price paid for pressmen and bookbinders were reduced to price paid for similar work, by firms in Sacramento, at the present time, viz: $3 per day.

Men's time only is considered in bindery work.

* Cost of bindery work not segregated on time books, and therefore not obtainable.

The saving is actually more than is shown herein, but cannot be computed nor ascertained, owing to the former system of bookkeeping.

In the foregoing table, the same time of employ⁶s is used as actually taken in the editions already published. Unless new or revised books are printed there is no cost for work of compositors, as the plates are already on hand. The first edition must cost more than any of the later ones, for the reason that composition occurs but in the first edition.

The theory of the two funds, to wit: the Text-Book Fund and the School Book Fund, was as follows: The State decides to go into business and expends the sum of $405,000 (principal invested) for plant and preparatory work and placing on the market a State series of school books of its own. This money was so expended. The moment the receipts from sales begin to come in they are deposited in a fund known as a "State School Book Fund," which the State decides shall be a "revolving fund," and fixes the price on books so that at the end of eight or twelve years (the life of a book), as the case may be, the State shall have received from the sale of these books, money enough to continually pay for the reproduction of the books sold and a small margin besides, to be gradually returned to the "Text-Book Fund," or the money originally invested.

Before any sales were made those in charge of the fixing of prices made an error in estimating the sale of State school books, and necessarily thereafter in fixing the price of compilation to be charged to and added to the price of each book. The price of printing, as considered by that Board, must necessarily have been wrong, as the estimated total cost and the average actual cost since publication are entirely different, and instead of making a small profit upon each book the State has found that there is a small loss on many of them, and it also finds that the books must be occasionally revised and brought up to date, and having made no charge for that, must consequently make an additional appropriation, or allow the School Book Fund to be depleted just so much as such revision or recompilation has cost. But some of the books have made money, and the State finds, at the end of ten or twelve years, that the fund has slightly increased, but not to the extent that was expected of it. To show the manner in which this was conducted, see Table No. 9, which gives the estimated total cost of each book, the average actual cost of each book, and its selling price, which will show very clearly that errors have been made in connection with the school books all along the line.

BOOKKEEPING.

A system of bookkeeping should be inaugurated whereby would be shown the daily cost of the Printing Office, the actual stock and supplies used, etc.—in fact, a complete system.

The bindery should account for stock received and used; the custodian of paper, the same; the pressman, the amount of paper on each job; foreman of composing room, the type, etc.

All departments should keep account of stock received and used, to compare with books to be kept by the chief clerk or bookkeeper at the main office. The bookkeeper should have weekly or monthly stubs from heads or foremen, to show the disposition of stock.

Your committee has, at all times, met with uniform courtesy on the part of the State Printer and all of his assistants. Mr. A. J. Johnston; Mr. E. S. Hadley, chief deputy; Mr. Harry Rogers, foreman, and Mr. L. P. Williams, foreman of bindery, have in every way assisted your committee to gather information for the compilation of this work. It is but justice to Mr. Johnston to credit him with a desire to impart all information that would in any way prove of benefit in ascertaining the actual condition of the Printing Office, as well as suggesting means, by which changes could be made, that would, in a degree, lessen the cost of conducting his department.

The State Printing Office gives employment to many persons, and in most instances they are competent for the positions to which they are assigned. During legislative sessions, however, and at times when the biennial reports are to be printed, and when school books are published, the force in the State Printing Office is increased. On these occasions the demands made for employment (by the applicants themselves, indorsed by persons who claim the right of appointment by reason of their political influence) forces the State Printer to accept what is furnished to him, instead of making his selection from among the more proficient tradesmen.

The fact that higher wages are paid by the State Printing Office than by any commercial office paying union rates, induces applicants to be most persistent in their demands for positions, and the State Printer at times accepts employes by reason of political influence and prestige, who, when proven inefficient, are removed to give place to those more competent.

In the department where collating and folding are done, none but women are employed. This force is also increased during legislative sessions, and when editions of school books are published. The number thus employed can be supplanted by machinery, such as is in use in the large publishing houses. The same conditions for securing appointments prevail here as in the other departments of the office. The remedy for all of which can be found in abolishing the present system of electing the State Printer, and making the office, as formerly, an appointive one, under the direction of the Governor.

Your committee submit the following as the result of their investigations:

First—That the charges made by the State Printing Office are from 15 to 60 per cent in advance of prices made by commercial houses for similar work.

Second—That the work cost from 400 to 600 per cent more when done by contract than at the present time.

Third—That the work now costs from 10 to 20 per cent less than was charged by the State Printer in 1893.

Fourth—That the price paid for labor is from 15 to 33¹/₃ per cent more than the average price paid in commercial houses of the State.

Fifth—That the machinery is antiquated, and in order to lessen the cost of work done, should be replaced with modern appliances.

Sixth—That at least seven type-setting machines be placed in the composing room, which will reduce the cost of composition 60 per cent.

Seventh—That the conditions are such that at times incompetent workmen are employed, and for this reason the general cost of work is increased.

Eighth—That the rumors of corruption, inattention to business, and general inefficiency are untrue.

Ninth—That in the estimated cost of school books errors have been made by the different State Boards of Education, which have caused the selling price to be less than the actual cost.

Tenth—That the sum of $83,600 has been erroneously diverted from the School Book Fund, and that $40,000 has been returned to the fund.

Eleventh—That the actual average cost of the books now on sale is from one cent to six cents more than the present selling price.

Twelfth—That the plan adopted by the Legislature of 1899, in appropriating to each State department a fixed sum for the printing of the office or department, has been beneficial, and has resulted in a saving to the State of one-half the former cost of printing.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

Your committee would recommend—

First—That the State Printing Office be maintained.

Second—That the plan of making separate appropriations for each State institution be continued.

Third—That appropriations be made for the purchase of new material, as included in the report, for press room, stereotyping department, and composing room.

Fourth—That a statute be enacted, providing that the State pay to all operatives the highest ruling rate of union wages, as prevails in the State of California at the present time.

Fifth—That additional appliances be added to the bindery department as follows: 1 double-deck ruling machine, 1 folding machine, 1 automatic feeding machine, 2 case-making machines (1 large and 1 small), 1 book signature press, 3 book-sewing machines, 1 wire stitcher, 1 cloth-slitting machine, 1 self-feeding eyeletting machine, one improved punching machine—which will save 33 $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent in the cost of ruling, and 60 per cent in the cost of case-making.

Sixth—That all presses that have outlived their usefulness be disposed of, and replaced by modern presses that are adapted to the requirements.

Seventh—That the statute providing that the office of State Printer be an elective one, be so amended that the office be appointive and at the pleasure of the Governor.

Eighth—That the price of each school book be readjusted, to the actual average cost of such book since first published.

Ninth—That a small percentage be added to the cost price of each book, to be deducted annually from the School Book Fund, and placed in a separate fund for the revision of school books.

Tenth—That a percentage be added to the cost of each book, to be deducted from the School Book Fund, and placed to the credit of the original "State Text Book Fund," for the purpose of paying back to the State the amount advanced for the purpose of establishing a series of school books. (If the prices are properly adjusted, this can be done with no detriment to the people of the State, and will answer the double purpose of having money on hand for any necessary revision, without additional appropriations, and will pay the original investment.)

READING OF THE JOURNAL.

The Journal of Friday, January 11, 1901, was read.

APPROVAL OF JOURNALS.

The Journals of Monday, January 7, Tuesday, January 8, and Wednesday, January 9, 1901, having been previously read and corrected, were approved.

CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL ORDERS POSTPONED.

On motion of Senator Cutter, the consideration of special orders heretofore set for this hour was postponed until Tuesday, January 15, 1901, immediately after the reading of the Journal.

PETITION.

The following petition, presented by Senator Tyrrell of Nevada, was read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SAN FRANCISCO, January 12, 1901.

To the Members of the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: The California Miners' Association, through its executive committee, beg to call your attention to the following facts:

1. In 1893 the Legislature of this State appropriated $250,000 to be used in the construction of works for the restraining and impounding of debris resulting from mining operations, natural erosion, and other causes.

2. This appropriation was not to become available until the United States Government should have appropriated at least an equal amount for the same purpose.

3. In 1896 Congress appropriated $250,000 for the above purpose.

4. After a most careful and painstaking examination and study of the matter, the Federal engineers submitted their plans for the contemplated work.

5. These plans involve an expenditure of $800,000, instead of $500,000, leaving a deficiency of $300,000 to be made up by the State and National governments.

6. Through the Emergency River and Harbor Bill of June 6, 1900, Congress made provision for the immediate commencement of the contemplated work and its prosecution to the extent of the then available State and National appropriations, amounting to a total of $500,000. To this provision in the Emergency River and Harbor Bill of 1900 there was added a proviso to the effect that one half of the cost of the contemplated work should be paid by the State of California.

7. The plans of the Federal engineers for the entire work, involving an estimated expenditure of $800,000, have been approved by the State Board of Examiners of this State, and bills looking to the appropriation by the State of California of the further sum of $150,000 as its final contribution to the contemplated work have already been introduced in the Senate and Assembly. These bills are known as Senate Bill No. 127 and Assembly Bill No. 46, and were introduced, respectively, by Senator Tyrrell of Nevada and Assemblyman Irish of Sierra.

8. It is well understood that further appropriation by Congress is contingent upon the action of your honorable bodies.

We, therefore, most respectfully and earnestly request early and favorable action at your hands upon the measures above noted.

E. C. VOORHEIS,

President California Miners' Association.

Attest: EDWARD H. BENJAMIN, Secretary.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The following message from the Governor was taken up, read, and referred to Committee on Executive Communications:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA,)
SACRAMENTO, January 14, 1901.)

To the Senate of the State of California:

I have the honor to present herewith, for your information, a copy of the official report of "The California Paris Exposition Commission," received by me since the transmission to your honorable body of my first biennial message.

Section 3 of the Act creating said commission, approved March 20, 1899, reads as follows: "Said commission to return to the Controller vouchers, properly certified, for all money expended by it."

It will be observed from an examination of the provisions of the said Act creating said commission that neither the Board of Examiners nor the Governor had any power of supervision over the acts of said commission, and the State Controller has informed me that no vouchers have as yet been returned to said officer.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 5, 1901.

Governor HENRY T. GAGE, Sacramento, Cal.:

DEAR GOVERNOR: Herewith enclosed you will find a condensed statement of the operations of the California Paris Exposition Commission, appointed by you in pursuance of an Act approved March 20, 1899.

Of course you will understand this is a mere outline of what we have been doing, and a full report will follow in detail, from the inception of the commission until its work is completed.

Trusting this will be satisfactory to you, we beg to remain,

Most respectfully yours,

W. W. FOOTE,
E. W. RUNYON.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 5, 1901.

Hon. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of the State of California:

Pursuant to an Act appropriating money to pay the expense of collecting, preparing, forwarding, installing, maintaining, and returning an exhibit of the products of the State of California, at the Paris Exposition in nineteen hundred. Also, for preparing and printing literature for distribution at said exposition, and providing a commission, and expense of commission and attachés, approved March 20, 1899.

Carrying out the provisions of said Act, it was your pleasure to name as such commissioners Mr. E. W. Runyon of Red Bluff, Mr. W. W. Foote of Oakland, and Major Ben C. Truman of Los Angeles. Immediately upon receipt of their commissions, these gentlemen proceeded to organize by the election of Mr. E. W. Runyon as president, and elected Mr. Varney W. Gaskill as their secretary.

The exhibits of this State were collected with the utmost care; were duly forwarded and handsomely installed in five different departments and pavilions at the Paris Exposition, namely: Horticulture, Agriculture, Mining, Forestry, and Fishery, these being the five groups in which the California commission principally exerted all their energies.

This State was allotted six jurors, one for each of these departments, and one for the Department of Chemistry; the different groups were divided into 105 different classes, of which California had a splendid representation in 24 of them. This State had an elegant display, consisting of a full line of all varieties of dried, canned, conserved, fresh, and citrus fruits, raisins, nuts, wines, olive oils, cereals, wool, woods, leather, perfumery, soaps, education, social economy, and varied industries.

The following summary of awards speaks for itself: Out of a total of 577 exhibitors from this State 568 received awards at the hands of the International Jury; thus it will be seen that of all our exhibitors, 98 received rewards, while only 50 of the world's exhibitors received any mention. Included in these awards the State of California secured a grand prize for its collective exhibits in each of the five departments above mentioned, and five additional gold medals on separate exhibits in these and other departments. California exhibits were distributed in the different departments, and grouped with similar exhibits of the world. Attractive signs were placed conspicuously over California exhibits directing the visitors to our State display, which had been artistically arranged, and the name of California soon became a household word.

Another feature of the commission's work, and which brought great prominence to the State, was the headquarters, bureau of information, collective exhibits, and offices, maintained at No. 8 Place de l'Opera, the very center of the most populous quarter of Paris, which drew thousands of visitors of all nationalities seeking information of the resources of our State. It can be stated this was the only State in the Union that maintained such headquarters outside of the Exposition.

An efficient corps of assistants familiar with the resources of our great State and conversant with the French, German, Spanish, and Italian languages were always on hand at these headquarters to furnish any information required, also to assist Californians in and about Paris; also to furnish them with data as to where our exhibits at the Exposition could be found, and give them all information while in Paris.

There was also maintained a Commercial Bureau, whose function it was to distribute throughout Europe albums and maps printed in French, English, and German, illustrative of the resources of this State. It is pleasing to note in this connection that over 300 answers were received from Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce, acknowledging receipt of these maps and albums, and thanking this commission for their courtesy in the matter, and also assuring the commission that the maps would be prominently displayed on their walls.

This commission has fully demonstrated that many products of this State are now in the markets of France, and that by further enterprise of our producers many others can be successfully and profitably sold there.

Of the $120,000 appropriation by our Legislature, which was turned over to the commission, about $116,000 will have been expended when this commission shall have finished their work, thus leaving a balance of about $4,000 to be turned back to this State Treasury. This commission will render a full and complete report of all its proceedings from the organization to the closing of its affairs, so that the people of this State may have a full report of how the money was expended and the affairs managed.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

E. W. RUNYON, President.
W. W. FOOTE.

V. W. GASKELL, Secretary.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were offered:

By Senator Leavitt:

Resolved, That the State Printer is hereby authorized and directed to delay the printing of the three bills amendatory of the Codes, heretofore introduced in behalf of the Code Commission by Senator Devlin, until all other bills now in his possession, and the bills this day introduced by Senator Nutt, be printed and delivered to the Senate.

Resolution read and adopted.

By Senator Bettman:

Resolved, That the Secretary of State is hereby directed to close the contingent expense accounts of the Senators, and forthwith transmit a statement of the same to the State Controller; and the Controller is hereby directed to draw his warrant in favor of each Senator for the amount remaining in his account, and the Treasurer directed to pay the same.

Resolution read and adopted.

By Senator Burnett:

Resolved, That requisitions on Secretary of State for stationery be limited to $30 each for the Committees on Finance and Claims and Judiciary, and to $10 each for all other standing committees; each committee requisition to be signed by the chairman thereof.

Resolution read and adopted.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following reports of standing committees were received and read:

CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour set for the consideration of the proposed Standing Rules of the Senate, as reported by the Committee on Rules on January 10, 1901, having arrived, the same was taken up for consideration.

PROPOSED STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE.

The following are the rules submitted by the Committee on Rules, with the recommendation that they be made the Standing Rules of the Senate:

STANDING RULES OF THE SENATE.

1. Time of Meeting of Senate.

The sessions of the Senate shall be daily (Sundays excepted), beginning at ten o'clock A. M., and after Monday, January 28, 1901, a recess shall be given at twelve o'clock and thirty minutes P. M. to two o'clock P. M., unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

2. Calling to Order—Reading Journal.

The President shall call the Senate to order at the hour stated, and, if a quorum be present, the Journal of the proceedings of the preceding day shall be read, unless otherwise ordered by vote of the Senate.

3. Order of Business.

1. Roll Call.

2. Prayer by the Chaplain.

3. Reading and Approving of the Journal of the preceding day.

4. Presentation of Petitions.
5. Messages from the Assembly.
6. Messages from the Governor.
7. Motions, Resolutions, and Notices.
8. Reports of Standing Committees.
9. Reports of Select Committees.
10. Introduction and First Reading of Bills.
11. Consideration of Daily File.
12. Unfinished Business.
13. Special Orders of the Day.
14. Reports from the Committee on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills shall at all times be in order; provided, that the messages from State officers, other than the Governor, and from the Assembly, may, on motion of any Senator, be considered at any time.

4. President pro tem.—His Powers and Privileges.

The President pro tem. shall, in the absence of the President, take the chair and call the Senate to order at the hour of the meetings of the Senate, and have the same power as the President; but the President pro tem. shall vote only as any other member of the Senate.

5. The Duties of Secretary.

1. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Senate to attend every day, call the roll, read all bills, amendments, resolutions, and all papers handed to him for that purpose by any member.

2. To superintend all copying and work necessary to be done for the Senate. To have supervision over all officers and employes of the Senate, other than the President of the Senate. To certify to, and transmit to the Assembly, all bills, resolutions, and papers requiring the concurrence of the Assembly, immediately after their passage or adoption by the Senate.

3. To keep a correct Journal of the proceedings of the Senate.

4. To notify the Assembly on the concurrence or disagreement by the Senate in any vote of the Assembly.

5. To permit no papers or records belonging to the Senate to be taken out of its custody otherwise than in the regular course of business.

6. To assign to the Assistant Secretaries, and other officers, the duties pertaining to their offices.

6. Attendance, Duties, and Obligations of Senators.

No Senator shall absent himself from the service of the Senate without leave first obtained. A less number than a quorum of the Senate is hereby authorized to send the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, for any and all absent Senators, as the majority of such Senators present shall agree, at the expense of such absent Senators, respectively, unless such excuse for non-attendance shall be made as the Senate, when a quorum is convened, shall judge sufficient, and in that case the expense shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate; and this rule shall apply as well to the first convention of the Senate, at the legal time of meeting, as to each day of the session after the hour has arrived to which the Senate stood adjourned. The President or Acting President of the Senate, or less than a quorum thereof, shall have the power to issue process, directed to the Sergeant-at-Arms, or to any other person, to compel the attendance of Senators absent without leave. Any Senator who shall refuse to obey such process, unless sick or unable to attend, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt of the Senate, and the Sergeant-at-Arms, or any other person, to whom such process may be directed, shall have power to use such force as may be necessary to compel the attendance of such absent Senator, and for this purpose he may command the force of the county, or of any county in the State.

7. Reading of a Paper, if Objected to, Determined Without Debate.

When the reading of a paper is called for (except petitions), and the same is objected to by any Senator, it shall be determined by a vote of the Senate without debate. But this rule is not applicable to any bill, resolution, amendment, or other proposition which may be at the time directly under consideration.

8. Senators Must Address the President.

Every Senator, when he speaks, shall, standing in his place, address the President, and when he has finished he shall sit down.

No Senator shall speak more than twice in any one debate on the same day and at the same stage of the bill, without leave; and Senators who have once spoken shall not again be entitled to the floor (except for explanation) so long as any Senator who has not spoken shall desire to do so.

9. The Senators Entitled to Floor.

When two or more Senators rise at once, the President shall name the Senator who is to speak first.

10. Printing.

Five hundred copies of all bills shall be printed; and the Sergeant-at-Arms shall be required to certify to the reception by the Senate of all printed matter, and the quantity. One copy of each bill or paper printed by order of the Senate shall be delivered to each Senator, and a number equal to the committee to which each bill is referred, and the balance shall be distributed according to law.

11. Number of Copies to be Printed.

Five hundred copies shall be printed of each document or other matter ordered unless the Senate especially direct a different number.

12. Executive Session.

On a motion, made and seconded, to close the doors of the Senate on the discussion of any business which may, in the opinion of the Senate, require an executive session, the President shall require all persons, except the Senators, President of Senate, Secretary, Sergeant-at-Arms, and Doorkeeper to withdraw, and during the discussion of said motion the doors shall remain closed; and every member and officer of the Senate shall keep secret all such matters, proceedings, and things whereof secrecy shall be enjoined by order of the Senate.

13. Printing the Daily Journal.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall print five hundred copies of the Journal of every day's proceedings of the Senate to supply Senators and Assemblymen daily, during the session, with the Journal of the previous day's proceedings; and also a sufficient number of copies, with proper repaging, to bind at the end of the session of the Legislature, in book form, as the Journal of the Senate, required by law.

14. Committees—When to Report.

All committees of the Senate shall report their action on all bills referred to them before January 25th within ten days, except that all bills referred to them on and after January 25th shall be reported within five days, unless otherwise specially ordered, and when such extension of time is ordered the Senate shall state the length of time, and the Secretary shall make record of the same in a book kept for that purpose.

15. Bills "Passed on File," Placed at Foot of File.

When bills have been "passed on file" for the second time, they must be placed at the foot of the file in their regular order, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate.

16. Standing Committees, Quorum of—What Constitutes.

The standing committees shall determine the number of such committee which shall constitute a quorum; provided, that not less than one third of the number of members constituting such committee shall in any case constitute such quorum.

17. Author to Speak Last.

The author of a bill, motion, or resolution shall have the privilege of closing the debate.

18. Form of Previous Question—Call of Senate.

The previous question shall be put in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the Senators present, upon division; and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon amendments reported by a committee, if any, upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question. On a motion for the previous question, and prior to the seconding of the same, a call of the Senate shall be in order; but after a majority of Senators shall have seconded such motion, no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question.

19. Order of Questions on Motion to Refer.

When a resolution shall be offered, or a motion made to refer any subject, and a different committee shall be proposed, the question shall be taken in the following order:

1. The Committee of the Whole Senate.
2. A Standing Committee.
3. A Select Committee.

20. Order of Engrossing and Enrolling Bills.

All bills ordered engrossed shall be delivered to the Engrossing Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate, and the receipt, in writing of the Engrossing Clerk taken therefor; and all said bills shall be engrossed in the order of their receipt by said Engrossing Clerk. And all Senate bills shall, after their final passage by and receipt from the Assembly, be delivered to the Enrolling Clerk by the Secretary of the Senate in the order of their receipt from the Assembly, and the receipt in writing of said Enrolling Clerk taken therefor; and said bills shall be enrolled by the Enrolling Clerk in the order of their receipt from the Secretary of the Senate.

21. Printing for the Senate.

The Superintendent of State Printing shall not print for the use of the Senate any matter other than provided by law, unless upon a written order signed by the Secretary.

The Secretary may, when necessity requires, order from the State Printer such printing as he deems necessary to be printed in advance of the regular order of business under a specially prepared written order, to be known as a "Rush Order."

22. Petitions.

Every vote and a brief statement of the contents of each petition, memorial, or paper presented to the Senate shall be entered on the Journal.

23. No Records or Papers to be Taken from Desk.

The Secretary of the Senate shall not suffer any records or papers to be taken from the desk, or out of his custody, by any person except a chairman of a committee; but he shall deliver any bill or paper to be printed to the Superintendent of State Printing, and all bills ordered engrossed or enrolled to the Committee on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills, and take their receipt therefor.

24. Appointment of Committees.

All standing committees of the Senate shall be named by the President of the Senate, unless otherwise ordered, and the first named shall be the chairman thereof. All other committees shall be appointed in such manner as the Senate shall determine.

25. Assembly Bills to be Read First Time.

All Assembly bills shall be read the first time, when taken up in Assembly messages, and then referred to the proper committee.

26. Oaths and Affirmations.

The oaths and affirmations required by the Constitution, and prescribed by law, shall be taken and subscribed by each Senator in open Senate, before entering upon his duties.

27. Resolutions.

Messages from the Governor (other than biennial messages and inaugural addresses), titles of bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments shall be printed in the Journal in full.

28. Special Orders.

Any subject may, by vote of two thirds of the Senators present, be made a special order, and when the time fixed for its consideration arrives, the presiding officer shall lay it before the Senate, unless there is unfinished business of the preceding day; and if it is not finally disposed of on that day, is to take its place on the file of special orders in the order of time at which it was made special, unless it become, by adjournment, the unfinished business.

29. Voting.

When a Senator declines to vote on a call of his name he shall be required to assign his reasons therefor, and having assigned them, the presiding officer shall submit the question to the Senate: "Shall the Senator, for the reasons assigned by him, be excused from voting?" which shall be decided without debate. And these proceedings shall be had after the roll call and before the result is announced, and any further proceedings in reference thereto shall be after such announcement.

30. Reconsideration.

When a bill, resolution, amendment, order, or message, upon which a vote has been taken, shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate and been communicated to the Assembly, a motion to reconsider shall be accompanied by a motion to request the Assembly to return the same, which last motion shall be acted upon immediately and without debate, and if determined in the negative shall be a final disposition of the motion to reconsider.

31. Notice of Reconsideration.

On the day succeeding that on which a final vote on any bill or resolution has been taken, said vote may be reconsidered on the motion of any Senator; provided, notice of intention to move such reconsideration shall have been given on the day on which such final vote was taken, by a Senator voting with the majority; and it shall not be in order for any Senator to move a reconsideration on the day on which such final vote was taken. Said motion of reconsideration shall have precedence over every other motion, except a motion to adjourn; and it shall require twenty-one votes to carry any motion to reconsider the vote by which any bill has been passed or defeated. No notice of reconsideration shall be in order on the day preceding the last day of the session.

32. Secretary, upon Notice of Reconsideration, not to Report Bill to Assembly.

If a Senator gives notice that he intends to move a reconsideration, the Secretary shall not report the bill or resolution to the Assembly till the reconsideration is disposed of, or the time for moving the same has expired, unless the bill or resolution has been transmitted to the Assembly.

33. Motion to Reconsider May be Debated.

A Senator, after a notice of motion to reconsider is given, as provided in Rule 31, may, at the time of consideration of such motion, present the main question in his argument thereon, and the same may be debated by the Senate.

34. Reference of Bills to Finance Committee.

All bills or resolutions appropriating money from any fund within the control of the State shall be referred to the Committee on Finance before being read the second time.

35. Standing Committees.

The following standing committees shall be appointed by the President of the Senate:

Agriculture—Seven members.
Apportionment—Thirteen members.
Banking—Five members.
Code Revision—Seven members.
Commerce—Seven members.
Contingent Expenses—Three members.
Corporations and Public Morals—Thirteen members.
Constitutional Amendments—Seven members.
County Governments—Seven members.
Drainage—Five members.
Elections—Eleven members.
Education—Seven members.
Enrolled and Engrossed Bills—Three members.

Manufactures—Three members.
Military Affairs—Five members.
Mining—Five members.
Municipal Corporations—Seven members.
Printing—Three members.
Prisons—Seven members.
Reformatories—Five members.
Revenue and Taxation—Five members.
Rules—Three members.

36. Amendments to Original Question.

An amendment may be laid on the table without prejudice to the bill. When an amendment proposed to any pending measure shall be laid on the table, it shall not carry with it or prejudice such measure.

If the question in debate contain several propositions, any Senator may have the same divided; except a motion to strike out and insert shall not be divided. But the rejection of a motion to strike out and insert one proposition shall not prevent a motion to strike out and insert a different proposition, nor shall it prevent a motion to simply strike out, nor shall the rejection of a motion to strike out prevent a motion to strike out and insert; but pending a motion to strike out and insert, the part to be stricken out and the part to be inserted shall each be regarded, for the purpose of amendment, as a question. And motions to amend the part to be stricken out shall have precedence.

37. Engrossed Bills to be Examined and Reported.

All bills, amendments, and resolutions, after being engrossed, in pursuance of the order of the Senate, shall be carefully examined and reported back by the Committee on Engrossed Bills, the engrossed copy to be transmitted to the Assembly with proper indorsements, and the original retained by the Senate.

38. Engrossed Bills Have Preference.

All bills, after the second reading (if the same be not committed, then upon being reported), shall be placed upon a general file, and shall be taken up for consideration and passage in the order of their being placed on file.

39. Amendments and Substitutes.

Substitutes may be offered at any time when a bill or resolution is open to amendment, previous to engrossment; and when adopted shall take the place of the original bill or resolution, and shall be open to amendment.

40. Amendments and Substitutes Must be Germane.

No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment or substitute.

41. Least Sum and Shortest Time in Filling Blanks.

In filling up blanks, the least sum or number and the shortest time shall be put first.

42. Short of Final Question, Two-Thirds Vote Not Requisite on Propositions to Amend Constitution.

When an amendment to the Constitution, or any bill requiring the concurrence of two thirds of the Senators, is under consideration, the concurrence of two thirds shall not be required to decide any question for amendment, or extending to the merits, being short of the final question.

43. Leave of Absence.

When leave of absence shall be granted to any committee, special or standing, to visit public buildings or institutions, or for any other purpose, such leave shall be granted only by two-thirds vote, and no expenses or mileage of attachés shall be allowed.

44. Claims on Contingent Fund Must go to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

No claim shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate until the same shall have been referred to and reported on by the Committee on Contingent Expenses.

45. Order of Privileged Questions Under Debate.

When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but the following privileged questions, which shall have precedence in the following order:

1. To adjourn.
2. For a call of the Senate.
3. To lay on the table.
4. To postpone to a day certain.
5. To commit.
6. To amend.
7. To postpone indefinitely.

46. Motion Not to be Debated until Seconded and Announced.

No motion shall be debated until the same be seconded and distinctly announced by the President; and it shall be reduced to writing, if desired by the President or any Senator, and read by the Secretary, before the same shall be debated. A motion may be withdrawn at any time before amendment.

47. Senator, When Called to Order, Must Sit Down.

When a Senator shall be called to order he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Senate by any Senator. If a Senator be called to order for words spoken, the exceptional language shall immediately be taken down in writing.

48. Final Question on Second Reading of Bill—No Amendment on Third Reading, but May Commit.

The final question on the second reading of every bill originating in the Senate, and requiring three readings previous to being passed, shall be: "Shall the bill be engrossed and read the third time?" And no amendment shall be received for discussion at the third reading of any bill; but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of such bill, to move its commitment under special instructions.

49. Ayes and Noes—Members Must Answer—No Vote After Announcement of Vote.

When the ayes and noes shall be called for by three members present, every member within the bar of the Senate at the time the question was put shall declare openly, and without debate, his assent or dissent to the question. In taking the ayes and noes, and upon the call of the Senate, the names of the Senators shall be taken alphabetically. When the ayes and noes shall be taken upon any question in pursuance of this rule, no Senator shall be permitted, under any circumstances whatever, to vote after the decision from the Chair.

50. Introduction and Reading of Bills.

Any Senator desiring to introduce a bill shall rise in his place and address the President, and upon being recognized shall present the same; and the title shall be announced from the Secretary's desk, shall be read the first time, when it shall be referred to a standing committee. Every bill shall be read on three several days previous to its passage (unless, in case of urgency, two thirds of the Senate shall, by vote of ayes and noes, dispense with this provision), and the last reading shall be at length. The President shall give notice, at each of the second and third readings, which reading it is, and no bill shall be read at either reading until the Senate has so determined by a vote (should any Senator have objected to such reading). Joint and concurrent resolutions shall be read but once, unless the Senate, by a majority vote of all the Senators present, otherwise directs.

51. The General File: Its Hours—Special Order of Bills on File.

The General File shall be the special order for each day between such hours as the Senate may hereafter set, unless sooner disposed of; but no bill shall lose its place upon the file by expiration of the time or by adjournment of the Senate while it is under consideration; and this order shall take precedence of all others.

52. Titles of Bills Must be in Journal.

The titles of bills and such parts thereof only as shall be affected by proposed amendments, shall be inserted in the Journal.

53. When Not in Committee of the Whole, Proceedings Must be Entered in Journal.

The proceedings of the Senate, when not acting as Committee of the Whole, shall be entered on the Journal as concisely as possible, care being taken to record a true and accurate account of the proceedings.

54. Rules in Senate and Committee of the Whole.

The rules of the Senate shall be observed in Committee of the Whole, so far as may be applicable, except limiting the number of times speaking, and except that the ayes and noes shall not be taken.

55. Cases Not Provided for, Cushing to Govern.

In all cases not provided for by these rules, the Senate shall be governed by the laws and practice as laid down in Cushing's Law and Practice of Legislative Assemblies.

56. Suspending and Changing Rules.

No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or changed without a vote of three fifths, and one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; but a rule or order may be suspended temporarily by a vote of three fifths of the Senators present, except that portion of Rule 52 relating to the final passage of bills. All proposed amendments to these rules shall be referred to the Committee on Rules without debate.

57. Powers and Prerogatives of President.

The rooms, passages, and buildings set apart for the use of the Senate shall be under the control and direction of the President of the Senate, and he shall have the control and direction of the Journals, papers, and bills of the Senate. He shall see that all officers of the Senate perform their respective duties, and may assign places to reporters.

58. President may Order Lobbies Cleared.

In case of a disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobbies, the President (or Chairman of the Committee of the Whole) shall have power to order the same cleared.

59. President may Call Senators to the Chair.

The President shall have the right to name any Senator to perform the duties of the Chair, who is hereby vested, during such time, with all the powers of the President; but such substitute shall not lose the right of voting on any question while so presiding.

60. Sergeant-at-Arms.

A Sergeant-at-Arms shall be elected, to hold his office during the pleasure of the Senate, whose duty it shall be to attend the Senate during its sittings, to execute the commands of the Senate, from time to time, together with all such process issued by authority thereof as shall be directed to him by the President. The actual expenses of the Sergeant-at-Arms, for every arrest, for each day's custody and release, and the traveling expense for himself and special messenger, going and returning, shall be paid out of the Contingent Fund, and no other fees shall be paid him beyond his per diem. It shall be the duty of the Sergeant-at-Arms to keep the accounts for pay and mileage of Senators, to prepare checks, and, if required so to do, draw the money on such checks for the Senators (the same being previously signed by the President, and indorsed by the Senator or person to whom the check is made), and pay over the same to the Senator or person entitled thereto.

61. Messengers—When Introduced.

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.

The following reports of standing committees were received and read:

ON RULES.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 15, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Rules beg leave to report that, in conjunction with a like committee of the Assembly, it has had under consideration the following "Joint Rules," and recommends the adoption of the same by the Senate, said Joint Rules to take effect upon their adoption by the Assembly:

JOINT RULES.

1. Joint Address to Governor.

When the Senate and Assembly shall judge it proper to make a joint address to the Governor, it shall be presented to him in his audience chamber by the President of the Senate, in the presence of the Speaker and both houses.

2. Bill or Resolution in One House, Rejected in the Other, Requires Notice.

When a bill or resolution which shall have passed one house is rejected by the other, notice thereof shall be given to the house in which the same shall have passed.

3. Rejected Bill Requires Five Days' Notice and Two-thirds Vote for Reintroduction.

When a bill or resolution which has been passed in one house shall be rejected in the other, it shall not be brought in during the same session without notice of five days and leave of two thirds of that house in which it shall be renewed.

4. Each House to Transmit Papers.

Each house shall transmit to the other papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

5. Disagreement, Adhered to, Defeats the Bill.

After each house shall have once adhered to its disagreement, a bill or resolution shall be lost.

6. No Appropriation Except by Bill.

No appropriation of money, for any purpose whatever, shall be made except by bill.

7. Joint and Concurrent Resolutions.

Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the Federal Government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

8. Joint Resolutions Treated as Bills.

All joint resolutions shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that all joint resolutions shall be read but one time in each house.

9. Amendments to Amended Bills Must be Attached.

Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one house shall be amended in the other, such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "Adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the house in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed, "Concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be.

10. Bills Read and Referred to Committee.

When a Senate bill has been received by the Assembly, or an Assembly bill by the Senate, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate or Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time by the Secretary or Clerk, and referred to a standing committee.

11. Special File.

After the 8th day of February, 1901, the Senate and Assembly shall adopt and provide a special file upon which shall be placed: In the Senate, only Assembly bills that have passed the Assembly, and in the Assembly only Senate bills that have passed the Senate. Such special file shall be taken up at two o'clock p. m. of each day, and be considered one hour and a half after being so taken up.

This rule shall not be suspended in either house except by a two-thirds vote of such house.

12. Fees Allowed in Cases of Contest.

Whenever, in the Senate or Assembly, a contest is made for the seat of any Senator or Assemblyman, no more than $200 shall be allowed as counsel fees for the sitting member and $100 for the contesting member, regardless of who is seated.

13. Bills Not to be Printed for Engrossment Unless Amended.

Unless bills have been amended they shall not be again printed for engrossment, but the Engrossing Clerk shall use a copy of original printed bill in an engrossed bill cover, and report same back immediately after comparing same.

14. Clerk to Attach Amendments to Bill.

If a Senate bill shall have been amended by the Assembly, the Clerk of the Assembly shall attach the amendments adopted by the Assembly to the Senate bill.

15. Secretary to Attach Amendments to Bill.

If an Assembly bill shall have been amended by the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate shall attach the amendments adopted by the Senate to the Assembly bill.

16. After a Bill Has Been Passed by the Senate or Assembly.

When a bill (if it be a Senate bill) has been received from the Senate by the Assembly, after its passage, or (if it be an Assembly bill) has been received from the Assembly by the Senate, after its passage, it shall be taken up by the Senate or Assembly, as the case may be, under the regular order of business ("Senate Messages" or "Assembly Messages"), read the first time, and shall then be assigned to the proper committee, who shall report it within ten days, if received on or before January 30th, and within five days, if received after January 30th, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate or Assembly.

17. Clerk to Return Bill to Senate.

After a Senate bill has passed the Assembly, or has been refused passage by the Assembly, the Clerk of the Assembly shall, after making the proper indorsement thereon and the proper entries in the Register of Bills, return the bill to the Senate, and in the Assembly message, which must accompany same, mention the action taken by the Assembly.

18. Secretary to Return Bill to Assembly.

After an Assembly bill has passed the Senate, or has been refused passage by the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate shall, after making the proper indorsements thereon and the proper entries in the Register of Bills, return the bill to the Assembly, and in the Senate message, which must accompany same, mention the action taken by the Senate.

19. To Concur or Refuse to Concur in Amendments.

In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill) or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill) must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments.

20. When Amendments are Concurred In.

If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Clerk shall notify the house making the amendments, and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

21. When Senate or Assembly Refuse to Concur.

If the Senate refuse to concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly refuse to concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Clerk shall notify the house making the amendments of the action taken, and ask that they recede from their amendments. If they refuse to recede, a Committee on Conference shall be appointed, consisting of six members, three to be appointed by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the Assembly. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

22. Committee on Conference.

In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one house and dissented from in the other, if either house shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other house shall appoint a like committee; and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the said committee.

23. Free Conference Committee.

If the Committee on Conference fail to agree, or either the Senate or Assembly refuse to adopt the report of the committee, it shall then be in order to appoint a Committee on Free Conference.

A Committee on Free Conference shall consist of six members, to be appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference.

The Committee on Free Conference is hereby empowered to suggest in their report any new amendments which they may adopt as a committee, but such amendments made by such committee shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall not be subject to amendment in either house.

24. When Conference Committee Report Is in Order.

The presentation of report of Committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or while the Senate or Assembly is dividing, or during roll call; and when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed, and shall be determined without debate.

25. Messages Must Be Announced by the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms.

When a message shall be sent from either house it shall be announced at the door by the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

26. Secretary, Clerk, etc., to Carry Messages.

Messages shall be sent by the Secretary, Clerk, or by such person as a sense of propriety of each house may determine to be proper.

27. Notices to Be on Paper, Over Proper Signature.

Notice of the action of either house to the other shall be on paper, and over the signature of the Secretary or Clerk of the house from which such notice is to be conveyed

28. Enrolled Bills to Receive Signature of Proper Officer.

After a bill shall have passed both houses, it shall be duly enrolled and carefully compared by the Enrolling Clerk and Enrolling Committee of the Assembly, or of the Senate, as the bill may have originated, and shall first receive the signature of the presiding officer and Clerk or Secretary of the house in which it emanated, before it shall be presented to the Governor of the State.

29. Enrolling Committee to Compare.

When bills are enrolled they shall be reexamined by the Enrolling Committee of the house in which they originated, who shall compare the enrollment with the engrossed bill as passed in the two houses, and correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bill, make their report forthwith to the house in which the bill originated, stating by whom such bill was examined.

30. President and Speaker to Sign Bills.

After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective houses, first by the Speaker of the Assembly, then by the President of the Senate.

31. Enrolling Committee to Present Bills to Governor.

After a bill shall have thus been signed in each house, it shall be presented by the Enrolling Committee of the house in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first indorsed on the back of the bill by the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, certifying in which house the bill originated). The said committee shall report the day, hour, and minute of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the house in which the bill originated.

32. Daily History of Bills, Etc.

There shall be printed daily, by both the Senate and Assembly, a history of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments, which shall show the action taken by the house up to the day preceding the publication of such history. A regular form shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly, jointly, and no other form shall be used.

33. Secretary and Clerk to Keep Register.

The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

34. Secretary and Clerk Shall Indorse Bills.

The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall indorse, on every original bill, a statement of any action taken by the Senate and Assembly.

35. Adjournment Sine Die.

An adjournment sine die shall only be made by concurrent resolution.

36. Dispensing With Joint Rules.

No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by vote of two thirds of each house; and if either house shall violate a joint rule, a question of order may be raised in the other house and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such house; and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the house in which it originated, without further action; or, at the option of such house, the President or Speaker may direct the Secretary or Clerk to mark the section or sections in conflict with the rules as non-concurred in or negated.

Your committee further respectfully informs you that the following are the changes made in the Joint Rules from those of the last session:

In Rule 11, insert "February 8, 1901," instead of present date.

In Rule 16, insert "January 30, 1901."
In Rule 22, strike out the word "house," and insert the word "committee."
In Rule 23, strike out all after "house" in last paragraph.
In Rule 31, insert "hour" and "minute" after word "day."
In Rule 32, after word "prescribed," insert "by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the Assembly, jointly."

BETTMAN, Chairman.

SPECIAL ORDER SET.

On motion of Senator Bettman, the consideration of the Joint Rules, as submitted by the Committee on Rules, was made the special order for Thursday, January 17, 1901, immediately after the reading of the Journal.

4. Each House to Transmit Papers.

Each house shall transmit to the other papers on which any bill or resolution shall be founded.

5. Disagreement, Adhered to, Defeats the Bill.

After each house shall have once adhered to its disagreement, a bill or resolution shall be lost.

6. No Appropriation except by Bill.

No appropriation of money, for any purpose whatever, shall be made except by bill.

7. Joint and Concurrent Resolutions.

Joint resolutions are those which relate to matters connected with the Federal Government. All other resolutions relating to matters to be treated by both houses of the Legislature are concurrent resolutions.

8. Joint Resolutions Treated as Bills.

All joint resolutions shall be treated in all respects as bills; except that all joint resolutions shall be read but one time in each house.

9. Amendments to Amended Bills Must be Attached.

Whenever a bill or resolution which shall have been passed in one house shall be amended in the other, such amendment or amendments shall be attached to the bill or resolution so amended, and indorsed "Adopted," and such amendment or amendments, if concurred in by the house in which such bill or resolution originated, shall be indorsed "Concurred in," and such indorsement shall be signed by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary of the Senate, or the Clerk or Assistant Clerk of the Assembly, as the case may be.

10. Bills Read and Referred to Committee.

When a Senate bill has been received by the Assembly, or an Assembly bill by the Senate, with a message announcing that the same has passed the Senate or Assembly, such bill shall be read the first time by the Secretary or Clerk, and referred to a standing committee.

11. Special File.

After the 8th day of February, 1901, the Senate and Assembly shall adopt and provide a special file upon which shall be placed: In the Senate, only Assembly bills that have passed the Assembly, and in the Assembly only Senate bills that have passed the Senate. Such special file shall be taken up at two o'clock P. M. of each day, and be considered one hour and a half after being so taken up.

This rule shall not be suspended in either house except by a two-thirds vote of such house.

12. Fees Allowed in Cases of Contest.

Whenever, in the Senate or Assembly, a contest is made for the seat of any Senator or Assemblyman, no more than $200 shall be allowed as counsel fees for the sitting member and $100 for the contesting member, regardless of who is seated.

13. Bills Not to be Printed for Engrossment Unless Amended.

Unless bills have been amended they shall not be again printed for engrossment, but the Engrossing Clerk shall use a copy of original printed bill in an engrossed bill cover, and report same back immediately after comparing same.

14. Clerk to Attach Amendments to Bill.

If a Senate bill shall have been amended by the Assembly, the Clerk of the Assembly shall attach the amendments adopted by the Assembly to the Senate bill.

15. Secretary to Attach Amendments to Bill.

If an Assembly bill shall have been amended by the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate shall attach the amendments adopted by the Senate to the Assembly bill.

16. After a Bill Has Been Passed by the Senate or Assembly.

When a bill (if it be a Senate bill) has been received from the Senate by the Assembly, after its passage, or (if it be an Assembly bill) has been received from the Assembly by the Senate, after its passage, it shall be taken up by the Senate or Assembly, as the case may be, under the regular order of business ("Senate Messages" or "Assembly Messages"), read the first time, and shall then be assigned to the proper committee, who shall report it within ten days if received on or before January 30th, and within five days if received after January 30th, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate or Assembly.

17. Clerk to Return Bill to Senate.

After a Senate bill has passed the Assembly, or has been refused passage by the Assembly, the Clerk of the Assembly shall, after making the proper indorsements thereon and the proper entries in the Register of Bills, return the bill to the Senate, and in the Assembly message, which must accompany same, mention the action taken by the Assembly.

18. Secretary to Return Bill to Assembly.

After an Assembly bill has passed the Senate, or has been refused passage by the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate shall, after making the proper indorsements thereon and the proper entries in the Register of Bills, return the bill to the Assembly, and in the Senate message, which must accompany same, mention the action taken by the Senate.

19. To Concur or Refuse to Concur in Amendments.

In case the Senate amend and pass an Assembly bill, or the Assembly amend and pass a Senate bill, the Senate (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly (if it be an Assembly bill), must either "concur" or "refuse to concur" in the amendments.

20. When Amendments are Concurred In.

If the Senate concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Clerk shall notify the house making the amendments, and the bill shall be ordered to enrollment.

21. When Senate or Assembly Refuse to Concur.

If the Senate refuse to concur (if it be a Senate bill), or the Assembly refuse to concur (if it be an Assembly bill), the Secretary or Clerk shall notify the house making the amendments of the action taken, and ask that they recede from their amendments. If they refuse to recede, a Committee on Conference shall be appointed, consisting of six members, three to be appointed by the President of the Senate and three by the Speaker of the Assembly. The Committee on Conference shall report to both the Senate and Assembly.

22. Committee on Conference.

In every case of an amendment of a bill agreed to in one house, and dissented from in the other, if either house shall request a conference and appoint a committee to confer, the other house shall appoint a like committee; and such committee shall meet at a convenient hour, to be agreed upon by the said committee.

23. Free Conference Committee.

If the Committee on Conference fail to agree, or either the Senate or Assembly refuse to adopt the report of the committee, it shall then be in order to appoint a Committee on Free Conference.

A Committee on Free Conference shall consist of six members, to be appointed in the same manner as a Committee on Conference.

The Committee on Free Conference is hereby empowered to suggest in their report any new amendments which they may adopt as a committee, but such amendments made by such committee shall be attached to the bill.

The report of the Committee on Free Conference shall be final, and must be accepted as such.

24. When Conference Committee Report Is in Order.

The presentation of report of Committee on Conference or Free Conference shall always be in order, except when the Journal is being read or a question of order or a motion to adjourn is pending, or while the Senate or Assembly is dividing, or during roll call; and when received, the question of proceeding to the consideration of the report, if raised, shall be immediately passed, and shall be determined without debate.

25. Messages Must Be Announced by the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms.

When a message shall be sent from either house it shall be announced at the door by the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

26. Secretary, Clerk, etc., to Carry Messages.

Messages shall be sent by the Secretary, Clerk, or by such person as a sense of propriety of each house may determine to be proper.

27. Notices to Be on Paper, Over Proper Signature.

Notice of the action of either house to the other shall be on paper, and over the signature of the Secretary or Clerk of the house from which such notice is to be conveyed.

28. Enrolled Bills to Receive Signature of Proper Officer.

After a bill shall have passed both houses, it shall be duly enrolled and carefully compared by the Enrolling Clerk and Enrolling Committee of the Assembly, or of the Senate, as the bill may have originated, and shall first receive the signature of the presiding officer and Clerk or Secretary of the house in which it emanated, before it shall be presented to the Governor of the State.

29. Enrolling Committee to Compare.

When bills are enrolled they shall be reexamined by the Enrolling Committee of the house in which they originated, who shall compare the enrollment with the engrossed bill as passed in the two houses, and correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bill, make their report forthwith to the house in which the bill originated, stating by whom such bill was examined.

30. President and Speaker to Sign Bills.

After examination and report, each bill shall be signed in the respective houses, first by the Speaker of the Assembly, then by the President of the Senate.

31. Enrolling Committee to Present Bills to Governor.

After a bill shall have thus been signed in each house, it shall be presented by the Enrolling Committee of the house in which it originated to the Governor of the State for his approval (it being first indorsed on the back of the bill by the Secretary or Clerk, as the case may be, certifying in which house the bill originated). The said committee shall report the day, hour, and minute of presentation to the Governor, which time shall be carefully entered on the Journal of the house in which the bill originated.

32. Daily History of Bills, Etc.

There shall be printed daily, by both the Senate and Assembly, a history of all bills, joint and concurrent resolutions, and constitutional amendments, which shall show the action taken by the house up to the day preceding the publication of such history. A regular form shall be prescribed by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly, jointly, and no other form shall be used.

33. Secretary and Clerk to Keep Register.

The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall keep a register, in which shall be recorded every action taken by the Senate and Assembly on every bill, concurrent or joint resolution, or constitutional amendment.

34. Secretary and Clerk Shall Indorse Bills.

The Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the Assembly shall indorse, on every original bill, a statement of any action taken by the Senate and Assembly.

35. Adjournment Sine Die.

An adjournment sine die shall only be made by concurrent resolution.

36. Dispensing with Joint Rules.

No joint rule shall be dispensed with except by vote of two thirds of each house; and if either house shall violate a joint rule, a question of order may be raised in the other house and decided in the same manner as in the case of the violation of the rules of such house; and if it shall be decided that the Joint Rules have been violated, the bill involving such violation shall be returned to the house in which it originated, without further action; or, at the option of such house, the President or Speaker may direct the Secretary or Clerk to mark the section or sections in conflict with the rules as non-concurred in or negatived.

Your committee further respectfully informs you that the following are the changes made in the Joint Rules from those of the last session:

In Rule 11, insert "February 8, 1901," instead of present date.

In Rule 16, insert "January 30, 1901."

In Rule 22, strike out the word "house," and insert the word "committee."

In Rule 23, strike out all after "house" in last paragraph.

In Rule 31, insert "hour" and "minute" after word "day."

In Rule 32, after word "prescribed," insert "by the Secretary of the Senate and the Clerk of the Assembly, jointly."

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

The following report of standing committee was received and read:

CONSIDERATION OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS.

The Secretary was directed to read Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 4.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 4,

Approving the charter of the City of Pasadena, a municipal corporation in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, voted for and ratified by the qualified voters of said city at a special election held therein for that purpose, on the 20th day of November, A. D. 1900.

WHEREAS, The City of Pasadena, a municipal corporation, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, is now, and was at all the times herein referred to, a city containing a population of more than three thousand five hundred inhabitants; and

WHEREAS, At a special municipal election duly held in said city on the eleventh day of May, nineteen hundred, in accordance with law, and the provisions of section eight of article eleven of the Constitution of said State, a board of fifteen freeholders, duly qualified, was elected in and by said city and by the qualified electors thereof, to prepare and propose a charter for said city; and

WHEREAS, The same was, on August sixth, nineteen hundred, signed in duplicate by a majority of all the members of said board of fifteen freeholders, to wit: fourteen members of said board, and was on the eighth day of August, nineteen hundred, duly returned to and filed with the President of the Board of Trustees of the City of Pasadena, and one copy thereof returned to and filed with the County Recorder of said County of Los Angeles; and

WHEREAS, Such proposed charter was then published in two daily newspapers of general circulation in said City of Pasadena, to wit: "The Pasadena Evening Star," and "Pasadena Daily News" for more than twenty days, and the first publication thereof was made within twenty days after the completion of the said charter; and

WHEREAS, Said charter was within not less than thirty days after the completion of said publication submitted by the said Board of Trustees of the City of Pasadena to the qualified electors of the said city at a special election previously duly called and thereafter held therein on the twentieth day of November, A. D. nineteen hundred; and

WHEREAS, At said election a majority of such qualified electors voting thereat did vote in favor of and duly ratified said charter so proposed; and

WHEREAS, Said Board of Trustees after canvassing said returns duly found and declared that a majority of such qualified electors voting at said special election had voted for and ratified said charter; and

WHEREAS, The same is now submitted to the Legislature of the State of California for its approval or rejection as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, in accordance with the provisions of Section 8 of Article XI of the Constitution of said State; and

WHEREAS, The said charter so ratified is in the words and figures following, to wit:

CHARTER FOR THE CITY OF PASADENA.

The Third Ward, which shall include all that portion of the city which lies south of the center line of Colorado Street, and east of the center line of Raymond Avenue, and the said center line of Raymond Avenue produced southerly to the south city limits.

The Fourth Ward, which shall include all that portion of the city which lies south of the center line of Colorado Street, and the said center line of Colorado Street produced westerly to the west city limits, and west of the center line of Raymond Avenue, and the said center line of Raymond Avenue produced southerly to the south city limits.

The City Council shall have power to change the boundaries of the said wards by ordinance adopted as other ordinances are required to be adopted under this charter; provided, that the said boundaries shall not be changed oftener than once in three years.

GENERAL POWERS.

SEC. 3. The said city shall continue vested with all the property of every kind now belonging to it and shall have the power:

First—To have perpetual succession.

Second—To have and use a corporate seal and alter it at pleasure.

Third—To sue and be sued in all courts and places and in all actions and proceedings whatever.

Fourth—To purchase, receive, have, take, hold, lease, use and enjoy property of every kind and description both within and without the limits of said city and control and dispose of the same for the common benefit.

Fifth—To receive bequests, devises and donations of property of every kind either absolutely or in trust for charitable or other purposes and do all acts necessary to carry out the purpose of such bequests, devises and donations and to manage, control, sell or otherwise dispose of such property in accordance with the terms of such bequests, devises or donations.

Sixth—To erect, construct and maintain public buildings, schools, kindergartens, libraries, hospitals, markets, baths, fountains, prisons, workhouses, morgues and crematories.

Seventh—To improve and maintain public parks, cemeteries and sewer farms, to regulate the same and to exclude cemeteries from the limits of the city or any portion thereof and to discontinue the same.

Eighth—To construct and maintain water works, pipes, pipe-lines, aqueducts and hydrants for supplying the city and its inhabitants with water, and for supplying water to such persons who live without the city limits but along or adjacent to any pipe, pipe-line or aqueduct used in supplying the city or its inhabitants with water.

Ninth—To construct and maintain gas and electric works for supplying the city and its inhabitants with light, heat and power.

Tenth—To construct and maintain works for supplying the city and its inhabitants with telephonic and telegraphic service.

Eleventh—To construct, maintain and operate street railways and other means of public conveyance, together with all rolling stock, power houses, equipment, appliances and apparatus necessary and proper in the operation, management and control of the same.

Twelfth—To provide for the care of the sick and helpless and to make regulations to prevent the spread of epidemic and contagious diseases.

Thirteenth—To establish and change the grade and to lay out, open, extend, widen, change, vacate, pave, repave, gravel, surface, resurface and improve streets, alleys, sidewalks, crossings and other highways and public squares and places and to make provisions for cleaning and sprinkling the same.

Fourteenth—To construct and maintain sewers, drains and all other works necessary for the disposition of sewage and to construct and maintain garbage crematories and other works for the disposition or destruction of garbage.

Fifteenth—To levy and collect taxes upon property for all municipal purposes; provided, that the tax levied for any one year for all municipal purposes other than for the payment of principal or interest on any bonds of the said city or for school purposes, shall not exceed one dollar on each one hundred dollars' worth of taxable property in the said city except as hereinafter provided. And to levy and collect assessments upon property to pay for the grading, regrading, laying out, opening, widening, extending, and improving of streets, alleys, sidewalks, crossings and other highways and public squares and places, and the construction of sewers, water, gas and other pipes and conduits therein.

Sixteenth—To create, subject to the restrictions and limitations in the Constitution of the State of California and in this charter hereinafter contained, indebtedness not exceeding in all fifteen per centum of the assessed value of all the real and personal property in the said city subject to assessment for taxation for municipal purposes to pay the costs of municipal improvements, the acquisition of public utilities or for any purpose whatever requiring an expenditure greater than the amount which can be appropriated for such purpose out of the annual tax levy.

Seventeenth—To levy taxes exceeding the limit permitted in this charter; provided, that before such levy can be made the proposition to make such levy shall have been first approved by two thirds of the qualified electors of the city voting at a special election called for that purpose by the city council.

Eighteenth—To license and regulate places of amusement and the carrying on of any and all professions, trades, callings, occupations and kinds of business carried on within the limits of said city and to fix the amount of license tax thereon to be paid by all persons engaged in carrying on such places of amusement and such professions, trades, callings, occupations and kinds of business in said city, and to provide for the manner of enforcing the payment of such license tax; and to regulate, restrain, suppress or prohibit hawking and peddling and the carrying on of any laundry, livery and sale stable, cattle or horse corral, planing-mill, rolling-mill, oil well, tank or refinery, foundry, brickyard, slaughter house, butcher-shop and the keeping of bees, cattle or poultry within the limits or within any designated portion of said city; and to prohibit and suppress all faro banks, games of chance, gambling houses, bawdy houses, saloons, bars, bar-rooms or other places where spirituous, malt, vinous, or other intoxicating liquors are sold or given away, and any and all obnoxious, offensive, immoral, indecent or disreputable places or practices within the said city.

Nineteenth—To create offices other than those established by this charter or by the general law, whenever the public convenience or necessity may require the same, and to prescribe the duties pertaining to the offices thus created, and to provide for the election or appointment, and to fix the compensation of the officers to fill the same.

Twentieth—To make, adopt, and enforce all necessary rules and regulations for the prevention of fires, floods and riots, and to make and enforce all such local, police, sanitary and other regulations as are deemed expedient to maintain the public peace, protect property, promote the public morals, and preserve the health of the inhabitants of the city.

Twenty-first—To prescribe the manner in which the times at which, and the places where elections shall be held in such city, and to appoint the officers to conduct such elections and provide for their compensation.

Twenty-second—To make the violation of its ordinances a misdemeanor and to prescribe the punishment for such violation, which punishment shall be by fine or imprisonment, or by both fine and imprisonment; provided, however, that such fine shall not exceed the sum of five hundred ($500.00) dollars and such imprisonment shall not exceed six months.

Twenty-third—To exercise the right of eminent domain for the purpose of acquiring real and personal property of every kind, including water, water rights, and water works, within or without the corporate limits, necessary or convenient for the use of the said city or its inhabitants.

Twenty-fourth—To exercise all municipal and police powers necessary to the complete and efficient management and control of the municipal property, and for the efficient administration of the municipal government whether such powers are herein expressly enumerated or not.

ARTICLE 2.

OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. The officers of the city shall be:

Mayor.

Five members of the City Council.

City Treasurer, who shall be ex officio City Tax and License Collector.

City Clerk.

City Attorney.

Judge of the Police Court.

City Auditor, who shall be ex officio City Assessor.

City Engineer.

Superintendent of Streets.

Board of Commissioners, consisting of five members, who shall have control of the park, water, fire, and police departments of the city government.

Board of Education, consisting of five members.

Board of Library Trustees, consisting of five members.

Board of Health, consisting of five members.

SEC. 2. Every officer provided for in this charter shall, within ten days after receiving his certificate of election or appointment, qualify by giving the bond required by this charter, or the ordinances of the city, and by taking and subscribing to the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of California, and I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of (insert name of office) according to the best of my ability."

ARTICLE 3.

SALARIES OF OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. The officers of the city, in this section named, shall receive in full compensation for all services of every kind rendered by them the following salaries, payable in equal monthly installments at the end of each calendar month, viz:

The Mayor, fifteen hundred dollars per annum.

Each member of the Council, three dollars for each regular meeting of the Council which such member shall attend; provided, that the number of such regular meetings for which compensation shall be paid shall not exceed five during any month.

City Treasurer and ex officio City Tax and License Collector, one thousand dollars per annum.

City Clerk, twelve hundred dollars per annum.

SEC. 2. The members of the Board of Commissioners, the members of the Board of Education, the members of the Board of Library Trustees, and the members of the Board of Health, shall serve without compensation.

SEC. 3. In all cases, not otherwise provided for by this charter, the City Council shall, by ordinance, fix the salaries or other compensation of officers and employes.

SEC. 4. No officer of the city shall be compensated by fees or commissions, but only by a fixed salary, payable monthly.

SEC. 5. No officer or employe of the city shall receive or accept any fee, recompense or compensation for the discharge of any duty of his office from any person or corporation other than the city.

ARTICLE 4.

BONDS OF OFFICERS.

SECTION 1. Officers and employes of the city before entering upon the discharge of their official duties shall give and execute to the city such official bonds as may be required by general law, this charter, or ordinance of the city.

SEC. 2. When the amount of the bond is not fixed by law or by this charter, it shall be fixed by an ordinance of the City Council.

SEC. 3. Every bond given by any officer or employe must be approved as to form by the City Attorney, and all bonds, excepting the bond of the Auditor, must be approved by the Mayor and Auditor. The bond of the Auditor must be approved by the Mayor. The approval of every official bond must be indorsed thereon and signed by the officers approving the same. Upon the approval of a bond it must be recorded in the office of the City Clerk in a book kept for that purpose. After recording, the bond of the Auditor shall be filed and kept in the office of the City Clerk. All other official bonds shall be filed and kept in the office of the Auditor.

SEC. 4. The following named officers shall execute official bonds to the city with sureties in the following sums, viz:

The City Treasurer and ex officio City Tax and License Collector in the sum of seventy-five thousand dollars, the City Clerk in the sum of ten thousand dollars, the City Auditor and ex officio City Assessor in the sum of ten thousand dollars, the City Engineer in the sum of five thousand dollars, the Superintendent of Streets in the sum of ten thousand dollars.

SEC. 5. The City Council may at any time by ordinance increase the penal sum of any such bonds.

SEC. 6. No city officer, deputy or employé shall be accepted as surety for any other city officer, deputy or employé on any official bond. Every such bond shall contain a condition that the principal will perform all official duties, then, or which may thereafter be imposed upon or required of him by law, by ordinance or by this charter, and that at the expiration of his term of office, he will surrender to his successor all property, books, papers and documents that may come into his possession as such. Such bond must also be executed by two or more sureties, who shall justify in the amount required for said bond; but, when the amount of the bond is more than five thousand dollars, the sureties may become severally liable for portions thereof, not less than twenty-five hundred dollars. When there are more than two sureties, such sureties may justify in an amount which in the aggregate shall equal double the amount of said bond. In giving such official bonds, the principal giving the same may furnish as one of the sureties, or as the sole surety thereon, any of the lawfully authorized surety companies described in sections ten hundred and fifty-six and ten hundred and fifty-seven of the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California.

SEC. 7. Every surety upon an official bond, other than such lawfully authorized surety companies, must make an affidavit which shall be indorsed upon such bond, that he is a resident of the county of Los Angeles, and that he is the owner of real estate therein, and that he is worth in property situated in said county, exclusive of incumbrances thereon, double the amount of his undertaking, over and above all sums for which he is already liable, or in any manner bound, whether as principal, indorser, or surety, and whether such prior obligation or liability be conditional or absolute, liquidated or unliquidated, due or to become due. All persons offered as sureties on official bonds may be examined on oath as to their qualifications by the aforesaid officers whose duty it is to approve such bonds.

SEC. 8. The City Council may, by resolution adopted at a regular meeting, require of any officer or employé an additional bond whenever in the opinion of such Council the bond given by such official or employé for any reason becomes insufficient.

SEC. 9. Every officer of the city shall be liable on his official bond for the acts and omissions of his deputies, assistants, or clerks appointed by him, and may exact for his protection bonds from such deputies, assistants, and clerks.

SEC. 10. Where not otherwise provided by this charter, the Council may by ordinance require any officer, deputy, assistant clerk or employé of the city, or of any of its departments, to give to the city bonds for the faithful performance of official duty, and may fix the amount of such bonds, and prescribe the conditions thereof, but the qualifications of sureties thereto shall be as otherwise prescribed in this article in respect to the official bonds required hereunder.

ARTICLE 5.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Mayor.

SECTION 1. The chief executive officer of the city shall be designated the Mayor. He shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for the five years next preceding the day of his election. He shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city, and shall hold office for two years, and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

SEC. 2. He shall see that all laws and ordinances within his jurisdiction are strictly enforced. He shall vigilantly observe the official conduct of all public officers, and take notice of the fidelity and exactitude, or the want thereof, with which they execute their duties and obligations, especially in the collection, administration and disbursement of the public funds and property. The books, records and official papers of all departments, boards, officers and persons in the employ or service of the city, shall at all times be open to his inspection and examination. He shall take special care to see that the books and records of said departments, boards, officers and persons are kept in legal and proper form. Any defalcations or willful neglect of duty, or official misconduct which he may discover, or which may be reported to him, shall be laid by him before the City Council, in order that the public interests may be protected, and the person in default be proceeded against according to law. He shall, from time to time, give the City Council information, in writing, relative to the state of the city, and shall recommend such measures as he may deem beneficial. He shall have the books and records of all public departments pertaining to the finances of the city examined by a competent person at least once in every year. Any person refusing to submit to or to permit such examination, or purposely delaying or impeding the same, may be suspended from office by the Mayor and removed for malfeasance in office. He shall have a general supervision over all the departments and public institutions of the city, and see that they are honestly, economically and lawfully conducted.

SEC. 3. He shall take all proper measures for the preservation of public order and suppression of all riots and tumults.

SEC. 4. The Mayor, with the approval of the Council, shall appoint all officers of the city whose election or appointment is not otherwise specifically provided for in this charter or by law. When a vacancy occurs in any office, and provision is not otherwise made in this charter or by law for filling the same, the Mayor, with the approval of the Council, shall appoint a suitable person to fill such vacancy, who shall possess the qualifications prescribed for such office and who shall hold office for the remainder of the unexpired term.

SEC. 5. He shall see that all contracts and agreements with the city are faithfully kept and fully performed; and to that end shall cause legal proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted in the name of the city against all persons or corporations failing to fulfill their agreements or contracts either in whole or in part. He shall have the general supervision of all city officers elected or appointed. He shall discharge such other duties and do such other things as are required of him by any of the provisions of this charter.

SEC. 6. When and so long as the Mayor is temporarily unable to perform his official duties, the President of the Council shall act as Mayor pro tempore. When a vacancy occurs in the office of Mayor, it shall be filled for the unexpired term by the Council, assembled for that purpose. A member of the Council, during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed, shall be ineligible to fill such vacancy.

City Treasurer, Tax and License Collector.

SEC. 7. The Treasurer shall be ex officio Tax and License Collector. He shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for the five years next preceding the day of his election. He shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city and shall hold office for four years and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

SEC. 8. The Treasurer shall receive and keep all moneys that shall come to the city from taxation or otherwise, and pay the same out, on demands properly audited, in the manner provided for in this charter, and without such auditing he shall disburse no public money whatever, except the principal and interest on the bonded indebtedness of the city when the same shall be payable; he shall keep an accurate account of all his receipts and disbursements under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by ordinance; he shall make a monthly statement to the City Council of all his receipts and disbursements during the preceding month, and shall do all things required of him by this charter and the ordinances of the city.

SEC. 9. As soon as suitable vaults are provided by the city, the Treasurer shall keep therein all moneys belonging to the city, and shall not thereafter, under any circumstances, deposit with any person, corporation or bank, any of the money of the city, or allow the same, except in the payment of demands against the city, to pass out of his custody. Until such vaults are provided, the treasurer shall not deposit any of the city money with any person or corporation other than National or State banks doing business in the city. The Treasurer shall not, under any circumstances, loan to any person or corporation whatever any of the money of the city.

SEC. 10. The City Treasurer shall be ex officio Tax and License Collector, and as such Tax and License Collector he shall receive and collect all city taxes, general and special, license taxes and other branches of the city revenue, not otherwise herein provided for; he shall keep proper books, showing all moneys collected by him as Tax and License Collector, and also a book which shall contain a record of every deed given by or on behalf of the city for real estate sold for delinquent taxes or assessments, which book shall be properly indexed, and shall be at all suitable times open to public inspection; he shall do and perform such other duties as may be required of him by this charter or by the ordinances of the city. He shall pay all moneys collected by him as Tax and License Collector into the city treasury daily.

City Clerk.

SEC. 11. The City Clerk shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for the five years next preceding the day of his election. He shall be elected by the qualified electors of the city, and shall hold office for four years and until his successor is elected and has qualified.

SEC. 12. The City Clerk shall have the custody of, and be responsible for the corporate seal, all books, papers, records and archives belonging to the city not in actual use by other officers, or elsewhere by special provision committed to their custody. He shall be present at each meeting of the Council and of the Board of Equalization, and keep a record of its proceedings. He shall keep separate books in which respectively he shall record all ordinances and contracts and official bonds. He shall keep all the books properly indexed and open to public inspection when not in actual use. He shall make out, sign and deliver to the City Auditor all licenses other than building permits, and perform such other duties as are or shall be imposed by this charter, or by ordinance. He shall have power to take affidavits and administer oaths in all matters relating to the business of the city, and shall make no charge therefor. He shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office. He shall be the custodian of the City Hall, and of all personal property, the custody of which has not been otherwise provided for.

City Attorney.

SEC. 13. The City Attorney shall be a citizen of the State and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for the three years next preceding the day of his appointment. He shall have been duly admitted to practice his profession by the Supreme Court of the State of California, and shall have been actually engaged in the practice of his profession for a period of five years next preceding his appointment. He shall be appointed by the Mayor, and his appointment confirmed by the Council. He may be removed by the Mayor, with the consent of the Council, at any time.

SEC. 14. The City Attorney shall prosecute, in behalf of the people, all criminal cases arising from violations of the provisions of this Charter and the ordinances of the city, and shall attend to all suits, matters, and proceedings in which the city may be legally interested; provided, the City Council shall have control of all litigation of the city and may employ other attorneys to take charge of any litigation or to assist the City Attorney therein. He shall be in attendance at every regular meeting of the Council, and shall give his advice or opinion in writing whenever requested so to do by the City Council or any of the boards or officers of the city. He shall approve the form of all bonds given to, and all contracts made by, the city, indorsing his approval thereon in writing. He shall, whenever required by the City Council or any member thereof, draft any and all proposed ordinances for the city, and amendments thereto; and shall do and perform all such things touching his office as the City Council or the Mayor may require of him. On vacating the office he shall surrender all books, papers, files, and documents, pertaining to the city business to his successor.

City Auditor and Assessor.

SEC. 15. The City Auditor shall be ex officio City Assessor. He shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for a period of three years next preceding the day of his appointment. He shall be appointed by the Mayor and his appointment confirmed by the Council. He may be removed by the Mayor at any time with the consent of the Council.

SEC. 16. As City Auditor he shall number and keep a record of all demands approved by him, showing the date of approval, amount, and name of original and present holder, on what account allowed and out of what fund payable and by what officer or board it has been previously approved. He shall be always acquainted with the exact condition of the city treasury. He shall, on the application of any person indebted to the city or any officer or person holding money payable into the treasury, or desiring to pay money therein, certify to the City Treasurer the amount thereof, to what fund applicable and by whom to be paid. He shall, upon the order of the City Treasurer directing him to issue a receipt for money paid into the city treasury, charge the City Treasurer with the money and give the person paying the same a receipt therefor. He shall apportion among the several funds all public moneys at any time in the city treasury, not otherwise by law or ordinance specifically apportioned and appropriated, and forthwith notify the City Treasurer of such apportionment. He shall countersign all licenses or permits issued by any city officer or board whereon money is to be paid to such officer or board for the use of the city, and shall charge such officer with the proper amount. No such license or permit shall be valid unless countersigned by him. He shall, at the first meeting of the Council every month, and oftener if required, report to the Council the condition of each fund in the treasury. He shall make a similar report to the Mayor at any time when requested by the Mayor, in writing, so to do. He shall keep a complete set of books for the city in which shall be set forth in a plain and business like manner every money transaction of the city, so that he can tell at any time the exact condition of the city's finances. He shall make an annual report to the City Council showing the sources from which the city's revenue was derived and how expended. He shall approve and sign all warrants and demands upon the city treasury, except as otherwise in this charter provided. He shall keep in his office in a place accessible and open at all times during office hours to the public a book containing a list of the names of all persons or corporations who are bondsmen for the officers of the city, giving the names of the officers for whom they are bondsmen and the amounts for which they are severally holden. He shall keep publicly posted in his office a list of all persons receiving salaries or wages from the city, with the amount of monthly salaries or wages received by each opposite his name, which list shall be revised and corrected by him monthly. He shall prescribe a system of books and records to be kept by each department of the city government and a form of monthly reports to be made by each department to the City Auditor showing the business transactions of such departments and all receipts and distributions of material, supplies, tools, etc., to the end that the Auditor may have a complete and accurate knowledge of the business transactions of the city and of the several departments and be able to keep full and accurate records of the same and report them to the Council and the Mayor as herein provided. Such system of books and records and such form of reports shall be submitted to the Council, and, on approval by the Council, shall at once be put in force by the several officers and departments of the city, and shall thereafter not be changed except after the proposed changes have been submitted by the Auditor to and have been approved by the Council. He shall discharge such other duties as may be required of him by law, by this charter, or by the ordinances of the city. He shall have authority to take affidavits and administer oaths necessary to the transaction of the city business.

SEC. 17. As Assessor he shall perform all the duties prescribed by this charter or by law for assessing property in the city for purposes of taxation, and shall collect such taxes upon personal property as by this charter are required to be collected by him.

City Engineer.

SEC. 18. The City Engineer shall be a citizen of the State and a resident and qualified elector of the city. He shall have had not less than five years' practical experience as a civil engineer, next preceding the day of his appointment. He shall be appointed by the Mayor and his appointment confirmed by the Council. He may be removed by the Mayor at any time with the consent of the Council.

SEC. 19. The City Engineer shall perform all the engineering and surveying required in the carrying on of the public works and improvements done under the direction of the Council or any department of the city government. All maps, plats, profiles, field notes, estimates and other memoranda of surveys and other professional work made or done by him or under his direction or control during his term of office shall be and continue to be the property of the city. He shall be the custodian of, and responsible for all maps, plats, profiles, field notes and other records and memoranda belonging to the city, pertaining to his office and the work thereof, all of which he shall keep in proper order and condition, with full indexes thereto. He shall have the final decision, unless otherwise provided by ordinance, as to the proper locality and height of telegraph, telephone, electric light and other poles, as well as the proper alignment and height above the ground of all telephone, telegraph, electric light and other wires, the depth below the surface and alignment of all gas, water, sewer and other pipes and conduits, and the grade and proper alignment of all street railroad tracks.

Superintendent of Streets.

SEC. 20. The Superintendent of Streets shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for a period of three years next preceding the day of his appointment. He shall be appointed by the Mayor and his appointment confirmed by the Council. He may be removed by the Mayor at any time with the consent of the Council.

SEC. 21. It shall be his duty to see that the laws, ordinances, orders and regulations relative to the public streets and highways are fully carried into execution, and that the penalties for a breach thereof are rigidly enforced. He shall superintend and direct the sweeping, cleaning and sprinkling of the streets and the cleaning and flushing of all sewers, and keep himself informed of the condition of all public streets and highways. He shall have the general care of and frequently inspect the streets and highways of the city. He shall receive and investigate all complaints as to their condition and shall have charge of the enforcement of all ordinances and laws pertaining to street obstruction. He shall frequently inspect all public works pertaining to street improvement while the same are in course of construction, inspect and approve or reject all material used in such construction whether done by contract or otherwise, and shall at once report to the Council all deviations from contracts, and use of improper material and bad workmanship in such construction. He shall perform such other duties as are required of him by this charter, by the ordinances of the city or the general law of the State.

ARTICLE 6.

PARK, WATER, POLICE, AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

SECTION 1. The park, water, police, and fire departments of the city shall be under the control and management of a Board of Commissioners, consisting of five members, four of whom shall be appointed by the Mayor, and their appointment confirmed by the Council. Each of the four thus appointed shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for the three years next preceding his appointment. The fifth member of the board shall be the Mayor, who shall be the presiding officer of the board. Those members of the board first appointed under this charter shall so classify themselves by lot that one shall go out of office at the end of one year, one at the end of two years, one at the end of three years, and one at the end of four years; thereafter their successors shall hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed.

SEC. 2. Three of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The City Clerk shall act as secretary of the board and keep the minutes thereof.

SEC. 3. The board shall have the exclusive control and management of all lands and real property which may be acquired, set apart, or dedicated for the use of the people of the city as public parks, or pleasure grounds, and of any boulevard that may be acquired, dedicated, or constructed as a portion of the park system of the city. The board shall have authority to purchase all articles and materials for, and have all work and labor performed upon said parks, pleasure grounds, and boulevards; and to that end may appoint, remove, discharge, or suspend superintendents, laborers, and all other persons employed upon or about said parks, pleasure grounds, and boulevards. The board shall have authority to establish rules and regulations for the use and government of such parks, pleasure grounds, and boulevards, and shall have the right to prohibit the use of the drives in any of said parks, or pleasure grounds, or the said boulevards, for teaming, or other purposes which may be injurious to them.

The board shall have authority to direct and regulate the planting, trimming, pruning, and care of shade and ornamental trees, and shrubbery in any and all of the streets, alleys, public places, and grounds of the city, and to cause the removal of objectionable trees and shrubbery from such streets, and public places.

SEC. 4. The board shall have the exclusive control and management of all water and water works that may hereafter be acquired by the city; the construction, maintenance, and improvement of such works; the management, rental, sale, and distribution of such water; the collection of rates for the same, and the general charge thereof. The board shall annually recommend to the Council the rates to be charged for such water, but such rates shall be fixed by the Council. The board may appoint, remove, discharge, or suspend superintendents, laborers, and all other persons employed upon or about said water works, or in the management, rental, sale, and distribution of such water, and the collection of rates for the same, and may prescribe and fix their duties, compensation, and authority.

SEC. 5. The board shall have the exclusive control and management of the Police Department of the city, and shall have power:

First—To organize the said department, and change the organization from time to time, as in the judgment of the board shall seem best.

Second—To appoint, promote, suspend, reduce, or dismiss any officer or member thereof; provided, however, that no such officer or member shall be suspended, reduced, or dismissed without the reasons for such action being set out at length in the minutes of the board.

Third—To prescribe rules and regulations for the government, discipline, equipment and uniform of the members and officers of the department, to fix their compensation, powers and duties and to prescribe and enforce penalties for violations of any of such rules and regulations.

Fourth—To appoint, upon the application of any person, firm or corporation, special police officers who shall receive no pay from the city and who may be removed at any time by the board; provided, however, that such special police officers shall be subject to all the rules and regulations of the board.

Fifth—To appoint, at times of public emergency, special policemen who shall serve for such time as is designated in their appointment and who shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the board.

Sixth—To provide for the care, restitution, sale or destruction of such unclaimed property as may come into the possession of the department.

Seventh—To do any other acts which shall be necessary to the efficient equipment and operation of the Police Department of the city.

SEC. 6. In the organization of the Police Department the said board shall appoint a Chief of Police who shall keep a public office to be provided by the City Council, which office shall be open day and night. The Chief of Police shall devote his entire time to the discharge of the duties of his office, and shall, under the direction of the board, have control of the police force of the city. He shall have power to suspend any member of the police force for disobedience of any lawful order, for the violation of any rule or regulation adopted by the board, for the neglect of duty or for any conduct unbecoming a member of the police force, but shall immediately notify the board of such suspension by leaving a written notice of such suspension, giving his reasons therefor, with the Mayor, and thereupon the matter shall be in the hands of the board for its action thereon. The Chief of Police shall discharge all duties required of him by this charter, by the ordinances of the city or by the rules and regulations of the board.

SEC. 7. In addition to the Chief of Police the board, in the organization of the Police Department, shall provide for a permanent police force, which shall consist of such number of policemen as the board shall from time to time deem necessary to preserve the peace, protect the lives and property of the citizens, and enforce all laws and ordinances within the city.

SEC. 8. The board shall have the exclusive control and management of the Fire Department of the city, and shall have power:

First—To organize the said department and change the said organization from time to time as in the judgment of the board seems best.

Second—To appoint, promote, suspend, reduce, or dismiss any officer or member of the department; provided, that no such officer or member shall be suspended, reduced, or dismissed without the reasons for such action being set out at length in the minutes of the board.

Third—To prescribe rules and regulations for the government, discipline, equipment, and uniform of the members and officers of the department, to fix their compensation, powers, and duties, and to prescribe and enforce penalties for violation of any of such rules and regulations.

Fourth—To do any other act that shall be necessary to the efficient equipment and operation of the Fire Department of the city.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of the board to see that the city is properly supplied with all the necessary appliances and apparatus for the extinguishment and prevention of fires, to order the placing of hydrants and fire-alarm boxes for said purposes and to provide means for the proper care, handling, hauling and housing of all apparatus belonging to the Fire Department.

SEC. 10. In the organization of the Fire Department the board shall provide for a Chief Engineer, who shall devote his whole time to the discharge of the duties of his office and shall, under the direction of the board, have control of the officers and men employed in the Fire Department. He shall have power to suspend any officer or employé of the department for disobedience of any lawful order, for the violation of any rule or regulation adopted by the board, for neglect of duty, or for any conduct unbecoming a member of the department, but shall immediately notify the board of such suspension by leaving a written notice of such suspension, giving his reasons therefor, with the Mayor, and thereupon the matter shall be in the hands of the board for its action thereon. The Chief Engineer shall see that all the rules and regulations of the board relating to the Fire Department are enforced and shall be charged with the especial duty of superintending the extinguishment of fires and seeing that all property imperiled thereby is protected and guarded.

ARTICLE 7.

MISCELLANEOUS DEPARTMENTS.

SECTION 1. All departments of the public service and public works, not in this charter otherwise provided for, shall be under the direction and control of the City Council, and the City Council may organize the same, and change such organization from time to time as to the City Council shall seem best. The City Council shall have power to appoint, promote, suspend, reduce or dismiss all officers or employes of such departments, fix the powers, duties and compensation of such officers and employes, prescribe rules and regulations for the government, discipline and equipment of such departments and to enforce penalties for the violation of any such rules and regulations; and shall have power to do anything that may be necessary to maintain said departments in a high state of efficiency.

ARTICLE 8.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The legislative power of the city shall be vested in a Council of five members; provided, however, that such legislative power shall be exercised subject to the veto power of the Mayor as in this charter provided.

SEC. 2. One of the members of the Council shall be nominated from each of the wards of the city and one from the city at large. All of the members shall be elected at large by the qualified electors of the city. Each of the members of the Council shall have been a citizen of the State and a resident and qualified elector of the city for a period of at least three years immediately preceding the day of his election. The members nominated from the wards shall be residents of the wards from which they are nominated.

SEC. 3. The members of the City Council first elected under this charter shall so classify themselves by lot that two of their number shall hold office for two years, and three of their number shall hold office for four years, thereafter their successors shall hold office for four years and until their successors are elected and have qualified.

SEC. 4. The Mayor shall preside at all meetings of the Council and may take part in the deliberations thereof, but shall not have the right to vote.

In the absence of the Mayor the Council shall choose one of their own number to preside, who shall retain the right to vote upon all questions under consideration and shall have the same power to disapprove any order made by the Council, and with like effect, as the Mayor would have had if present at the meeting. The member thus appointed shall be designated the President of the Council, and in the event that the Mayor, for any reason, is temporarily unable to perform his official duties, the President of the Council shall act as Mayor pro tempore.

SEC. 5. Three of the members of the Council shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a less number may adjourn from time to time or compel the attendance of other members in such manner and under such penalties as the Council may prescribe. No order except to adjourn for lack of a quorum, or to compel the attendance of absent members, and no ordinance or resolution shall be valid unless it receive the affirmative votes of three members.

SEC. 6. Ordinances and resolutions are the formal acts of the Council reduced to writing and passed under legal restrictions governing action thereon. Orders embrace all other acts which, being less formal in character, require only to be duly passed by the Council and spread upon the minutes. No order, resolution, or ordinance shall have any effect without the approval of the Mayor. In the case of orders the approval of the Mayor shall be presumed, unless at the same meeting at which the order was passed the Mayor causes his disapproval, with his reasons therefor, to be spread upon the minutes. All resolutions and ordinances, after passage by the Council, must be submitted to the Mayor, who shall, within five days after he has received the same, indorse his approval or disapproval thereon, giving the reason for his disapproval. No ordinance or resolution shall be placed upon its final passage upon the same day that it has been introduced and read in full for the first time, and every ordinance and resolution to be valid must be passed by a vote of not less than three members of the Council and approved by the Mayor; provided, however, that if the Mayor disapprove any order or does not approve any resolution or ordinance within the time herein provided it may be passed by a vote of not less than four members of the Council and shall then be as valid as if approved by the Mayor.

SEC. 7. The enacting clause of all ordinances shall be "The Mayor and City Council of the City of Pasadena do ordain as follows."

SEC. 8. All ordinances adopted under this charter shall be published, in the English language, at least once in a newspaper published in the City of Pasadena, and until such publication no ordinance shall take effect.

SEC. 9. All meetings of the City Council shall be public, and a journal of its proceedings shall be kept by the City Clerk under its direction, and the ayes and noes shall be taken and entered in the journal on the final action of the City Council in the granting of franchises, in the authorization of contracts, in the ordering work to be done or supplies furnished, in the ordering of assessments for street improvements, or the building of sewers, the passage of any ordinance, and in all other cases upon the call of any member.

SEC. 10. The City Council shall have power:

First—To fix the time and place of its meetings, to compel the attendance before it of witnesses, and the production of papers in any matter under investigation, to judge of the qualification and election of its own members, and to punish any member or other city officer, by a fine of not exceeding fifty dollars, for disorderly or contemptuous behavior in its presence.

Second—To make and pass all ordinances, resolutions, and orders not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States, or of the State of California, or to the provisions of this charter, necessary for the municipal government and the management of the affairs of the city, for the execution of the powers vested in the city, and for carrying into effect the provisions of this charter.

Third—To levy and collect taxes and assessments for city purposes on all property within the city which is by law taxable for State and county purposes.

Fourth—To provide for the lighting of the streets and public buildings and places of the city and to regulate such lighting.

Fifth—To regulate the use and sale of gas, electric and other light in the city, to fix and determine the price thereof, as well as the rental price of all gas and electric light meters within the city, and to provide for the inspection of such meters.

Sixth—To regulate telephone service and the use of telephones, and to fix and determine the charges for telephones, telephone service and connections within the city.

Seventh—To cause the removal and placing under ground of all telephone, telegraph, electric light, or other wires within the city, or within any designated portion thereof, and to regulate and prohibit the placing of poles and the suspending of wires along or across any of the streets, alleys, and public places of the city.

Eighth—To regulate, license, or prohibit the construction and use of billboards and signs adjacent to or near the streets, alleys and public places of the city.

Ninth—To license and regulate the keeping of dogs, and to prevent the same from running at large, and to authorize the destruction thereof.

Tenth—To establish pounds and pound districts which shall be under the supervision and control of a poundmaster, and restrain the running at large of poultry, horses, mules, cattle, swine, sheep, and other animals, and to authorize the destruction and sale of the same.

Eleventh—To establish, license, or regulate markets and market houses.

Twelfth—To provide for and regulate the inspection by the health officer of meats, poultry, fish, game, bread, butter, cheese, lard, eggs, vegetables, flour, meal, milk, and other food products offered for sale in the city, and to provide for the taking and summarily destroying of any such products as are unsound, spoiled, adulterated, or unwholesome, and to regulate and prevent the bringing into the city, or having or keeping within the city of such unsound, spoiled, adulterated, or unwholesome products.

Thirteenth—To provide for the inspection of and to regulate the sale of bread within the city and to prescribe the weight of the loaf and to provide for the seizure and forfeiture of bread offered for sale which does not comply with such regulations.

Fourteenth—To provide for and regulate the manner of weighing hay, straw, and coal and the selling of the same, and the measuring and selling of firewood within the city.

Fifteenth—To provide for the inspection and sealing of all weights and measures used in the city and to enforce the keeping and use by dealers of proper weights and measures duly tested and sealed.

Sixteenth—To regulate the construction of and the material used in all buildings, chimneys, stacks, and other structures; to prevent the erection and maintenance of insecure or unsafe buildings, walls, chimneys, stacks, or other structures, and to provide for their summary abatement or destruction; to prescribe the depth of cellars and basements, the materials used in and the method of construction of foundations and foundation walls, the manner of construction and location of drains and sewers, the materials used in and the thickness and construction of party walls, partition and outside walls, the thickness and construction of chimneys, the construction and character of bath-rooms, water-closets, privies and vaults, the manner and materials used in wiring buildings or other structures for the use of electricity for lighting, power or other purposes, and the manner and materials used for piping buildings or other structures for the purpose of supplying the same with water and gas; to prohibit the construction of buildings and structures which do not conform to such regulations.

Seventeenth—To require the owners and lessees of buildings or other structures to place upon or in them fire-escapes and appliances for protection against and the extinguishment of fires.

Eighteenth—To prevent the construction and to cause the removal of dangerous chimneys, fireplaces, hearths, stoves, stove-pipes, ovens, boilers, apparatus and machinery used in any building in the city; to regulate the carrying on of manufactories liable to cause fire; to prevent the depositing of ashes or the accumulation of shavings, rubbish, or any combustible material in unsafe places, and to make provisions to guard against fire.

Nineteenth—To prescribe fire limits and determine the character and height of buildings that may be erected therein and the nature of the materials to be used in the construction, alteration or repair of such buildings, or in the repair or alteration of existing buildings within said fire limit.

Twentieth—To regulate the entrance to and exit from all theaters, lecture rooms, public halls, schools, churches and public buildings of every kind and to prevent the placing of seats, chairs, benches, or other obstructions in the halls, aisles, or open places therein.

Twenty-first—To regulate or prohibit the operation of blasts and blasting and the construction and operation of derricks, windlasses and other structures, apparatus and operations hazardous to life and property and to regulate the operation and provide for the inspection of freight and passenger elevators, boilers, engines, dynamos, and other apparatus generating steam or electricity.

Twenty-second—To define nuisances, and to prevent, remove, and abate the same, and to provide that said nuisances may be removed or abated at the expense of the party or parties creating, causing, committing, or maintaining such nuisances, and to prohibit offensive or unwholesome business or establishments within the city.

Twenty-third—To regulate lodging, tenement and apartment houses and to prevent the over-crowding of the same and to require the same to be put and kept in proper sanitary condition.

Twenty-fourth—To provide for and regulate the inspection of all dairies, either within or without the city limits, that offer for sale, or sell, any of their products in the city.

Twenty-fifth—To provide for the naming of streets, and the numbering of houses and to regulate or prohibit the exhibition of banners, flags, placards, or signs across the streets, sidewalks, or public places of the city.

Twenty-sixth—To regulate or prohibit the loading or storing of gunpowder, and other combustible and explosive materials in the city, and the transportation of the same through the streets of the city.

Twenty-seventh—To regulate the speed of railroad trains, engines, and cars passing through the city, and the speed of cars of street railway companies using the public streets of the city; to require railroad companies to station flagmen, place gates or viaducts at all such street crossings as it may deem proper, to require street cars to be provided with fenders, or other appliances for the better protection of the public; to prohibit the making up of railroad trains upon any of the streets, street crossings, or street intersections of the city; to regulate the speed with which persons may ride or drive, or propel bicycles, tricycles, automobiles, or other vehicles along or upon any of the streets or highways of the city.

Twenty-eighth—To establish stands for hacks, public carriages, express wagons, and other public vehicles for hire, and regulate the charges of such hacks, public carriages, express wagons, and other public vehicles, and require schedules for such charges to be posted in or upon such public vehicles.

Twenty-ninth—To regulate street railroads, their tracks and cars; to compel the owners of two or more such roads using the same street for any distance, not exceeding five blocks, to use the same tracks and to equitably divide the cost of construction and the cost of maintenance thereof between them.

Thirtieth—To prohibit the injury to or interference with the ornamental trees and shrubbery in the streets and public places of the city, and to prescribe the punishment for such injury and interference.

Thirty-first—To grant the right to erect or lay telegraph or telephone wires, to construct and operate street railroads, to lay gas or water pipes, to erect poles and wires, or lay conduits for transmitting electric energy for lighting or power purposes along or upon the public streets and highways of the city; provided, however, that all such rights and franchises shall be granted subject to all the restrictions and limitations in this charter contained relating to the granting of franchises.

Thirty-second—To make arrangements for the care, feeding, and clothing of all persons imprisoned by municipal authority or sentenced to imprisonment by the Police Court, and to provide that all such persons shall work upon the streets, or do other public work.

Thirty-third—To restrain or punish vagrants, mendicants, street beggars, and lewd persons, and prevent diseased, maimed, injured, or unfortunate persons from displaying their infirmities for the purpose of receiving alms, and to prevent and punish drunkenness and all obnoxious, offensive, immoral, indecent, and disorderly conduct and practices in the city.

Thirty-fourth—To make all regulations which may be necessary and expedient for the preservation of health and the suppression of disease; to make regulations to prevent the introduction of contagious, infectious or other diseases into the city; to make quarantine laws and regulations, and to enforce the same within the city; to regulate, control, and prevent the entry into the city of persons, baggage, merchandise, or other property infected with contagious disease.

Thirty-fifth—To provide for the sale of personal property belonging to the city which is not needed by or which is not suited for the use of the city.

Thirty-sixth—To prohibit and punish cruelty to animals and fowls, and to require the places where they are kept to be maintained in a healthful condition.

Thirty-seventh—To set apart and dedicate as a boulevard or boulevards any street or streets or portions of a street or streets in the city.

Thirty-eighth—To maintain police and fire departments.

Thirty-ninth—To suspend any officer of the city pending trial against whom any criminal proceeding or any civil action for the recovery of any money due the city has been commenced, and the Mayor shall appoint a substitute for such officer during suspension. In voting upon the suspension or removal of officers the Council shall vote by ayes and noes, and the same shall be taken and entered upon the journal.

Fortieth—To adopt and enforce by ordinance all such measures, and to establish all such regulations, in case no express provision is in this charter made, as the Council may from time to time deem expedient and necessary for the promotion and protection of the health, comfort, safety, life, welfare, and property of the inhabitants of the city, the preservation of peace and good order, the promotion of public morals, and the suppression of vice in the city.

Forty-first—To pass ordinances upon any other subject of municipal control, or to carry into force or effect any other powers of the municipality.

Forty-second—To adopt by ordinance at any time any provisions made by the general law of the State of California for the levy and collection, or either of them, of city taxes by and through the officers of the county.

Forty-third—To prescribe by ordinance the duties of all officers whose duties are not defined by this charter, and it may by ordinance prescribe for any officer duties in addition to those herein prescribed, when the same are not inconsistent with the provisions of this charter, and may fix the hours during which the public office of any city officer shall remain open, if not otherwise herein provided for.

SEC. 11. If any elective or appointive officer of the city shall die or remove from the city, or shall absent himself from the city for more than thirty days without the consent of the Council, or shall fail to qualify by taking the oath of office or filing his official bond within ten days of the time he receives his certificate of election or appointment, or if he shall resign, or be convicted of a misdemeanor connected with the performance of his official duties, or be convicted of a felony, or adjudged insane, or absent himself from his office for more than twenty days without the consent of the Council, his office shall thereupon be declared vacant by the Council, if the office is an elective one, and by the Mayor, if the office is an appointive one; and the vacancy shall thereupon be filled by the Council if the office is an elective one, and by the Mayor, with the approval of the Council, if the office be an appointive one, unless otherwise provided for in this charter.

SEC. 12. Whenever there shall be presented to the Council a petition signed by a number of city electors equal to ten per centum of the votes cast in the city at the last preceding State or general city election, asking that an ordinance, to be set forth in such petition, be submitted to a vote of the electors of the city, such proposed ordinance must be submitted to the vote of the electors at the next general city election, unless the said ordinance shall have been adopted more than thirty days prior to such election.

SEC. 13. Whenever there shall be presented to the Council a petition signed by a number of city electors which shall equal thirty per centum of the votes cast at the last preceding State or general city election, asking that an ordinance, to be set forth in such petition, be submitted to a vote of the electors of the city at a special election to be called for that purpose, such special election shall be called, and such proposed ordinance must be submitted to the vote of the electors at such special election, unless the Council shall within thirty days after having received said petition duly adopt such ordinance.

SEC. 14. The Council may, at such general or special election, submit an alternative ordinance for the choice of the electors, and any number of proposed ordinances may be voted on at the same election.

SEC. 15. The signatures to such petitions need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his name his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereto subscribed.

SEC. 16. The tickets used at such elections in voting on such ordinances shall contain the words, "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance), and "Against the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance).

SEC. 17. If a majority of the votes cast upon the question of such ordinance shall be in favor of the adoption thereof, the Council shall, within twenty days from the time of such election, proclaim such fact by publishing such proclamation attached to a copy of such ordinance at least once, in the English language, in a newspaper published in the city, and thereupon such ordinance shall have the same force and effect as an ordinance passed by the City Council, and approved by the Mayor, and the same shall not be repealed by the Council.

The Council may submit a proposition for a repeal of such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, to be voted upon by the electors of the city at any general election, and should such proposition so submitted receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall, by the Council, be repealed or amended accordingly.

SEC. 18. All resolutions and ordinances of the city now in force and not inconsistent with the provisions of this charter shall remain in force until amended or repealed.

ARTICLE 9.

STREETS.

SECTION 1. Whenever the City Council shall deem it expedient to establish the grade of the whole or any part of any street, avenue, lane, alley, court, or place in said city, the same shall be done by ordinance.

SEC. 2. Whenever the City Council shall deem it expedient to alter the established grade of the whole or any part of any street, avenue, lane, alley, court, or place in said city, said Council shall by ordinance declare its intention to alter such established grade, in which ordinance must be specified the grade that is proposed to be established, and shall publish such ordinance at least ten days in a daily newspaper published and circulated in the City of Pasadena.

SEC. 3. Within ten days after the first publication of such ordinance, any owner of property fronting on such street, or part thereof whereon said change is proposed, may make and file with the City Clerk a written remonstrance against the proposed change of grade, setting forth in detail the damage which will arise to him by reason of the proposed change of grade, and thereupon the same shall not be further proceeded with or made without compensation to such owner for any damage which may be occasioned to him by said change. The said damage shall be ascertained, if possible, by agreement between such owner and the Council, and in case such agreement cannot be reached with such owner, the amount of damage justly payable to such owner shall be determined by an action in the name of the city against him, and in case there is remonstrance from more than one, all said remonstrants may be joined as defendants in said action and all of their damages determined therein.

SEC. 4. The cost of providing crosswalks, and of improving all intersections of streets, including the cost of constructing sewers therein, and of space included between the center line of the street to be improved and the prolongation of the side lines of any street forming a junction with such street to be improved, to such center line, except the cost of constructing sewers therein, shall be paid out of the general or other appropriate fund of the city, and shall not be included in the special assessment for the proposed work. When a sewer is to be constructed within said last mentioned space, half of the cost of said sewer shall be assessed against the property abutting against said space extended, and one half of said cost shall be paid out of the general or other appropriate fund of the city.

SEC. 5. Except as provided herein the general law of the State of California relative to the improvement of, and work upon streets, lanes, alleys, courts, places, and sidewalks, including the construction of sewers, and providing for the laying out, opening, extending, widening, straightening, or closing up in whole or in part of any street, square, lane, alley, court, or place within municipalities, and to condemn and acquire any and all land and property necessary and convenient for that purpose; and for providing a system of street improvement bonds to represent certain assessments for the cost of street work and improvements within municipalities, and to provide for the payment of such bonds; and for providing for the planting, maintenance and care of shade trees upon streets, lanes, alleys, courts, and places within municipalities, and of hedges upon the lines thereof, and for the eradication of weeds within city limits, now in force, or which may hereafter be adopted by the Legislature of this State, is hereby made a part of this charter, and shall govern the City Council in such matters.

ARTICLE 10

CONTRACTS.

SECTION 1. The City of Pasadena shall not be and is not bound by any contract, except as otherwise provided herein, unless the same is made in writing by order of the Council and signed by the Mayor or by some other person, in behalf of the city, authorized so to do by the Council; provided, that the approval of the form of the contract by the City Attorney shall be indorsed thereon before the Council shall have power to order the same to be entered into in behalf of the city; but the Council, by an ordinance duly adopted, may authorize any officer, board or commission, or agent of the city to bind the city without a contract in writing for the payment for supplies, labor, or other valuable consideration furnished to the city in an amount not exceeding one hundred dollars.

SEC. 2. All contracts for goods, merchandise, stores, supplies, materials, subsistence, or printing, except as otherwise provided in this charter, for the city or for any of the departments or public institutions thereof, must be made by the City Council with the lowest bidder offering adequate security for the faithful performance of the contract, after the publication of a notice calling for bids in a newspaper published in said city for at least ten days before the day upon which the said bids are to be opened by the Council.

SEC. 3. All bids must be accompanied by a certificate of deposit issued by or a certified check drawn on a solvent bank doing business in the City of Pasadena for an amount equal to ten per centum of the bid; the said certificate of deposit or certified check must be payable at sight to the City Clerk. If the bidder to whom the contract is awarded shall, for five days after such award, fail or neglect to enter into the contract and file the required bond, the clerk shall draw the money due on such certificate of deposit or check and pay the same into the treasury, and under no circumstances shall the certificate of deposit or check or the proceeds thereof be returned to the defaulting bidder.

SEC. 4. The Council shall require bonds with sufficient sureties for the faithful performance of every contract. All such bonds, after having been approved by the City Attorney as to form, shall be approved by the Mayor, and such approval with the date thereof shall be indorsed upon said bonds and evidenced by the signature of the Mayor. The City Clerk shall furnish printed blanks for all such bids, contracts and bonds.

SEC. 5. All bids must be placed in a sealed envelope and delivered to the City Clerk and opened by the Council at the hour and place to be stated in the notice calling for bids. All bids that do not conform to the requirements of this charter or are not in accord with the terms of the notice calling for bids must be rejected. The clerk shall return to the unsuccessful bidders their certificates of deposit or checks. He shall retain the certificate of deposit or check of the successful bidder until after the approval by the Mayor of the bond furnished by such bidder, for the faithful performance of his contract, and then shall return such certificate of deposit or check to such successful bidder.

SEC. 6. All contracts for official advertising shall be let annually in a like manner to the lowest responsible bidder publishing a daily newspaper of general circulation in the city; provided, that the said newspaper shall have been in existence at the time of awarding said contract at least two years.

SEC. 7. When a contractor fails to enter into the contract awarded to him or to perform the same, new bids must be invited and a new contract awarded as provided herein in the first instance. When the Council believe that the prices bid are too high, or that bidders have combined to prevent competition, or that the public interest will be subserved thereby, they may reject any and all bids and cause the notice calling for bids to be readvertised.

SEC. 8. No contract for removing garbage, sweeping, sprinkling, or lighting the streets, public buildings, places or offices shall be made for a longer period than one year, nor shall any contract to pay for power, gas or electric light at a higher rate than the minimum price charged to any other consumer be valid.

ARTICLE 11.

CLAIMS AND DEMANDS.

SECTION 1. Except as otherwise provided in this charter all demands payable out of the treasury must, before they can be approved by the Auditor or paid by the Treasurer be approved by the Council and the Mayor.

SEC. 2. All claims and demands whatever against the City of Pasadena, except interest coupons on bonds, and bonds of the funded debt, shall be paid only on demands as herein provided for.

SEC. 3. Said demands, except demands payable out of the school fund and library fund, shall be presented to the Council on forms to be supplied by the City Clerk. The Council shall consider the said demands and shall, if the same be just and legal approve the same, or may, if it so determine, approve in part or reject the whole. The action of the City Council shall be indorsed thereon, with the date of such action and certified by the signature of the City Clerk.

SEC. 4. Any such demand, approved by the Council, in whole or in part, shall be delivered to the Mayor, who shall approve the same, in whole or in part, or reject the same and indorse such approval or rejection thereon, with the date of such action; provided, that the Mayor shall have no power to approve a demand for a sum larger than the sum for which it is approved by the Council. If the Mayor approve only in part, or for a less amount than approved by the Council, or reject any such demand, he shall return the same to the City Clerk with his objections in writing attached thereto.

SEC. 5. Any demand approved by the Mayor for the same amount as approved by the Council must, before it can be paid, be presented to the Auditor to be approved, who shall satisfy himself whether the money is legally due and remains unpaid, and whether the payment thereof from the treasury of the city is authorized by law, and out of what fund. After such examination, he shall approve or reject the claim in whole or in part, and indorse on such demand his approval or rejection, over his signature, together with the date thereof. If it be approved, the fund out of which it is to be paid shall be designated. If the claim is rejected in whole or as to any part of it (unless the party presenting it is willing to accept and receipt for it in full of the entire demand the sum offered), the Auditor shall return it, with his reasons for rejecting it, to the Council, board or other body which originally authorized it. No demand upon the city treasury shall be considered presented for action, or acted upon, allowed or approved by the Council, or any board or commission of said city, unless it specifies on its face each item composing such demand, and the amount and date thereof.

SEC. 6. Every demand shall be numbered and acted upon by the Auditor in the order of its presentation to him; and when allowed, either in whole or in part, it shall be numbered and entitled to payment in the same order as allowed.

SEC. 7. All demands payable out of the school fund must, before they can be approved by the City Auditor, or paid, be previously approved by the Board of Education, by a vote of three members thereof, taken with the eyes and noses, and spread on the minutes, and the action of said board indorsed on said demand, and signed by the presiding officer, and the clerk thereof. After the approval of said demands, they shall be delivered to the City Auditor, who shall have the same powers, and shall perform the same duties in reference to demands payable out of the school fund as is, provided for other demands; provided, that in case the City Auditor shall reject any such demand, or if, in his opinion, said demand should be paid only in part, he shall return the same to the Board of Education instead of the Council.

Sec. 8. All demands payable out of the library fund must, before they can be approved by the City Auditor, or paid, be previously approved by the Board of Library Trustees by a vote of three members thereof, taken with the ayes and noes, and spread on the minutes of the board, and the action of said board, with the date of such action indorsed on said demands, and signed by the Mayor, as presiding officer, and by the clerk of said board.

After the approval of said demands, as herein provided, they shall be delivered to the City Auditor, who shall have the same powers, and perform the same duties in reference to demands payable out of the library fund as are provided for other demands; provided, that in case the City Auditor shall reject any such demand, or if, in his opinion, said demand should be paid only in part, he shall return the same to the Board of Library Trustees.

Sec. 9. Any demand returned to the Council, with the objections of either the Mayor or the Auditor, shall again be considered by the Council, and if it shall again be approved by the Council and indorsed and certified as required by section three of this article, the said objection shall thereby be overruled. Any demand returned to the Board of Education or to the Board of Library Trustees with the objection of the City Auditor, shall again be considered by such board, and if such demand be again approved as required in the first instance, the said objection by the City Auditor shall thereby be overruled. Any demand, the objection of the Mayor to which has been overruled, shall be delivered to the City Auditor, who shall have the same power and perform the same duties in reference thereto as if the same had been approved by the Mayor. Any demand, the objection of the City Auditor to which has been overruled by the City Council, the Board of Education or Board of Library Trustees, as the case may be, shall be delivered to the City Auditor, who shall number and make a record of such demand as in the case of demands approved by him.

Sec. 10. No demand can be approved by any board or officer, audited or paid, unless it specify each several item, with the date and amount thereof.

Sec. 11. No payment can be made from the city treasury, or out of the public funds of said city, unless the same be specially authorized by law or this charter, nor unless the demand which is paid be duly audited as in this charter provided. The term "audited," as used in this charter with reference to demands upon the treasury, is to be understood to mean that said demands have been presented to, passed upon, and approved by every officer and board of officers, as required by this charter, or the objections of the Mayor or City Auditor, or both, as the case may be, have been overruled, as herein provided, and this must appear upon the face of the paper representing the demand, or else it is not audited.

Sec. 12. No demand shall be approved by the City Auditor in favor of any person or officer, or the assignee of any person or officer, who is indebted to the city, without first deducting the amount of such indebtedness, nor in favor of any officer having the collection, custody or disbursement of public funds who shall have failed to account to the city as required by law or this charter; nor in favor of any officer who shall have neglected to make his official returns or report in writing, in the manner and at the time required by law or this charter, or by the ordinances or regulations made in pursuance thereof; nor in favor of any officer who may have neglected or refused to comply with any of the provisions of this charter or ordinances of the city, or any Act of the Legislature regulating the duties of such officer, on being required in writing to comply therewith by the Mayor or the President of the Council; nor in favor of any officer for the time he shall have absented himself, without lawful cause, from the duties of his office during the office hours prescribed by this charter or by ordinance, and the City Auditor may examine any officer receiving a salary from the treasury, on oath, touching such absence.

Sec. 13. The City Auditor must number and keep a record of all demands on the treasury approved by him, or his objections to which have been overruled, showing the number, date, amount, and name of the original and present holder, on what account allowed, out of what fund payable, and by what officer or board it has been previously approved; and it shall be a misdemeanor in office for the City Auditor to deliver any demand with his approval thereon, or otherwise, until this requisite has been complied with.

Sec. 14. Every lawful demand upon the treasury, audited and allowed as in this charter required, shall in all cases be paid upon presentation, if there be sufficient money in the treasury applicable to the payment of such demand, and the demand canceled with a punch cutting the word "canceled" therein, and the proper entry thereof made. If, however, there be not sufficient money so applicable, then it shall be registered in a book kept for that purpose by the Treasurer. Such register shall show the special number given by the Council or other authority, and also by the Auditor to each demand presented; also when presented, the date, amount, name of original holder, and on what account allowed, and against what appropriation drawn, and out of what specific fund payable. All demands shall be paid in the order of their registration. Each demand, upon being so registered, shall be returned to the party presenting it, with the indorsement of the word "registered," dated and signed by the Treasurer; but the registration of any demand shall not operate to recognize or make valid such demand, if incurred contrary to law or any of the provisions of this charter.

SEC. 15. Nothing in this article contained shall be construed as interfering with or preventing the payment by the City Treasurer of the bonded indebtedness of the city, and the interest coupons thereof, in accordance with the Constitution, laws, and ordinances authorizing the issuance of said bonds.

SEC. 16. Before any demand which originates in the fire, police, water, or park departments of the city government can be approved by the Council, it must first be approved by the Board of Commissioners having charge of such departments by a vote of at least three members thereof, and the approval of such Board of Commissioners, with the date of such approval, must be indorsed on such demand, and must be evidenced by the signature of the Mayor as the presiding officer of such board, and by the clerk of the said board.

SEC. 17. All public moneys collected by any officer, or employé of the city shall be paid into the city treasury, without any deduction on account of any claim for fees, commissions, or any other cause or pretense; and the compensation of any officer, employé, or other person so collecting money, shall be paid by demands on the treasury, duly audited as other demands are audited, and paid.

SEC. 18. No suit shall be brought upon any claim for money, or damages against the City of Pasadena, its Board of Education, or the Board of Library Trustees, until a demand for the same has been presented, as herein provided, and rejected in whole or in part.

ARTICLE 12.

REVENUE AND TAXATION.

SECTION 1. On or before the first Monday in July in each year the several heads of departments, offices, boards, and commissions shall send to the City Council an estimate in writing of the amount of expenditure, specifying in detail the object thereof, required in their respective departments, offices, boards, and commissions during the year. Duplicates of these estimates shall be sent to the Auditor.

SEC. 2. On or before the first Monday of July of each year, the Assessor shall complete his list or assessment roll and shall attach his certificate thereto and deliver it and the books and maps he may have accompanying the same and all the original lists of property given to him to the City Auditor, and the Auditor shall thereupon notify the City Council, and the City Clerk shall thereupon notify the taxpayers of the fact and of the time the City Council will meet to equalize assessments, by publication of such notice in a daily newspaper published in the city, and in the meantime the assessment roll, books, maps, and other papers accompanying the same must remain in the office of the City Auditor for the inspection of all persons interested.

SEC. 3. The mode of making out assessment lists, of ascertaining the value of property and of equalizing the same, shall be such as is now or may hereafter be prescribed by the ordinances of the city.

SEC. 4. The Council shall, at the time and in the manner required by the ordinances of the city relative thereto, sit and act as a Board of Equalization, and shall have as regards the equalization of said lists powers similar to those conferred by law upon the Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles County as a Board of Equalization of State and county taxes.

SEC. 5. The meetings of said Board of Equalization shall be public. The said board shall have power to increase or diminish the amount of any assessment on said lists, both as to real and personal property; provided, that before any such assessment shall be increased, due notice shall be given to the owner or owners of the property the assessed value of which shall be increased, and such owner or owners shall have the right to be heard before the board, under oath. When such assessment list or roll has been equalized it shall be returned by the Council to the Auditor.

SEC. 6. On or before the first Monday in August in each year, the Auditor shall prepare and transmit to the Council an estimate of the probable expenditure of the city for the current fiscal year, giving the amount required to meet the interest and sinking funds for any outstanding funded debts together with the amounts needed for salaries and the wants of all the departments of the municipal government in detail, and showing specifically the amount necessary to be apportioned to each fund in the treasury. The estimate shall also show what amount of income and revenue is likely to be collected from fines, licenses, and all other sources of revenue exclusive of taxes upon property; and shall set forth the probable amount that will be required to be levied and raised by tax upon all property in the city to meet the requirements of such fiscal year.

SEC. 7. The Council shall, annually between the fifteenth day of August and the twenty-second day of August and by a vote of a majority of all the members thereof, make a budget of the amounts estimated to be required to pay the expenses of conducting the public business of the city for the fiscal year. The budget shall be prepared in such detail as to the aggregate sum and the items thereof allowed to each department, office, board or commission as the Council may determine.

SEC. 8. The budget shall, when completed by the Council, be delivered to the Mayor, who may within five days after such delivery to him veto any item in said budget in whole or in part, and it shall require the vote of at least four members of the Council to overcome such veto. After the final estimate is made in accordance herewith, it shall be signed by the Mayor and the City Clerk and the several sums shall then be appro-appropriated for the fiscal year to the several purposes and departments therein named. The estimate shall thereupon be filed in the office of the Auditor.

SEC. 9. The Council must cause to be raised annually according to law and collected by tax the amounts so appropriated less the amounts received from fines, licenses and other sources of revenue.

SEC. 10. The Council may appropriate in the aggregate during each year not to exceed one thousand dollars for necessities not otherwise provided for by law, but no money shall be paid out of this appropriation unless authorized by a vote of at least four members of the Council and approved by the Mayor.

SEC. 11. The Council shall, before fixing the rate of the annual city tax, establish by ordinance separate funds representing the several funded obligations of the city, if any, and the several departments requiring municipal expenditures, including a general fund, and the percentage of the tax levy shall be named for each fund, and the whole amount of the taxes and revenue of the city apportioned accordingly, and no transfers shall be made, except of balances in excess of requirements or from the general fund to meet deficiencies in any fund, unless otherwise provided in this charter.

SEC. 12. The Council shall, on or before the first Monday of September, in each year, by ordinance, fix the rate of taxes to be levied, and levy the tax upon all property, both real and personal, in the city necessary to raise sufficient revenue to carry on the various departments of the municipal government for the current fiscal year; provided, that the rate of taxes so levied shall not exceed, in any one year, one dollar for each one hundred dollars upon the assessment roll, exclusive of what may be necessary for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonded indebtedness of the city or for school purposes.

SEC. 13. As soon as the City Council has fixed the rate of taxes for the year, the Auditor must complete, and enter in a separate column in the assessment book, the respective sums in dollars and cents, rejecting the fractions of a cent, to be paid on the property therein enumerated, and foot up the columns, showing the total amount of taxes, and on or before the fourth Monday in September he must deliver said corrected and completed assessment book to the City Tax Collector, and charge the Collector with the full amount of the taxes levied.

SEC. 14. Every tax so levied shall have the force and effect of a judgment against the person and property taxed, and shall be and constitute a lien upon the real property situated in said city so assessed or owned by the party against whom such assessment is made. Every such assessment and the lien thereof shall have the force and effect of an execution duly levied upon all property owned by the party assessed, or by the unknown owner of such property when assessed to an unknown owner. The judgment shall not be satisfied nor discharged until the tax assessed against the property is paid, or the property sold for the payment thereof.

SEC. 15. The city shall have such other rights, claims and liens for the amount of such municipal taxes as may now or hereafter be given to or exercised by the people of the State of California for and on account of the assessment of State and county taxes levied in Los Angeles County. The mode and manner of collecting such municipal taxes, and enforcing such tax lien, and the proceedings thereafter, shall substantially be the same as the mode and manner at the time prescribed by law for the collection of State and county taxes in said county; provided, however, that the Council may, by ordinance, regulate the time or times and the method of the collection of said taxes within each fiscal year, and prescribe by what officer the respective duties appertaining to such collection and enforcement shall be performed. All such proceedings, sales, certificates and conveyances had, made, and executed by them in pursuance thereof, shall be of like force, effect and validity as is or may hereafter be given by law to like proceedings and acts in the matter of the collections of State and county taxes in said county.

SEC. 16. All sales for delinquent taxes shall be made to the City of Pasadena unless otherwise regulated by ordinance.

SEC. 17. The Council may, by an order entered upon its journal, extend for not exceeding thirty days the time fixed in this article for the performance of any act.

SEC. 18. All fines and forfeitures arising under the revenue and taxation laws as applied to the city, may, in civil cases, be recovered in the name of the city, and, together with all other moneys collected or received by any officer of the city, under said laws, shall be for the use of the city. When real estate is offered for sale for city taxes due thereon, the same shall be struck off and sold to the city in like case and in like manner, and with like effect as it may be struck off or sold to the State when offered for sale for State and county taxes, and the Council shall have the same powers and duties in relation to such property as are given by law to the State Board of Equalization in case of a sale to the State, but no certificate or receipt need be delivered to the State Controller.

SEC. 19. No officer shall be required to send or transmit any statement or report to any State officer or board.

SEC. 20. All papers and instruments required to be filed or recorded with or by the County Recorder by the revenue or taxation laws of this State, shall, under said laws as applied to the city, be, in like manner and with like effect, filed with and recorded by the County Recorder of Los Angeles County.

SEC. 21. Whenever the Council shall determine that the public interest requires the construction, or acquisition, or completion of any permanent municipal building, school building, high-school building, sewer, property, water right, bridge, or other public improvement, or utility, the cost of which, in addition to the other expenditures of the city, will exceed the income and revenue provided for in any one year, they may, by ordinance, submit a proposition to incur a debt for such purpose, and proceed therein as provided in section eighteen of article eleven of the Constitution of this state and general law or laws thereof; provided, that such indebtedness shall not bear more than five per cent interest per annum, and that no bond issue therefor shall be sold for less than par value and to the highest bidder, after advertising for sealed proposals therefor.

SEC. 22. It shall be the duty of the Assessor to collect the taxes on all personal property, when the owner of said property is not seized of real estate in said city sufficient to afford ample security for the collection of said taxes. In all such cases he shall be governed in fixing the amount of the tax by the rate of the tax levy for the preceding year.

SEC. 23. Immediately after fixing the assessment of such property he shall serve on its owner or owners a notice in writing, which shall certify the assessed valuation of the property, the rate of taxation, and the amount of tax payable, and contain a demand for the payment of said tax within three days after the service of said notice. Said notice shall be served personally, or by leaving a copy of the same at the last known place of residence of the person whose property is so assessed. Upon the expiration of said three days after such service, if the tax demanded still remains unpaid, or payment thereof be not secured to the satisfaction of the City Attorney and City Assessor, the Assessor shall forthwith proceed to collect the same by seizure of any personal property owned by the delinquent.

SEC. 24. The said sale shall be made by him in the manner provided in sections thirty-seven hundred and ninety-one, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-two, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-three, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-four, thirty-seven hundred and ninety-five, and thirty-seven hundred and ninety-six of the Political Code of the State of California; provided, that the newspaper referred to in section thirty-seven hundred and ninety-two shall be published in the City of Pasadena.

SEC. 25. As soon as the rate is fixed for the year in which such collection is made, if it be found that a sum in excess of said rate has been collected, the excess must be repaid in the same manner as other demands against the city are paid, to the person from whom the collection was made, or his assigns. And if a sum less than the rate fixed has been collected, the deficiency must be collected as other taxes on personal property are collected.

SEC. 26. Should the Board of Equalization reduce the valuation for the same year of the property so assessed, the sum collected in excess of said reduced valuation must be repaid in like manner, to the person from whom the collection was made, or to his assigns. And if the valuation of said property should be increased by said board, then the deficiency must be collected as other taxes on personal property are collected.

SEC. 27. The Assessor shall carefully note upon his assessment list, and also in a book to be kept by him for the purpose, all collections made by him under this section, and shall turn over to the City Treasurer all money received immediately upon its receipt.

SEC. 28. In case the Assessor shall fail to demand, and through his fault to collect, any and all taxes which by this section he is directed to collect, he shall be and become personally liable to the city for the amount of said delinquent taxes, with interest from the date of their assessment; and the Council is authorized and directed to cause proper action or actions at law to be brought against said Assessor and the sureties on his official bond to recover the same.

ARTICLE 13.

FRANCHISES.

SECTION 1. No exclusive franchise or privilege and no special privilege shall be granted for any purpose.

SEC. 2. No application for a franchise shall be considered by the Council unless the application shall be accompanied with the sum of three hundred dollars, which sum shall be returned to the applicant in the event that the City Council shall determine that neither the public necessity nor the public interest requires the granting of the franchise. If, however, the City Council shall determine that the public necessity or the public interest requires the granting of the franchise, then the said sum of three hundred dollars shall be retained by the city in full for all costs of advertising and other preliminary expenses connected with the offering for sale of such franchise and the granting of the same.

SEC. 3. In granting a franchise the City Council shall impose such lawful conditions, restrictions and limitations as may best subserve the public interest and welfare.

SEC. 4. In the granting of franchises the city and City Council shall be governed by the general law of the State in force at the time, which is hereby declared to be, and is hereby made, a part of this charter, so far as it is or may be applicable to the class of cities to which this municipality may belong.

SEC. 5. No franchise for the operation of any street railroad along or upon any street or portion of a street which has, by the City Council, been set apart and dedicated as a boulevard, shall be granted by the City Council unless the owners of a majority of the frontage of the property fronting on such boulevard shall file with the Council a petition asking that such franchise be granted.

ARTICLE 14.

ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS.

SECTION 1. No person either as principal, agent, servant or employé, shall open, establish, keep, maintain or carry on within the corporate limits of Pasadena, any tipping-house, dramshop, cellar, saloon, bar, bar-room, sample-room or other place where spirituous, vinous, malt or other alcoholic liquors, are sold or given away; provided, that this section shall not apply to hotels, boarding-houses or restaurants furnishing vinous or malt liquors to guests or customers in connection with and as a part of a regular meal under such restrictions and regulations as may be adopted by the Council; and provided further, that this section shall not apply to the sale of such liquors by regularly licensed druggists upon the written prescription of a practicing physician regularly licensed to practice his profession in the State of California, nor to the sale by such druggists of alcohol for mechanical or scientific uses.

SEC. 2. Any person violating section one of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars and not less than one hundred dollars, or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court in which such conviction is had.

ARTICLE 15.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. There is hereby created and established in and for the City of Pasadena a Police Court, which is hereby vested with the judicial power of the city.

SEC. 2. The Police Court shall be presided over by a judge, who shall be appointed by the Mayor and his appointment confirmed by the Council, and who may be removed by the Mayor at any time with the consent of the Council.

SEC. 3. The Judge of the Police Court shall be a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for the three years next preceding the day of his appointment. He shall have been duly admitted to practice as an attorney at law by the Supreme Court of the State of California, and shall have been actually engaged in the practice of the profession of law for a period of five years next preceding his appointment.

SEC. 4. The said Police Court shall have jurisdiction of the following offenses committed within the corporate limits of the said city:

First—Petit larceny.

Second—Assault or battery not charged to have been committed upon a public officer in the discharge of his duties, or to have been committed with such intent as to render the offense a felony.

Third—Breaches of the peace, routs, riots, affrays, committing a willful injury to property, and all misdemeanors punishable by fine not exceeding five hundred dollars or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The said police court shall have exclusive jurisdiction:

First—Of all proceedings for the violation of any ordinance of the city, both civil and criminal.

Second—Of any action for the collection of any taxes or assessments levied for any city purposes when the amount of the tax or assessment sought to be collected against the person assessed is less than three hundred dollars, but no lien upon the property taxed or assessed for the non-payment of the taxes or assessments can be foreclosed in such action.

Third—Of any action for the collection of money payable to the city or from the city to any person, when the amount sought to be collected, exclusive of interest and costs, is less than three hundred dollars.

Fourth—For the breach of any official bond given by any city officer, and for the breach of any contract, and any action for damages in which the city is a party, and upon all forfeited recognizances given to or for the benefit or in behalf of the city, and upon all bonds given upon any appeal taken from the judgment of the court in any of the cases above named, where the amount claimed, exclusive of costs, is less than three hundred dollars.

Fifth—For the recovery of personal property belonging to the city when the value of the property, exclusive of the damages for the taking or detention, is less than three hundred dollars.

SEC. 5. In the exercise of his jurisdiction the Police Judge may punish persons guilty of contempt of court and may issue warrants of arrest, subpoenas, venire, executions and all other process necessary and proper and may administer oaths.

SEC. 6. In all cases in which the Judge of the Police Court is interested, or in which he is related to a party to the action or proceeding either by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree, and in case of his absence, sickness or inability to act, any Justice of the Peace of the County of Los Angeles may, at the written request of the Judge, act in his place and stead.

SEC. 7. The Judge of the Police Court shall keep a record of the proceedings of the Police Court in all matters and cases before said court, and shall pay weekly into the city treasury all fines and other money received by him belonging to the city. He shall, on the first Monday of each month, file with the Auditor an exact and detailed account in writing, under oath, of all fines imposed and collected, and of all fines imposed and not collected, and of all other moneys collected by him for or on behalf of the city.

SEC. 8. The city shall furnish a suitable room for said Police Court, and shall also furnish the necessary dockets and blanks for the use of said court.

SEC. 9. All fees received or collected by the said court shall be the property of the city.

SEC. 10. The rules of practice and mode of proceeding in the Police Court shall be the same as are, or may be, prescribed by law for justices' courts in like cases; and appeals may be taken to the Superior Court of the county from all judgments of said Police Court in like manner, and with like effect as in cases of appeals from justices' courts.

ARTICLE 16.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

SECTION 1. The School Department of the said city shall comprise all the schools within the City of Pasadena, or within the territory that is now, or may hereafter be, annexed thereto for school purposes, and shall be known as the Pasadena City School District, which shall succeed to all the property, rights and privileges of the former Pasadena city school district, and shall consist of primary, grammar, and high schools, as now established, and kindergartens, and may, at the discretion of the Board of Education, include technical or industrial schools and night schools; provided, that no school money shall be used for technical or industrial schools or night schools when such use will prevent the board from maintaining free kindergarten, primary, grammar, and high schools for nine months in each year.

SEC. 2. The government of the schools of the said district is hereby vested in a Board of Education consisting of five members to be elected from the school district at large, who shall serve without compensation.

The members of this board shall be elected on the first Friday in June, following the first and each subsequent regular election held under this charter, and shall hold office for the term of four years, and until their successors are elected and duly qualified; provided, however, that said members so elected at the first election of members of the Board of Education held after the adoption of this charter shall so classify themselves by lot that the term of two of them shall be for two years, and of three for four years, and thereafter alternately, on the first Friday in June following the regular municipal election, there shall be elected, respectively, two and three members of said Board of Education.

The officers of the election for members of the Board of Education shall receive the sum of three dollars each as compensation for their services.

In all other matters the election for members of the Board of Education shall be governed by the general law of the State regulating elections for trustees in school districts.

SEC. 3. The Board of Education shall enter upon the discharge of their duties on the first Monday in July after their election, and the board shall meet upon said day and annually thereafter, and organize by electing one of their number president, whose term of office shall be one year. They shall hold regular meetings at least once each month, at such time and place as may be determined by their rules. Special meetings may be called by the president or by written request of any three members. No business shall be transacted at such special meeting that has not been distinctly stated in the call. A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum, but an affirmative vote of at least three members shall be necessary to pass an order or elect teachers. The sessions of the board shall be public, and its minutes open to inspection. The board may determine the rules of its proceeding, and the ayes and noes shall be taken and recorded when demanded by any member, and entered on the records of the board. Any vacancy occurring on the board shall be filled by the remaining members of the board, and if there be no members, then by the City Council.

SEC. 4. The powers and duties of the Board of Education are as follows:

First—To establish and maintain public schools as herein provided, and to change, consolidate and discontinue the same.

Second—To manage and control the school property.

Third—To employ and dismiss teachers, janitors, school census marshals, and such other persons as may be necessary to carry into effect the powers and duties of the board and to fix, alter, and allow, and order paid their salaries or compensations, and to withhold for good and sufficient cause, the whole or any part of the salary or wages of any person or persons employed as aforesaid.

Fourth—To make and enforce all necessary rules and regulations for the government and progress of the public schools, and to carry into effect the laws relative to education.

Fifth—To establish and regulate the grade of schools and determine the courses of study, the mode of instruction, and what text-books, other than those published by the State, shall be used in said schools.

Sixth—To provide for the School Department all necessary supplies, and incur such other incidental expenses as may be necessary for the welfare of the department.

Seventh—To select plans for and supervise and control the construction of school buildings, to alter, repair, or rent the same, and to furnish them with proper school furniture, apparatus and appliances, and to insure any and all school property.

Eighth—To take charge of any and all real and personal property that may have been or may hereafter be acquired for the use and benefit of the public schools of the said district.

Ninth—To grade, fence, and improve all school lots.

Tenth—To sue or defend suits when necessary in administering the affairs of the school department, and to require the services of the City Attorney therefor, without compensation, in all such cases.

Eleventh—To prohibit any child under six years of age from attending the public schools, except where kindergartens are established, and to fix the age, not less than four years, at which they may attend the kindergarten schools.

Twelfth—To admit non-resident children to any of the departments of the schools, at their discretion, upon the payment, at such time as the board may direct, of tuition fees, to be fixed by the board.

Thirteenth—To furnish books for children whose parents are unable to furnish them ; and all books so furnished shall belong to the school district and shall be kept in the libraries of the schools when not in use.

Fourteenth—To visit every school in the district at least once in each term, and examine carefully into its management, condition and wants.

Fifteenth—To dispose of at public or private sale such personal property as shall be no longer required by the department, and when directed by the qualified electors of the district, at a meeting duly called for that purpose, to dispose of any real property belonging to the district, and no longer necessary or convenient for its use, and to make, in the name of the district, conveyances of all real property sold under the provisions hereof.

School Meetings.

Sixteenth—The Board of Education may, and upon a petition signed by a majority of the heads of families residing in the district, as shown by the last preceding school census, must call meetings of the qualified electors of the district for determining or changing the location of one or more school houses, or for consultation in regard to any litigation in which the district may be engaged, or in regard to any affairs of the district.

Such meetings shall be called by posting three notices in public places in the district, one of which shall be in a conspicuous place on what is known as the Wilson School Building, for not less than ten days previous to the time for which such meeting shall be called, which notice shall specify the purposes for which said meeting shall be called ; and no other business shall be transacted at such meeting.

District meetings shall be organized by choosing a chairman from the electors present, and the District Clerk shall be the clerk of the meeting, and shall enter the minutes thereof on the records of the district.

A meeting so called shall be competent to instruct the Board of Education :

1. In regard to the location or change of location of one or more school-houses, and the use of the same for other than school purposes.

2. In regard to the purchase and sale of school sites, or other real property of the district.

3. In regard to prosecuting, settling or compromising any litigation in which the district may be engaged, or be likely to become engaged.

The Board of Education shall, in all cases, be bound by the instructions of the district meeting in regard to the subjects mentioned in this section.

Seventeenth—To determine annually the amount of school tax necessary for the maintenance of free public schools, and for carrying into effect all provisions of law regarding the same ; and the amount so determined by said Board of Education shall be reported in writing to the City Council. This report shall specify the proper items of the amount of money required in addition to State and county school money to maintain grammar and primary schools, the amount required for the high school, and the amount required for such other public schools of the district as are then established, and what will be required to pay all fixed and incidental expenses, including the cost of erecting new buildings and of repairing, enlarging, or improving old ones.

The City Council is hereby authorized and required to levy and collect as school tax the amount reported by the Board of Education, when said amount does not exceed the sum of fifteen cents on each one hundred dollars valuation, as shown by the assessment roll of the said school district. When the amount reported exceeds the sum of fifteen cents on each one hundred dollars valuation, as shown by the assessment roll of the said district, the Mayor and the City Council may, in their discretion, levy and collect as a tax a sum not to exceed twenty-five cents on the one hundred dollars valuation, as shown by the said assessment roll, but there shall be levied and collected not less than fifteen cents on the hundred dollars valuation, as shown by the said assessment roll.

Eighteenth—The Board of Education may, prior to the fifteenth day of August in any year, when in their judgment it is advisable, call an election and submit to the electors of the district the question whether a tax shall be raised to furnish additional school facilities for the district, or to maintain any school in such district, or for building one or more school-houses, or for any or all of these purposes. Such election shall be called and moneys employed in accordance with the general laws of the State governing elections for district school tax.

Nineteenth—The Board of Education may, when in their judgment it is advisable, and must, when petitioned by a majority of the heads of families residing in the district, call an election and submit to the electors of the district whether the bonds of such district shall be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money to purchase school lots, and for building or purchasing one or more school-houses, and supplying the same with furniture and necessary apparatus, and improving the grounds, and for liquidating any indebtedness already incurred for such purposes.

Twentieth—All moneys collected for school purposes by the provisions of this charter shall be paid into the city treasury, to be disbursed upon the proper demands signed by the president and clerk of the Board of Education and approved by the City Auditor.

Twenty-first—All demands payable out of the school fund shall be filed with the clerk of the board and shall be approved by the Board of Education by a vote of three members thereof taken with the ayes and noes and spread on the minutes, and the action of said board indorsed on said demand and signed by the presiding officer and the clerk thereof.

SEC. 5. The Board of Education shall, at the first meeting in each year, or at such other time as shall be fixed by the board, appoint a clerk, who may or may not be one of their own number, and shall prescribe the duties and fix the salary of such clerk.

SEC. 6 The Board of Education may, at its discretion, appoint a Superintendent of Schools, and prescribe the duties and fix the salary of such superintendent.

SEC. 7. In all matters not specifically provided for in this charter the board shall be governed by the provisions of the general law relative to such matters.

ARTICLE 17.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

SECTION 1. The public library and the reading rooms connected therewith shall be under the control and management of a Board of Library Trustees, consisting of five members, four of whom shall be appointed by the Mayor and their appointment confirmed by the Council; each of the four thus appointed shall be at least thirty years of age and shall have been a resident of the city for a period of three years next preceding his or her appointment. The fifth member of the board shall be the Mayor, who shall be the presiding officer of the board. Those members of the board first appointed under this charter shall so classify themselves by lot that one shall go out of office at the end of one year, one at the end of two years, one at the end of three years, and one at the end of four years; thereafter their successors shall hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed.

SEC. 2. The City Council shall, at the request of the Board of Library Trustees, in making the annual tax levy, and as a part thereof, if the maintenance of the library is not otherwise provided for, levy a sum of not less than five cents nor more than fifteen cents on the hundred dollars assessed valuation for the purpose of maintaining said library and reading rooms and purchasing books, journals, periodicals, and other supplies therefor.

SEC. 3. If payment into the city treasury of any money or property derived by donation or bequest would be inconsistent with the conditions or terms of such donation or bequest, the Board of Trustees shall provide for the safety and preservation of the same and the application thereof to the use of such library in accordance with the terms and conditions of such donation or bequest.

SEC. 4. The title to all property, real or personal, now owned or hereafter acquired by purchase, donation, bequest or otherwise, for the purposes of said library, when not inconsistent with the terms of this acquisition, shall vest and be and remain in said city, and in the name of said city may be used for or defended by action at law or otherwise.

SEC. 5. The board shall meet at least once each month, and a majority shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a less number may adjourn from time to time. It shall elect one of its members secretary, who shall keep the minutes of the board and shall keep a full record of all its business transactions. He shall serve for one year and until his successor is elected.

SEC. 6. The board by a majority vote of all its members to be recorded in its minutes, with the ayes and noes, shall have power:

First—To make and enforce all rules, regulations and by-laws necessary for the administration, government, and protection of the library, reading-rooms, and all property belonging thereto.

Second—To administer any trust declared or created for such library or reading-rooms and to provide memorial tablets and niches to perpetuate the memory of any persons who make donations or bequests thereto.

Third—To purchase books, journals, publications, and other supplies and personal property for the use of the said library.

Fourth—To appoint a Librarian and such other employes as may be necessary to properly conduct the said library and the reading-rooms connected therewith, to dismiss the Librarian or any other employe of the said library, to prescribe the duties and authority of the Librarian and employes and to fix their compensation.

Fifth—To do all that may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this charter with reference to said library.

SEC. 7. The members of the Board of Library Trustees appointed as in this charter provided shall receive no compensation for their services.

ARTICLE 18.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

SECTION 1. The Board of Health shall consist of five members, four of whom shall be appointed by the Mayor and their appointment confirmed by the Council; each of the four thus appointed shall be at least thirty years of age, a citizen of the State, and shall have been a resident and qualified elector of the city for a period of three years next preceding his appointment, and three of the four thus appointed shall be practicing physicians who shall have practiced their profession for at least three years preceding the day of their appointment. The fifth member of the board shall be the Mayor, who shall be the presiding officer of the board. Those members of the board first appointed under this charter shall so classify themselves by lot that one shall go out of office at the end of one year, one at the end of two years, one at the end of three years and one at the end of four years; thereafter their successors shall hold office for four years and until their successors are appointed.

SEC. 2. Three of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 3. The board shall at its first meeting and annually thereafter appoint one of its members, who is a practicing physician, as secretary of the board. The secretary shall be ex officio health officer of the city.

SEC. 4. The Board of Health shall have supervision of all matters pertaining to the sanitary condition of the city and the public institutions thereof, and full powers are hereby given to the board over all questions of defective drainage, the disinfection and sanitary cleaning of all public and private places, and the abatement of all nuisances prejudicial to the health of the citizens, or any of them. The board shall exercise a general supervision over and be the custodian of all death and cemetery records now owned or hereafter acquired by the city, and shall cause to be kept in books prepared for that purpose complete records of all deaths and births occurring in said city. They shall adopt such forms and regulations for the use of physicians and undertakers as in their judgment may be best calculated to secure reliable vital and mortality statistics in said city, and prevent the spread of contagious and infectious diseases. They shall have the power to prevent or forbid communication with infected families or houses, and, with the consent of the Mayor, may provide the necessary attendants and supplies for any pesthouse which may be in use.

SEC. 5. The City Council shall, by ordinance or otherwise, provide for enforcing such orders and regulations as the Board of Health may from time to time adopt; and all expenses necessarily incurred by the Board of Health in carrying out the provisions of law and this charter shall be provided for by the Board of Trustees, who are hereby authorized and directed to make an appropriation therefor out of the general fund.

SEC. 6. The Secretary shall see that the laws and ordinances of the city in relation to the public health and the regulations and orders of the Board of Health are properly enforced. He shall keep a full record of all the transactions of the Board of Health, as well as all records pertaining thereto, and issue all permits for burials, cremations or removals in or from any of the cemeteries of the city, and no interments or cremations shall be made therein, unless said Health Officer is satisfied of the correctness and reliability of the certificate of death, presented for his inspection. He shall have the power of a police officer, and shall make an extended annual report to the Board of Health of the affairs pertaining to his office, including mortuary and other statistics, with such observations and recommendations in relation to the sanitary conditions of the city as he may deem proper.

SEC. 7. The Health Officer shall visit, once in each quarter, all public buildings and school-houses in said city. During such visit he shall examine the manner in which they are lighted, ventilated and heated, and particularly as to their sanitary condition.

The Health Officer shall promptly report in writing to the superintendents or governing authorities of all schools, the name and residence of every person sick with cholera, smallpox, scarlatina, diphtheria, or any contagious or infectious disease. Said superintendents, when so notified, must refuse admittance to the schools of any member of the household, one or more of whose inmates are sick from any of the aforesaid diseases. The person excluded shall be admitted on presenting a certificate from his or her attending physician, countersigned by the Health Officer, or from the Health Officer, that there is no longer any danger from contagion. When a case of contagious disease is reported to the Health Officer, he may visit the premises where the person is, and when satisfied that said disease exists, he shall place a flag or conspicuous notice on said premises, which shall remain during the continuance of the disease on said premises.

The Health Officer may cause to be removed to a smallpox hospital any person in said city affected with smallpox. When a case of smallpox exists in any house, and the person so affected is not removed to said hospital or pesthouse, the Health Officer shall immediately place a quarantine flag on said premises, and may place a competent person in charge thereof, who shall see that a quarantine is strictly enforced so long as public safety requires.

Every member of the Board of Health may administer oaths on matters connected with the Health Department.

SEC. 8. The Health Officer shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the City Council. The other members of the board, appointed as in this charter provided, shall receive no compensation for their services.

ARTICLE 19.

ELECTIONS.

SECTION 1. Elections to be held in the city shall be either general or special.

SEC. 2. On the first Monday of April, nineteen hundred and one, and biennially thereafter, there shall be held in the city a general municipal election, at which shall be elected by the electors of the city the elective officers, provided for by this charter, who shall take office at noon on the first Monday of May after their election. The provisions of this section shall not apply to the members of the Board of Education, whose election is provided for in article sixteen of this charter.

SEC. 3. The provisions of the general law of the State governing municipal elections, where the same are held separate from the general State elections, are hereby adopted as the law governing city elections.

SEC. 4. The conduct and carrying on of all city elections shall be under the control of the City Council, and the Mayor and City Council shall, by ordinance, provide for the holding of all city elections, and may district and subdivide the municipality into municipal election precincts for the holding of municipal elections, and change and alter such precincts and redistrict the municipality for such elections as often as occasion may require. Unless the boundaries of the precincts shall be changed, as herein provided, they shall remain as fixed for the election of State and county officers at the last general election preceding the city election.

SEC. 5. At all city elections each of the election officers shall receive three dollars for his services.

SEC. 6. The provisions of the general laws of the State governing elections for State and county officers, not inconsistent with the provisions of this charter, shall govern city elections in matters for which no provision is made in this charter, and the City Council and City Clerk respectively shall exercise the powers and perform the duties conferred or imposed by such laws on Boards of Supervisors and County Clerks concerning elections.

SEC. 7. Every person who resides within the exterior boundaries of any of the municipal election precincts of the city at the time of the holding of any municipal election, and who was a qualified elector at the general State election immediately preceding such municipal election, and who, at the time of the holding of such general State election, was upon the Great Register of the County of Los Angeles as a qualified elector of any of the precincts which comprise such municipal election precinct, shall be entitled to vote at such municipal election without other or additional registration.

SEC. 8. All other persons claiming the right to vote at such municipal election must be registered upon the Great Register of the County of Los Angeles as an elector of and within one of the precincts comprising the municipal election precinct wherein he claims the right to vote, at least twenty-five days prior to such municipal election, and must reside within the exterior boundaries of such municipal election precinct at the time of the holding of such municipal election.

SEC. 9. The election returns from each municipal election precinct shall be filed with the City Clerk, who shall immediately place them in the safe or vault in the City Clerk's office, and no person shall be permitted to handle, inspect, examine, or in any manner interfere with the same until canvassed by the City Council. After having been canvassed, they shall be sealed up and kept by the City Clerk for six months; and no person shall have access to them, except on the order of a court of general jurisdiction.

SEC. 10. On the first Monday after the election and at their usual time and place of meeting, the City Council shall meet and canvass the returns and declare the result.

SEC. 11. After the result of an election is declared, or when an appointment is made, the City Clerk under his hand and official seal shall issue a certificate therefor and serve the same by depositing such certificate, with the postage prepaid, in the United States postoffice in Pasadena, addressed to the person elected or appointed, and such person must, within ten days after receiving such certificate, file his official bond, if a bond is required of him by this charter or the ordinances of the city, and take and subscribe to the oath of office required of him by this charter, which oath must be filed with the City Clerk.

ARTICLE 20.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

SECTION 1. In all cases where lands in the city shall hereafter be subdivided and laid out into blocks or lots, streets, and alleys or when new streets, alleys, or public places are laid out, opened, donated, or granted to the public, the map or plat thereof shall be submitted to the Council and the City Engineer for their approval, and if such Council and Engineer approve the same, such approval shall be indorsed upon said map or plat, the approval of the Council being evidenced by the certificate of the clerk thereof, and no street, alley, or public place hereafter opened and by such map or plat dedicated as such, shall become or be accepted by the Council as a public street, alley, or place or be subject to any public improvement, without such approval and endorsement.

SEC. 2. No Councilman or other city officer or employé shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in any contract in which the city is a party or which is made by any officer of the city in behalf of the city. And any such contract in which such Councilman, officer or employé is interested shall be void. Any violation of this section by any such Councilman, officer or employé shall be a misdemeanor and be punishable as such and upon conviction, the office of such Councilman, officer or employé shall be declared vacant by the Council. And such vacancy shall be filled as is herein provided for the filling of other vacancies.

SEC. 3. No recourse shall be had against the City of Pasadena for damage or loss to person or property suffered or sustained by reason of the defective condition of any sidewalk, street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or by reason of the defective condition of any sewer, or by reason of any defective drainage, whether any of said defects originally existed, or whether they were occasioned by construction, excavation or embankment; nor shall there be any recourse against the city for want of repair of any sidewalk, street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or for want of repair of any sewer, nor shall there be any recourse against the city for damage to person or property suffered or sustained by reason of accident on any sidewalk, street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or by the falling from any embankment thereon or into any excavation therein; but in any such case the person or persons on whom the law may have imposed the obligation to repair such defect in the sidewalk, street or public highway, or in the sewer, and also the officer or officers through whose official negligence such defect remains unrepaired shall be jointly and severally liable to the party injured for the damages sustained.

SEC. 4. In any action, suit, or proceeding in any court concerning an assessment of property or levy of taxes authorized by this charter, or the collection of such taxes, or in the proceedings consequent thereon, such assessment, levy, consequent proceeding, and all proceedings connected therewith, shall be presumed to be regularly and duly done or taken until the contrary is shown; and when any proceeding, matter, or thing is by this charter committed or left to the discretion of the Mayor or Council, or other authorities of the city, such discretion or judgment, when expressed or declared, is final, and cannot be reviewed or called in question elsewhere.

SEC. 5. In all prosecutions for violations of city ordinances, rules or other regulations, whether in the court of original jurisdiction or in any appellate court, it shall not be necessary to plead the contents of such ordinance, rule or regulation, but the court before which the prosecution is pending shall take judicial notice of such ordinance, rule, or regulation, and of the contents thereof; and in any civil action in which the city is a party either as plaintiff or defendant the adoption and contents of any ordinance, rule, or regulation of said city may be prima facie proven by the introduction of the original entry thereof on the journal of the proceedings of the Council, or by a copy of such entry certified to by the City Clerk under the seal of the city to be a full, true, and correct copy of such original entry.

SEC. 6. The fiscal year of the city shall begin on the first day of July of each year and end on the thirtieth day of June following.

SEC. 7. All ordinances and resolutions of the city and all regulations or rules prescribed by or for the government of any of its departments, officers, or employés, which are in force at the time of the taking effect of this charter and which are not inconsistent therewith, shall continue in force until altered, amended, or repealed.

SEC. 8. All rights, actions, proceedings, prosecutions, and contracts of the city or any of its departments or officers in progress, begun, or in existence at the time of the taking effect of this charter, and not inconsistent therewith are hereby preserved, and shall continue to be valid and the same shall be enforced, continued, or completed in all respects as though vested or begun hereunder.

SEC. 9. In all matters pertaining to municipal affairs, concerning which special provision is not made in this charter, the general laws of the State in force at the time are hereby declared to be, and shall be, a part of this charter so far as the same are or may be applicable to the class of cities to which this municipality may belong.

SEC. 10. Whenever the word "city" occurs in this charter it means the City of Pasadena, and whenever any department, board, or officer is mentioned in this charter it means such department, board, or officer, as the case may be, of the City of Pasadena.

SEC. 11. The Board of Trustees of the City of Pasadena, in office at the time this charter is approved by the Legislature, shall provide for the holding of the first election of officers under this charter, shall canvass the votes, declare the result, and approve the bonds of all officers elected at such election.

SEC. 12. The officers of the city in office at the time of the approval of this charter by the Legislature shall continue to hold office and discharge their duties until the first Monday in May, nineteen hundred and one. The School Trustees of the Pasadena City School District in office at the time of the approval of this charter by the Legislature shall continue to hold office and discharge their duties until the election and qualification of the members of the first Board of Education elected under this charter.

SEC. 13. No person shall be appointed to, or removed from, any office under this charter because of his political or religious opinions. In making appointments the appointive power shall consider only the good of the public service and the fitness of the appointee for and his ability to discharge the duties of the office to which he is appointed.

SEC. 14. This charter shall go into effect for all election purposes on the day of its adoption by the Legislature, and for all other purposes, unless otherwise herein provided, on the first Monday of May, nineteen hundred and one.

ARTICLE 21.

AMENDMENTS.

SECTION 1. This charter may be amended at intervals of not less than two years, by proposals therefor, submitted by the City Council to the qualified electors of the city, at a general or special election held at least forty days after the publication of such proposals for twenty days in a daily newspaper of general circulation in such city, and ratified by at least three fifths of the qualified electors voting thereat, and approved by the Legislature, as provided in the Constitution of the State of California for the approval of this charter in the first instance. In submitting such proposals alternative propositions may be presented for the choice of the voters, and may be voted on separately without prejudice to the others.

SEC. 2. The proposals for the amendment of this charter referred to in the preceding section may be submitted by the City Council on its own motion, but must be submitted by the City Council in the manner provided in said section, whenever a petition is presented to such Council, signed by a number of the qualified electors of the city equal to thirty per centum of the votes cast at the preceding general city election, asking that an amendment or amendments to this charter to be set out in such petition be submitted to the vote of the electors of the city. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each paper shall make oath, before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements made therein are true and that each signature to such paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereto subscribed.

SEC. 3. The City Council must make all necessary provisions for submitting the proposed amendment or amendments to the electors, and shall canvass the votes in the same manner as in other elections.

SEC. 4. The tickets used at such elections shall contain the words "For the amendment" (stating the nature of the proposed amendment) and "Against the amendment" (stating the nature of the proposed amendment).

CERTIFICATE.

WHEREAS, The City of Pasadena, a city containing a population of more than three thousand five hundred inhabitants, did, on the eleventh day of May, A. D. 1900, at a special election, and under and in accordance with the provisions of section eight, article eleven, of the Constitution of the State of California, elect the undersigned a board of fifteen freeholders, to prepare and propose a charter for said city;

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3.

Concurrent Resolution approving the Charter of the City of Fresno, County of Fresno, State of California, voted for and ratified by the qualified electors of said city at a special election held therein for that purpose on the nineteenth day of October, A. D. one thousand eight hundred ninety-nine

WHEREAS, The City of Fresno, in the County of Fresno, State of California, is now and at all times herein mentioned has been a city containing a population of more than ten thousand inhabitants; and

WHEREAS, At the regular city election held therein on the tenth day of April, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, according to law and to the provisions of section eight of article eleven of the Constitution of the State of California, a board of fifteen freeholders, duly qualified, was elected in and by said city and by the qualified voters thereof, to prepare and propose a charter for said city; which board of freeholders did, within ninety days after said election, prepare, propose, and frame a charter for the government of said city; and whereas the same was on the thirtieth day of June, A. D. one thousand eight hundred ninety-nine, signed in duplicate by a majority of the said board of freeholders; and said charter was thereupon and by said board of freeholders, returned, one copy to the chairman of the Board of Trustees of said city, and the chief executive officer thereof, and the other copy to the County Recorder of the said County of Fresno, the same being the county in which said city is situate; and whereas, said charter was published in two daily newspapers of general circulation in said city, to wit: in the "Fresno Morning Republican" and in "The Fresno Evening Democrat," in each instance for more than twenty days after such return, such publication having been commenced within twenty days after the completion of said proposed charter; and whereas, said charter was submitted within not less than thirty days after the completion of said publication by the legislative authority of said city, to wit: by the Board of Trustees thereof, to the qualified electors of said city, at a special election previously duly called, and thereafter held therein on the nineteenth day of October, A. D. one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine; and whereas, at the special election last aforesaid, a majority of the qualified electors of said city voting thereat, did vote in favor of and ratify said charter so framed and proposed, and the same is now hereby submitted to the legislature of the State of California for its approval or rejection as a whole, as provided for in section eight of article eleven aforesaid; and whereas, the said charter so ratified is in the words and figures as follows, to wit:

CHARTER FOR THE CITY OF FRESNO.

ARTICLE I.

OF BOUNDARIES, RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES.

SECTION 1. The municipal corporation, now existing, known as the City of Fresno, shall remain and continue a body politic and corporate, in name and in fact, by the name of the City of Fresno, and by that name shall have perpetual succession; may sue and defend in all courts and places, and in all matters and proceedings whatever; and may have and use a common seal, and the same alter at pleasure; and may purchase, receive, hold and enjoy real and personal property, within and without the City of Fresno, and sell, convey and dispose of the same for the common benefit; and may determine and declare what are public uses, and when the necessity exists of condemning lands therefor, and what are the lands it is necessary to condemn; and may receive bequests, gifts and donations of all kinds of property, within and without the city, in fee simple or in trust for charitable or other purposes, and do all acts necessary to carry out the purposes of such bequests, gifts and donations, with power to manage, sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same in accordance with the terms of the gift, bequest or trust.

SEC. 2. The public buildings, lands and property, all rights of property, and rights of action, all moneys, revenues, and income belonging or appertaining to the City of Fresno, are hereby declared to be vested in said City of Fresno.

SEC. 3. The said City of Fresno shall continue under this charter, to have, hold, use, and enjoy all public buildings belonging to the City of Fresno, and lands and property, real and personal, rights of property, rights of action, suits, actions, moneys, revenues, income, books, documents, records, archives, claims, demands, and things in possession and action, of every nature and description, and shall be subject to all the obligations, debts, liabilities, dues, and duties of the existing municipality.

SEC. 4. Suits, actions and proceedings may be brought in the name of the City of Fresno for the recovery of any property, money, or thing, belonging thereto, in law or equity, or dedicated to public use by the city, or for the enforcement of any rights of, or contracts with, said City of Fresno, whether made or arising or accruing before or after the adoption of this charter; and all existing suits, actions, and proceedings in the courts or elsewhere, to which said city is a party, shall continue to be carried on by or against the said City of Fresno.

SEC. 5. No recourse shall be had against the city for damage or loss to person or property suffered or sustained by reason of the defective condition of any sidewalk, street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or by reason of the defective condition of any sewer, or by reason of any defective drainage, whether any of said defects originally existed, or whether they were occasioned by construction, excavation or embankment; nor shall there be any recourse against the city for want of repair of any sidewalk, street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or by want of repair of any sewer; nor shall there be any recourse against the city for damage to person or property suffered or sustained by reason of accident on any sidewalk, street, avenue, lane, alley, court or place, or by falling from any embankment thereon or into any excavation therein; but in any such case the person or persons on whom the law may have imposed the obligation to repair such defect in the sidewalk, street or public highway, or in the sewer, and also the officer or officers through whose official negligence such defect remains unrepaired shall, with their sureties, be jointly and severally liable to the party injured for the damage sustained.

Boundaries.

SEC. 6. The boundaries of the City of Fresno are as follows:

Commencing at the southeast corner of section three, township fourteen south, range twenty east, Mount Diablo base and meridian; thence north to the northeast corner of said section; thence west to the northwest corner of section four in said township and range; thence south to the southwest corner of the northwest quarter of said section four; thence west to the northwest corner of the east half of the southeast quarter of section five in said township and range; thence south to the southwest corner of the east half of the southeast quarter of section eight of said township and range; thence east to the southeast corner of the west half of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section ten in said township and range; thence north to the northeast corner of the west half of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of said section ten; thence west to the southeast corner of the northwest quarter of the southeast quarter of said section ten; thence north to the northeast corner of the west half of the northeast quarter of said section ten; thence east to the point of beginning.

Said boundaries include all of sections three, four and nine; the west half; the west half of the northeast quarter; the west half of the southeast quarter and the west half of the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section ten; the east half of the southeast quarter of section five; the east half of the east half of section eight; all in township fourteen south, range twenty east, Mount Diablo base and meridian.

Wards.

SEC. 7. The City of Fresno is hereby divided into eight wards, numbered consecutively from one to eight inclusive, as follows:

All that portion of the city bounded by the centers of Magnolia avenue, Trinity, Calaveras and "N" streets and Glenn avenue, and the north and west boundary lines of the city shall constitute the first ward.

All that portion of the city bounded by the centers of Magnolia avenue, Trinity, Calaveras, "M" and Fresno streets and the west boundary line of the city shall constitute the second ward.

All that portion of the city bounded by the centers of Glenn avenue, "N," Calaveras, "M," Fresno, "Q" and Diana streets and the north boundary line of the city shall constitute the third ward.

All that portion of the city lying southwest of the center of "M" street and between the centers of Fresno and Tulare streets shall constitute the fourth ward.

All that portion of the city bounded by the centers of Diana, "Q" Fresno, "M," Tulare and Angus streets and the north boundary line of the city shall constitute the fifth ward.

All that portion of the city southwest of the centers of "K" street and between the centers of Tulare street and Ventura avenue shall constitute the sixth ward.

All that portion of the city bounded by the centers of Angus, Tulare and "K" streets, the center of Ventura avenue and the east and north boundary lines of the city shall constitute the seventh ward.

All that portion of the city southeast of the center of Ventura avenue shall constitute the eighth ward.

ARTICLE II.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 10. The legislative power of the city shall be vested in a Board of Trustees. Each member of the Board of Trustees shall be at least twenty five years of age. A new Board of Trustees shall be elected every four years, and shall consist of eight members, to be nominated and selected from the respective wards and elected by the city at large. The nominee in each ward receiving the highest number of votes for Trustee shall be declared elected.

SEC. 11. Any vacancy occurring in the office of Trustee shall be filled by appointment by the Mayor, and the person so appointed by him shall possess the qualifications hereinbefore prescribed for members of said board, and shall hold office until the election and qualification of a Trustee to fill the vacancy, which election shall take place at the next succeeding municipal election.

SEC. 12. The Board of Trustees shall meet on the first Monday next after the election of its members shall have been officially declared, and shall hold regular meetings on every first and third Monday monthly thereafter.

SEC. 13. Special meetings may be called by the Mayor or three members of the Board of Trustees. Five members of the board shall constitute a quorum, and the affirmative vote of five members shall be necessary for the passage of an ordinance, or the final transaction of any business; but a less number than five may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as the board may prescribe.

SEC. 14. The Mayor shall preside at all meetings of the Board of Trustees. The Board of Trustees shall establish rules for its proceedings. It shall have the power to punish its members for disorderly conduct in its presence; and may expel any member for malfeasance in office by an affirmative vote of seven of its members. The board shall also have the power to compel the attendance of witnesses, and the production of all papers relating to any business before that body, and may punish disobedience of its subpoena, or contemptuous or disorderly conduct committed in its presence, by fine not exceeding fifty dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding five days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 15. The Mayor and the chairman of each committee of the board shall have the power to administer oaths and affirmations relating to any business brought before the board or under consideration by any committee thereof.

SEC. 16. No ordinance shall be revised or amended by reference only to its title, but when any ordinance is amended, the section or sections thereof so amended shall be re-enacted at length as amended.

SEC. 17. Every ordinance shall embrace but one subject, which shall be clearly indicated in the title. In all cases where the subject is not so expressed in the title, the ordinance shall be void as to the matter not expressed in the title.

SEC. 18. No proposed ordinance shall be adopted except by vote taken by ayes and noes, and the names be entered in the minutes.

SEC. 19. No resolution granting any franchise, and no ordinance for any purpose shall be passed by the Board of Trustees on the day of its introduction, nor within five days thereafter, nor until it has been published at least once in a newspaper published in the City of Fresno, or printed and posted in at least three public places therein, nor at any other than a regular meeting or an adjourned regular meeting, and no such resolution and no ordinance shall be passed without being first submitted to and its legal form approved in writing by the City Attorney.

SEC. 20. No ordinance shall be passed except by bill. Every bill, after it has passed the board, shall be signed by the Mayor. The Mayor shall return such bill to the board, or file the same with the City Clerk, within ten days after receiving it. If he sign the same it shall then become an ordinance, but if he disapprove the bill he shall state his objections thereto in writing. If the bill be not returned with such approval or disapproval within the time specified, it shall take effect as if he had approved the same.

SEC. 21. When a bill is returned without the approval of the Mayor, the board shall, within fifteen days thereafter, proceed to consider and vote on the same. If the bill be again passed by an affirmative vote of not less than six members, it shall take effect as if the Mayor had approved the same. If the bill fail on being reconsidered to receive six affirmative votes, it shall then be finally lost. The votes shall be taken by ayes and noes, and the result shall be entered in the minutes of the board.

SEC. 22. No ordinance passed by the board shall take effect until ten days after its passage and approval, unless otherwise provided in the enactment.

SEC. 23. The Board of Trustees shall, in the year 1902, and every tenth year thereafter, redistrict the city into eight wards, making the same as nearly equal in population, and as geographically compact, as possible; but the city shall not be so redistricted within ninety days previous to any municipal election.

SEC. 24. The enacting clause of all ordinances shall be in these words: "The Board of Trustees of the City of Fresno do ordain as follows."

SEC. 25. Except as otherwise herein provided, no contract for supplies, printing, advertising, stationery, maintenance of prisoners, water, fuel, street sprinkling, street repairs, or lighting streets, public buildings, places or offices, shall be made for a longer period than one year; nor shall any contract be made to pay for water, fuel, gas, electric lights or any other illuminating material at a higher rate than is charged to any other customer.

SEC. 26. No contract calling for the payment of more than one hundred dollars shall be effective unless authorized by a vote of the Board of Trustees; when any contract shall be so authorized it shall, before it becomes effective, be presented to the Mayor for his approval; and the Mayor shall return the same to the board, or to the clerk thereof, within five days after receiving it. If he sign the same it shall then become a contract, but if he disapprove it, he shall state his objections thereto in writing. If the proposed contract be not returned with such approval or disapproval within said five days, it shall become valid as if he had approved the same. When a proposed contract is returned without the approval of the Mayor, the Board of Trustees shall, within ten days thereafter, proceed to consider and vote on the same. If it be again authorized by an affirmative vote of not less than six members, it shall become a valid contract of the city the same as if the Mayor had signed it, and not otherwise. The vote shall be taken by ayes and noes, and the result shall be entered in the minutes of the board.

SEC. 27. Every officer of the city shall, at the end of each month, make, in writing, and furnish to the Board of Trustees, a full and detailed statement upon oath of all moneys received or disbursed by him, and of his other official transactions during said month. He shall also make like statements at such other time as the Board of Trustees may require.

SEC. 28. The Board of Trustees shall have power:

First—Except as in this charter otherwise provided—to try, and by majority vote of all the members of the board, to remove from office appointees against whom charges have been preferred; and by not less than seven affirmative votes to remove any appointee at any time when in the judgment of the board the public service will be improved thereby.

Second—To make by-laws and ordinances not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States or of the State of California, or any of the provisions of this charter.

Third—To levy and collect taxes and assessments on all property within the city, both real and personal, made taxable by law for state or county purposes, as hereinafter provided and limited.

Fourth—To sell, use, lease, control, improve and take care of the real estate and personal property of the city; provided, however, that said board shall have no power to mortgage or hypothecate any property of said city for any purpose.

Fifth—To lay out, extend, alter or close streets and alleys; provide for the grading, draining, cleaning, repairing, widening, lighting, or otherwise permanently improving the same, and for the construction, repair, regulation and preservation of sidewalks, bridges, drains, curbs, gutters and sewers, and to prevent or remove obstructions thereto or to any part thereof, and to provide for the numbering of houses.

Sixth—To regulate or exclude the landing and storage of gunpowder and other combustible materials.

Seventh—To determine what are nuisances, and prevent and remove the same.

Eighth—To regulate the maintenance of acid works, slaughter-houses, wash-houses, laundries, tanneries, offensive trades, and all other manufactories, works, store houses and business of every description that may endanger the public safety, health or comfort, and to restrict the prosecution thereof to such fixed limits as may seem proper, or exclude such works and business from the city.

Ninth—To fix and collect license taxes on and to regulate theaters, melodeons, balls, concerts, dances, and all theatrical and melodeon performances and performances of any kind for which an admission fee is charged, or which may be held in any house where wines or liquors are sold, circuses, shows, billiard tables, bowling alleys, and all exhibitions and amusements. To fix and collect a license tax on all taverns, hotels, restaurants, saloons, bar-rooms, bankers, brokers, gold dust buyers, manufacturers, livery stable keepers, express companies and persons engaged in transmitting letters or packages, railroad and stage companies, or owners, whose principal place of business is in said city, or who shall have an agency therein; to license and regulate auctioneers; to license, tax, regulate, prohibit or suppress all tippling houses, dram shops, saloons, bars, bar-rooms, raffles, hawkers, peddlers, pawnbrokers, refreshment or coffee stands, booths and sheds; to prohibit and suppress all dog-fights, prize-fights, cock-fights, bull or bear or badger baits; also, to prohibit or suppress all gaming and all gambling or disorderly houses; also, to regulate, prohibit or suppress all houses of ill-fame; also, to fix and collect a license tax upon all lawful professions, trades or business not heretofore specified.

Tenth—To provide and maintain all public buildings, parks or squares necessary or proper for the use of the city, within or without the limits of the same.

Eleventh—To provide and maintain a morgue.

Twelfth—To prevent and restrain any riot or riotous assemblage or disorderly conduct within said city, or on property owned or leased by it.

Thirteenth—To establish and regulate markets.

Fourteenth—To provide for conducting elections and appointing the necessary election officers.

Fifteenth—To fix, alter and change the route of any railroad in the city, and regulate the speed at which the cars may run within the city limits, or any portion thereof.

Sixteenth—To examine, either in open session, or by committee or commission, books, papers, vouchers, reports, and statements, of the several officers, or of any other person having custody, care, management, collection, disbursement, or control, of any moneys or property belonging, appertaining or appropriated to the city, or either of its funds, trusts or uses.

Seventeenth—To license hackney coaches, cabs, omnibuses, drays, and other vehicles used for hire, and to regulate their stands and rates of fare, and to license or suppress runners for taverns or hotels.

Eighteenth—To examine and liquidate all accounts against the city, and to allow or reject the same or any part thereof, as found legal or illegal.

Nineteenth—To make appropriations, examine and audit, reject or allow, the accounts of all officers or other persons having the care, management, collection, or disbursement of any money collected for, belonging, appertaining or appropriated to the city, or any of its uses or trusts, and to determine, allow and pay the salary, fees or percentage which such officer or other person may by law be entitled to receive, except as otherwise herein provided; to make contracts and agreements for the use and benefit of the city, such contracts and agreements in all cases to specify the fund or funds out of which payment for the same is to be made, and that the same shall be paid out of the moneys appropriated to such fund or funds for the fiscal year. In no case shall a liability be created or a warrant drawn against any fund beyond the actual amount of money existing in such fund wherewith to meet the same; provided, however, should the board, or a majority thereof, contract or create any debt against the city contrary to the provisions of this charter, such debt, claim or obligation shall be null and void as against the city or any of its funds; but every Trustee voting in favor of the contracting or creation of any such illegal debt shall be held personally responsible for the entire debt so created or contracted, and shall be deemed guilty of a malfeasance in office, and upon conviction shall be removed therefrom.

Twentieth—To control, enlarge and improve or abolish the cemeteries belonging to the city, and to acquire other cemeteries, and to sell or lease lots therein; to control and regulate interments, and prohibit them within the city limits.

Twenty-first—To establish fire limits and prevent the erection of wooden buildings therein; to regulate the construction of buildings, sheds, awnings and signs.

Twenty-second—To provide for supplying the city with water, and to regulate the sale and distribution thereof.

Twenty-third—To provide for lighting the public streets, alleys, public buildings and public grounds, and to construct, purchase, lease, own, control, maintain and operate a system of lighting by artificial gas, natural gas, electricity or other means of illumination.

Twenty-fourth—To provide and maintain a city prison, and for the care, feeding, working and clothing of the city prisoners.

Twenty-fifth—To make real estate in said city liable for the construction of sidewalks, crossings and all other street improvements adjacent thereto, and provide for the forced sale thereof for such purposes.

Twenty-sixth—To prevent or regulate the running at large of any animals; to establish a pound and to authorize the destruction, sale or impounding of any animals found running at large.

Twenty-seventh—To regulate or prohibit the use of steam boilers, gas engines, the location of telegraph, telephone, electric light and other poles and wires, and the construction of entrances to cellars and basements from sidewalks.

Twenty-eighth—To regulate the entrances to and exits from theaters, lecture-rooms, public halls and churches and the number and construction of such entrances and exits, and to prohibit the placing of chairs, stools, benches or other obstacles in the aisles of such buildings.

Twenty-ninth—To regulate and control the construction and maintenance of, and to grant the right to construct and maintain, subject to control by the board, pipes, tubes, conduits, signal bells, warning signs, wires and other electric, telegraph and mechanical appliances, in, along, over, under and across the streets; provided, that said appliances shall be so constructed and placed as not to interfere with the fire alarm system, nor with the extinguishing of fires, nor with the free use of the sidewalks and streets. Also to require railroad companies either to station flagmen or to place sufficient warning signals or signal bells on such street crossings as may in the judgment of the board be necessary. To construct or require any railroad corporation operating a railroad in or through the city to construct all necessary and convenient bridges or crossings over or under such railroad track or tracks, and according to plans and specifications and directions therefor provided by resolution or ordinance of the Board of Trustees; and to require to be opened and maintained by any railroad company or corporation operating, maintaining and conducting any railroad through any portion of said city, all such street crossings as may now exist or that public convenience may require, in the judgment of the Board of Trustees of said city; and by resolution or ordinance compel the opening of said crossings, and the maintenance and repair thereof as directed and required; and to prohibit the obstruction of any and all street crossings.

Thirtieth—To grant franchises permitting any person, company or corporation to lay and maintain tracks and to pass with steam railroads along, upon and across or elevated above or placed below any street of the city; provided, that the free use of such street shall not be unnecessarily obstructed thereby; and provided, further, that any such franchise shall be granted only after notice published for thirty days in a daily newspaper published in the city, and by ordinance passed by the affirmative votes of not less than six members of the board. Such grants shall be without prejudice to the rights of non-consenting owners to compensation for damages.

Thirty-first—To grant franchises for a term not exceeding twenty-five years for the construction and operation of street railways on and along the streets of the city, upon the following terms, viz: Whenever the Board of Trustees shall determine that a franchise to construct and operate a street railway along and upon any of the streets of the city should be granted, the board shall, after such determination, cause notice to be published for ten days in a daily newspaper published in the city, specifying the route over and along which it is determined to grant such franchise, and shall offer to grant the same to the person, company or corporation that shall agree to pay to the City of Fresno, at the expiration of ten years after the franchise is granted, and thereafter semi-annually, the largest per centum of the gross receipts of such road; provided, that all grants of franchises for street railways shall be upon condition that single fares on such road shall not exceed five cents, and that only such rails as are of the most approved pattern shall be made use of in the construction of the road. The board may, in the granting of such franchise, impose such further regulations and restrictions in the use thereof as to the board may appear expedient, and the board may also reject any and all bids, and refuse to grant any franchise for the proposed route; provided, further, that the board shall not grant any franchise for the construction of a street railway except upon conditions that at least one per cent. of the gross receipts of such railway shall be paid to the city each year after the expiration of ten years from the granting of the franchise.

Thirty-second—To require every railroad company to keep the streets in repair between the tracks, and along and within the distance of two feet upon each side of the tracks occupied by the company.

Thirty-third—To require, upon such notice as the board may direct, any lots or portion of lots within the city which may be covered with stagnant water a portion of the year, to be filled up to such level or grade as will prevent the same from being so covered, and to assess the cost of such filling upon such real estate, and provide that it shall be a lien thereon; and to require and provide that the owners of lots fronting on any street or sidewalk of the city shall at all times keep such sidewalks free from weeds, grass and rubbish and other obstructions; and to remove all rubbish and unsightly matter from their property.

Thirty-fourth—To make all needful rules to govern the official conduct and duties of all officers and employes of the city whose duties are not defined by this charter, and to impose additional duties upon those whose duties are stated; and to fix and regulate the charges and fees of all such officers where the fees are not otherwise fixed, and to compel the payment of all such charges and fees into the city treasury.

Thirty-fifth—To prescribe fines, forfeitures and penalties for the breach of an ordinance and for the violation of any provision of this charter; but no penalty shall exceed the amount of three hundred dollars, or ninety days' imprisonment, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Thirty-sixth—To authorize the Mayor to employ, in addition to the City Attorney, an attorney at law to prosecute and defend the interest or property rights of the City of Fresno, or any question involving the rights of the inhabitants thereof in any suit pending or to be brought for or against the said city; and to provide for the employment and compensation of said attorney in any such suit or action; provided that where such compensation exceeds the sum of two hundred dollars, such employment or contract must be approved by the Board of Trustees.

Thirty-seventh—To make all rules and regulations necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested in the board by this charter or by general laws.

Thirty-eighth—To make and enforce all such other local, police, sanitary, and other regulations as are not in conflict with general laws or the provisions of this charter.

Thirty-ninth—To provide for the erection and construction of necessary levees, waterways, and other structures within or without the city, where necessary to prevent the overflow of said city by water, and to provide for the payment of the cost thereof.

ARTICLE III.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

The Mayor.

Sec. 30. There shall be a Mayor, who shall be the chief executive officer of the city. He shall be at least thirty-two years of age.

Sec. 31. He shall vigilantly observe the official conduct of all public officers, and take note of the fidelity and exactitude, or the want thereof, with which they execute their duties and obligations, especially in the collection, administration and disbursement of the public funds and property; and the books, records and official papers of all departments, boards, officers and persons in the employ or service of the city, shall at all times be open to his inspection and examination. He shall take special care to see that the books and records of the said departments, boards, officers and persons are kept in legal and proper form; and any official defalcation or willful neglect of duty, or official misconduct which he may discover or which shall be reported to him, shall be laid by him before the Board of Trustees, City Attorney or District Attorney, in order that the public interests may be protected, and the person in default be proceeded against according to law.

One—He shall, from time to time, give the Board of Trustees information in writing relative to the state of the city, and shall recommend such measures as he may deem beneficial to its interest.

Two—He shall see that the laws of the state, the provisions of this charter, and the ordinances of the city are observed and enforced.

Three—He shall appoint a competent person, or persons, expert in matters of book-keeping and accounts, to examine the books, records, condition and affairs of every department, board or officer, and report fully thereon, in writing, to him at least once in every year, and to enforce such examination. Any person refusing to submit to or permit such examination, or purposely delaying or impeding the same, must be suspended from office by the Mayor, and may be removed as for malfeasance in office.

Four—He shall have a general supervision over all departments and public institutions of the city, and see that they are honestly, economically and lawfully conducted.

Five—He shall take all proper measures for the preservation of public order and the suppression of all riots and tumults, for which purpose he is authorized and empowered to use and command the police force; and if such police force is insufficient, it shall be his duty to call upon the citizens, or the Governor for military aid, in the manner provided by law, in order that such riots or tumults may be properly and effectually suppressed.

SEC. 32. The Mayor shall preside at all meetings of the Board of Trustees, and shall be entitled to vote only on questions coming before said board when the votes of said Trustees are evenly divided.

SEC. 33. The Mayor shall sign all warrants ordered drawn by the Board of Trustees; and shall sign all written contracts entered into by said city, on behalf of the city. All of said contracts shall be executed in duplicate, one copy thereof delivered to the party contracting with the city, and the other filed in the office of the City Clerk for future reference.

SEC. 34. The Mayor shall sign all conveyances made by said city, and is authorized to acknowledge the execution of all instruments executed by said city, that require to be acknowledged.

SEC. 35. He shall, at least once a month, together with the Clerk and City Attorney, count the cash in the city treasury and see that it corresponds with the books of the Treasurer and Clerk, and report the result of such count to the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 36. He shall see that all contracts and agreements with the city are faithfully kept and fully performed; and to that end shall cause legal proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted in the name of the city against all persons or corporations failing to fulfill their agreements or contracts, either in whole or in part. He shall have the general supervision of all city officers, elected or appointed; he shall have power to suspend any elective city officer (except a member of the Board of Trustees) for a dereliction, neglect or non-performance of duty, and shall report the same to the Board of Trustees. If the board, after a hearing, by affirmative vote of at least six members, approve of the suspension, they shall declare the office vacant, or continue the suspension for such time as they may deem proper, and such vacancy shall be filled by the Mayor, subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 37. When and so long as the Mayor is temporarily unable to perform his official duties, the Board of Trustees shall elect one of their number to act as Mayor pro tempore. When a vacancy occurs in the office of Mayor it shall be filled for the unexpired term by the Board of Trustees assembled for the purpose. A member of the Board of Trustees, during the term for which he shall have been elected or appointed, shall be ineligible to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 38. The Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees, shall appoint all officers of the city whose election or appointment is not otherwise provided for in this charter or by law. When a nomination is made to the board action shall be taken thereon by the board in not less than five nor more than fifteen days thereafter; and in case the officer nominated is not confirmed, the Mayor shall, within ten days thereafter, nominate another, and may continue doing so until the place is filled. No member of the Board of Trustees shall ever suggest, request the appointment of, appoint, or nominate, any officer, clerk or employé to any place in the city government, except to fill a vacancy in the office of Mayor or City Clerk, and necessary election officers.

SEC. 39. The Mayor shall not, during the term for which he shall have been elected, hold any other office or be a member of any board or commission connected with the federal, state, county or city government, except as in this charter otherwise provided. Nor shall he ever receive from the city, for any cause or reason, any other or greater compensation than the salary allowed him by this charter as Mayor.

SEC. 40. The Mayor shall perform all such other duties as may be prescribed by law or ordinance.

City Clerk.

SEC. 41. There shall be a City Clerk who shall have the custody of and be responsible for the corporate seal, and all books, papers, records and archives belonging to the city not in actual use by other officers or elsewhere by special provision committed to their custody; he shall be present at each meeting of the Board of Trustees, and keep a record of its proceedings; he shall keep separate books in which, respectively, he shall record all ordinances, contracts, and official bonds; he shall keep all of his books properly indexed and open to public inspection when not in actual use; he shall make out, sign and deliver to the collector, charging him therewith and taking his receipt therefor, all licenses and receipts for water rates; he shall number and keep a record of all demands passed by the board, showing the date of approval, amount and name of original holder, the number, on what account, and out of what fund payable. It shall be his duty to be constantly acquainted with the exact condition of the treasury. He shall, on application of any person indebted to the city, holding money payable into the city treasury, or desiring to pay money therein, certify to the Treasurer the amount thereof, to what fund applicable, and by whom to be paid. He shall, upon the written order of the Treasurer directing him to issue a receipt for money paid into the city treasury, charge the Treasurer with the amount received by him and give the person paying the same a receipt therefor. It shall be his duty to apportion among the several funds all public money at any time in the city treasury not by law or ordinance specifically apportioned and appropriated, and forthwith notify the Treasurer of such apportionment or appropriation. He shall countersign and deliver to the proper officer all licenses and receipts for water rates, charging them therewith and taking their receipts therefor.

SEC. 42. He shall, on the first Monday of each month or oftener if required, report in writing to the Mayor, and likewise to the Board of Trustees, the condition of each fund in the treasury. He shall keep a complete set of books for the city, in which shall be set forth in a plain and business-like manner, every money transaction of the city, so that he can at any time tell the exact condition of the city's finances. He shall make a semi-annual report showing the sources from which the city's revenues were derived and how expended. He shall draw and sign all warrants upon the treasury, except as otherwise in this charter provided. Every demand must, before it can be paid, be verified by the oath of the claimant, or some one in his behalf and be presented to the Clerk for approval, who shall satisfy himself whether the money is legally due and remains unpaid, and whether the payment thereof from the treasury of the city is authorized by law, and if so out of what fund, and that there is sufficient money in such fund with which to pay the same. After such examination he shall approve or reject the claim, in whole or in part, and endorse on such demand his approval or rejection over his signature, together with the date thereof. If it be approved, the fund out of which it is to be paid shall be designated. If the claim be rejected, or any part of it, unless the party presenting it be willing to take in full of the entire demand the sum offered, the Clerk shall return it, with his reasons for rejecting it, to the board or other body which originally authorized it; then if it be allowed by a majority vote of all the members of the board, or other body authorizing it, and approved by the Mayor, it shall be audited in the same manner as if it had not been rejected; provided, the said board or other body had the authority to make the expenditure out of which the claim arose. No demand upon the city treasury shall be considered, presented for action, or acted upon, allowed or approved, unless it specify on its face each several item composing it, and the amount and date thereof. Every demand shall be numbered and acted upon by the Clerk in the order of its presentation to him; and when allowed, either in whole or in part, the warrant therefor shall be numbered and entitled to payment out of the fund on which it is drawn in the same order as allowed. No demand upon the treasury shall be allowed by the Clerk in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, who is in any manner indebted to the city, without first deducting therefrom the amount of such indebtedness; nor in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, having the collection, care, custody or control of public funds, unless the accounts of such officer or other person have been presented, passed, approved and allowed as is or may be required by law; nor in favor of any officer or other person, or his assigns, who has neglected to make any oath required by law or ordinance, or other regulation of the Board of Trustees; nor in favor of any officer, or his assigns, who has failed, to the knowledge of the Clerk, to do any duty imposed upon him by law or ordinance, or other regulation of the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 43. He shall keep publicly posted in his office a list of all persons receiving salaries or wages from the city, with the amount of monthly salary or wages received by each opposite his name, which list shall be revised and corrected by him monthly, and perform such other duties as are or shall be imposed upon him by this charter or by ordinance; he shall devote his entire time to the duties of his office; he shall have power to take affidavits and administer oaths in all matters relating to the business of the city and shall make no charge therefor.

License Collector.

SEC. 44. The Chief of Police shall be ex officio License Collector. It shall be the duty of the License Collector to receive and collect all city licenses, water rates, cemetery receipts, and such other branches of the city revenue not otherwise herein provided for as the Board of Trustees may by ordinance direct, and pay the same over to the Treasurer weekly. The time and manner of collection of licenses shall be provided by the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 45. Whenever any person required by any city ordinance to take out a license shall fail, neglect, or refuse to take out such license, and pay therefor in the manner and at the time in such ordinance provided; or, if any person so required to take out any license, shall transact, do or carry on any business, trade or occupation, without having first procured the requisite license for such trading or carrying on, the License Collector shall report such delinquent to the City Attorney, who shall at once bring suit in the name of the city, against the delinquent; and in such case the License Collector or City Attorney may make the necessary affidavit, as in other cases, for an attachment, and a writ of attachment shall issue, upon the filing of the affidavit, against the property of such delinquent, without an undertaking being filed by or on behalf of the city; and in such action the sum of fifteen dollars—ten dollars of which shall be paid to the City Attorney for services in prosecuting said action, and five dollars to the License Collector for reporting the same—shall be included in the judgment as liquidated damages, together with the original debt and costs of the action: provided, however, nothing in this section shall authorize the court, officer, or any other person whomsoever, to make any claim or charge against the city for any services rendered in or about any such action; and provided further, that in any such suit no witness for the plaintiff shall be entitled to demand or receive any witness fees or mileage in advance, nor shall any witness be entitled to charge or receive any fees or mileage whatever unless the same be recovered as costs from the defendant; and provided further, that any person who shall commence or continue to do, transact or carry on any business, trade, profession, or calling, for which a license may by any ordinance be required to be taken out, without first procuring such license, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in any sum not less than ten dollars nor more than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned for not less than five nor more than fifty days. Upon the trial of any criminal action provided for by this section, the defendant shall be deemed not to have procured the proper license, unless he either produce it or prove that he did procure it; but he may plead in bar of the criminal action a recovery against him and the payment by him, in a civil action, of the proper license money, damages and costs.

SEC. 46. All billiard tables, bar fixtures, ten-pin alleys, pins and balls, furniture, crockery, glassware, liquors, and chattels of every kind used in transacting or carrying on or doing the business of a drinking saloon, bar, restaurant, billiard saloon, ten-pin alley, tavern, eating-house, ball-room, dance-house, theater or circus, where by ordinance such business is required to be licensed, shall, without reference to the actual ownership of such property, be liable for and may be taken in attachment or on execution for the license money due on the business in which they are allowed to be used, and every dray, cart, wagon, carriage, hack, omnibus, or other vehicle required by ordinance to be licensed, together with the horse or horses commonly used thereon, shall, without reference to the actual ownership of such property, be liable for and may be taken in attachment or on execution for the license money due on such dray, cart, wagon, carriage, hack, omnibus, or other vehicle. There shall be added to every license not obtained within five days after the same becomes due and payable, the sum of five dollars, which shall become a part of the license, and be paid into the treasury in the same manner as other revenues.

Superintendent Streets.

SEC. 47. There shall be a Superintendent of Streets, who shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the Mayor, and whose duty shall be to see that the laws, ordinances, orders and regulations, relating to sewers, drains, levees, streets, alleys and highways are fully carried into execution, and that the penalties thereof are rigidly enforced. He shall superintend and direct the cleaning of all sewers and drains, and keep himself informed of the condition of all the public streets and highways and also of all public buildings, parks, lots, sewers, levees and grounds of the city, and report the same to the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 48. He shall perform such other duties as are hereinafter specified, or as the board may require of him; and he shall have the power and shall perform the duties required of the Superintendent of Streets by the Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to provide for work upon streets, lanes, alleys, courts, places and sidewalks, and for the construction of sewers within municipalities," approved March 18, 1885, or by any Acts amendatory thereof, supplementary thereto, or substituted therefor. He shall keep a public office in the city, as provided by the board, and shall keep therein the records of his office and a register of all streets, alleys, sewers and drains, and all improvements and repairs made thereon, with an index for easy reference. Should he fail to see the laws, ordinances and regulations relating to the public streets and highways carried into execution, he and his sureties shall be liable upon his official bond to any person injured in person or property in consequence of said official neglect. All registers, records, books, contracts, plats, diagrams, and all papers and documents belonging to his office shall be delivered to his successor in office.

SEC. 49. He shall, under the direction of the Board of Health, inspect and examine all nuisances, privies, vaults, cesspools, buildings and low places within the city limits, with a view to the enforcement of all the laws and regulations relating to sanitary matters, and to cause the arrest of and vigorously prosecute all persons violating any of said laws and regulations.

City Engineer.

SEC. 50. There shall be a City Engineer who shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees, and shall hold office at the pleasure of the Mayor, and shall perform all civil engineering and surveying required in the prosecution of the public works and improvements done under the direction of the board, and shall certify to the progress and completion of the same. It shall also be his duty to see that all buildings, balconies, porches, awnings, signs, and all fixtures appertaining to buildings, are constructed in a safe and substantial manner and according to the requirements of law and the city ordinances, and it shall also be his duty to cause the arrest of and prosecute all persons failing or refusing to comply with the law or ordinances in relation thereto.

SEC. 51. He shall act as inspector of plumbing and drainage, and to him, as such, plans and specifications of all contemplated constructions, improvements, repairs, and alterations within the city shall be submitted for his examination and report; he shall number and file the same, and record the names of the owners and architect and location.

SEC. 52. He shall examine all plans and accompanying specifications, and, if in accordance with the rules of the Board of Health, he shall issue a permit for the work to go on. Any plan or specification that in his judgment does not conform to the rules shall not be approved, but shall be returned to the parties presenting it, with a written notice explaining the corrections necessary in order to comply with the rules.

SEC. 53. He shall examine all plumbing work before the same is covered up, or closed, and if found to be done in accordance with the rules and plans and specifications filed, he shall issue a certificate to that effect, and upon the completion of any plumbing work he shall examine the same, and if found to conform to the rules of the Board of Health and the plans and specifications filed, he shall issue a final certificate.

SEC. 54. He shall make a monthly report to the Board of Health of the number of plans and specifications received, the number approved and rejected, the number of first and final examinations made, where and by whom the rules have been violated, and such other matters as may be required by the Board of Health.

SEC. 55. He shall immediately, upon knowledge of any infraction of the rules and regulations, report the same to the Board of Health, and do such other work pertaining to his profession as he may be directed to do by the board or by any general law of the State of California. He shall keep a public office within the city, as provided by said Board of Trustees, and shall keep therein the records of his office and all maps, plats, surveys and certificates pertaining thereto, with an index for easy reference. All such records, maps, plats, surveys and certificates, including monuments, shall be the property of the city, and shall be turned over to his successor in office.

City Attorney.

SEC. 56. There shall be a City Attorney, who shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees, who shall be an attorney at law, duly admitted to practice by the Supreme Court of this state. It shall be his duty to prosecute, on behalf of the people, all criminal cases before the Police Court and all violations of this charter and of city ordinances and resolutions. It shall be his duty to attend to all suits and other matters to which the city is a party, or in which the city may be legally interested; provided, the Mayor and Board of Trustees shall have control of all litigation of the city, and may direct an attorney, selected by the Mayor, to take charge thereof, or to assist the City Attorney therein. The City Attorney shall give his advice or opinion in writing to the Mayor, Board of Trustees, Board of Education or other city officers, whenever required to do so, and do such other things appertaining to his office as by the Board of Trustees or Mayor may be required of him. He shall pass upon the sufficiency and validity of all bonds given to and all contracts made with the city. He shall, when required by the Board of Trustees, or any member thereof, draft any and all proposed ordinances, resolutions, laws, rules, contracts, bonds and all other legal papers for the city.

ARTICLE IV.

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT—POLICE COURT.

SEC. 60. There is hereby created, in and for the City of Fresno, a court which shall be known as the Police Court of the City of Fresno.

SEC. 61. Said court shall consist of one judge, who shall be a duly licensed attorney of the Supreme Court of the State of California.

SEC. 62. Said court shall have exclusive jurisdiction:

(1) In all prosecutions for violations of the city ordinances.

(2) In all actions for the recovery of any fine, penalty or forfeiture, and the enforcement of any obligation or liability prescribed or created by the city ordinances and in which the sum sued for does not amount to three hundred dollars.

SEC. 63. Within the city limits said court shall have concurrent and coordinate jurisdiction with township Justices' Courts in all matters and things in which said Justice's Court now or may hereafter have jurisdiction; and the judge of said Police Court shall have as aforesaid like authority, power and jurisdiction as the justices of said Justice's Court.

SEC. 64. Appeals may be taken to the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Fresno, from the judgments and orders of said Police Court, in all cases in which appeals now are or may hereafter be taken to said Superior Court from said Justices' Courts and Police Courts.

SEC. 65. In all proceedings in and appeals from said Police Court, the pleadings, practice, procedure and laws now applicable or that may hereafter be made applicable to said Justices' or Police Courts, are hereby adopted and made applicable to said Police Court.

SEC. 66. Upon the sickness or disability of the Judge of said Police Court, he may cause to preside in his place any qualified Justice of the Peace of the County of Fresno.

SEC. 67. Said Police Court shall be open for the transaction of business at all times.

SEC. 68. The Board of Trustees shall provide a court-room and court-room accommodations, dockets, blanks and stationery free of charge for said court.

SEC. 69. All fines and other moneys received or collected by the Judge of said Police Court, for or on account of the City of Fresno, shall be paid into the city treasury on the first Monday in each month.

SEC. 70. The Chief of Police shall assign a police officer for attendance on said court to preserve order therein, enforce its orders and serve its process.

SEC. 71. All actions and proceedings pending and undetermined in the existing City Recorder's Court shall be proceeded with, heard, tried and determined in said Police Court hereby provided for, before said judge, the same as if said actions or proceedings had been originally commenced in said Police Court.

ARTICLE V.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS.

SEC. 80. The Board of Trustees shall, immediately after its organization, take possession and have the custody and control of all maps, surveys, field notes, records, plans, specifications, contracts, models, machinery, tools, appliances, contract rights, privileges, books, documents, papers, archives, and property belonging to said city, heretofore kept by or in the offices of the City Surveyor or Superintendent of Streets, or kept by or in the possession of any other officer, and pertaining to any public buildings or public works of the city.

SEC. 81. The board shall have charge and superintendence of all public work of every kind, not otherwise controlled by general law, to be done for the city, and also of furnishing all material and supplies for public use, except as otherwise provided in this charter. It shall be the duty of the board to inspect vigilantly all parts of the city, and cause to be done, from time to time, such work as it shall deem necessary or proper.

SEC. 82. All public work authorized by the board to be done, and not within the provisions of the general law of the State of California operating thereon, and all materials and supplies to be furnished for public use, shall be done and furnished under written contract, except as hereinafter provided. Before awarding any such contract for doing any work or furnishing any materials or supplies for the city, the board shall cause notice to be posted conspicuously in its office and published not less than ten days in a daily newspaper published in the city, inviting sealed proposals for the contemplated work or materials or supplies, and in case the estimated cost of the same exceed five thousand dollars, to be so posted and published for not less than twenty days; except that any repair or improvement or materials or supplies not exceeding an estimated cost of one hundred dollars may be made by the board under written contract, or otherwise, without advertising for sealed proposals, but no piece of repair work or improvement, or bill of materials or supplies or labor, shall under any circumstances be subdivided for the purpose of bringing the estimated cost within the limit herein provided; provided, however, that should there be imminent danger to the city from inundation, the board may, in its discretion, contract for the immediate repair of its levees without such notice, posting or publication.

SEC. 83. All proposals shall be made upon printed forms, to be prepared by the board and furnished gratuitously upon application. All proposals offered shall be accompanied by a check, certified by a responsible bank, payable to the order of the Mayor and clerk of the board, for an amount not less than ten per cent of the aggregate of the proposal, and no proposal shall be considered unless accompanied by such check. No person, corporation, or firm shall be allowed to make, file, or be interested in more than one bid for the same work or supplies. If, on the opening of said bids, more than one bid appear in which the same person, corporation or firm is interested, such bids shall be rejected.

SEC. 84. On the day and at the hour specified in said notice inviting sealed proposals the board shall assemble and remain in session for at least one hour thereafter, and all bids shall be delivered to the board by the bidder or his agent before the expiration of the hour named in the advertisement. No bid not so delivered to the board shall be considered. Each bid as it shall be received shall be numbered and marked "filed" by the City Clerk and authenticated by his signature. At the expiration of the hour stated in the advertisement within which the bids will be received, the board shall in open session, open, examine and publicly declare the same, and an abstract of each bid shall be recorded in the minutes of the board by the clerk. Before adjourning, the board shall compare the bids with the record made by the City Clerk, and shall, thereupon, at said time, or at such other time, not exceeding twenty days thereafter, as the board may adjourn to, award the contract to the lowest bidder, except as otherwise herein provided. Notice of such award shall forthwith be posted for five days by the clerk of the board in some conspicuous place in the office of the board. The board may reject any and all bids, and must reject the bid of any party who has been delinquent or unfaithful in any former contract with the city, and all bids other than the lowest regular bid; and on accepting said lowest bid, shall thereupon return to the proper parties the checks corresponding to the bids rejected. If all the bids be rejected, the board shall return all the checks to the proper parties, and again invite sealed proposals, as in the first instance. The check accompanying the accepted bid shall be held by the clerk of the board until the contract for doing said work, or furnishing said materials or supplies, as herein-after provided, has been entered into, whereupon said certified check shall be returned to said bidder. If said bidder fail or refuse to enter into the contract to do said work, or furnish said materials or supplies, as hereinafter provided, then the certified check accompanying his bid, and the amount therein mentioned, shall be forfeited to the city, and shall be collected and paid into the street fund. The board shall have no power to relieve from or remit such forfeiture.

SEC. 85. If at any time it shall be found that the person to whom a contract has been awarded has, in presenting any bid or bids, colluded with any other party or parties, for the purpose of preventing any other bid being made, then the contract so awarded shall be null and void, and no recovery shall be had thereon, and the board shall advertise for a new contract for said work.

SEC. 86. All contracts shall be drawn under the supervision of the City Attorney, and shall contain detailed specifications of the work to be done, the manner in which it shall be executed, and the quality of the materials to be used, or the quality and quantity of the materials or supplies to be furnished. No change or modifications in the plans or specifications, or quantity or quality of the materials or supplies to be furnished, shall be made after proposals for doing the work or furnishing said materials or supplies, have been called for, except by a unanimous vote of the board. Every contract entered into by the board shall be signed by the Mayor, and by the other contracting party. All contracts shall be signed in duplicate, one of which, with specifications and drawings, if any, of the work to be done, and the materials to be furnished, shall be filed with the board, and the other, with said specifications and drawings, shall be delivered to the contractor. At the same time with the execution of said contract, said contractor shall execute to said city, and deliver to the clerk of the board, a bond in the sum named in the notice for proposals, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by the board, or shall deposit with the City Clerk a certified check upon some solvent bank for said amount, for the faithful performance of said contract. The qualifications of such sureties shall be the same as of sureties upon the official bonds of county officers. The contract shall specify the time within which the work shall be completed, or materials furnished, and when to be completed, or during what time or when the supplies shall be furnished, as specified in the notice inviting proposals therefor. The board may extend said time, but in no event for more than ninety days beyond the time originally fixed for its completion, except by unanimous consent of the board. In case of failure on the part of the contractor to complete his contract within the time fixed in the contract, or within such extension of said time as is herein provided, his contract shall be void, and the board shall not pay or allow to him any compensation for any work done or supplies furnished by him under said contract beyond such sum as, in the judgment of the board, the work done or materials furnished are actually worth to the city, less the detriment suffered by the city by such loss of time in the completion of the same.

SEC. 87. The Board of Trustees is hereby authorized to adopt, establish, and maintain a system of levees, canals, and drainage, and to construct and maintain the works necessary thereto; and to repair, maintain, construct, and control all levees, canals, outfall sewers, and other works necessary to the protection and safety of the city. The purposes for which any and all the works in this section mentioned are or may be constructed are hereby declared public uses, and the City of Fresno is hereby authorized to proceed at any time, under the provisions of the statutes for that purpose, to condemn for such use any and all property necessary to the construction and maintenance of such works; provided, however, no system or plan for any of the work in this section authorized to be performed shall be adopted by said board which will cost over one thousand dollars, unless such plan shall be first submitted to and ratified by a vote of the electors of said city; and provided further, that if any plan be adopted involving the expenditure of more than twenty thousand dollars, the money required to carry out such plan shall be raised either by the issuance of bonds or by direct taxation, as the electors at such election may determine.

ARTICLE VI.

ACQUISITION OF PUBLIC UTILITIES.

SEC. 90. It is hereby declared to be the purpose and intention of the people of the City of Fresno that such of its public utilities as shall be deemed to be for the best interest of the people shall be acquired and owned by the city. To this end it is hereby ordained:

SEC. 91. Whenever a petition, signed by electors of the city equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of all the votes cast at the last preceding general election, shall be presented to the Board of Trustees, setting forth that the signers thereof favor the acquisition by the city of any public utility, and requesting the Board of Trustees to prepare for submission to the electors of the city, as hereinafter provided, a proposition for the acquisition, by condemnation, construction or purchase, either of water works, gas works, electric light works, steam, water or electric power works, telephone lines, street railroads, or such other public utilities as the petition may designate, it shall be the duty of the Board of Trustees, within ninety days, to procure through the City Engineer, and any other sources, plans and estimates of the probable actual cost of the construction and completion or purchase of said utility. In securing estimates of the cost of construction and completion of water works by the city, the Board of Trustees must procure and place on file plans and estimates of the cost of obtaining from all of the several available sources a sufficient and permanent supply of good, pure water for the city, in order that propositions for the acquisition, construction and completion thereof and incurring municipal indebtedness therefor may be submitted to the electors of the city.

SEC. 92. After such plans and estimates shall have been procured and filed, it shall be the duty of the Board of Trustees, within sixty days, to formulate and submit to the electors of the city, at a special election, such proposition. Before submitting such proposition to the electors for the acquisition by original construction or condemnation of public utilities, the Board of Trustees must solicit and consider offers for the sale to the city of existing utilities, in order that the electors shall have the benefit of acquiring the same at the lowest possible cost thereof.

SEC. 93. Immediately after receiving and filing the said plans and estimates or offers to sell existing utilities, as hereinbefore set forth, the Board of Trustees shall, by ordinance, call a special election, at which shall be submitted to the electors the proposition of acquiring such public utility and of incurring a debt for the acquisition of the same, as set forth in said ordinance. No question other than the acquisition of such utility and the incurring of the indebtedness therefor shall be submitted at such election.

SEC. 94. The ordinance calling such special election shall recite the objects and purposes for which the indebtedness is proposed to be incurred, the estimated cost of the proposed public utility, the necessity for the acquisition of the same, and that bonds of the city shall issue for the payment of the cost of the same as in such ordinance set forth—if the proposition be accepted by the electors—and shall fix a day on which such special election shall be held, the manner of holding such election, and the manner of voting for or against incurring such indebtedness. Such election shall be held as provided by law for holding elections in the city.

SEC. 95. Such ordinance shall be published daily for at least ten days in the official newspaper. At the expiration of said ten days the Board of Trustees shall cause to be published daily for not less than two weeks in the official newspaper a notice of such special election. Such notice shall specify the purpose for which the indebtedness is to be incurred, the amount of the proposed bonded indebtedness, the number and character of the bonds to be issued, the rate of interest to be paid, the amount of tax levy to be made for the payment thereof, and whether such bonded indebtedness shall be incurred. At least two thirds of the electors voting thereon at such election shall be necessary to secure such acquisition and to warrant the issuance of municipal bonds therefor, as hereinafter set forth.

SEC. 96. No indebtedness shall be incurred for the acquisition of any public utility under the provisions of this article, which, together with the existing bonded indebtedness of the city, shall exceed at any one time ten percentum of the assessed value of all real and personal property of the city in accordance with the last assessment roll.

SEC. 97. The bonds issued under the provisions of this article shall be of the character of bonds known as serials, and shall be payable in lawful money of the United States. Not less than one fortieth part of the whole amount of indebtedness shall be paid each and every year, on a day and at a place to be fixed by the Board of Trustees, together with the interest on all sums unpaid at such date. The bonds so issued shall be in denominations of five hundred dollars, and preference in the sale and allotment thereof shall be given to subscribers for the smallest amounts. Said bonds must be payable on the day and at the place fixed herein, and with interest at the rate specified therein, but such interest shall not exceed five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually. Such bonds, when issued, may be sold by the Board of Trustees from time to time as required, and in such quantities as they may determine, but the same must be sold for cash in lawful money of the United States, as aforesaid, to the highest bidder, at not less than par, after having been advertised in such newspapers and in such other manner as the board may elect; provided, that such sale of bonds shall be advertised in the official newspaper for at least thirty days. They shall be sold under sealed proposals, and the Board of Trustees shall have the right to reject any or all bids made for the purchase thereof. The proceeds of such sale shall be placed in the treasury to the credit of the proper fund, and shall be applied exclusively to the purposes and objects mentioned in the ordinance authorizing their issue until such objects are fully accomplished, after which, if any surplus remains, such surplus shall be transferred to the general fund.

SEC. 98. Such bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and the Treasurer, and shall be countersigned by the City Clerk. The coupons shall be numbered consecutively and signed by the Treasurer, and the bonds and coupons shall be payable at the office of the Treasurer.

SEC. 99. At the time of levying the municipal tax and in the manner provided for such tax levy, the Board of Trustees shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the annual interest on such bonds, and also the proper aliquot part of the aggregate amount of such indebtedness so incurred. Such taxes shall be in addition to all other taxes levied for municipal purposes, and shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner as other municipal taxes are collected.

SEC. 100. A neglect or refusal on the part of the Board of Trustees, or any member thereof, to comply with the provisions of this article shall constitute cause for the removal from office, as for a neglect or refusal to perform official duty.

ARTICLE VII.

TAX LEVY.

SEC. 110. The Board of Trustees shall, on or before the first Monday of September in each year, fix the rate of city taxes, designating the number of cents on each hundred dollars of property levied for each fund, and will levy the city taxes upon the taxable property therein.

SEC. 111. The levy for all purposes for any one year shall not exceed one dollar on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of all real and personal property within the city, except a levy for the payment of the bonded indebtedness of the city and the interest thereon, or other special tax voted by the people.

ARTICLE VIII.

BONDED INDEBTEDNESS.

SEC. 120. When the Board of Trustees shall determine that the public interest requires the construction or acquisition of any permanent municipal building or improvement, the cost of which in addition to the other expenses of the city will exceed the income and revenue provided for the city for any one year, they must, by ordinance passed by the affirmative vote of not less than six members of the board, submit a proposition to incur a bonded indebtedness for such purpose to the electors of the city at a special election to be held for that purpose only. All the provisions of this charter providing for the acquisition of public utilities, so far as the same are applicable, shall apply to the manner of submitting such proposition to the electors, to the limitations of the said bonded indebtedness, to the issuance and character of the same, and to the time when and the kind of money in which said bonded indebtedness shall be payable. The proceeds of the sale of such bonds shall be paid into the treasury to the credit of such fund for which said bonds were issued.

ARTICLE IX.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 130. The government of the public schools of the city shall be vested in a Board of Education, to consist of eight members, to be called School Directors, and who shall receive no compensation. School Directors shall be elected at the same time and in the same manner as members of the Board of Trustees of the city. Their terms of office shall be four years, and until their successors are elected and qualified. Any person, male or female, who is a citizen of the United States, and of this State, and a resident of the territory now constituting the City of Fresno, for three years next preceding the election, shall be eligible to the office of School Director.

SEC. 131. The Board of Education shall meet on the first Monday after the election of its members shall have been officially declared, and organize by electing one of their number president, whose term of office as president shall be four years.

SEC. 132. The board shall also elect a secretary, who shall not be a member of the board, at a salary not to exceed twenty-five dollars per month, and who shall hold office at the pleasure of the board.

SEC. 133. The board shall hold regular meetings at least once in each month, and at such times as shall be determined by its rules. Special meetings may be called at any time by the president, and three of the members, or by the superintendent. Five members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, and the affirmative vote of five members shall be necessary to pass any measure, but a smaller number may adjourn from time to time. The board may determine the rules of its proceedings, and the ayes and noes shall be taken when demanded by any member, and entered on the records of the board. Its records shall be open to public inspection. The Mayor shall fill all vacancies occurring in the board, until the next regular municipal election. All meetings of the board shall be public. All elections held by it shall be viva voce.

In addition to the powers conferred and duties prescribed by the general laws of the State, the Board of Education shall have power:

First—To establish and maintain public schools, which shall include high, grammar, primary and kindergarten departments; to change or consolidate the same; to manage and control the school property; to establish school districts, and to fix and alter the boundaries thereof.

Second—To employ, pay and dismiss teachers, janitors, and such persons as may be necessary to carry into effect the powers and duties of the board, and to fix, alter, allow and order paid their salaries or compensation, and to withhold, for good and sufficient cause, the whole or any part of the salary or wages of any person or persons employed as aforesaid. There shall be an annual election for teachers at such times as the board may determine; provided, that in the absence of a special contract in writing, which contract shall not be for a period exceeding one year, no election or appointment of any teacher, janitor or other employé shall constitute a contract, either as to the duration of the office or as to the amount of salary or compensation to be paid, but the board shall always have the power to dismiss any or all teachers, janitors or other employés, and to alter the amount of salary or compensation.

Third—To make, establish and enforce all necessary and proper rules and regulations for the government and progress of the public schools, and for the investigation of charges against any person in the employ of the department, and for carrying into effect the laws relating to education; also to establish and regulate the grade of schools, and determine what text-books—in addition to those published by the state—course of study, and mode of instruction shall be used in said schools; but any text-book determined upon by the board shall not be changed within a period of four years after its adoption.

Fourth—To provide for the school department fuel and lights, water, printing, stationery, and all other necessary supplies, and incur such other incidental expenses as may be necessary for the welfare of the department, including the grading, fencing and improving of all school property.

Fifth—To build, alter, repair, rent, and provide school houses, and to furnish them with proper school furniture, apparatus and appliances, and insure the same.

Sixth—To purchase or sell school lots, and to take charge of any and all real estate and personal property that may have been acquired, or may hereafter be acquired, for the use and benefit of the common schools of the city; and to make, in the name of the city, conveyances of property belonging to the city and sold by the board of education; provided, that the proceeds of any such sale of real estate shall be exclusively applied to the purchase of other lots, or the erection of school houses for the use of this department.

Seventh—To appoint school census marshals, on or before the first day of April of each year, whose duties shall be as prescribed by general law.

Eighth—To sue, in the name of the city, for any and all property acquired or claimed for the use and benefit of the school department, and to prosecute and defend all actions at law or in equity, necessary to recover and maintain the full enjoyment and possession of said property, and to require the services of the city attorney in all such matters.

Ninth—To examine every demand payable out of the school fund, and for good cause to reject any such demand, or to allow the same in whole or in part, and to issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses before the board, or any committee thereof in any matter under investigation; and any witness so subpoenaed may be punished for non-attendance, or refusal to be sworn and answer, by the Superior Court of the county.

Every claim payable out of the school fund shall be filed with the secretary of the Board of Education, and after it shall have been approved by the board, a certificate of such approval shall be endorsed thereon, signed by the president and secretary, and a warrant upon the school fund shall be issued thereon for the payment of such claim, which warrant shall be signed by the president of the board and countersigned by the secretary, and shall specify for what purpose the same is drawn.

Tenth—To discharge all legal incumbrances now existing, or which may hereafter exist, upon any school property, and establish regulations for the just disbursement of all moneys belonging to the school fund, and admit in their discretion, non-resident children, and persons over twenty-one years of age, to any of the departments of the schools of the city, upon the payment, monthly in advance, of such tuition fee as such board may establish; provided, such fee shall not be less than the per capita cost of pupils in the respective grades.

Eleventh—To prohibit any child under six years of age from attending the public schools—provided, in kindergarten classes children of four years of age may be admitted—and to suspend or expel pupils for misconduct.

Twelfth—To dispose of and sell at public auction, upon not less than five days' notice by publication in a daily newspaper published in said city, such personal property as shall no longer be required by the department. All moneys realized from such sales shall be paid into the treasury to the credit of the school fund.

Thirteenth—To receive and manage property or money acquired by devise, bequest or donation in trust for the benefit of any school, educational purpose or school property.

Fourteenth—To exclude from the schools and school libraries all books, publications or papers of sectarian, partisan or denominational character.

Fifteenth—To furnish books for the children of parents unable to furnish them. The books so furnished shall belong to the city, and shall be returned to the superintendent at the close of each term.

Sixteenth—To make an annual report on or before the first day of July in each year to the County Superintendent of Schools, in the manner and form and on the blanks prescribed by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Seventeenth—To make a report, whenever required, directly to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, of the text-books used in the city schools.

Eighteenth—Each member of the board shall visit every school in the city at least once in each term, and examine carefully into its management, condition and wants.

Nineteenth—It shall be the duty of the board to prescribe a course of study that will fit and prepare the students therein to enter any of the departments of the University of the State of California. Such course shall be known as the high school course.

Twentieth—The board may provide departments for the training of pupils in the industrial and mechanical arts and domestic and commercial vocations, and shall have power to furnish such departments with necessary tools, apparatus and appliances.

Twenty-first—And generally to do and perform such other acts as may be required by general law applicable to the city, and as may be necessary and proper to carry into force and effect the powers conferred on said board, and to increase the efficiency of the common schools of the city.

SEC. 134. The Board of Education shall annually, on or before the first Monday in August, make and report to the Board of Trustees a statement in detail of the receipts and expenditures for school purposes in the city during the year then last past, and shall at the same time make and furnish a detailed statement of the probable amount of money that will be required during the current year, and the purposes for which it is required, and also an estimate of the amount that will be received by the city from the state and county for school purposes. Upon receiving the estimate of moneys needed as provided herein, the Board of Trustees shall, at the time of levying other city taxes, levy as a part thereof a school tax, which, after making proper allowances for delinquencies, will produce a sum that—taken with the estimated amount to be received from the state and county—will make the amount required by the Board of Education; provided, however, that the Board of Education shall not exact a levy to exceed twenty-five cents on the one hundred dollars, exclusive of levy for high school purposes and to pay bonded indebtedness.

SEC. 135. In case of disaster from fire, riot, earthquake, or public enemy, the Board of Education may, with the approval of the Mayor and the Board of Trustees, incur extraordinary expenditures in excess of the annual limit provided by law and in this charter, for the repair, construction, and furnishing of school houses; and the Board of Trustees may, by ordinance, cause to be transferred to the school fund from moneys in any other fund not otherwise appropriated, sufficient moneys to liquidate such extraordinary expenditure.

Secretary.

SEC. 136. The secretary of the board shall keep a true record of the proceedings of the board, and a correct account of the expenditures allowed by it, and for what purpose, so that he can at any time make an exhibit, in aggregate and detail, of the outlays for each school; he shall be general custodian of all books, papers and documents belonging to the board.

SEC. 137. He shall in June of each year make to the board a full and detailed report of the number of pupils taught respectively in the kindergarten, primary, grammar and high schools, and the cost per pupil, including all ordinary expenses; the amount paid respectively for teachers, rents, repairs, lands, buildings, fuel, furniture, stationery and sundries

Superintendent of Schools.

SEC. 138. The Board of Education shall, within ninety days after the organization of the board, succeeding each municipal election, elect a City Superintendent of Schools, who shall be a man of good moral character, and a practical educator. The term of office of the City Superintendent of Schools shall be during the pleasure of the board, except as otherwise herein provided. He shall have a general supervision over school houses and school property, and see that they are not wasted, injured or destroyed; he shall grade the classes in the schools and classify the pupils as to the grade of the school they shall attend, and, in connection with the teacher, as to which class or classes in such schools, and shall issue all necessary permits for such attendance; provided, however, that no pupil shall be allowed to attend any public school in the city until the superintendent shall be first satisfied that such child has been duly vaccinated; he shall from time to time recommend to the board such alterations, additions and changes in the grade of schools, course of study, text-books, and such other matters and things as he deems proper; he shall, in June of each year, make to the board a full and detailed report of the progress of the schools since the last annual report, their present condition, the condition of the houses, lots, and furniture, the number of pupils taught respectively in each, the kindergarten, primary, grammar and high schools. He may suspend or expel any pupil for misconduct or violation of the rules, reporting such suspension or expulsion to the board at its next meeting; provided, however, any party feeling aggrieved may appeal from the decision of the superintendent to the board, which may confirm or reverse his action; he shall have a general supervision and control of the teachers, and shall report to the board any misconduct, want of ability, negligence, or inattention on the part of any of them; and he may suspend any teacher for such want of ability, negligence, inattention or misconduct, and shall report such suspension to the board at the next meeting thereof for final action; he shall have power to assign the teachers to such classes as in his judgment shall be to the best interest of the schools; provided, that in the high and grammar schools such assignments shall be made with the consent and advice of the principals of such schools; and provided, that by a vote of six members the Board of Education may change any such assignment; he shall see that none but authorized text-books are used, and that teachers and pupils faithfully perform their respective duties; and he shall do and perform such other duties, matters and things as may be required of or imposed on him by the Board of Education.

SEC. 139. The City Superintendent of Schools, and each member of the Board of Education, shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations in all matters connected with the department.

SEC. 140. The Board of Education shall provide the City Superintendent of Common Schools with a suitable office, which shall be kept open to the public.

ARTICLE X.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

SEC. 160. There shall be a health department under the management of the Board of Health. Said board shall consist of five members, who shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees. The board shall never be so constituted as to consist of more than two members of the same political party. The president of the Board of Health shall be selected from among their number, and shall act as such for one year. Each member shall be a duly licensed physician, in accordance with the laws of the State. They shall receive no compensation for their services, and their term of office shall be four years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 161. Regular meetings of the Board of Health shall be held once a month, and special meetings when called by the president or any three members, and all meetings shall be public. Three members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business.

SEC. 162. Said Board of Health shall have supervision of all matters appertaining to the sanitary condition of the city and public institutions thereof, and full powers are hereby given to said board over all questions of foul or defective drainage, and of the disinfection and sanitary cleaning of streets, alleys, cellars, cesspools, sewers or nuisances of any description, and of low places within the city limits calculated to receive and retain unhealthy deposits.

SEC. 163. The Board of Health shall exercise a general supervision over and be the custodian of all the death and cemetery records now belonging to the city, and they shall cause to be kept in books prepared for the purpose, complete records of all deaths, interments in the city cemeteries, and births occurring in said city. They shall adopt such forms and regulations for the use of physicians, undertakers, and superintendents of cemeteries as in their judgment may be best calculated to secure reliable vital and mortality statistics in said city, and prevent the spread of contagious and infectious diseases. They shall have power to prevent or forbid communication with infected families or houses, and by the consent of the Mayor may establish a pest-house and provide the necessary attendants and supplies therefor.

SEC. 164. The Board of Trustees shall, by ordinance or otherwise, provide for enforcing such orders and regulations as the Board of Health may from time to time adopt; and all expenses necessarily incurred by the Board of Health in carrying out the provisions of law and of this charter shall be provided for by the Board of Trustees, who are hereby authorized and directed to make an appropriation therefor out of the general fund.

SEC. 165. The Board of Health, within two weeks from the time of its organization, shall elect a City Physician, who shall also act as health officer and secretary of the Board of Health. Said City Physician shall not be a member of the Board of Health, and shall be an elector of the city for at least five years and not less than thirty years of age, a licensed physician of not less than five years, and actually engaged in the practice of his profession therein. He shall hold his office during the pleasure of the Board of Health, and must see that the laws and ordinances of the city in relation to the public health, and the regulations and orders of the Board of Health are properly enforced. He shall keep a full record of all the transactions of the Board of Health, as well as all records appertaining thereto, and issue all permits for burials, and no interments shall be made from the city unless said health officer is satisfied of the correctness and reliability of the certificates of death presented for his inspection. He shall have the powers of a police officer, and shall make an extended annual report to the Board of Health of the affairs pertaining to his office, including mortality and other statistics, with such observations and recommendations in relation to the sanitary condition of the city as he may deem proper.

SEC. 166. The City Physician shall attend, when called upon, the indigent sick or wounded in the city, and shall have charge of any receiving hospital or dispensary established for the benefit of the sick poor.

SEC. 167. The City Physician, as health officer, shall visit, at least once in each quarter, all public buildings and school-houses in said city. During such visits he shall examine the manner in which they are lighted, ventilated, and heated, and particularly as to their sanitary condition.

SEC. 168. The City Physician, as health officer, shall promptly report in writing to the City Superintendent of Schools the name and residence of every person sick with cholera, smallpox, scarlatina, diphtheria, or any contagious disease. Said City Superintendent, when so notified, must refuse admittance to the schools of any members of a household one or more of whose inmates are sick from any of the aforesaid diseases. The person excluded shall be admitted on presenting a certificate from the health officer that there is no longer any danger from contagion.

SEC. 169. When a case of contagious disease is reported to the health officer, he shall visit the premises where the person is, and, when satisfied that said disease exists, he shall place a yellow flag on said premises, which shall remain during the continuance of the disease on said premises.

SEC. 170. The health officer may cause to be removed to a smallpox hospital any person in said city affected with smallpox. When a case of smallpox exists in any house, and the person so affected is not moved to said hospital or pest-house, the health officer shall immediately place a quarantine flag on said premises, and may place a competent person in charge thereof who shall see that a quarantine is strictly enforced so long as public safety requires.

SEC. 171. He shall act as food inspector, and as such his duties shall be to inspect meat, milk, butter, poultry, eggs and all other marketable produce, including green and dried groceries and vegetables, and all and every kind of food products, and shall have the power without liability, to condemn and destroy such and so much thereof as are unfit, unwholesome, deleterious or injurious as food, or fall below the standard established by the Board of Health.

SEC. 172. The health officer shall vaccinate free of charge all persons applying to him.

SEC. 173. He shall perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board of Health or by ordinance.

SEC. 174. Every member of the Board of Health, the health officer and health inspector may administer oaths on matters connected with the health department.

ARTICLE XI.

FRESNO FREE LIBRARY.

SEC. 180. The free library shall be under the control and management of five trustees who shall be known as the "Board of Free Library Trustees." They shall be appointed by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees. The office of Library Trustee shall be honorary, and the members thereof shall serve without salary or compensation; any person, male or female, over the age of twenty-one years, who is a citizen of the United States, and of this State, and a resident of the city for five years, shall be eligible to become a Library Trustee. The term of office of Library Trustees shall be four years, and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

SEC. 181. The Board of Trustees of the City of Fresno shall levy and collect, as in other cases, annually, a tax not less than three cents on the one hundred dollars and not more than five cents on the one hundred dollars, for the purpose of maintaining a free public library and reading-room, and purchasing such books, journals and other publications, and leasing such real and personal property as may be necessary therefor.

SEC. 182. All money and revenue paid, collected or received by authority of anything herein contained, whether by taxation, gift, devise, bequest, or otherwise, shall belong to and be known and designated as the "Library Fund," and shall be paid into the City Treasury, and there kept separate and apart from other funds, and be drawn therefrom as hereinafter provided, but only to be used and applied to the purposes herein authorized.

SEC. 183. All property, real and personal, acquired by gift, devise, bequest, or otherwise, shall vest, be and remain in the city, and may be protected, defended and sued for by action at law, or otherwise, in the name of the city, as in other cases.

SEC. 184. The Board of Free Library Trustees shall take charge of all property belonging to such library and reading-room, or that may be acquired by loan, purchase, gift, devise, or otherwise. The Trustees shall meet for business purposes on the first Tuesday of each month, and at such other times as they may appoint, at a place to be provided for the purpose, and a majority of all their number shall constitute a quorum for business. They shall elect one of their number to act as president of their board, and one of their number to act as secretary, who shall keep a full statement and account of all property, money, receipts and expenditures, and a record and full minutes in writing of all their proceedings. The secretary shall certify to such proceedings, or any part or portion thereof, under his hand, verified by an official seal adopted and provided by the Trustees for that purpose.

SEC. 185. Such Trustees, by a majority vote of all their members, to be recorded in the minutes with the ayes and noes at length, shall have power:

1. To make and enforce all rules, regulations, and by-laws necessary for the administration, government, and protection of such library and reading-room, and all property belonging thereto, or that may be loaned, devised, bequeathed, or donated to the same.

2. To exercise and administer any trust declared or created for such library or reading-room, and to provide memorial tablets and niches to perpetuate the memories of those persons who may make valuable donations thereto.

3. To define the powers and describe the duties of any and all officers, determine the number and employ all necessary subordinate officers and assistants, and at their pleasure and without previous notice remove any officer or assistant.

4. To purchase necessary books, journals, publications, and other personal property.

5. To order the drawing and payment upon properly authenticated vouchers, duly certified by the president and secretary, of money from out of the library fund for any liability or expenditure herein authorized; and generally to do all that may be necessary to fully carry into effect the provisions of this act.

6. To fix the salaries of the librarian and assistants, to furnish and equip said rooms and buildings as may be necessary for such library and reading-room.

SEC. 186. The orders and demands of the Board of Free Library Trustees, when duly made and authenticated as above provided, shall be paid by the Treasurer of the city out of the library fund.

SEC. 187. The trustees of such library and reading-room, on or before the first Monday of January and July of each year, shall make a semi-annual report to the Board of City Trustees, giving the condition of their trust, with full statements of all property and money received, whence derived, how used and expended; the number of books, journals, and other publications on hand, the number added by purchase, gift or otherwise, during each year, the number lost or missing, the number and character of those loaned, and such other statistics, information and suggestions as may be of general interest. A financial report showing all receipts and disbursements of money shall also be made by the secretary of the Board of Trustees, duly verified.

SEC. 188. The proper municipal authorities shall pass ordinances for the protection of the library and reading-room, and all property thereto belonging, and for imposing penalties for the punishment of persons committing injury to such library or reading-room, or the property or books thereof, or for failure to return any book or other property belonging thereto.

ARTICLE XII.

ELECTIONS.

SEC. 200. The Mayor, members of the Board of Trustees and of the Board of Education, and the City Clerk, and Police Judge shall be elected by the qualified electors of said city, at a general municipal election to be held therein. The first election under this charter shall be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, 1901. The second election hereunder shall be held on the second Monday in April, 1905, and an election shall be held every four years thereafter.

SEC. 201. The Board of Trustees must meet at their usual place of meeting on the first Monday after the election; and if the returns from each precinct in which polls have been opened, have been received, the board must then and there proceed to canvass the returns. But if all the returns have not been received the canvass must be postponed from day to day until all the returns are received.

SEC. 202. Such canvass, declaration of result and certificates of election must be made and had in conformity with the laws of the State of California.

SEC. 203. All elective officers shall take office on the first Monday after the result of the election shall have been officially declared and shall hold office for the period of four years and until the election and qualification of their successors, unless otherwise provided in this charter; except that the officers elected under this charter on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, 1901, shall only hold office until the first Monday after the official declaration of the result of the election to be held on the second Monday in April, 1905.

SEC. 204. Any vacancy occurring in any of the elective offices provided for in this charter, except as otherwise herein provided, shall be filled by appointment by the Mayor, by and with the consent of the Board of Trustees until the next regular election, at which time a successor shall be elected.

SEC. 205. All laws concerning state and county elections shall be and are hereby made applicable to municipal elections.

ARTICLE XIII.

OFFICIAL BONDS.

SEC. 210. All officers of the city, whether elective or appointed, of whom a bond is required, must give a bond in some approved surety company; provided, that the premium charged shall not exceed a rate of twenty cents on the one hundred dollars for each year; provided, that the premium on any single bond may not be less than five dollars, which premium shall be paid by the city.

SEC. 211. In case the premium should be in excess of said rate, then a bond may be given with personal sureties. All official bonds, except those of the members of the Board of Trustees, shall be approved or rejected by the Board of Trustees, by an order entered on the minutes.

SEC. 212. The official bonds of the members of the Board of Trustees shall be approved by the Mayor.

SEC. 213. The Board of Trustees may, at any time, require an additional bond whenever any official bond may be deemed insufficient, and upon the failure on the part of any officer to furnish a satisfactory bond at the request of the Board of Trustees, his office shall be declared vacant, and as soon as such declaration is made, the office becomes vacant.

SEC. 214. The amounts in which the respective officers shall execute official bonds shall be as follows:

Trustees, each.....	$5,000 00
Clerk.....	10,000 00
Attorney.....	2,000 00
Superintendent of Streets.....	5,000 00
City Engineer.....	5,000 00
Mayor.....	5,000 00
Chief of Police.....	5,000 00
Chief of Fire Department.....	5,000 00
Police Judge.....	5,000 00

SEC. 215. The Board of Trustees shall have the power to require bonds from any other officer or employé of the city whenever deemed necessary.

SEC. 216. The bond of the City Clerk shall be filed with the Mayor and all other bonds shall be filed with the City Clerk. Official bonds with personal sureties must be recorded in the office of the County Recorder of Fresno County.

ARTICLE XIV.

SALARIES.

SEC. 220. Each member of the Board of Trustees shall receive a salary of one hundred and fifty dollars per annum, which amount shall include services as a member of the Board of Equalization, but there shall be deducted therefrom the sum of five dollars for each and every regular meeting of the Board which he shall fail to attend.

SEC. 221. The compensation of other officers and employés of the city shall be, per annum, as follows, said compensation being payable in equal monthly instalments:

Mayor.....	$500 00
Attorney.....	600 00
(And as herein provided.)
Clerk.....	1,200 00

Police Judge, three hundred dollars, and such fees in civil actions and in prosecutions under the State laws as are allowed by law to Justices of the Peace.

Superintendent of Streets, twelve hundred dollars.

Chief of Police, twelve hundred dollars, which shall also be in full compensation for services as License Collector, except as herein otherwise provided.

Chief of Fire Department, twelve hundred dollars, which shall also be in full compensation as Fire Marshal.

The compensation of all other employés and officers of the city not specified in this charter shall be fixed by the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 222. The Chief of Police, the Chief of the Fire Department and Superintendent of Streets shall devote their entire time and services to the duties of their respective offices.

SEC. 223. The duties of all officers, elected or appointed, in the City of Fresno, are such as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by general law or ordinances of the city.

SEC. 224. It is hereby declared to be the purpose of the people of the City of Fresno to do away with and abolish the offices of City Assessor, City Tax Collector, and City Treasurer, and to that end the Board of Trustees shall, on or before the first Monday in February, 1901, or as soon as this charter is approved by the Legislature, and annually thereafter while any valid law exists for the assessment, collection, custody, safe keeping and disbursing of city taxes by officers of a county, pass an ordinance electing that the City of Fresno avail itself of the provisions of an Act entitled: "An Act to provide for the levy and collection of taxes, by and for the use of municipal corporations and cities incorporated under the laws of the State of California, except municipal corporations of the first class, and to provide for the consolidation and abolition of certain municipal offices, and to provide that their duties may be performed by certain officers of the county, and fixing the compensation to be allowed for such county officers for the services so rendered to such municipal corporations," approved March 27, 1895.

And shall cause a certified copy of such ordinance to be forthwith served upon and filed with the Auditor, Assessor, Tax Collector, and Treasurer of Fresno County. If said Act shall be amended, or some other law be substituted in its stead, providing for the assessment, collection, custody, safe keeping and disbursing of city taxes by county officers, the Board of Trustees shall conform to the provisions of such amended Act, or such law, in order that the city may avail itself of the privilege of having its taxes assessed, collected, safely kept and disbursed by such county officers.

SEC. 225. If said law should be repealed by the Legislature or annulled by the courts, then the Board of Trustees are hereby authorized by ordinance to create the office of City Assessor, City Tax Collector and City Treasurer, and said offices shall be filled by appointment of the Mayor, by and with the consent of the board, as in other cases, until the next municipal election. And the Board of Trustees shall, by ordinance, prescribe their duties and fix their bonds and compensation.

ARTICLE XV.

POLICE AND FIRE DEPARTMENTS.

SEC. 230. The Police and Fire Departments shall be under the control and management of a Board of Four Commissioners selected from the qualified electors of the city over the age of twenty-five years, to be appointed by the Mayor and confirmed by the Board of Trustees, and who shall hold office without compensation. Not more than two of such commissioners shall belong to the same political party, and whose term of office shall be for four years.

SEC. 231. The commissioners shall enter upon their duties as soon as they have qualified. The commission shall establish rules and regulations governing its proceeding and for the regulation and conduct of its officers and employés, and may require bonds from its subordinates for the faithful performance of their duties. The Mayor shall be president of the board, but shall have a vote only in case of a tie. In the absence of the Mayor, the commission may select a president pro tempore from among its members. The City Clerk shall be the secretary of the commission.

SEC. 232. The commission shall hold regular meetings at least once a month, and special meetings at such other times as it may appoint or of which the president may give notice. The regular meetings shall be held on a day and at an hour fixed by resolution entered upon the records of the commission, which shall not be changed except by a resolution passed at a regular meeting of said commission. The meetings of the commission shall be public; provided, however, that executive sessions may be held by a unanimous vote; three members shall constitute a quorum and the affirmative votes of three members shall be necessary to pass any order or resolution. No business shall be transacted at a special or adjourned meeting except such as may have been made a special order of business for such meeting or such as may have been under consideration at the meeting at which the adjournment was had.

SEC. 233. The secretary of the board shall keep a record of its transactions, specifying therein the names of the commissioners present at the meeting and giving the ayes and noes on all votes. Every order or resolution shall be recorded at length, and the record shall be approved by the board. The secretary shall cause the publication of all notices herein authorized to be published or which the board shall order to be published, and shall perform such other duties as the board may from time to time prescribe.

SEC. 234. The officers, members and employés of the police and fire departments shall be appointed by the board, and no removal shall be made except for cause established to the satisfaction of the board, after due investigation and trial. The salaries of officers and employés of the board, except so far as the same are designated in this charter, shall be fixed or altered from time to time by the Board of Trustees in its discretion or on recommendation of the Board of Commissioners.

SEC. 235. The Board of Police and Fire Commissioners shall have power:

1. To prescribe the qualifications, duties, badges of office and uniforms of officers, members and employés of said departments.

2. To prescribe rules and regulations for the government and discipline of the same, and prescribe and enforce penalties for their violation.

3. To hear and determine all complaints of misconduct, inefficiency, violation of the rules and regulations, or other charge against any officer, member or employé of said departments, and to take such action thereon as shall be most conducive to the maintenance, discipline and efficiency of said departments.

4. To appoint and remove at their discretion special policemen, who shall be under the supervision and control of the Chief of Police; provided, however, that the compensation of said special policemen shall in no event be chargeable to the city, unless appointed by authority of the City Board of Trustees.

5. To make all necessary rules and regulations to carry into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested in said commission by this charter or by any ordinance of the Board of Trustees passed pursuant thereto or by the Constitution and laws of this State; and in general to manage and control said departments.

SEC. 236. The commissioners shall have the custody and control of the houses, engines, hose carts, trucks, ladders, horses, stables and all other property and equipments now or that may be hereafter used by or belonging to said departments.

SEC. 237. The commission shall annually report to the Board of Trustees an estimate of the amount of money that will be required to pay all salaries and expenses of the police department and of the fire department for the ensuing year, specifying in detail the proper items for which the same will be required.

SEC. 238. The commission shall make full quarterly reports to the Board of Trustees of its acts and expenditures and also of the condition of said departments.

SEC. 239. Every claim against the police department or fire department contracted by the commission shall be verified by the claimant and approved by the commission in open session, which approval shall be entered in the records of the commission. No such claim shall be allowed or ordered paid by the Board of Trustees until the same has been approved by said commission, and has endorsed thereon such approval, authenticated by the signatures of the president and secretary of the commission.

SEC. 240. The commission shall determine and report to the Board of Trustees as to the necessity of constructing cisterns and erecting hydrants in particular localities, the necessity for additional houses, apparatus, material, supplies, engines, horses, hooks and ladders and also as to alterations and repairs required; but the action of the commission with respect to the necessity of these matters shall be only advisory to the Board of Trustees.

SEC. 241. All contracts let and work ordered for the fire and police department shall be let and ordered by the Board of Trustees; provided, however, that the Police and Fire Commission shall have power to make repairs upon engines and other apparatus under their control when the necessity for such repairs is urgent and the cost thereof does not exceed the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars.

SEC. 242. The police department shall consist of a Chief of Police and as many regular officers and policemen as the Board of Trustees may from time to time determine, not exceeding in the aggregate one to every one thousand inhabitants of the city.

SEC. 243. The fire department shall consist of a chief and as many drivers, engineers, hosemen and other paid employés as the Board of Trustees may authorize, together with such volunteer firemen as may be determined by the commission; provided, that prior to the election of a chief, a volunteer fire department while in existence, may nominate and present to the board the name of a nominee for chief, who, if acceptable to said board, shall be elected such chief, and if not elected, such volunteer fire department may nominate and present other names to said board for such chief.

ARTICLE XVI.

GENERAL PROVISIONS.

SEC. 250. No appointive officer, whether under salary or not, and no deputy of any city officer or employé of the city receiving pay from the city—except firemen without pay—shall be eligible to hold any other public office while in the employment of or holding office under the city government, except notary public or member of the National Guard, nor shall he become a party worker or solicitor or active partisan, nor shall he during such time vote at any primary election nor become a member of any club, caucus or convention held for political purposes; nor shall he solicit for or contribute any funds to any person or organization to be used for political purposes. For a violation of any of the provisions of this section, such position or office shall immediately become vacant, and the compensation of such person offending shall terminate, and he shall be deprived of the rights of holding any appointive office under the city government thereafter.

SEC. 251. It is hereby made the express duty of the Mayor to see that all the provisions of this article are strictly enforced.

SEC. 252. The word "city" wherever it occurs in this charter, means the City of Fresno; and every commission, commissioner, department, board or officer, wherever mentioned in this charter, means a commission, commissioner, department, board or officer, as the case may be, of the City of Fresno.

SEC. 253. No officer of the city shall absent himself from the State; but he may absent himself for a period of not more than sixty days upon the written permission of the Mayor so to do. Violation of this section shall be sufficient cause for the removal of any officer violating the same.

SEC. 254. Any person holding a salaried office under the city, whether by election or appointment, who shall, during his term of office, hold or retain any other salaried office under the government of the United States, or of this State or county, other than notary public, or member of the National Guard, or who shall hold any other salaried office connected with the government of the city, or who shall become a member of the Legislature, shall be deemed to have thereby vacated the office held by him under the city.

SEC. 255. No officer or employé of the city shall be or become, directly or indirectly, interested in, or in the performance of, any contract, work or business, or in the sale of any article, the expense, price or consideration of which is payable from the treasury, or in the purchase or lease of any real estate or other property belonging to, or taken by the city, or which shall be sold for taxes or assessment, or by virtue of legal process at the suit of the city. If any person in this section designated shall, during the time for which he was elected or appointed, acquire an interest in any contract with, or work done for, the city, or any department or officer thereof, or in any franchise, right or privilege granted by the city, unless the same shall be devolved upon him by law, he shall forfeit his office, and be forever debarred and disqualified from being elected, appointed or employed in the service of the city; and all such contracts shall be void, and shall not be enforceable against the city.

SEC. 256. No officer or employé of the city shall give or promise to give to any other person, any portion of his compensation or any money, or valuable thing, in consideration of having been, or of being, nominated, appointed, voted for, or elected, to any office or employment; and if any such promise or gift be made, the person making or accepting such gift or promise shall forfeit his office and employment, and be forever debarred and disqualified from being elected, appointed or employed in the service of the city.

SEC. 257. Any officer of the city who shall, while in office, accept any donation or gratuity in money, or other valuable thing, either directly or indirectly, from any subordinate or employé, or from any candidate or applicant for any position as employé or subordinate under him, shall forfeit his office, and be forever debarred and disqualified from holding any position in the service of the city.

SEC. 258. Every officer who shall approve, allow, or pay any demand on the treasury not authorized by law, ordinance, or this charter, shall be liable to the city individually and on his official bond for the amount of the demand so illegally approved, allowed, or paid.

SEC. 259. All books and records of every office and department shall be open to the inspection of any citizen at any time during business hours. Certified copies of extracts from said books and records shall be given by the officer having the same in custody to any person demanding the same, and paying or tendering ten cents a folio of one hundred words for such copies or extracts; but the records of the police department shall not be subject to such inspection, except permission be given by the Police Commissioners or by the Chief of Police.

SEC. 260. No person shall be eligible to or hold any office, or be clerk or deputy in any office or department, who has been found guilty of malfeasance in office, bribery or other infamous crime, or who, in any capacity, has embezzled public funds.

SEC. 261. The fiscal year mentioned in this charter shall commence on the first day of July and end on the thirtieth day of June following.

SEC. 262. Any elected officer, except City Trustee, may be suspended by the Mayor and removed by the Board of Trustees for cause; and any appointed officer may be removed by the Mayor for cause. The Mayor shall appoint some person to discharge the duties of the office during the period of such suspension.

SEC. 263. When the Mayor shall remove an appointed officer from office, he shall immediately notify the Board of Trustees of such removal, and furnish it a statement of the cause thereof, which statement shall be entered in the record of its proceedings.

SEC. 264. All franchises and privileges heretofore granted by the city which are not in actual use or enjoyment, or which the grantees thereof have not in good faith commenced to exercise, are hereby declared forfeited and of no validity unless said grantees or their assigns shall within one month after this charter takes effect, in good faith commence the exercise and enjoyment of such privilege or franchise.

SEC. 265. No Chinese shall ever be employed, either directly or indirectly, on any work of the city or in the performance of any contract or sub-contract of the city, except in punishment for crime.

SEC. 266. Whenever special meetings are called of the Board of Trustees, Board of Education, or any other board of the municipality, notice thereof shall be served on each member personally or by mail addressed to his place of residence; if by mail, the notice, postpaid, shall be deposited in the postoffice of the city at least twenty-four hours before the time of meeting. At such special meeting no subject shall be considered except that specified in the notice.

SEC. 267. No person shall be eligible to hold office in this city, whether elective or appointive, unless he be an elector therein, and shall have resided within its present limits for at least five years next preceding the date of such election or appointment, except superintendent, principals and teachers of the public schools, engineers, and as herein otherwise provided.

SEC. 268. It shall be the official duty of every officer and person in the employ or service of the city, when it shall come to his knowledge that any contract or agreement with the city, or with any officer or department thereof, or relating to the business of any office, has been or is about to be violated by the other contracting party, forthwith to report to the Mayor all facts and information within his possession concerning such matter; and a willful failure so to do shall be cause for the removal of such officer or employé, as in case of malfeasance in office.

SEC. 269. All claims against the city must contain a statement that every item in such claim has accrued within one year immediately preceding the filing of such claim, and no claim shall be valid against the city unless presented within one year from the date the article, labor, commodity, or services were furnished or contract performed; provided, however, that nothing herein contained shall deprive any person of the right to bring suit against the city upon any claim held against it, which has been rejected or refused payment by the Board of Trustees, if such claim was properly filed with the City Clerk within the time above specified.

SEC. 270. No privy, vault or cesspool shall be permitted upon any premises adjoining a lateral sewer.

SEC. 271. In all prosecutions for violation of any of the provisions of this charter, or for violation of any city ordinance, rule, resolution, or other regulation of the Board of Trustees, whether in the court of original jurisdiction or in any appellate court, it shall not be necessary to plead the contents of the same, but the court before which the proceedings may be pending shall take judicial notice of this charter, and of such ordinance, rule, resolution, or other regulation, and of the contents thereof; and in all civil actions to which the city, or any officer of the city, is party, either plaintiff or defendant, the adoption and contents of any ordinance, rule, resolution, or other regulation of the Board of Trustees, may be proven prima facie by the introduction of the original entry thereof on the records of the board, a copy thereof certified by the City Clerk to be a full, true and correct copy of such original entry, or by the introduction of a printed copy published, or purporting to have been published, by authority of the city.

SEC. 272. Every officer provided for in this charter shall, before entering upon the duties of his office, take, subscribe, and file with the City Clerk the following oath: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the Constitution of the United States, and the Constitution of the State of California, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of the office of ——— to the best of my ability."

SEC. 273. The Board of Trustees of the present City of Fresno shall provide for the holding of the first election of officers under this charter, and shall canvass the votes and declare the result.

SEC. 274. All acts of the Legislature relating to the city, and all city ordinances, resolutions, and other regulations now in force and not inconsistent herewith, shall be and remain in force after this charter takes effect until changed or repealed by the proper authority; and all rights vested under any former act or regulation, when this takes effect, shall not thereby be lost, impaired or discharged; and all actions and proceedings commenced in any court wherein the city is a party, shall be continued under the law existing when said action or proceeding was commenced.

SEC. 275. Except as otherwise in this charter provided, all officers of the city shall keep their respective offices open for the transaction of business from the hours of eight in the forenoon until five in the afternoon of each day, Sundays and legal holidays excepted.

SEC. 276. No appointment made by the Mayor or by any officer, board or commission shall be based on political or partisan grounds; and all appointments shall, as far as practicable, be equally distributed among persons belonging to different political parties.

SEC. 277. Whenever there shall be presented to the Board of Trustees a petition signed by a number of voters, residents of said city, equal to fifteen per cent of the votes cast at the last preceding state, city or county election, asking that an ordinance to be set forth in such petition, be submitted to a vote of the electors of the city, the Board of Trustees must submit such proposed ordinance to the vote of the electors at the next national, state, county or municipal election.

SEC. 278. The signatures to the petition need not all be appended to one paper, but each signer shall add to his signature his place of residence, giving the street and number. One of the signers of each such paper shall make oath before an officer competent to administer oaths, that the statements therein made are true, and that each signature to the paper appended is the genuine signature of the person whose name purports to be thereto subscribed.

SEC. 279. The tickets used in such election shall contain the words "For the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance) and "Against the ordinance" (stating the nature of the proposed ordinance).

SEC. 280. If a majority of the votes cast upon such ordinance shall be in favor of the adoption thereof, the board of trustees shall within thirty days from the time of such election, proclaim such fact; and upon such proclamation such ordinance shall have the same force and effect as an ordinance passed by the Trustees and approved by the Mayor, and the same shall not be repealed by the Trustees. But the Trustees may submit a proposition for the repeal of such ordinance, or for amendments thereto, for vote at any succeeding election; and should such proposition, so submitted, receive a majority of the votes cast thereon at such election, such ordinance shall be repealed or amended accordingly.

SCHEDULE.

This charter shall be published for twenty days in the Fresno Morning Republican and the Fresno Evening Democrat and Keystone, daily newspapers of general circulation in the City of Fresno, and after such publication, viz: on Thursday, the 19th day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, it shall be submitted to the qualified electors of said city, at a special election to be held on that day, for the sole purpose of voting upon the adoption of the same; and if a majority of the qualified electors of said city, voting at said election, shall ratify the same, it shall be submitted to the Legislature of the State of California for its approval or rejection. The Board of Trustees of the present City of Fresno shall provide for the holding of the first election of officers under this charter, and give in 1901 the notice in Section 224 specified, as in the same provided, and according to law, and shall canvass the votes and declare the result. For the sole purpose of the election of the officers directed by this charter to be elected by the people, and for taxation purposes as specified in Section 224 of this charter, this charter shall take effect immediately after its approval by the Legislature; and such election shall be managed and conducted in accordance with the general election laws of the State. For all other purposes this charter shall take effect on the first Monday after the first day of July, 1901. If the Legislature approve this charter, it shall thereupon become the charter and organic law of the City of Fresno, and shall supersede the existing charter of said city and all amendments thereof and all laws inconsistent with this charter.

The form of ballots at said election shall be as follows:

For the new charter—Yes.

For the new charter—No.

BE IT KNOWN, That the City of Fresno, containing a population of more than ten thousand inhabitants, on the 10th day of April, 1899, and under and in accordance with the provisions of Section 8, of Article XI, of the Constitution of this State, did elect the undersigned a board of fifteen freeholders, to prepare and propose a charter for said city; and we, the members of said board, in pursuance of such provisions of the Constitution, and within a period of ninety days after such election, have prepared and do propose the foregoing, signed in duplicate, as and for the charter for said City of Fresno.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we have hereunto set our hands in duplicate, this 30th day of June, 1899.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
CITY OF FRESNO, COUNTY OF FRESNO. } ss.

I, the undersigned, J. B. Johnson, the duly elected, qualified and acting City Clerk of the City of Fresno, County of Fresno, State of California, do hereby certify that at all times mentioned herein the said City of Fresno was and now is a city of more than ten thousand population.

I do further certify that heretofore, to wit: on the 10th day of April, A. D. 1899, the said City of Fresno did cause a board of fifteen freeholders to be elected at its regular city election, by the qualified voters of said city, and for the purpose of framing a charter for the government of said city. That the names of said freeholders were as follows, to wit: M. K. Harris, T. G. Hart, Frank H. Short, C. S. Pierce, Ed. Schwarz, W. Parker Lyon, E. W. Risley, Alex. Goldstein, Louis Gundelfinger, Herman Levy, E. F. Bernhard, Mark Webster, James Gallagher, T. C. White, M. R. Madary.

That said freeholders and each of them at the time of their said election and for the five years continuously previous thereto were qualified electors of said city.

That within ninety days after the date of their said election, to wit: on the 30th day of June, A. D. 1899, said freeholders did prepare and propose a charter for said city, which said charter was by said freeholders, and all of them, except M. R. Madary and T. C. White, signed in duplicate, and said charter was thereupon returned, one copy to C. J. Craycroft, the chairman of the Board of Trustees of said city and the chief executive officer thereof, and the other to the Recorder of the said County of Fresno, to wit: to J. M. Kerr. That thereupon and thereafter, and within twenty days after the completion of said proposed charter, to wit: the first publication commenced on the 11th day of July, A. D. 1899, said charter was published for a period of twenty days and more in the "Fresno Morning Republican" and in "The Fresno Evening Democrat," two daily newspapers at all times herein mentioned having a general circulation in said city; and the last publication thereof was on the 4th day of August, A. D. 1899. That thereafter and within not less than thirty days after such publication, to wit: on the 19th day of October 1899, at a special election held for the purpose of voting on said charter, said charter was submitted to the qualified electors of said city, and thereupon a majority of the said qualified electors voting at the said election ratified said charter, to wit: there were at said election a total of 951 qualified electors voted, and out of said total there voted in favor of said charter 844.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and seal this 5th day of January, A. D. 1901.

[SEAL]

J. B. JOHNSON,

City Clerk of the City of Fresno, County of Fresno, State of California.

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring (a majority of all the members elected to each house voting for and concurring herein), That said charter be and the same is hereby approved as a whole for and as the charter of the City of Fresno.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 6.

Relative to forest reservation.

WHEREAS, The United States owns in California 8,000,000 acres of forest reserves; and WHEREAS, More timber is destroyed in the State every year through forest fires than is needed for five years of economic use; and

WHEREAS, Roads should be constructed and maintained, that the forests of enormous value may be accessible and may be protected from forest fires; and

WHEREAS, The services of trained foresters are needed that only trees ripe for the ax may be cut, thus introducing a system of forestry successfully used in European countries; and

WHEREAS, The inauguration of forestry as an income-producing industry would give employment to hundreds of men, notably to soldiers honorably discharged from the Government service; and

WHEREAS, Even a portion of the millions of acres of Government reserves, under a a system of forestry, would yield a revenue sufficient in amount annually to purchase all the groves of sequoias (giant trees nowhere else existing in the world) now owned by private parties; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That on behalf of the interests of the United States Government itself, we urge an appropriation by the Congress of the United States of money to be expended in the accomplishment of the objects named in the above preamble, and we instruct our Senators and request our Representatives to use their best efforts to accomplish the purposes herein recommended.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to cause a certified copy of this resolution to be forwarded by mail to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress at Washington, D. C.

NOES—Senators Lukens and Pace—2.

CONSIDERATION OF JOINT RESOLUTION.

The Secretary was directed to read Assembly Joint Resolution No. 9.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 9.

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That the Congress of the United States be respectfully and earnestly requested to immediately pass that certain bill known as the "California Mineral Lands Bill," and being the same bill drafted by the Hon. Binger Hermann, Commissioner of the General Land Office, and indorsed by the Hon. E. A. Hitchcock, Secretary of the Interior, looking to the classification and segregation of the mineral lands within the railroad land grants of the State of California.

That the immediate passage of said bill is to the utmost degree important.

That without the relief sought through the bill in question, mineral titles will remain unsettled, mineral rights incapable of satisfactory adjustment, and the mineral resources within such grants undeveloped. Capital will not seek investment under existing conditions, and the consequent loss to the industrial resources in this State is almost incalculable. In short, the necessity for the desired relief is immediate, urgent, and imperative.

Resolved further, That the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the Assembly be directed to immediately telegraph these resolutions to the Hon. President of the Senate and the Hon. Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States, through our Senators and Representatives of California, in Washington.

Resolution read.

The question being on the adoption of the resolution.

The roll was called, and Assembly Joint Resolution No. 9 adopted by the following vote:

AYES—Senators Ashe, Belshaw, Burnett, Byrnes, Caldwell, Corlett, Curtin, Cutter, Davis, Devlin, Flint, Greenwell, Hoey, Laird, Lardner, Leavitt, Luchsinger, Lukens, Maggard, Nelson, Nutt, Pace, Plunkett, Rowell, Selvage, Shortridge, Simpson, Sims, Smith of Kern, Tyrrell of Nevada, Tyrrell of San Francisco, Welch, and Wolfe—33.

NOES—None.

ADJOURNMENT.

At twelve o'clock and thirty-five minutes P. M., on motion of Senator Simpson, the Senate was declared adjourned until Friday, January 18, 1901, at eleven o'clock A. M.

IN SENATE.

SENATE CHAMBER,
Friday, January 18, 1901. }

Pursuant to adjournment, the Senate met at eleven o'clock A. M.

Lieutenant-Governor Jacob H. Neff, President of the Senate, in the chair.

The roll was called, and the following answered to their names:

Senators Ashe, Belshaw, Bettman, Burnett, Byrnes, Caldwell, Corlett, Currier, Curtin, Cutter, Davis, Devlin, Flint, Greenwell, Hoey, Laird, Lardner, Leavitt, Luchsinger, Lukens, Nutt, Oneal, Pace, Plunkett, Rowell, Selvage, Shortridge, Simpson, Sims, Smith of Kern, Smith of Los Angeles, Taylor, Tyrrell of San Francisco, Welch, and Wolfe—35.

The following communication was presented by Senator Nutt, and, at his request, was ordered printed in the Journal :

OFFICE OF CLERK OF THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO,
CITY HALL, SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA, January 15, 1901. }

To the Honorable Secretary of the Senate of the State of California:

DEAR SIR: Pursuant to instructions received by me from the Common Council of the City of San Diego, I herewith hand you a certified copy of Ordinance No. 867, adopted by the Common Council of the City of San Diego on the 14th day of January, 1901, and approved by the Mayor of said city on January 15, 1901, requesting your honorable body to adopt a resolution approving eleven certain amendments to the charter of the City of San Diego, California, ratified by the electors of said city at a special election held for that purpose in said city on the 12th day of January, 1901.

Yours respectfully,

[SEAL]

GEO. D. GOLDMAN,

City Clerk of the City of San Diego, California, and ex officio Clerk of the Common Council of the City of San Diego, California.

ORDINANCE No. 867.

An ordinance applying to the Senate and Assembly of the State of California for the passage of a concurrent resolution approving the amendments to the charter of the City of San Diego, California, ratified by the electors thereof on the 12th day of January, 1901.

WHEREAS, The Common Council of the City of San Diego, California, on the 22d day of October, 1900, adopted Ordinance No. 839 of the ordinances of said city, entitled "An ordinance proposing amendments to the charter of the City of San Diego, California, providing for the publication thereof, and describing and setting forth such amendments," which are as follows:

Amending Sub-section 53 of Section 1 of Chapter II of Article II of said charter relative to incurring indebtedness;

PRAYER.

Prayer by the Chaplain, Rev. W. C. Evans, as follows:

Our Heavenly Father, Thou art God. We thank Thee that Thou art making laws to be so widely observed. We thank Thee for the gracious life of her who has reigned so long, so wisely, and so well over our sister nation; and we pray, O Lord, that Thy blessing may this day rest upon England and her people in their bereavement. Be pleased, O God, to bless that family there, who though clad in the purple of royalty, feel their afflictions, even as we feel ours when they come upon us. And grant, O Lord, that the demise of England's gracious queen may be even more potent for the spreading of peace throughout the wide domain over which she ruled than even her wonderful life has been.

Returning to our own, we pray Thy blessing upon our President, his advisers and associates in authority; upon our State and her officers; upon this Senate in all its labors. All this we ask for Thy name's sake. Amen.

ON JUDICIARY.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 22, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Judiciary, to whom was referred certain portions of the Governor's message, among others the following:

Under the provisions of Section 6 of an Act entitled "An Act to authorize suits against the State, and regulating the procedure therein," approved February 28, 1893, (Stats. 1893, p. 58), it becomes my duty to report to your honorable bodies all judgments rendered against the State and not heretofore reported.

The following is a list of such judgments, which has been brought to my knowledge by the Attorney-General:

First—"James C. Daly, plaintiff, vs. State of California, defendant. By complaint in Superior Court, City and County of San Francisco, for $10,000, legal service in S. P. Co vs. Board of Railroad Commissioners. Judgment for plaintiff, September 3, 1898, for $11,050 and interest until paid. Stipulation waiving appeal filed November 4, 1898. Closed."

From communications received from Mr. D. E. Collins, it is made to appear that the above judgment was at some time assigned to the California Bank of Oakland, but of the correctness of this information I have no knowledge from the records.

Second—"J. R. Hanify, plaintiff, vs. State of California, defendant, Justice's Court, City and County of San Francisco. No. 91,512. Complaint filed June 25, 1896, to recover $197.70 damages caused to a lot of shingles dumped into San Francisco Bay by collapse of Fremont Street wharf. Cause tried and submitted December 20, 1898. On February 7, 1899, judgment rendered for plaintiff for $197.70 damages and $63 costs. Records of court show no satisfaction or assignment of judgment."

Third—"The People of the State of California, by Tiley L. Ford, Attorney-General of said State, plaintiff, vs. Pacific Land Improvement Company (a corporation) and Emil Wickman, defendants. Superior Court, Los Angeles County. No. 33738. Complaint filed October 25, 1899. Action to quiet title to certain lands in the town of Santa Fe Springs, County of Los Angeles, dedicated as a public park. Cause tried December 5, 1899, and on that date judgment rendered for defendants, because of insufficient proof of acceptance by the public."

Have had the same under consideration, and respectfully now make our partial report as follows, to wit:

We have drafted, and desire to introduce, the two accompanying bills, in order that the matter therein referred to may be presented to the Senate, and in order that said bills may be referred to the proper committee.

DAVIS, Chairman.

PETITION.

The following petition was presented by Senator Laird, and ordered printed in the Journal:

To the HON. J. T. LAIRD, Senator of Second Senatorial District of California :

SIR: The undersigned, who comprise the members of the bar of the County of Shasta, State of California, having a knowledge of the conditions of the litigation and other legal and business matters and transactions of said county, and believing that the salary of the Superior Judge of Shasta County as now fixed by law, both by comparison with the salaries of the Judges of other counties, and in fact, is inadequately compensated, and believing that they fairly represent the interests and wishes of the members of the bar, litigants, business men, taxpayers, and the public at large, hereby respectfully recommend such legislation and amendments of the laws of the State as will increase the present salary of such Judge from the sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) to the sum of four thousand dollars ($4,000) per annum. And in this behalf we call your attention to the great increase in the litigation and other legal business of this county, due to the establishment of large mining and other industries, and to the certainty of future increase in such business by reason of the great development of mining, agricultural, and other industries now in actual progress in said county. We firmly believe that the salary of the Judge should be reasonably proportioned to the duties performed and to be performed by him, and that the proposed raise will be reasonable, just, and equitable in every respect, and will promote justice and the proper administration of law and government.

We also believe that similar conditions prevail in the adjoining County of Siskiyou, and that the salary of the Judge of the last mentioned county should be similarly increased.

We respectfully ask that you take proper steps to secure the proposed legislation.

Respectfully,

CONSIDERATION OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Approving eleven certain amendments to the charter of the City of San Diego, in the County of San Diego, State of California, voted for and ratified by the qualified electors of the said City of San Diego at a special election held therein for that purpose on the 12th day of January, 1901.

WHEREAS, The City of San Diego, in the County of San Diego, State of California, contains a population of over eighteen thousand inhabitants, and has been ever since the year eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and is now, organized and acting under a freeholders' charter adopted under and by virtue of section eight of article eleven of the Constitution, which charter was duly ratified by the qualified electors of said city at an election held for that purpose on the second day of March, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine, and approved by the Legislature of the State of California on the sixteenth day of March, eighteen hundred and eighty-nine (Statutes of 1889, page 643,) which charter has never been amended; and

WHEREAS, The legislative authority of the said City of San Diego did by ordinance numbered eight hundred and thirty-nine of the ordinances of said city, adopted by the Board of Aldermen of said city on the twenty-second day of October, nineteen hundred, and by the Board of Delegates of said city on the twenty-ninth day of October, nineteen hundred, and approved by the Mayor of said city on the thirty-first day of October, nineteen hundred, and pursuant to section eight of article eleven of the Constitution of the State of California, duly proposed to the qualified electors of the said City of San Diego, eleven certain amendments to the charter of the said city, which said eleven amendments were and are in the words and figures following, to wit:

That sub-section fifty-three of section one of chapter two of article two of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

53. To incur an indebtedness exceeding the revenue for any fiscal year in case of great public calamity or danger, such as earthquakes, conflagrations, pestilence, invasion, or any other great or unforeseen emergency. The ordinance for such purpose must be passed by the affirmative vote of two thirds of the members of each board, and be approved by the Mayor. Before or at the time of incurring such indebtedness provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof, within forty years from the time of contracting the same. No such indebtedness shall be incurred without the assent of two thirds of the qualified electors of said city, voting at an election held for that purpose.

That article four of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby repealed.

That said charter be amended by adding thereto section twenty-six of chapter one of article five, which section shall read as follows:

Section 26. The Board of Public Works shall have full control and management of any system of water-works of which the said City of San Diego may become the owner or acquire the possession thereof by lease, and the collections of the revenues therefrom under such regulations by ordinance as the Common Council may from time to time enact, but the fixing of water rates shall remain with the Common Council. All contracts for work and material shall be made by the said Board of Public Works as herein provided for the letting of contracts for other public work, and all payrolls and all accounts for the same shall first be passed upon by the said Board of Public Works, who shall certify them to the Auditing Committee.

That chapter two of article five of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Chapter 2. The mode and manner for the improvement of streets, lanes, alleys, places, or courts in this city, where an assessment is levied for the payment of any part or portion of the expense thereof, shall be as prescribed by the general law of the State of California, relative to the improvement of streets, lanes, alleys, places, or courts in municipalities, in force at the time proceedings are taken for the improvement of the same.

That chapter three of article five of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby repealed.

That chapter four of article five of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

Chapter 4. That the mode and manner of laying out, opening, extending, widening, straightening, or closing, in whole or in part, any street, square, lane, alley, court, or place within said city where an assessment is levied upon property for the purpose of paying any part or portion of the expense thereof, shall be in accordance with the provisions of the general laws of the State of California, relative to laying out, opening, extending, widening, straightening, or closing, in whole or in part, any street, square, lane, alley, court, or place within municipalities in force at the time proceedings therefor are taken.

That chapter six of article five of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby repealed.

That section twelve of chapter two of article six of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 12. The Common Council must not for any purpose contract debts or liabilities, except in pursuance of law, nor shall such indebtedness or liabilities exceed, in any fiscal year, the income and revenue provided for such year, without the assent of two thirds of the qualified electors of the said city, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, nor unless before or at the time of incurring such indebtedness provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such indebtedness, as it falls due, and also to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal thereof on or before maturity, which shall not exceed forty years from the time of contracting the same, and proceed in accordance with the general law of the State of California in force at the time proceedings are taken for the incurring of such indebtedness, providing how bonded debts may be created. Any indebtedness or liability incurred contrary to this provision shall be void; and all contracts, authorizations, allowances, payments, and liabilities to pay, made or attempted to be made in violation of this provision shall be absolutely void, and shall never be the foundation or basis of a claim against the treasury of said city; and all officers of said city are charged with notice of the condition of the city treasury, and extent of the claims against the same.

That section thirteen of chapter two of article six of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be amended so as to read as follows:

Section 13. Whenever the Common Council shall determine that the public interest or necessity demands the acquisition, construction, or completion of any municipal buildings, bridges, sewers, water-works, water rights, reservoir sites, rights of way for pipes, aqueducts, flumes, or other conduits, or any other property or appliances suitable or proper for supplying said city or its inhabitants with water, or other municipal improvements, the cost of which will be too great to be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue of said city, the said Common Council may contract bonded indebtedness for said purposes, or any of them, and the proceedings taken for incurring such indebtedness shall be in accordance with the mode and manner prescribed by the provisions of the general laws of the State of California relative to incurring bonded indebtedness by municipalities, in force at the time such proceedings are taken. Said Common Council may also contract bonded indebtedness for any other purpose authorized by this charter or the general law of the State of California; provided, that the proceedings taken therefor shall be in accordance with the provisions of the general law in force at the time such proceedings are taken.

That section fifteen of chapter two of article six of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby repealed.

That article eight of the said charter of the said City of San Diego, California, be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

ARTICLE VIII.

SAN DIEGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The public library and reading-room shall be governed and controlled by a board of five trustees, who shall be elected in the same manner and at the same time as other city officials are elected, and shall hold office for the term of two years and until their successors are elected and qualified. Said library and reading-room shall be governed and controlled by the provisions of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to establish free public libraries and reading-rooms," approved April twenty-sixth, eighteen hundred and eighty, and the powers and duties of said board of trustees shall be as in said Act prescribed; and

WHEREAS, Said proposed amendments were, and each of them was, published for at least twenty days in the city official newspaper of said city, to wit: "The San Diego Union and Daily Bee," which is a daily newspaper printed and published, and of general circulation, in the said City of San Diego, viz: Commencing on the second day of November, 1900, and ending on the twenty-fourth day of November, 1900; and

WHEREAS, Thereafter the Common Council of said City of San Diego, on the twenty-seventh day of November, 1900, duly adopted Ordinance No. 850 of the ordinances of said city, which ordinance was approved by the Mayor of said city on the twenty-eighth day of November, 1900, and thereby called a special election to be held in said City of San Diego, on the twelfth day of January, 1901 (at least forty days after the publication of said proposals for twenty days in said daily newspaper of general circulation in the said City of San Diego, to wit: "The San Diego Union and Daily Bee"), for the purpose of submitting said proposed amendments to said charter to the electors of said city for their ratification; and

WHEREAS, At said election more than three fifths of the electors voting thereat voted in favor of and to ratify, and did ratify, each and all of said eleven proposed amendments to said charter; and

WHEREAS, The Common Council of said City of San Diego duly canvassed the returns of said special election and duly found, determined, and declared that more than three fifths of such qualified voters voting at said special election had voted for and ratified the said eleven amendments to said charter; and

WHEREAS, The said proposed amendments so ratified have been duly presented and submitted to the Legislature of the State of California for approval or rejection as a whole, without power of alteration or amendment, in accordance with section eight of article eleven of the Constitution of the State of California; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly thereof concurring (a majority of all the members elected to each house voting for the adoption of this resolution and concurring herein). That the said amendments to the said charter of the said City of San Diego, as presented and submitted to and adopted and ratified by the qualified electors of said city, be and the same are hereby approved as a whole, for and as amendments to the charter of the said City of San Diego.

ASSEMBLY JOINT RESOLUTION No. 7.

Relative to citrus fruit industry and protest against ratification of Jamaica treaty.

WHEREAS, The growing of citrus fruits is the leading industry of Southern California, supporting a population of 300,000 people; and

WHEREAS, There are over 3,000,000 orange and lemon trees in bearing, and the shipments of fruit last year amounted to 17,000 carloads, worth to the grower $6,000,000; and

WHEREAS, This industry has been built up by thirty years of great labor, patience, and expenditure on what was previously worthless arid land, at a cost of many hundreds of dollars per acre before any profit whatever was derived therefrom; and

WHEREAS, The cost of maintaining a grove (for water, cultivation, destruction of insect pests and fertilization) is great, and the freight on the fruit from California east is very much higher than by steamer from European ports or the West Indies; and

WHEREAS, The citrus fruit industry of California was threatened with disaster until the Dingley tariff bill was passed, which equalized the freight rate by increasing the duty on foreign fruit; and

WHEREAS, A reciprocity treaty with Jamaica, admitting oranges on more favorable terms, would again place our growers at a great and unreasonable disadvantage as compared with their foreign competitors; and

WHEREAS, The citrus products of Jamaica come directly into competition with our holiday trade, the best of the year; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That we respectfully and earnestly request your honorable body not to recommend the ratification of the proposed reciprocity treaty with Jamaica now pending before your committee.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by mail to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the United States Senate, and to Senators George C. Perkins and Thomas R. Bard at Washington, D. C.

THIRD-READING OF BILLS—(RESUMED).

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 10.

Relative to the establishment of a boarding school for Pit River Indians in Modoc County, California.

WHEREAS, The Pit River Indians, with the assistance of the white citizens of Modoc County, California, have forwarded to the Congress of the United States a petition asking for the establishment of an Indian boarding-school at or near Alturas, California; and

WHEREAS, The Pit River Indians entered into a solemn covenant with General George Crook, about the year eighteen hundred and sixty-five, to remain peaceful, and by said agreement were required to remain within certain territory, namely, Hot Spring and South Fork valleys, and being unfriendly with the tribe known as the Putes, whose territory was and is east of the Warner range of mountains, were by this treaty to refrain from crossing said range and coming in contact with the Putes, who were a more powerful and warlike tribe; and

WHEREAS, The Government has established at Fort Bidwell, in the said county, a boarding-school for Indians within the limits occupied by the Putes, and it being distasteful to the Pit River Indians for the reason of jealousies existing and the domineering spirit of the Putes, but few will attend while there is an existing friction between the children of the two tribes; and

WHEREAS, It is impossible for the Pit River Indians to journey back and forth to the school so situate during the winter months on account of heavy snows in the mountains and passes, and it being some fifty to seventy-five miles distant from their territory; and

WHEREAS, The Pit River Indians have faithfully kept their pledge, and have at all times remained friendly to the white settlers, and during the Modoc war of eighteen hundred and seventy-two and eighteen hundred and seventy-three they rendered such excellent service as guides, friends, and protectors of the whites; and

WHEREAS, The Chief of the Pit River Indians has felt that in consequence of the treaty spoken of, and the friendship so truly preserved and assistance rendered the Government as stated, and as they now having become farmers, laborers, and stock-raisers of this section, they ask that the Government to which they have been so loyal now grant them the advantage of education by establishing a school as requested, so that they may educate their children, now numbering some two hundred and fifty, at such a place as they may desire. Said school to be a boarding-school such as is customary for the Government to establish for this purpose; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate of the State of California, the Assembly concurring, That our Senators be instructed and our Representatives in Congress be requested to use their best endeavors to secure such legislation and appropriations as will establish the school petitioned for; and be it further

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to transmit by mail a copy of these resolutions to the Hon. George C. Perkins, Senator, and Hon. J. A. Barham, Congressman, at Washington, D. OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, }

To HON. JACOB H. NEFF, President of the Senate:

DEAR SIR: Your attention is hereby respectfully called to the following resolution (No. 1194) adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, at a meeting held January 21, 1901:

RESOLUTION No. 1194.

Resolved, That it is the sentiment of this board that horse-racing and pool-selling within the inclosure of a race-track should not be permitted to take place for a longer period than thirty days in any one county within this State during the period of one year.

Resolved, That the Legislature of the State of California, now in session, be most respectfully and earnestly requested to pass an Act limiting such horse-racing and pool-selling to a period of thirty days in each county within the State during one year.

Resolved, That the clerk of the board furnish copies in due form of the foregoing resolution to the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, and the Chairman of the San Francisco Delegation, requesting, in behalf of this board, that they give the matter their earnest attention and hearty support; provided, however, that nothing in such general law shall prevent the passage by any city or county, or city and county, of laws or ordinances preventing the selling of pools at all times.

And the Clerk is hereby directed to advertise this resolution in "The Evening Post" newspaper.

In Board of Supervisors, San Francisco, January 21, 1901.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Booth, Brandenstein, Braunhart, Comte, Curtis, D'Ancona, Fontana, Jennings, Reed, Stafford, Tobin, and Wilson.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON TAXATION AND REVENUE.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 25, 1901.

To the Senate of California:

Near the close of the legislative session of 1899 the following resolution was presented and adopted:

Resolved, That the President of this Senate appoint a committee of three Senators to fully investigate the subject of State, county, and municipal taxation and revenue, and report its findings to the session of the Legislature commencing in January, 1901.

The committee, thus created, now beg to make the following report:

Is there a better system of taxation than that now employed in this State?

That is the phase of the subject to which your committee has given its chief attention, and it feels justified in answering the question in the affirmative. The system of laying and gathering taxes in California is that employed in all the States in the Union, and the differences found in the working plans of the several States in the Union are not important. All the States look to an annual tax on fixed, tangible property for their revenues, and in all the States the same infirmities are complained of. From Maine to Texas and from Florida to California there is but one opinion as to the workings of the present system. That is, that it is inequitable, unfair, and positively unjust. Theoretically, all property is called upon to bear a share of the public burdens in exact proportion to its present value. In practice, that end is admittedly not even approached. Scarcely a fractional part of the property in any commonwealth is brought to the tax-rolls. This is especially true of personal property in its most coveted forms—money and credits.

In its report for 1898, the New Hampshire Board of Taxation says: "That whereas in 1881 the tax-rolls in that State showed of 'money on hand at interest and on deposit' the total of $17,365,505, by 1883 the amount had fallen to $9,064,008, and by 1898 it had declined to $4,838,014," and adds:

"These figures tell their own story. Year by year they have grown smaller by degrees and beautifully less. We venture the assertion that not one tenth part of the personal loans made on collateral or mortgage, nor one taxable bond in twenty, comes to the knowledge of the Tax Assessor. To the observant citizen, the immense holdings of these securities, already existing and constantly increasing, are apparent."

In Texas the law defines "money" to include "every deposit which any person owning the same, or holding in trust, and residing in the State, is entitled to withdraw in money on demand." In 1898 a report of the National Banks alone in that State, made fifteen days before the day of assessment, showed $41,326,715.18 on deposit to the credit of individuals; the Assessors found but $5,865,036 of money in the entire State.

Controller Roberts of New York says that the assessment of money and credits in that State does not represent two per cent of their value. In California the reports to the Bank Commissioners make the following showing:

Total Paid In.	July 31, 1899.	August 11, 1900.
Capital paid up	$46,801,318 62	$46,502,820 83
Reserve and profit and loss	29,123,504 78	33,132,620 15
Due depositors	256,864,395 47	279,838,089 35
Total	$332,789,218 87	$359,473,530 33
Deduct for bank premises, other real estate, and loans on real estate	132,303,931 11	130,792,768 40
Balance	$200,485,287 76	$228,680,771 93
Total money and solvent credits assessed in the entire State, as of March 1, 1900	43,847,378 00	43,847,378 00

This, of course, tells but a part of the story. There is at all times a considerable amount of money in private safes, and a very large amount of "solvent credits" held by people who are not bankers. These amounts make up a part of the assessed value of "money and solvent credits" noted above, so the proportion of the money in bank which reaches the tax-rolls is even much less than that exhibited by our table. It is much the custom to exonerate bankers for the undervaluations given to the Assessor, and while they are far from patriotic in the discharge of this duty, it is worthy of note that the people had on deposit in the banks over $200,000,000 more than the total assessment of that class of property.

A plan of assessment, resting upon the solemn oath of the citizen, which fails to reach one fifth of the unquestionable truth is not one to which a Christian people can point with much pride. For moral reasons, if for no other, the present system should be abandoned. And similar conditions exist everywhere. An examination of recent reports from many States shows that the situation in New Hampshire, Texas, and California is the situation in all the States. In his celebrated speech before the Union League (Club of Chicago) on February 22, 1898, Ex-President Harrison said: "For many years an opinion has been prevalent that the great bulk of the personal property of the State, especially of the class denominated 'securities' including stocks, bonds, notes, mortgages, and such like, has escaped taxation. With very few exceptions the great fortunes in this country are invested in such securities. The delinquency appears to be located largely in our great cities. Recent investigations of students of political science, and recent tables proposed by State officials, have disclosed an appalling condition of things. The evil seems to have been progressing until, in some of our great centers of population and wealth, these forms of personal property seem to have been almost eliminated from the tax-list."

What is true of moneys and credits is true in a somewhat less degree as to other kinds of personal property. Whether we will it or not, the country is rapidly approaching "single tax" if the present system of taxation be not abandoned or very radically changed. In this State, in 1900, there was assessed of all kinds of personal property except money and solvent credits—of livestock, machinery, stocks of goods, jewelry, and chattels—but $184,380,015. This ridiculously small amount would not be important if the apparent undervaluation was uniform on all. But it is not. The small stock of merchandise, the farmer's team and milch cow are seen, counted, and assessed, while the larger possessions of those best able to pay are only guessed at, and the guess is always low enough.

Whatever may be the cause, the present system of taxation is extremely unpopular. Citizens in all stations of life resist the demands of the tax-gatherer with a determination unapproached in any other affair of dollars. This is proven by the extreme rigor of the laws everywhere found necessary to enforce the payment of taxes. One who would propose laws one-hundredth part as drastic for the collection of bills for the food we eat, or the clothing we wear, would be written down as a "hard-hearted Shylock." The penniless tenant cannot at the moment of assessment pay his tithe to the Government, and the law says his rickety furniture shall be immediately exposed to sale. Though sickness, lack of employment, or droughts may prevent the humble homesteader from meeting his dues to his Government promptly, the cold, clammy hand of the tax-lien holds his home in a remorseless grasp, while interest and penalties eat relentlessly at its vitals. It is no apology for the system to say that the Government's agent often refuses to visit the full force of the law on the unfortunate. That only emphasizes the point we make, namely, that the spirit of our laws for the collection of taxes is more inhuman than the average servant charged with the enforcement. Nor does your committee recommend a softening of these laws. Years of experience in all the States have proven that the people will not contribute cash to the support of their Government except under the strongest compulsion. Men cheerfully give their lives and the lives of their favorite sons to the maintenance of their Government, but they will not pay their taxes if they can avoid it.

This consideration alone is sufficient to justify a most serious inquiry as to the cause. Your committee does not believe that the strong resistance to tax-paying is due to a lack of love of country, but rather that it is born of a deep-seated conviction that there are gross inequalities in the division of the Government's burdens.

At this point may we not inquire why governments are maintained? What does the taxpayer receive in return for his contribution? And is that return in proportion to the value of the property which he happens to have at the end or beginning of the year? Your committee think not, but, on the contrary, we beg to submit that the blessings of government flow more nearly in proportion to the volume of business done than in the proportion to the amount of property owned. The citizen who buys and sells millions of property during the year draws more heavily upon the vitality of his government and receives more in the way of protection and assistance than he who merely holds an equal amount of property. But under our present system, the former pays on what he happens to have on hand on a given day—a day announced long in advance, by the way, so he can prepare for its coming—while the latter pays on all he has had during the entire year. One may by trade and traffic make a fortune and the day before the first Monday in March pack his grip and journey into another State, while the modest shopkeeper or farmer, whose transactions have netted but a scanty living, remains to bear the burden of the Government which stood ready to defend and promote the operation of the former.

In view of the admitted inequalities of assessments; in view of the great unpopularity of the present system; in view of the gross injustices inflicted upon a part of the people, your committee recommends that a radical change be made in the present system of obtaining support for the Government; and that, instead of looking solely to taxes on property, that a large part of the burden be shifted to business.

This is not a new principal in taxation. Something approaching it is found in the license or "occupation taxes" collected in many States, though they are more in the nature of burdens imposed for the privilege of entering or continuing in business than on the business itself. A few States take a percentage of the gross receipts of certain business—as yet applied only to transportation, insurance, and kindred businesses. But the Federal Government is collecting a business tax with great success and with the minimum of dissatisfaction and resistance, notwithstanding the fact that its rates are far from equitable. If one sells land, the Federal Government takes its contribution. The same is true if one leases or mortgages real estate, gives a bill of sale of personal property, negotiates a loan, deals in the stocks of corporations or sends a telegram. The State can and should employ the same method, and by enlarging the scope and graduating the rates, it could secure a very large part, if not all, of the revenue needed for State and county purposes. The payments would be so tritling in themselves that they would not be felt; the flow of money into the treasuries would be gradual but continuous; business would not be embarrassed by a very heavy drain on the cash capital of the State once or twice a year, and, not least of all, the face of the hated tax-gatherer would never be seen.

Some penalties, of course, would have to be provided for the non-payment of these small dues. But if deeds and mortgages were denied recordation; if the doors of the courts were closed to the collection of invoices and notes; and if payment were stopped on checks and drafts till it was shown that the State was settled with, as evidenced by a properly canceled stamp, might we not expect the people to be reasonably prompt in settling their public dues?

The range of taxation should be as wide as possible (omitting all minor transactions) so that the rate would be low. And the rate would be low. Suppose one sells $100 worth of merchandise or produce. Now a tax of 50 cents on each $100 will support the State Government, one year with another. But the $100 engaged in this sale will participate in many other transactions during the year. If there be fifty of them, then a tax of 1 cent on each $100 transaction would provide all the revenue needed for the State. Such a burden on business would not be onerous and would not be resisted.

Owners of and dealers in real estate would, we are sure, be glad to be freed from the heavy penalties now imposed for an oversight in the payment of taxes, and much expense and annoyance would be saved in keeping land titles clear. Your committee does not believe that at present, nor, indeed, in the immediate future, can all taxes be removed from fixed property, including land. But if it can be largely reduced the cumbrous machinery now found necessary for its collection could be simplified and the penalties reduced proportionately.

This question readily suggests itself: Would not the lender shift the tax on to the borrower? And would not the wholesaler add the tax to the invoice and make the retailer pay it, the latter again charging it over to his customers? Probably they would. Legislation makes but little headway when it attempts to prevent the strong from taking some advantage of the weak. But these matters would, in a measure, equalize themselves. The rich as well as the poor are borrowers in these days; and the man who spends fifty thousand a year on his household would contribute proportionately more to his Government through the medium of the retail trade than he who can barely afford to spend a few hundred. The strong will have many transactions during the year while the weak will have but few.

The present is a propitious time to test a system of business taxes. The war tax has, in a measure, educated the people to the use of stamps, and now very soon that law is to be repealed, thus leaving the field open to the State.

Having had no authority to call for reports from public and private sources, and no funds with which to pay for compiling data on the volume and distribution of business, your committee does not hazard a bill carrying its recommendations into effect. To attempt to lay down the details of the plan proposed would be to take a leap in the dark. We submit the general idea, and ask for the judgment of this honorable body and of the people of the State.

On the gravity of the present situation, and the imperative demand for a radical change in results, we cannot conclude this report more fittingly than by quoting again from the address of General Harrison:

"It is easy to see how this offense against patriotism has grown to such proportions. The very sense that inequality is injustice has promoted it. One man sees that his neighbor is not making a conscientious tax return, and that if he returns his property honestly, he will pay disproportionately. The result is that his conscience finds a salve in the saying, 'Everybody does it.'

"Taxes are debts of the highest obligation, and no casuist can draw a sound moral distinction between the man who hides his property or makes a false return in order to escape the payment of his debt to the State and the man who conceals his property from his private creditors.

"When to this enormous and crying evil is added the corruption which it is alleged has characterized the appraisement of real estate, we have a condition of things with which we dare not palter. We must inaugurate, and at once, a system that shall equalize tax burdens. The men of wealth of our great communities should lead the movement. This great club, organized as a rallying center for loyalty and patriotic citizenship, should hear a call as loud and imperative as that which came during the years of the Civil War.

"Mr. Lincoln's startling declaration that the country could not continue to exist half slave and half free may be paraphrased to-day by saying that this country cannot continue to exist half taxed and half free.

"This sense of inequality breathes a fierce and unmeasuring anger—creates classes, intensifies social differences, and makes men willing to pay their debt in half dollars. The sacredness of these money obligations, the right of the holder to be paid in money of full value, will be clearer to these angry men if they see that these securities are paying their lawful taxes.

"Where is the moral distinction between the act of putting one's hand in his neighbor's pocket and clandestinely abstracting his pocket-book and the fraudulently shifting of a debt that I owe to another?

"The failures which have accompanied, in an increased ratio, the attempt to collect the personal property tax, have led many tax reformers to favor its total abolition, and the substitution of other forms of taxation. The failure of the wealthy holders of these intangible securities to pay their just proportion of the cost of government has stimulated a demand for special forms of taxation and for progressive taxation, with a view, in some measure, to recoup to the community the losses which are inflicted by evasion or fraudulent tax returns. These efforts should serve as a warning. The people will not consent that this state of things shall be accepted as a permanent condition."

Respectfully submitted.

INTRODUCTION OF CONCURRENT RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

By Senator Smith of Kern: Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9—Relative to revenue and taxation.

Resolution ordered to print, and referred to Committee on Revenue and Taxation.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CONFERENCE.

The following report of committee on conference was received and read:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, January 25, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Conference concerning Joint Rule 23 report that we have met a like committee of the Assembly, consisting of Assemblymen Broughton, Cowan, and Schilling, and we report that the conference committee agreed upon and recommend that the following be adopted as Joint Rule No. 23:

23. If the committee on conference fail to agree, or either the Senate or Assembly refuse to adopt the report of the committee, it shall then be in order to appoint a committee on free conference.

A committee on free conference shall consist of six members, to be appointed in the same manner as a committee on conference.

The committee on free conference are hereby empowered to suggest in their report any new amendments which they may adopt as a committee, but such amendments made by such committee shall be attached to the bill.

If the committee on free conference fail to agree, or either the Senate or Assembly refuse to adopt the report of the committee, it shall then be in order to appoint a committee on final free conference.

A committee on final free conference shall consist of six members, to be appointed in the same manner as a committee on free conference.

The committee on final free conference shall have the same powers as the committee on free conference, but the report of such committee on final free conference shall be final, and shall be accepted as such.

SECOND READING OF BILLS.

Senate Bill No. 19—An Act to regulate the sale of commercial fertilizers or material used for manurial purposes, and to provide penalties for the infraction thereof, and means for the enforcement of the Act.

During the second reading of bill, the following substitute was offered by Senator Currier:

A PROPOSED ACT

To regulate the sale of commercial fertilizers, or materials used for manurial purposes, and to provide penalties for the infraction thereof, and means for the enforcement of the Act.

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Every lot, parcel, or package of commercial fertilizers and materials to be used for manurial purposes (excepting the dung of domestic animals when sold as such) sold, offered, or exposed for sale within this State, shall be accompanied by a plainly printed label stating the name, brand, and trademark under which the fertilizer is sold, the name and address of the manufacturer, importer, or dealer, the place of manufacture, and a chemical analysis stating the percentages claimed to be therein of nitrogen, specifying the form or forms in which it is present of phosphoric acid, available and insoluble, or the total phosphoric acid, if the same is wholly derived from untreated animal bone and of potash soluble in distilled water, and in what combination present. All analyses to be made according to the methods agreed upon by the American association of official agricultural chemists. In the case of those fertilizers which consist of other and cheaper materials, said label shall give a correct general statement of the nature and composition of the fertilizer it accompanies.

SEC. 2. No person shall sell, offer, or expose for sale in this State any pulverized leather, hair, or wool waste, raw, steamed, roasted, or in any form as a fertilizer, or as an ingredient of a fertilizer, or any manure, without an explicit statement of the facts, said statement to be conspicuously affixed to every package of such fertilizer or manure, and to accompany and go with every lot, parcel, or package of the same.

SEC. 3. Every manufacturer of fish, guano, or of fertilizers the principal ingredient of which is fish or fish mash, shall, before offering the same for sale, subject it to treatment, when necessary, with sulphuric acid in such quantities as to arrest decomposition, or to such other treatment as may be approved by the Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California, at Berkeley.

SEC. 4. The manufacturer, importer, agent of, or dealer in any commercial fertilizers or materials, or materials used for manurial purposes, the selling price of which to the consumer is eight dollars ($8.00) or more per ton, shall, before the same is offered for sale, obtain a certificate of registration from the secretary of the Board of Regents of the University of California, countersigned by the Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the said University, authorizing the sale of fertilizers in this State, and shall securely fix to each lot, parcel, or package of fertilizer the word "Registered" with the number of registry. The manufacturer, importer, agent, or dealer obtaining such registry shall pay the said secretary the sum of twenty-five dollars ($25.00), to be applied as provided in section ten of this Act. Such registration shall expire on the 30th day of June of the fiscal year for which it was given; provided, the provisions of this section shall not apply to any agent whose principal shall have obtained a certificate of registration as herein provided.

Sec. 5. The Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California, in person or by deputy, is hereby authorized to take a sample, not exceeding two pounds in weight for analysis by the said Director or his deputies from any lot, parcel, or package of fertilizer, or material, or mixture of materials used for manurial purposes which may be in the possession of any manufacturer, importer, agent, or dealer; but said sample shall be drawn in the presence of said party or parties in interest or their representatives. In lots of five tons or less, samples shall be drawn from at least ten packages, or if less than ten packages are present, all shall be sampled. In lots of over five tons, not less than twenty packages shall be sampled. The samples so drawn shall be thoroughly mixed, and from it two equal samples shall be drawn and placed in glass vessels, carefully sealed, and a label placed on each, stating the name or brand of the fertilizer or material sampled, the name of the party from whose stock the sample was drawn, and the time and place of drawing, and said label shall also be signed by the said Director or his deputy making such inspection, and by the party or parties in interest or their representatives, present at the drawing and the sealing of said samples. One of said duplicate samples shall be retained by the parties whose stock was sampled and the other by the Directors of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California.

Sec. 6. The said Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California shall make, or cause to be made by his deputy, at least once in each year, analyses, in accordance with the provisions of section one, of samples taken in accordance with the provisions of section five, of at least twelve brands of fertilizers or materials, or mixture of materials used for manurial purposes offered for sale in this State, the selling price of which to the consumer is eight dollars ($8.00) or more per ton; and said analyses may include such other determinations as said director may at any time deem advisable. Should a dealer or manufacturer have for sale less than twelve different brands of fertilizers or materials, or mixtures of materials used for manurial purposes, then the total number he may be selling shall be analyzed. At the discretion of the Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station a larger number than twelve brands of fertilizers, materials, or mixture of materials used for manurial purposes, of each manufacturer or dealer, may be analyzed. Dealers in or manufacturers of fertilizers must give free access to the Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station, or his duly authorized deputy, to all the materials which they may place on the market for sale in California.

Whenever the analysis certified by the said director shall show a deficiency of not more than one half of one per cent of nitrogen or one per cent of soluble or available phosphoric acid, or one half of one per cent of potash soluble in distilled water, the statement of the manufacturer or importer as required in Section 1 of this Act shall not be deemed to be false in the meaning of this Act.

Provided, That this Act shall not apply to sales of fertilizing materials made to a registered manufacturer of fertilizers, or to sales for export outside of this State.

Provided further, That the said Director of the Agricultural Station of the University of California shall, upon the receipt of the sample of fertilizer, accompanied with a nominal fee of two dollars ($2.00), furnish to the user of said commercial fertilizer such examination or analysis of the sample as will substantially establish a conformity or non-conformity of the said fertilizer to the guarantee under which it was sold.

Sec. 7. The Director of the Agricultural Station of the University of California shall publish in bulletin form from time to time, at least annually, the results of the analyses hereinbefore provided, with such additional information as circumstances may advise.

Sec. 8. There is hereby appropriated for the use of the Agricultural Station of the University of California, at Berkeley, Alameda County, asset forth in this Act, out of any moneys in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), for the equipment of a laboratory with the chemicals and apparatus, and other incidentals necessary to the successful prosecution of the work.

Sec. 9. In order to further provide for the necessary expenses of this work, there shall be paid by the manufacturer, importer, agent, or dealer, twenty-five cents for every ton of fertilizer sold, imported, or used within the State, the selling price of which to the consumer is eight dollars ($8.00) or more per ton. A statement, sworn to by the manufacturer, importer, agent, or dealer, of such sales shall be rendered quarterly to the secretary of the Board of Regents of the University of California, accompanied by the corresponding amount of the tax as above specified; provided, that whenever the manufacturer or importer shall have paid the tax herein required for any person acting as agent or seller for such manufacturer or importer, such agent or seller shall not be required to pay the tax named in this section. On receipt of said tax and a statement, the said secretary shall issue to the manufacturer, importer, agent, or dealer a certificate of compliance with this section.

SEC. 10. All moneys, whether received from registry or analytical fees and taxes, shall be paid to the Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of California, for the use of said board in carrying out the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 11. Any party selling, offering, or exposing for sale any commercial fertilizer without the statement required by section one of this act, or with a label stating that said fertilizer contains a larger per centage of any one or more of the constituents mentioned in said Act than is actually contained therein, except as provided for in section six, or respecting the sale, disposition, or use of which all the provisions of this Act have not been fully complied with, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction shall be fined in a sum not less than fifty dollars ($50.00), and costs of the action for the first offense, and one hundred dollars ($100.00), and costs of the action for each subsequent offense. Said fines to be paid into the school fund of the county in which conviction is had.

SEC. 12. This Act shall take effect and be in force from and after July 1, 1901.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Leavitt:

To the Honorable the Legislature of California:

HONORABLE SIR: We, the Native Daughters of the Golden West, do most earnestly and respectfully invite your acceptance and favorable consideration of this petition relative to the preservation of the forests of California.

As native daughters, both as an order, through our grand officers, and as individuals (as witness the signatures to our petition), we indorse the work of the Sempervirens Club, and implore your aid to secure the preservation, in the form of a Government park, of the wonderful primeval forest of coast redwood known as the "Big Basin," and its immediate environments, located in the Santa Cruz Mountains; a solid body of magnificent redwood—the oldest specimens of plant life known.

We call upon you, our worthy and trusted representatives, to give your effective aid to this patriotic project, either by appropriating sufficient money from the State Treasury to purchase the land outright, or by instituting condemnation proceedings on the ground of public utility; in brief, to set in motion the machinery of the law immediately to save these forests from destruction.

The welfare of our entire State depends upon the prosperity of each and every section. The "Big Basin" lies in the counties of Santa Cruz and San Mateo. Its destruction means the lessening of the rainfall of Central California, and the loss of the water supply of Santa Cruz, San Mateo, and Santa Clara Counties, and of the City of San Francisco. This would be a public calamity. We pray you to avert it by saving to us, to our beloved California, and to the generations yet to come, this magnificent forest—the growth of many centuries.

For the honor of California, we are

Yours respectfully,

Ema Gett, Grand President; Genevieve Baker, Grand Vice-President; Laura J. Frakes, Grand Secretary; Dora Zmudowski, Grand Treasurer; Harriett Stoddard Lee, Grand Trustee; Mamie A. Ryan, Grand Trustee; Emma G. Foley, Grand Trustee; Stella A. H. Finkeldey, Grand Trustee; Mary J. Langford, Grand Trustee; and 1,000 members of the order.

By Senator Wolfe:

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: Your memorialists, the Mechanics' Institute of San Francisco, a commercial and literary organization organized to promote the commercial interests and to conserve the general material welfare of the mechanical arts, and of the State of California, beg leave to memorialize your honorable bodies, and for cause of petition most respectfully represent:

To the end that there shall be more water available for the irrigation of broader areas of land than is now obtainable through the unrestrained flow of water through the channels of the rivers, and to the end that an increased water supply for mining, agricultural, and mechanical purposes may be created, your petitioner asks at the hands of your honorable bodies consideration of measures which will eventuate in the storage of the flood waters of the State; the preservation of the forests as a means of conserving the rainfall, and as a further means of natural storage.

To this end your memorialists believe that a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners should be created to conduct an investigation on behalf of the State, jointly with the Federal Government; that such commissioners should serve without pay, but that an appropriation for the expenses of the investigation proposed should be made from the treasury of the State.

Your petitioner submits the draft of a bill which it has examined and approved, as a formulation of the policies herein indicated, and as an outline of the purposes of the legislation asked at your hands. The draft is presented, not in the spirit of dictation, but rather of respectful suggestion. The passage of a bill analogous to the one attached hereunto is the prayer of your petitioners, and, as in duty bound, your petitioners will ever pray.

By order of the Board of Directors of the Mechanics' Institute of San Francisco.

RODNEY KENDRICK, Vice-President.
JOS. M. CUMMING, Secretary.

AN ACT

To provide for the joint investigation with the Federal Government of the water resources of the State, and of the best methods of preserving the forests thereof; appointing a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners to conduct such investigations on behalf of the State, and making an appropriation for the expenses of such investigations.

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. There is hereby constituted a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners, composed of three citizens of the State, who shall be appointed by the Governor on or before April 1, 1901. No two of such commissioners shall be a resident of the same county.

SEC. 2. Before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, each of said commissioners shall take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and to faithfully and honestly discharge his duties as such commissioner, and shall execute and file with the Secretary of State an official bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Governor, in the penal sum of $20,000, conditional for the faithful performance of his duties under this Act.

SEC. 3. Such commissioners shall receive no salary. They shall have power to employ a secretary at a salary of not exceeding $100 per month, and shall be allowed a contingent fund of not exceeding $200 per month to defray office and actual traveling expenses, and shall at the close of their term account to the Governor for all moneys received and disbursed by them. Such commissioners may receive donations to assist them in carrying out the purposes of this Act, accounting as such commissioners for such donations.

SEC. 4. Said commissioners shall have power to enter into such contracts as may seem best to them with the lawfully authorized representatives of any department of the Federal Government for the purpose of making topographic surveys and a joint investigation of, and report on, the water resources of the State, the best methods of developing the same, and the best methods of preserving the forests; provided, however, that their expenditures for such purposes shall not be in excess of the amounts to be expended by the department of the Federal Government in collaboration with which any specific work is done. They may also in like manner and subject to the same conditions make such experiments for preserving the forests of the State as may seem best to them and to the representatives of the branch of the Federal Government authorized to undertake such experiments.

SEC. 5. In order to carry out the purposes of this Act, any person or persons employed hereunder are authorized to enter and cross all lands within this State, provided in so doing no damage is done to private property; it shall be a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in such cases, for any person or persons to willfully and maliciously remove or destroy any permanent marks or monuments made or erected by any such persons.

SEC. 6. The sum of $107,200 is hereby appropriated as a special fund for the purposes specified in this Act, and the Controller of State is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants upon such fund from time to time upon the requisition of two of such commissioners, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants.

SEC. 7. This Act shall take effect immediately.

REPORT OF STANDING COMMITTEE.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 26, 1901.

To the Honorable Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

GENTLEMEN: The Manufacturers and Producers' Association of California respectfully presents to your honorable bodies the following resolutions, unanimously adopted by its Board of Directors at a meeting held on January 23, 1901:

WHEREAS, There is an urgent necessity for the increase of our shipping facilities in order to accommodate the increasing commerce of San Francisco; and

WHEREAS, The northern end of the San Francisco harbor, with its advantages of deep water and protection from storms, should be immediately improved for the purposes above mentioned; and

WHEREAS, The manufacturers and producers of all parts of the State of California are directly interested in furnishing increased facilities for our shipping; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Manufacturers and Producers' Association of California most earnestly request the Legislature of the State to forthwith take such measures as may be required for the purpose of building a seawall along the north end of the bay of San Francisco, utilizing for such purpose the material convenient at hand, tunneling through Telegraph Hill, thus making a convenient highway for the moving of merchandise from the north-end wharves to the business parts of the city.

Resolved, That copies of these resolutions be sent to the Senate and Assembly.

Respectfully,

[SEAL.]

A. SBARBORO, President.

CHARLES E. BANCROFT, Secretary.

Senate Bill No. 18—An Act to provide for the inspection of illuminating oils, manufactured from petroleum or coal oils.

During second reading of bill, the following substitute was submitted by the committee:

AN ACT

To provide for the inspection of illuminating oils, manufactured from petroleum or coal oils.

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1 That the Governor shall appoint a suitable person, resident of the State, who is not interested in manufacturing, dealing in, or vending any illuminating oils manufactured from petroleum, as State Inspector of Oils, whose term of office shall be two years from the date of appointment, or until the successor shall be appointed and qualified. It shall be the duty of the Inspector, or his deputies, hereinafter provided for, to examine and test the quality of such oils offered for sale by any manufacturer, vendor, or dealer, and if, upon such testing or examination, the oils shall meet the requirements hereinafter specified, he shall fix the brand or device, viz: "approved," with the date over his official signature, upon the package, barrel, or cask, containing the same. And, to more effectually carry out the provisions of this Act, it shall be lawful for the State Inspector, or his deputies, to enter into or upon the premises of any manufacturer, vendor, or dealer of said oils, and, if they shall find or discover any kerosene oil, or any other product of petroleum that has not been inspected and branded, according to the provisions of this Act, they shall proceed to inspect and brand the same. And it shall be lawful for any manufacturer, vendor, or dealer, to sell the oil so tested and approved as an illuminator; but, if the oil, or product of petroleum, so tested, shall not meet said requirements, he shall mark in plain letters on said barrel, package, or cask, over his official signature, the words: "Rejected for illuminating purposes," and it shall be unlawful for the owner thereof to sell such oil or other product of petroleum, for illuminating purposes, and, if any person shall sell, or offer for sale, such rejected oil, or other product of petroleum, for such purpose, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction thereof shall be subject to a penalty, in the discretion of the court, in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars.

SEC. 2. The State Inspector, provided for in this Act, is hereby empowered to appoint a number of deputies, not exceeding eight, which deputies are hereby empowered to perform the duties of inspection, and shall be liable to the same penalties as the State Inspector; provided, that the State Inspector may remove any of the said deputies for reasonable cause. It shall be the duty of the Inspector and his deputies to provide themselves, at their own expense, with the necessary instruments and apparatus for testing the quality of said illuminating oils, and, when called upon for that purpose, to promptly inspect all oils heretofore mentioned, and to reject, for illuminating purposes, all oils which will emit a combustible vapor at the temperature of one hundred and twenty degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer; provided, that the quantity of oil used in the flash test shall not be less than a pint. The test shall be made in a test cup of metal or glass, cylindrical in shape, two and a quarter inches in diameter, and four inches deep, both measurements being made inside the cup, and this cup shall be filled to within one quarter of an inch of the brim with the oil, or other substance, to be tested, taken at the ordinary temperature; the cup shall be placed in a water-bath sufficiently large to leave a clear space of one inch under the cup, and three eighths of an inch around it, and in such manner as to project about one quarter of an inch above the water-bath; the space between the cups and the water-bath shall be nearly filled with cold water taken at the ordinary temperature, and the cup being placed in the water-bath, the latter shall be heated by an alcohol-lamp, with its flame so graduated that the rise in temperature from sixty degrees Fahrenheit to the highest heat test temperature shall not be less than two degrees per minute, and shall be as near two degrees per minute as is practicable, and shall in no case exceed four degrees per minute. A Fahrenheit thermometer shall be suspended in such a manner that the upper surface of its bulb shall be as near as practicable one quarter of an inch below the surface of the oil undergoing test; as soon as the temperature reaches the point of ninety-eight degrees Fahrenheit, the lamp shall be removed from under the water-bath, and the oil shall then be allowed to rise to the temperature of one hundred degrees Fahrenheit, by the residual heat of water, and at that point the first test for flash shall be made as follows: A taper, hereinafter described, shall be lighted, and the surface of the oil shall be touched with the flame of the taper, and it is lawful to apply this flame either to the center of the oil surface, or to any or all parts of it, but the taper itself shall not be plunged into the oil, and if no flash takes place upon the first contact of the flame with the oil, the taper shall not be held in longer contact, but shall be immediately withdrawn; if no flash takes place at the temperature of one hundred degrees Fahrenheit, the lamp shall be replaced under the water-bath, and the temperature raised to one hundred and three degrees, when the lamp shall be again withdrawn, and the oil allowed to rise to one hundred and five degrees, but the residual heat of the water, when the test shall be made at one hundred and five degrees by again applying the flame of the taper as hereinbefore specified; if no flash occurs, the test shall be repeated as often as the oil gains five degrees in temperature, three degrees with the lamp under the water-bath, and two degrees with the lamp removed; these tests shall be repeated until a flash is obtained; the Inspector shall further test the oil by applying the taper at every two degrees rise, without removing the lamp or stirring, but if a flash is obtained by this means by a less rise in temperature than five degrees herein required, he shall at once remove the lamp, stir the oil, and immediately apply the flame; the taper used for testing may be made of any wood giving a clear flame, and it shall be made as slender as possible and with a tip not more than one sixteenth of an inch in thickness; no taper or match with sulphur upon it shall be used, unless the sulphur is removed before lighting; when the taper is lighted it shall be applied to the oil immediately, that is to say, before an ash or coal has had time to form on the end of the taper beyond the flame, and in applying the taper the flame shall be made to touch the oil, but the taper itself shall not be brought in contact with the oil, and if the taper is so brought in contact with the oil, but not held there longer than for the space of one second, and the oil flashes, the test shall not thereby be vitiated, but the Inspector shall immediately remove the lamp, and again test the oil by the flame without allowing the body of the taper to touch the oil; no oil or other substance, which, by the test herein described, flashes at any temperature below one hundred and twenty degrees Fahrenheit, shall be allowed to be sold, or offered for sale, or consumed for illuminating purposes in this State. It shall be deemed a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this section to test the oil or oils herein described by an apparatus known as the "Foster cup" or Foster's automatic oil tester; and it is lawful to sell, for illuminating purposes, any oil or oils herein described, to be consumed within the State, which bear a flash test of one hundred and twenty degrees Fahrenheit, as shown by said apparatus, and the State Inspector is hereby authorized to substitute the test by the Foster cup or Foster's automatic oil tester, instead of the test by the open cup, as herein provided, if, in his judgment, by such change a greater uniformity of test throughout the State will be secured.

SEC. 3. Every person appointed a State Inspector shall, before he enters upon the discharge of the duties of his office, take an oath or affirmation, prescribed by the Constitution and laws of this State, and shall file the same in the office of the Secretary of State. The State Inspector shall execute a bond to the State of California in the sum of fifteen thousand dollars, and with such sureties as shall be approved by the State Board of Examiners, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties imposed upon him by this Act; which bond shall be for the use of all persons aggrieved by the act or neglect of such Inspector, and the same shall be filed with the Secretary of State. The Deputy Inspectors shall, before they enter upon the duties of their office, take such oath and file such bond, with like conditions as is required of the State Inspector; such bond to be in such sum as shall be required by the State Inspector, with two sureties, to be approved by the Judge of the Superior Court of the county in which said deputy may be appointed, such oath and bond to be filed in said county. Such deputy shall also forward the County Clerk's certificate of such filing to said State Inspector. Said inspectors shall collect thirteen cents for each barrel, cask, or package, containing not exceeding fifty-five gallons, and at the same proportionate rate for any excess over that quantity so inspected, and he shall pay over to the State Inspector at the commencement of each month all moneys received by him for inspection; and, in case of inspection or branding, said fee shall be a lien on the oil so inspected. It shall also be the duty of every Inspector or Deputy Inspector to keep a true and accurate record of oils so inspected and branded by him, which record shall state the date of inspection, the number of gallons rejected, the number of gallons approved, the number of gallons inspected, the number and kinds of barrels, casks, or packages, the name of the person for whom inspected, and the money received for such inspection, and said record shall be open to inspection of all persons interested. It shall also be the duty of every Deputy Inspector, at the commencement of each month, to forward to the State Inspector and State Board of Examiners true duplicate copies of such record for the preceding month. In the month of January in each year the State Inspector shall make and deliver to the Governor and Board of Public Health annual duplicate reports of inspections by himself and deputies during the preceding calendar year. All illuminating oils, manufactured or refined in this State, shall be inspected before being removed from the manufactory or refinery, or if any person or persons, whether manufacturer, vendor, or dealer, shall sell, or attempt to sell, to any persons, in this State, any illuminating oil, whether manufactured in this State or not, before having the same inspected, as provided for in this Act, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and he shall be subject to a penalty in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars; and if any manufacturer, vendor, or dealer in either or any of said illuminating oils shall falsely brand the package, cask, or barrel containing the same, as provided in sections one and two of this Act, or shall use packages, cask, or barrels having the Inspector's brands thereon, without having the oil inspected, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and he shall be subject to a penalty in any sum not exceeding three hundred dollars, nor less than one hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding six months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4. Any person selling or dealing in illuminating oils, produced from petroleum, who shall sell or dispose of any empty kerosene barrel, cask, or package, before thoroughly canceling or effacing the inspection brand on the same, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall pay a fine of one dollar for each barrel, cask, or package thus sold or disposed of; and any person who shall knowingly use any illuminating oil or products of petroleum for illuminating or heating purposes before the same has been inspected and approved by the State Inspector of Oils or his deputy, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and, on conviction, shall pay a fine in any sum not exceeding ten dollars in each case.

SEC. 5. No person shall adulterate with paraffine, or other substance, for the purpose of sale, or for use, any coal or kerosene oil to be used for lights in such manner as to render them dangerous for use, nor shall any persons sell knowingly or offer to sell, or knowingly use such adulterated oil, nor shall any person knowingly sell or offer for sale, or knowingly use any coal or kerosene oil, or any of the products thereof for illuminating purposes, which by reason of being adulterated, or for any other reason, will emit a combustible vapor at a temperature less than one hundred and twenty degrees of Fahrenheit's thermometer; provided, that the quantity used in the test shall not be less than one half pint; and provided further, that the gas or vapor from said oils may be used for illuminating purposes, when the oils from which said gas or vapor is generated are contained in closed reservoirs outside the building illuminated or lighted by said gas. Any person violating the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not more than one year, or by fine not exceeding four hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court; provided, that nothing in this Act shall be so construed as to prevent the use in street lamps of lighter products of petroleum, such as gasoline, benzine, benzole, and naphtha; provided further, that the provisions of this Act shall not apply to the use of machines or generators constructed on the principle of the "Davy safety lamp."

SEC. 6. The State Inspector shall receive an annual salary of fifteen hundred dollars. He shall be allowed such further sum as he may actually and necessarily expend in traveling expenses and prosecutions incurred in the discharge of his duties. Each Deputy Inspector shall be entitled to a salary payable monthly, the amount of such salary to be determined by the number of casks, barrels and packages actually inspected by such Deputy Inspector during the month, as follows: for each of the first ten, one dollar each; for each of the second ten, seventy-five cents; for each of the third ten, sixty cents; for each of the fourth ten, fifty cents; for each of the fifth ten, forty cents; for each of the sixth ten, thirty cents; for each of the seventh ten, twenty five cents; for each of the eighth ten, twenty cents; for each of the ninth ten, fifteen cents; for each of the tenth ten, ten cents; for each of the second hundred, eight cents; for each of the third hundred, six cents; for each in excess of three hundred, five cents; provided, that in no case shall any Deputy Inspector receive more than one hundred dollars per month as such salary. Said Deputy Inspector shall also be entitled to and allowed all actual and necessary expenses for railroad, stage and steamboat fares incurred in the discharge of his duties as such Deputy Inspector. All salaries provided for in this Act shall be retained by the State Inspector out of the money received for inspection of oil, and accounted for and paid out by him as provided for in this Act; provided, that in case the amount of money received for the inspections of oils according to the provisions of this Act, shall not be sufficient to pay the compensation and expenses of the Inspector and his deputies, as provided herein, the amount of such deficiency shall be deducted from said salaries pro rata to each.

SEC. 7. The State Inspector shall render to the State Board of Examiners, quarterly, a detailed account of all receipts and disbursements of his office, to be audited and allowed by them, if found correct; and, at the end of the year, the remaining surplus, if any, shall be paid into the State treasury.

SEC. 8. It shall be the duty of the State Inspector, or any Deputy Inspector, who shall know of the violation of any of the provisions of this Act, to enter complaint before any court of competent jurisdiction against any person so offending; and, in case the State Inspector, or Deputy Inspector, having knowledge of the violation of the provisions of this Act, shall neglect to enter complaint as required by and provided for in this section, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

SEC. 9. It shall be the duty of all District Attorneys to represent and prosecute, in behalf of the people, within their respective counties, all cases of offenses arising under the provisions of this Act.

SEC. 10. No Inspector, or Deputy Inspector, shall, while in office, traffic directly or indirectly in any article which he is appointed to inspect. For the violation of any of the provisions of this Act he shall be liable to a penalty not to exceed three hundred dollars.

SEC. 11. This Act shall take effect and be in force sixty days after its passage.

Substitute having been previously printed, was read and adopted.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

On motion of Senator Wolfe, the following message from the Governor was taken up, read, and ordered printed in the Journal, and referred to Committee on Executive Communications:

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, }
SACRAMENTO, January 31, 1901. }

To the Senate of the State of California:

I have the honor to represent to your honorable body that upon Sunday, the twenty-seventh day of this month, I received information that the United States Treasury Department had sent to this State a commission of experts to make an ex parte investigation into the condition of the public health of our State, and that some of the distinguished members of said commission were already in the city of San Francisco.

Realizing the gravity of an investigation conducted in secret, without any opportunity on the part of the State authorities to examine into the work as it is intended to be conducted by the said commission appointed by the United States Treasury Department, I deemed it of the most immediate importance to inquire of the President the reasons and purpose of this secret commission, and on the 28th instant I transmitted the following telegram to the President of the United States:

"EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, }
"SACRAMENTO, CAL., January 28, 1901. }

"The President, Executive Mansion, Washington, D. C.:

"I have been informed that Treasury Department has sent a commission of experts to this State to examine the pretended plague cases heretofore reported, as well as present health conditions, which commission is now about to commence investigations, ignoring the State authorities in the matter, and proceeding in line with reports heretofore made by Dr. J. J. Kinyoun to Surgeon-General of Marine Hospital Service.

"I hope that in this matter of vital interest to the people of California there is no intentional discourtesy on the part of officer directed by the Treasury Department to supervise this investigation.

"In this matter, which concerns deeply the welfare of this State, I respectfully request that cooperation with the State authorities by such experts should be advised, in order that the State may select eminent home bacteriologists and physicians as well as, if deemed necessary, bacteriologists and physicians from other States and countries, to examine the same suspected cases, so as to arrive at a correct and impartial conclusion.

"I dislike much now to call your attention to this matter, but the irreparable injury heretofore done to this State by unfair and ex parte examinations warrants this appeal.

"Your most obedient, humble servant,

"HENRY T. GAGE, Governor of California."

Yesterday afternoon I received from the Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury the following telegraphic reply:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., January 30, 1901.

"HON. HENRY T. GAGE, Governor, Sacramento, Cal.:

"Replying to your telegram January 29th, addressed to the President, the Commission appointed by this department embraces experts who, by reason of technical knowledge and personal experience with the disease, make it the highest possible authority. They are from great institutions of learning, entirely disconnected with any department of the Government, and are chosen from different sections of the country wholly on account of their attainments, and have been directed to call upon you for the purpose of paying their respects and acquaint you with their work. In no sense, therefore, is any discourtesy intended, and the Department desires the commission to make these investigations in its own way, unhampered by detailed instructions from the Marine Hospital Service, or any other influence. It is expected to ascertain the facts, and the Department does not feel it should hamper the commission in its method of investigating and getting at the facts. It will be independent of Dr. Kinyoun or any previous reports. Its conclusions are to be based on its own observations, and will be made known to this Department alone, and promptly forwarded to you by the Department.

"L. J. GAGE, Secretary."

From this answer of the Honorable the Secretary of the Treasury, it is apparent that State coöperation is refused, and that the investigation of the commission will be conducted wholly on such lines as will exclude any possible opportunity on the part of the State to either verify or refute any position which may now or hereafter be taken by the said commission or the United States Marine Hospital Service.

Under these circumstances, the State is now forced to rely upon an investigation pursued by a commission which it has neither invited to its territory nor in the selection of whose personnel it has had any voice.

The previous inaccurate reports respecting the existence of bubonic plague in this State, which have resulted in the injury to the reputation for health of this State, as well as in injury to its citizens, industries, and commerce, have been the consequence of a system of ex parte investigation, without opportunity of State examination or superintendence.

The repetition of such investigations upon secret lines, without public scrutiny under State authority, as have been heretofore pursued, will imperil the welfare of every citizen and inhabitant of the State, and will bring distress to the farmer, orchardist, horticulturist, manufacturer, tradesman, merchant, as well as to all our marine and land transportation companies.

The meanest criminal under the Constitution of the United States can not be denied the right of being confronted by his accusers, listening to their testimony, and subjecting them to cross-examination; and shall it be contended that the great State of California shall be unjustly denied a similar privilege in the opportunity of facing those who, impugning the public health, as the result of a secret and one-sided examination, might choose to cast an irremovable blemish upon the State's sanitary condition, on which the personal rights and property of her citizens in a large measure depend?

The State being denied a hearing, I conscientiously believe, therefore, that legislation is immediately and urgently needed by which our State may assume that general and unrestrained control over the subject of the public health within its borders which so vitally concerns her, and which is her inalienable right by virtue of her sovereignty.

Impelled by the sense of public duty, in view of this exceedingly grave situation, I rely upon the discretion of your honorable body to take such appropriate action in the premises as may be deemed advisable.

HENRY T. GAGE,
Governor of the State of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 30, 1901.

FRANK J. BRANDON, ESQ., Secretary of the Senate, Sacramento, California:

DEAR SIR: I have been directed to transmit to you the enclosed copies of resolutions adopted at an assemblage of representative citizens of the City and County of San Francisco, and ministers of the gospel of said city and county, held on Tuesday evening, January 29, 1901, for the purpose of discussing horse-racing and pool-selling in and about the City and County of San Francisco and vicinity.

Very respectfully,

JOHN E. BEHAN,
Clerk of the Assemblage of Citizens, etc.

Copy of resolutions adopted at an assemblage of representative citizens and ministers of the gospel of the City and County of San Francisco, Tuesday evening, January 29, 1901:

WHEREAS, Pursuant to call of His Honor Mayor James D. Phelan, representative citizens and ministers of the gospel of the City and County of San Francisco assembled together in mass meeting on Tuesday evening, January 29, 1901, at the chambers of the Board of Supervisors of said city and county, for the purpose of discussing the question of horse-racing and pool-selling in and about the City and County of San Francisco and vicinity; and

WHEREAS, After mature deliberation and serious consideration of the questions under discussion, conclusions were reached, and the sentiment of the meeting obtained, as follows:

Resolved, That the sense of this meeting be that it hereby indorses the action of the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco in memorializing the Legislature of the State of California to restrict horse-racing and pool-selling for a period of thirty days annually within each county of the State of California.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolution be transmitted to the State Legislature and to His Excellency Governor Henry T. Gage, with the recommendation that they lend their efforts to secure the enactment of the legislation desired.

Attest: JOHN E. BEHAN,
Clerk of the Assemblage of Citizens, etc.

The following resolution was also adopted at the aforementioned meeting, to wit:

Resolved, That public gambling is a great evil, leading to poverty, disgrace, defalcation, and death, which the records of the city abundantly prove, and its practice should be discountenanced and suppressed.

Attest: JOHN E. BEHAN,
Clerk of the Assemblage of Citizens, etc.

PETITION.

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE JOINT RESOLUTIONS NOS. 3, 4, AND 5.

Relative to Chinese and Japanese immigration to the United States.

WHEREAS, Since the ratification of the convention between the United States and the Empire of China upon the subject of emigration from China to the United States, additional territory has been acquired by the United States as well through annexation as war; and in consequence grave uncertainty has arisen as to the rights and privileges of subjects of the Empire of China to emigrate to the United States; and

WHEREAS, It is for the best interest of the State of California that our laborers be protected from the competition of Chinese, Japanese, and other alien pauper labor; and

WHEREAS, His Excellency Henry T. Gage, Governor of California, in his biennial message to the Legislature, has directed attention to the necessity and importance of legislation by the Congress of the United States relative to Asiatic immigration; and

WHEREAS, The "Chinese Exclusion Act," which has held in check the unlimited immigration of Chinese coolie labor to our shores is about to expire by limitation; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly. That our Senators be instructed and our Representatives in Congress be requested to use their best endeavors to secure the passage by Congress of a suitable measure to prevent the immigration of Chinese and Japanese coolie labor, and of all other undesirable alien labor, to the end that our laborers shall not be brought in competition with any pauper labor; and be it further

Resolved. That the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of California are requested to press the passage of such measures as urgency legislation; further, be it

Resolved. That a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by mail by the Secretary of the Senate to each of our members in Congress, to the President of the Senate of the United States, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Substitute for Senate Joint Resolutions Nos. 3, 4, and 5 having been adopted and ordered to print on a previous day.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication to Lieutenant-Governor Jacob H. Neff was received and read:

SAN FRANCISCO, February 2, 1901.

To the President of the Senate, Sacramento, Cal.:

WHEREAS, Certain bills purporting to be in the interest of the health of the State were introduced in both houses of the State Legislature at Sacramento on January 30, 1901, and apparently supplementing Assembly Bill No. 294, which provides for a State Quarantine Officer; and

WHEREAS, Said bills so introduced have, as we believe, for their ultimate end the same motive as the said Bill No. 294, with an additional lavishness of State money, and at the same time the said bills tend to greatly and uselessly magnify in the public mind a danger which is seldom present, and which the people of this State are amply protected against by and at the expense of the Federal authorities; and

WHEREAS, One of said bills appropriates $100,000 of public money, to be expended at the pleasure of the Governor of this State without restriction; and

WHEREAS, Said bills so introduced on January 30, 1901, were rushed through the State Assembly and passed second reading by said body with unseemly haste, and apparently without due, or any consideration, on February 1, 1901; and

WHEREAS, Said bills were passed with unseemly haste on the plea that an emergency existed which justified such action; and

WHEREAS, There exists no emergency in the health conditions of this State; and

WHEREAS, A quiet and orderly investigation by the Federal authorities of the health conditions of this port, said to be now in progress, does not justify a voluntary conflict with said authorities, nor create an emergency; and

WHEREAS, There exists no good reason why such legislation should not be considered with due deliberation, and be submitted to the usual and proper criticism of the people of the State before being enacted into a law; and

WHEREAS, The Federal authorities provide, at the expense of the United States Government, a complete quarantine inspection service at this port, with a station furnishing ample accommodations and care for all infected vessels and persons; and

WHEREAS, The one criticism heard regarding the said Federal quarantine service is a universal unpopularity of the chief officer thereof; and

WHEREAS, Although said unpopularity of said Quarantine Officer appears to be well founded, the same is improperly being used as an argument in favor of establishing an additional quarantine service at the expense of this State; and

WHEREAS, We believe that the appointment of a State Quarantine Officer would only result in conflict of authority, as heretofore, and not in any benefit to the State, or in the removal or displacing of the Federal service and inspection; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the several commercial organizations of the City and County and Port of San Francisco, in conference assembled at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce thereof, on this second day of February, 1901, That these organizations are opposed to the passage or adoption by the State Legislature of said bills in their present form, or to any bills without proper and deliberate consideration, or to any bill or bills that provide for a State Quarantine Officer with any authority or control over the shipping or commerce of this port; or to any bill or bills that will invite or result in a conflict with the Federal authorities on quarantine matters, or that provide for the unnecessary expenditure and consequent waste of large, or any sums, of public money; and be it

Resolved, That we earnestly protest against the adoption of the aforesaid bills, and petition the honorable members of the State Senate and Assembly that they do work and vote in accordance herewith; and be it Further resolved, That copies of these resolutions be forwarded to the members of the California State Legislature forthwith.

CERTIFICATE—We, the undersigned, hereby certify that the above preambles and resolutions were duly adopted at said meeting, and that the same have the unqualified sanction and approval of our several organized bodies:

Chamber of Commerce—By W. E. Mighell, Second Vice-President; Shipowners' Association of the Pacific Coast—By A. M. Simpson, President; Board of Trade of San Francisco—By A. A. Watkins, President, per W. R. W.; Merchants' Association of San Francisco—By F. W. Dohrmann, President; Manufacturers and Producers' Association—By A. Sbarbaro, President; Produce Exchange—By G. W. McNear, President; San Francisco Committee on Commerce—By Wm. R. Wheeler, Chairman.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 14.

Inviting the Committee on Rivers and Harbors of the House of Representatives to visit the State of California.

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That we do extend a cordial invitation to the members of the Committee on Rivers and Harbors of the House of Representatives to visit the State of California, at their earliest convenience, for the purpose of examining the water-ways and harbors of this State. The Pacific Slope is about to witness a great industrial development, and California must necessarily be the center of increased progress. The Bay of San Francisco and the great rivers that empty into it, will, in the near future, possess such a degree of importance that the whole people of the United States will demand their development as commercial water-ways to their fullest capacity. From the fact that we are distant from the seat of government we have difficulty in making our needs known, and believe that an examination of our rivers and harbors would demonstrate their importance to the country. We pledge to the committee during their sojourn in California a most hearty welcome.

Resolved, That our Senators be instructed and our Representatives requested to present this invitation to the members of said committee, and to extend to them an invitation to visit California on behalf of this State.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby requested to transmit a copy of this resolution to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress by telegraph.

NOES—None.

ON DRAINAGE.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Drainage, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 320—An Act to provide in whose name title to the site or sites for the construction of the works provided for in the Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment, duties, and compensation of a Débris Commissioner, and to make an appropriation to be expended under his directions in the discharge of his duties as such commissioner," approved March 24, 1893, and the amendments thereto.

Also: Senate Bill No. 12—An Act to validate certain acts and proceedings had under an Act of the Legislature of the State of California entitled "An Act to provide for the organization and government of drainage districts, for the drainage of agricultural lands other than swamp and overflowed lands," approved March 31, 1897.

Have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that they do pass.

Also: Senate Bill No. 214—An Act to amend Section 2 of an Act entitled "An Act providing for the appointment of an Auditing Board to the Commissioner of Public Works, authorizing and directing him and them to perform certain duties relating to drainage, to purchase machinery, tools, dredgers, and appliances therefor, to improve and rectify water channels, to erect works necessary and incident to said drainage, to condemn land and property for the purposes aforesaid, making certain acts a felony, and making an appropriation of money for the purposes of this Act," approved March 17, 1897—have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that it do pass as amended.

Also: Senate Bill No. 209—An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act to amend Sections 5, 6, and 11 of an Act entitled 'An Act to define the boundary, provide for the care, strengthening, and repairing of the levee, and for the payment of the indebtedness of Levee District No. 1 of Sutter County,' approved March 20, 1874"—have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that committee substitute do pass.

Also: Senate Bill No. 335—An Act to amend an Act entitled "An Act to provide for the appointment, duties, and compensation of a Debris Commissioner, and to make an appropriation to be expended under his direction in the discharge of his duties as such commissioner," approved March 24, 1893—have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that it be referred to the Committee on Mining.

MUENTER, Chairman.

ON FEDERAL RELATIONS.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Federal Relations, to whom was referred Assembly Joint Resolution No. 5—have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that it be adopted.

LAIRD, Chairman.

Assembly Joint Resolution No. 5 ordered on file.

ON CODE REVISION.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 5, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Code Revision, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 138—An Act to revise the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California by amending certain sections, repealing others, and adding certain new sections—have had the same under consideration, and report the same back, and respectfully recommend that the bill accompanying this report be introduced as a substitute, and that such substitute do pass.

Your committee further reports that said Senate Bill No. 138 embodies the suggestions made by the Commission for the Revision and Reform of the Law as to the revision of the Code of Civil Procedure, and embodied in their report heretofore filed with the Secretary of State.

That in considering said bill your committee met in joint sessions with a like committee of the Assembly.

That said substitute bill accompanying this report is substantially the same as Senate Bill No. 138, and is introduced in the form of a substitute for the reason that several of the provisions of the bill heretofore introduced were not adopted, and it was necessary to renumber the sections of the bill, which could not well be done by separate amendments.

Respectfully submitted.

SELVAGE, Chairman.

On motion of Senator Selvage, Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 138 was ordered to print.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 7.

Resolution as to making upon the Island of Molokai a leper hospital for the care of all lepers within the United States.

WHEREAS, There has been lately annexed to these United States a large island known as Molokai, one of the Hawaiian group; and

WHEREAS, Upon the said Island of Molokai there is a leper hospital devoted entirely to the care and cure of lepers, and which island, on account of its locality and conditions, is peculiarly adapted for such purposes; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That we hereby recognize the great necessity of having all those afflicted with leprosy confined within and upon the said Island of Molokai, both because of its isolated condition and equable climate;

Now, therefore, be it resolved by the Senate and Assembly, jointly, That our Senators in Congress be instructed and our Representatives therein requested to vote for and use all honorable means to secure such legislation as will enable every leper found within these United States, or thereafter to be found therein, to be sent to the Island of Molokai for care and treatment; and be it Further resolved, That the Governor of this State is hereby respectfully requested to transmit a copy of these resolutions to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress.

PETITIONS.

The following petitions were presented, and ordered printed in the Journal:

By Senator Simpson:

To the Honorable Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

We, the undersigned citizens and taxpayers of the State of California, desire to enter an earnest protest against the bill now pending before the Legislature of this State purporting to regulate the practice of medicine. It is announced through the public press that the bill is largely aimed at Christian Science. In behalf of that rapidly growing cause we urge that the bill, in so far as its terms may be construed to interfere with the healing of the sick as it is practiced by that church, is in violation of individual rights and in the interests of special privilege. Ostensibly, the bill is intended to protect the community from malpractice; in reality, its motive is to restrict competition, and create the monopoly of treating disease to those who bear the credentials of an established and recognized school.

In effect, you are asked by this bill to sit as censors upon a large and rapidly growing class of your constituents, and to declare that they have no rights which you are bound to respect.

You are asked to say by your acts that there is but one class of people worthy of the name or entitled to perform the office of healers of the sick, or alleviators of pain and disease.

You are asked by this bill to declare that the citizens of this State have neither the right to get well nor to die without the aid of those who hold licenses as medical practitioners.

You are asked to say that sick people must take drugs and medicines prescribed by these gentlemen, whether they wish to or not, or that they shall not accept any other method of treatment.

You are asked in spirit and effect to say that all who refuse thus to be dictated to are ignorant and unworthy citizens and incapable of self-judgment or of knowing their own minds.

Christian Science is a form of religious profession and worship, and its method of healing the sick is but an incident of its exercise.

We therefore protest that the bill, so far as it is aimed at Christian Science, is in violation of the Constitution of this State, which guarantees to all citizens the free exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship without discrimination or preference.

Very respectfully submitted.

R. W. Burnham, Mercantile Agency; A. H. Naftzer, Fruit Exchange; Ben E. Ward, City Assessor; A. C. Carter, Fruit Grower; J. Ross Clark, General Manager Los Alamitos Sugar Co.; W. E. Brown, Wholesale Commission; C. C. Wright, Attorney-at-law; J. B. Alexander, Commercial Agent; William Pridham, and forty-six others.

By Senator Wolfe:

To the Senate and Assembly of the State of California:

Your memorialist, the Redlands Board of Trade, a commercial organization, organized to promote the commercial interests and to conserve the general material welfare of Redlands, and of the State of California, begs leave to memorialize your honorable bodies, and for cause of petition most respectfully represents:

To the end that there shall be more water available for the irrigation of broader acres of land than is now obtainable through the unrestrained flow of water through the channels of the rivers, and to the end that an increased water supply for mining, agricultural, and mechanical purposes may be created, your petitioner asks at the hands of your honorable bodies consideration of measures which will eventuate in the storage of the flood waters of the State; the preservation of the forests as a means of conserving the rainfall, and as a further means of natural storage.

To this end your memorialist believes that a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners should be created to conduct an investigation on behalf of the State jointly with the Federal Government; that such commissioners should serve without pay, but that an appropriation for the expenses of the investigation proposed should be made from the treasury of the State.

Your petitioner submits the draft of a bill which it has examined and approved, as a formulation of the policies herein indicated, and as an outline of the purposes of the legislation asked at your hands. The draft is presented, not in the spirit of dictation, but rather of respectful suggestion. The passage of a bill analogous to the one attached hereunto is the prayer of your petitioner, and, as in duty bound, your petitioner will ever pray.

By order of the Board of Directors of Redlands Board of Trade.

By EDWARD S. GRAHAM, President.
G. C. THAXTER, Secretary.

AN ACT

To provide for the joint investigation with the Federal Government of the water resources of the State, and of the best methods of preserving the forests thereof; appointing a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners to conduct such investigations on behalf of the State and making an appropriation for the expenses of such investigations.

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows :

SECTION 1. There is hereby constituted a Board of Water and Forest Commissioners, composed of three citizens of the State, who shall be appointed by the Governor on or before April 1, 1901. No two of such commissioners shall be a resident of the same county.

SEC. 2. Before entering upon the discharge of the duties of his office, each of said commissioners shall take an oath or affirmation to support the Constitution of the United States and of this State, and to faithfully and honestly discharge his duties as such commissioner, and shall execute and file with the Secretary of State an official bond, with good and sufficient sureties, to be approved by the Governor, in the penal sum of $20,000, conditional for the faithful performance of his duties under this Act.

SEC. 3. Such commissioners shall receive no salary. They shall have power to employ a secretary at a salary of not exceeding $100 per month, and shall be allowed a contingent fund of not exceeding $200 per month to defray office and actual traveling expenses, and shall at the close of their term account to the Governor for all moneys received and disbursed by them. Such commissioners may receive donations to assist them in carrying out the purposes of this Act, accounting as such commissioners for such donations.

SEC. 4. Said commissioners shall have the power to enter into such contracts as may seem best to them with the lawfully authorized representatives of any department of the Federal Government for the purpose of making topographic surveys and a joint investigation of and report on the water resources of the State, the best methods of developing the same, and the best methods of preserving the forests; provided, however, that their expenditures for such purposes shall not be in excess of the amounts to be expended by the department of the Federal Government in collaboration with which any specific work is done. They may also in like manner and subject to the same conditions make such experiments for preserving the forests of the State as may seem best to them and to the representatives of the branch of the Federal Government authorized to undertake such experiments.

SEC. 5. In order to carry out the purposes of this Act, any person or persons employed hereunder are authorized to enter and cross all lands within this State; provided, in so doing no damage is done to private property; it shall be a misdemeanor, punishable as provided in such cases, for any person or persons to willfully and maliciously remove or destroy any permanent marks or monuments made or erected by any of such persons.

SEC. 6. The sum of $107,200 is hereby appropriated as a special fund for the purposes specified in this Act, and the Controller of State is hereby authorized and directed to draw warrants upon such fund from time to time upon the requisition of two of such commissioners, and the State Treasurer is hereby authorized and directed to pay such warrants.

SEC. 7. This Act shall take effect immediately.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION No. 13.

Relating to the restraint of interstate traffic in convict-made goods.

WHEREAS, The following bill is now before the Senate of the United States, having passed the House of Representatives on May 21, 1900, viz :

56th Congress, 1st Session.

H. R. 5450.

In the Senate of the United States, May 23, 1900. Read twice, and referred to the Committee on Education and Labor.

An Act to limit the effect of the regulation of interstate commerce between the several States in goods, wares, and merchandise wholly or in part manufactured by convict labor or in any prison or reformatory.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That all goods, wares, and merchandise, manufactured wholly or in part by convict labor or in any prison or reformatory, transported into any State or Territory or remaining therein for use, consumption, sale, or storage, shall, upon arrival in such State or Territory, be subject to the operation and effect of the laws of such State or Territory to the same extent and in the same manner as though such goods, wares, and merchandise had been manufactured in such State or Territory, and shall not be exempt therefrom by reason of being introduced in original packages or otherwise Passed the House of Representatives May 21, 1900.

Attest: A. McDOWELL, Clerk.

WHEREAS, Free labor and the manufacturing industries in the State of California suffer particularly from the large importation and sale of convict-made goods, the product of other States; and

WHEREAS, This unjust and vicious competition can only be met by judicious legislation by our National Government; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That we instruct our Senators and earnestly request our Representatives in Congress from this State to use every means in their power to secure the early passage and approval of the aforesaid bill, thereby enabling this State to furnish proper protection to its labor and manufacturing industries; and be it further

REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES—(OUT OF ORDER).

ON HEALTH.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 6, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Health, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 261—An Act authorizing and directing the State Board of Health to conduct examinations relative to the purity of foods, drinks, and drugs, to enforce laws relating thereto, and making an appropriation to pay the expenses of such examinations.

Also: Assembly Bill No. 560—An Act to prevent the introduction, and provide for the investigation and suppression of contagious or infectious diseases, and appropriating money to be used for such purpose.

Have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that they do pass, and be referred to the Committee on Finance.

Also: Senate Bill No. 310—An Act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons in the State of California.

Also: Senate Bill No. 319—An Act to insure the better education of practitioners of dental surgery, and to regulate the practice of dentistry in the State of California, providing penalties for the violation hereof, and to repeal an Act now in force relating to the same and known as "An Act to insure the better education of practitioners of dental surgery, and to regulate the practice of dentistry in the State of California, approved March 12, 1885."

MAGGARD, Chairman.

Senate Bill No. 264 and Assembly Bill No. 560 referred to Committee on Finance.

Senate Bills Nos. 310 and 319 and Assembly Bill No. 240 ordered on file for second reading.

ON HEALTH—(MINORITY REPORT).

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 6, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: The minority of your Committee on Health, to whom was referred Assembly Bill No. 560, hereby report, and recommend that said bill do not pass. Our reasons for so doing are, in part, as follows:

In 1893 the Legislature passed an Emergency Act, during the excitement attending the introduction of cholera into our Eastern coasts, creating a fund of $50,000, to be used by the State Board of Health, under the direction of the Governor.

In seven years, there were used of this fund $12,595.44. Since the beginning of 1900, there have been used $9,201.73, leaving a balance in the fund of $28,202.93. This, in our judgment, is sufficient to meet any emergency likely to arise in the near future, and if an emergency should arise, the State Board of Examiners would have the power to authorize the necessary expenditures.

The raising by taxation of $100,000 at this time for possible, but improbable, use, we consider inadvisable, and calculated to augment the feeling of uncertainty and fear in California and elsewhere relative to health conditions in San Francisco.

CHESTER ROWELL.
H. L. PACE.

ON JUDICIARY.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 6, 1901.

MR. RESOLUTION—(OUT OF ORDER).

By Senator Maggard:

Resolved, That the members of the special committee of two from the Senate Committee on Hospitals, one from the Committee on Health, three from the Committee on Reformatories, and two unattached, ordered to visit and inquire into the needs of the several institutions located in Southern California, be reimbursed for the actual traveling expenses to the amount of $917.20, and that the Controller of State be directed to draw his warrant for the said amount in favor of the Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate, and that the same be charged to the Contingent Fund of the Senate, and the State Treasurer is hereby directed to pay said warrant.

Resolution read, and referred to Committee on Contingent Expenses.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following report of special committee was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE INVESTIGATING STATE INSTITUTIONS IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Your special committee, to whom was referred the following:

"Resolved, That Senators Rowell and Laird, of the Committee on Hospitals; Senators Maggard and Pace, of the Committee on Health; Senators Fred M. Smith, Devlin, and Bettman, of the Committee on Reformatories; and Senators Caldwell of San Bernardino, and Welch of San Francisco, be and they are hereby granted leave of absence for one week for the purpose of visiting the State School at Whittier, the Normal School at Los Angeles, the State Hospital at Patton, and the Normal School and Quarantine Station at San Diego, in order that the needs of these various institutions may be thoroughly inquired into and reported in detail to the Senate, and that they be allowed their actual expenses."

Your committee left Sacramento on January 26th, arriving at Whittier on January 28th, at 11 A. M., where organization was perfected at the State School by the selection of Senator W. F. Maggard as chairman, and Albert Searl as clerk of the committee. The work of inspection of the various institutions enumerated in the resolution as adopted by the Senate was then mapped out in detail. Your committee began its labors at the Whittier State School, and spent twenty-four hours inspecting the male and female departments of that institution, which is located at Whittier, twenty miles south of Los Angeles. The school is situated on a tract of one hundred and sixty acres, the boys' department and the administration buildings being located on the west end of the tract, and the girls' department half a mile away, on the east end of the tract.

This institution has been laboring under a great disadvantage for the past eighteen months, owing to the burning of the refectory building, in which was located the dining-room for the boys and the dining-room for the officers, as well as the kitchen, bakery, butcher-shop, commissary department, and various other offices. The two houses of the Legislature have, during the present session, enacted the necessary legislation, appropriating $15,000 for the restoration of this burned building, and the Governor has signed the same. The emergency in this matter, reported to the Senate in the early days of the present session, was not in any way exaggerated.

The object of the Whittier State School is to care for boys and girls who through vicious surroundings, or because of other reasons, have shown a tendency toward incorrigibility and crime; give them thorough discipline in work, military training, and a common school education. From careful observation the members of this committee believe that this institution is fulfilling its object. The school is at present hampered by having inadequate accommodations and equipment for teaching blacksmithing, carpentry, and house and carriage painting. The Board of Trustees expect the State at this time to grant the necessary appropriations for building and equipment for the purposes stated. It was a surprise to the members of this committee to note the interest which the boys took in their work in all of these departments, and we believe it to be the duty of the State to foster this line of education. The military training in connection with the boys' department has undoubtedly an excellent influence, and it was reported to us that nearly one hundred of the boys of the school had been in the army and the navy in the Philippines, their training at the school having gained them a preference when they went to enlist. The institution has its own farm and dairy, and the boys are learning practical work in these lines. The trustees are requesting at this time a small appropriation for additional livestock, and the same, if the condition of the State's finances justify the outlay, should be granted.

Girls' Department.

In the girls' department of the school your committee found everything scrupulously clean, and the pupils apparently bright and happy. Besides being taught sewing, laundry work, cooking, and other domestic branches, the girls are given a common school education, and those showing exceptional talent are taught the rudiments of vocal and instrumental music.

There is, in our opinion, no work which the State of California is doing that is more necessary and profitable than this work of giving these unfortunate boys and girls a fair chance in life, which is the aim and work of the Whittier State School.

The State Normal School and the U. S. Quarantine Station at San Diego.

Your committee visited San Diego on January 29th, and on the same day made a thorough inspection of the Quarantine Station and the Normal School there located. The former is entirely under the jurisdiction of the General Government, and its management and operation appeared to be all that could be desired. There has not been at San Diego that friction between certain officers of the United States Government and of the State of California that has recently been noticeable elsewhere.

The San Diego Normal School has a slightly location, commanding a beautiful view of the surrounding country, and of fairly easy access. The institution has now been in operation for nearly four years, and it appears to be filling a long-felt want. Its present needs are estimated by those in authority to include: One room for kindergarten purposes, two rooms for manual training, three rooms for museum, and four for physical training. The first three branches are at present omitted, owing to lack of space, and the physical training is given out of doors. The drawing, clay-modeling, and chemistry classes now meet in a temporary wooden building. The school was opened November 1, 1898, with 83 students, and the total enrollment for the first year was 135 students; the total for the second year was 218 students, and the enrollment on January 1, 1901, 234 students. The management of the school expected that the present enrollment would be increased in February, by the admission of the second term class, to 260 or more. The total number of graduates to date has been 26, all of whom are teaching in the public schools of this State.

The estimates for the next two fiscal years aggregate $43,500, which sum includes a proposed new west wing to cost $35,000; architects' and other building fees about $3,500, and $5,000 for equipment. A new assembly room has been asked for, as provided in the original plans of the building, to cost, with furnishing and equipment, $4,000. A new library is desired at a cost of $1,000, and a plan for ventilating and heating the entire building, to cost $10,000. For the improvement of the grounds the sum of $2,500 is requested—making a total of $81,000. The people of San Diego have promised assistance in beautifying the school grounds.

The State Hospital at Highlands.

One of the best managed and most intelligently conducted public institutions of the State is the Hospital, or Insane Asylum, located at Highlands, near Patton Station, on the Southern California Railway, in San Bernardino County, and your committee desires at this time to express its gratification, and to commend the work of the management of this particular institution.

The asylum at the time of our visit contained a total of 600 patients, of which number we found 49 sleeping on the floors, 25 sleeping in the basement, and a large number in the corridors and hallways, the circles between the two wings being entirely filled. The total number of patients sleeping on the floors aggregated 86, of whom 37 were women and there are enough of these unfortunates to fill a new ward building as soon as completed. The completion of one additional wing would therefore leave the hospital in about its present condition, and those in control would soon again be compelled to fall back once more on the ward floors and basements for relief.

The estimates for maintenance during the next two fiscal years include $110,000 for salaries. The present salary appropriation is $3,815 a month, and the necessities of the institution, according to the management, demand a painter, a landscape gardener, assistant baker, assistant physician, and at least twelve additional attendants for the new wing. The medical staff of the institution at this time consists of a superintendent and one assistant. For maintenance the sum of $6,542 per month is asked, as against $5,416.66 per month, which is the present appropriation, the increase being based upon the expected increase of patients in the institution during the next two years, at the rate of $150 each, per year.

The hospital requires a storm drain, which is badly needed, and would be, when completed, a protection to a most valuable piece of State property. New boilers are also needed, those now in use being badly shaken, loose, and apt to go to pieces at any time. The unfinished appearance of the building and the need, apparent to the committee, for a structure for business and administrative purposes, leads us to believe that this should be constructed as soon as possible.

State Normal School at Los Angeles.

Your committee visited this institution on January 31st. The school is one of the oldest in the State, being in charge of Edward T. Pierce, LL.B., Ph.D., as president. There are students enrolled from all parts of the country, and the total number of graduates were, up to June 30, 1900, 1,129. The school is located within a few minutes' ride of the business portion of the city of Los Angeles, and the management appeared, to us, to be all that could be desired. A single appropriation of $10,000 is desired for gymnasium purposes, the $20,000 appropriated for this purpose two years ago being still unexpended, as it was found at the time to be entirely inadequate.

The school asked only for what is absolutely necessary to carry out the provisions of the bill passed in 1899, viz., to enlarge its practice school quarters and provide for new rooms for manual training. At present, in several instances, three teachers are using two rooms, making it necessary to shift work in such a way as to keep them from interfering with each other.

There are many other pressing needs of the school, which are not asked for at this time. One great demand is for a new library building. At present the school has for library purposes only a small room 18x60 feet, and this is for the accommodation of 600 students. It is necessary to distribute books in different rooms far apart from each other, making it very inconvenient for study and for reference. The school needs one large library, where all the students can go for work at the same time, if necessary.

There is need of a new heating plant, that will serve all parts of the institution. At the present time, the old part of the building is heated by stoves. The new part of the main building, built eight years ago, is heated by hot air from a boiler and engine in the basement. This is not adequate for both heating and ventilation, besides being somewhat dangerous to the building, placed where it is. The chemical laboratory is heated by a stove, and the gymnasium is not heated at all, not even in the dressing rooms. It will be necessary, as soon as possible, to put in a new heating plant outside of the buildings and to serve them all. This will be cheaper, much more efficient, safer, and more satisfactory generally.

These improvements are not asked for at this time, because of the necessity for keeping down State expenses. The appropriation for $10,000 would not have been asked for had there not been such a great increase in price of material since the last sum became available, thus making it impossible to carry out the provisions of the bill enacted two years ago.

In Conclusion.

Your committee desires to call attention to the fact that while the practice heretofore in this Senate has been to send out upon tours of investigation committees larger in number, the practice of selecting two or three members from each of the several committees, who will later have the various subjects affected in charge, appears to us to be the most desirable, both as a measure of economy to the State, as well as when viewed in the light of the results generally desired to be accomplished. It appears to us eminently proper that the members of this Senate, especially the particular committees having in charge the matters treated in this report, should be able to judge of the necessities of the various institutions of the State desiring aid, financial or otherwise, at the hands of this Senate, and it appears to us that this information can only be obtained at first hand through the means of personal observation.

Respectfully submitted.

COMMUNICATION.

The following communication, received by the President of the Senate, was read, and ordered printed in the Journal:

OFFICE OF CLERK OF THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS, }
SAN FRANCISCO, February 6, 1901. }

HON. JACOB H. NEFF, President of the Senate:

DEAR SIR: Your attention is hereby respectfully called to the following resolution, No. 1242, adopted by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco, at a meeting held February 4, 1901:

WHEREAS, The Legislature is now entertaining measures to establish a State quarantine service, involving the appropriation of $100,000 of public money, thus imposing a burden on the taxpayers of the State, and also providing for an additional tax on shipping; and

WHEREAS, There is no necessity nor demand either from the people or the commercial interests for such legislation, but, on the contrary, there is general and organized opposition to it; and

WHEREAS, It is the policy of the city and State to encourage shipping, which, under the proposed bills, will have to pay fees and tolls, already onerous and oppressive; and

WHEREAS, The Federal Government has just equipped a detention station at this port at a cost of $150,000, and spends annually $50,000 for its maintenance; and

WHEREAS, The Federal Quarantine Service, especially in view of our increased intercourse with the Orient, is an assurance to other States and to the people of the country that the public health will be protected against the dangers of imported disease, which recently afflicted Honolulu and Sydney, and therefore is valuable to the State of California and the City of San Francisco and their business, commercial, and tourist interests; and

WHEREAS, A dual service, Federal and State, is productive of unseemly friction, is costly, burdensome, and unnecessary; therefore, be it

Resolved by the Board of Supervisors of the City and County of San Francisco (the community most interested in the proposed legislation), That for these reasons the Legislature be and it is hereby memorialized not to pass the bills now before it appropriating moneys, imposing a tax on shipping, and providing for the appointment of State quarantine officers.

And the Clerk is hereby directed to advertise this resolution in the "Evening Post" newspaper.

In Board of Supervisors, San Francisco, February 4, 1901.

Adopted by the following vote:

Ayes—Supervisors Booth, Buxton, Brandenstein, Braunhart, Comte, Connor, Curtis, D'Ancona, Dwyer, Fontana, Hotaling, Jennings, McCarthy, Tobin, Wilson.

Absent—Supervisors Reed, Sanderson, Stafford.

ON CODE REVISION.

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 8, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Code Revision, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 140—An Act to revise the Civil Code of the State of California by amending certain sections, repealing others, and adding certain new sections—have had the same under consideration, and report the same back, and respectfully recommend that the bill accompanying this report be introduced as a substitute, and that such substitute do pass.

Your committee further report that said Senate Bill No. 140 embodies the suggestions made by the Commission for the Revision and Reform of the Law, as to the revision of the Civil Code, and embodied in their report heretofore filed with the Secretary of State.

That in considering said bill, your committee met in joint sessions with a like committee of the Assembly. That said substitute bill accompanying said report is substantially the same as Senate Bill No. 140, and is introduced in the form of a substitute, for the reason that several of the provisions of the bill heretofore introduced were not adopted, and it was necessary to renumber the sections of the bill, which could not well be done by separate amendments.

Respectfully submitted.

SELVAGE, Chairman.

Substitute for Senate Bill No. 140 ordered to print.

Senate Bill No. 124—An Act authorizing the incurring of indebtedness by cities, towns, and municipal corporations for municipal improvements, and regulating the acquisition, construction, or completion thereof.

Senate Bill No. 367—An Act to amend Section 14 of an Act entitled "An Act creating a Board of Bank Commissioners and prescribing their duties and powers," approved March 30, 1878, and as amended by an Act approved March 10, 1887, and as amended by an Act approved March 25, 1895, relating to the powers and duties of such Bank Commissioners.

Senate Joint Resolution No. 10—Relative to the establishment of a boarding-school for Pit River Indians in Modoc County, California.

Senate Bill No. 45—An Act making an appropriation to pay the claim of the City of Sacramento for water furnished the State of California during the forty-ninth and fiftieth fiscal years.

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 127—An Act to appropriate the sum of $150,000 to be used in the construction of works for the restraining and impounding of débris resulting from mining operations, natural erosions, and other causes, and for the purchase of sites therefor, and to provide for the manner of spending such appropriation.

Senate Bill No. 160—An Act to provide for the payment of the claim of Claus Spreckels against the State of California, and appropriating money therefor.

Senate Bill No. 117—An Act to validate proceedings for the reorganization of municipal corporations taken since the passage of the Act entitled "An Act to provide for the organization, incorporation, and government of municipal corporations," approved March 13, 1883.

And report that the same have been correctly enrolled, and presented the same to the Governor on this 12th day of February, 1901, at ten o'clock and fifty minutes A. M.

NELSON, Chairman.

At eleven o'clock and twenty minutes A. M., Hon. C. M. Belshaw, State Senator from the Eleventh Senatorial District, in the chair.

MOTION TO POSTPONE RECONSIDERATION LOST.

Senator Shortridge moved that his notice of motion to reconsider vote whereby Assembly Bill No. 284—An Act for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery in the State of California, and for the appointment of a Board of Medical Examiners in the matter of said regulation—was on a previous day finally passed, be postponed till the next legislative day.

Motion lost.

At eleven o'clock and thirty minutes A. M., Hon. Thomas Flint, Jr., President pro tem. of the Senate, in the chair.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

In compliance with his notice given on yesterday, Senator Shortridge moved a reconsideration of the vote whereby Assembly Bill No. 284—An Act for the regulation of the practice of medicine and surgery in the State of California, and for the appointment of a Board of Medical Examiners in the matter of said regulation—was finally passed.

Senator Cutter moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table.

Motion to lay on the table carried.

Senator Currier asked for and was granted unanimous consent to take up Substitute for Senate Bill No. 18 for purpose of amendment.

THIRD READING OF BILL.

Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 18—An Act to provide for the inspection of illuminating oils manufactured from petroleum or coal oils.

Read third time.

Senator Currier moved to refer to Senator Cutter, as a special committee of one, to amend as follows:

Amend by striking out of the title the words "to provide for the inspection of illuminating oils manufactured from petroleum or coal oils," and inserting the following: "To add a new section to the Penal Code, to be numbered 380a, and to regulate the marking, identifying, and sale of products of crude oil and petroleum used for illuminating and fuel purposes."

Also: By striking out all after the enacting clause, and inserting the following:

"SECTION 1. A new section is hereby added to the Penal Code of the State of California, numbered three hundred and eighty a, as follows:

"Section 380a. The products of crude oil, or petroleum, that are to be used for illuminating or fuel purposes, may only be offered for sale under the following regulations and restrictions, viz: Benzole, gasoline, naphtha, and distillate must be sold under their true names, respectively, and such name must be impressed, or otherwise plainly shown, upon the barrel, can, or vessel in which the same is sold, offered, or exposed for sale, respectively, or upon a label conspicuously and securely fastened thereto; and every barrel, can, or vessel of kerosene or coal oil that is sold, offered, or exposed for sale shall be in like manner plainly marked or labeled with the word 'kerosene,' or 'coal oil,' and with the degree Fahrenheit below which the same will not flash, and the degree Fahrenheit of fire test. No kerosene shall be sold, offered, or exposed for sale which will not stand a fire test of 115 degrees Fahrenheit. The test by which the degree of flash or fire test shall be made is the open Tagliabue electric cup. Said label, impress, or other mark hereinbefore required to be placed upon each barrel, can, or vessel containing kerosene or coal oil, shall also specify the altitude or barometric pressure at which the guaranteed test has been made.

"It shall be a violation of the provisions of this section if any statement hereby required is false in regard to the article sold, or offered for sale, or in the case of kerosene or coal oil, if the marked flash test or fire test on the package or label is higher in degrees than the said article will actually stand under the test hereinbefore specified, and the person, firm, or corporation violating any of these provisions is guilty of a misdemeanor.

"SEC. 2. This Act shall take effect six months from and after its passage."

Motion carried.

POINT OF ORDER.

Senator Smith of Kern raised the point of order that the proposed amendment was not an amendment to the Substitute for Senate Bill No. 18, but a substitution to Senate Bill No. 18, and therefore not germane.

The President pro tem. declared the point of order well taken.

THIRD READING OF BILLS—(RESUMED).

MR. PRESIDENT: Your Committee on Reformatories, to whom was referred Senate Bill No. 517—An Act to provide for the purchase of library books, periodicals, and magazines for the Whittier State School, located at Whittier, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and to make an appropriation for the same.

Also: Senate Bill No. 518—An Act to provide for the building of a blacksmith shop, wood-working and carpenter shop, and for the necessary machinery for equipping and operating the same at the Whittier State School, located at Whittier, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and to make an appropriation for the same.

Also: Senate Bill No. 519—An Act to provide for the purchase of sewing machines for replacing the sewing machines now worn out in the tailor shop and girls' department of the Whittier State School, located at Whittier, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and to make an appropriation for the same.

Also: Senate Bill No. 520—An Act to provide for the purchase and installation of additional bathtubs for the girls' department of the Whittier State School, located at Whittier, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, and to make an appropriation for the same.

Have had the same under consideration, and respectfully report the same back, and recommend that they do pass, and be referred to the Committee on Finance for further consideration.

F. M. SMITH, Chairman.

Senate Bills Nos. 517, 518, 519, and 520 referred to Committee on Finance.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE—(OUT OF ORDER).

The following report of special committee was received, and ordered printed in the Journal:

SENATE CHAMBER, SACRAMENTO, February 12, 1901.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee appointed to visit San Quentin and Folsom prisons desire to report that we have made an inspection of the aforesaid prisons, and, although lack of time prevented our making more than a cursory examination, we found the discipline, sanitary condition, and general conduct of affairs good. At the time of the committee's visit to San Quentin, the books of that institution were in the hands of an expert for examination, by order of the State Board of Prison Directors, for the purpose of inquiring into the defalcations of ex-Clerk C. J. Walden, and for this reason, and also for lack of time, your committee did not make an examination of the books of that institution. However, your committee is satisfied that the methods by which the main office keeps in touch with the product of the jute mill, and the disposal of that product, are not sufficiently perfected to permit of an accurate knowledge at all times of the business affairs of the jute mill.

Your committee is of the opinion that some investigation should be made relative to obtaining a cheaper fuel for the jute mill.

From investigation duly made, your committee is also of the opinion that, from an economical standpoint, it would not be advisable to establish an electric light plant at this institution.

The machinery at Folsom seems to be in good condition, with the exception of the air compressor, which has been in use a number of years, and is now in need of repair. We favor the idea of putting in another, and larger, air compressor, in order that a considerable amount of the water-power, which is now going to waste, may be made available for the use of the prison. We are not in favor of the purchase of a new lathe, as we consider the one now installed sufficient for the needs of that institution.

In view of the fact that lack of time prevented your committee from making a thorough investigation of the affairs of San Quentin and Folsom State prisons, we recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the President of the Senate is hereby authorized and empowered to appoint a committee of three hold-over Senators, which committee shall visit and investigate the affairs of the State prisons at San Quentin and Folsom, both as to business matters and management of the aforesaid institutions, and shall make a report thereon to the thirty-fifth session of the Legislature. Said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to do any and all things necessary to make a full and complete investigation as above mentioned; and is hereby authorized to send for persons and papers, to administer oaths, to examine witnesses and compel their attendance, and do all other things necessary for a full and complete investigation.

Such committee is hereby authorized and empowered to employ such clerks and stenographers as in their judgment shall be necessary.

The Superintendent of State Printing is hereby directed to print such matters as said committee may require, at any time. Said committee shall be entitled to, and receive, payable out of the Contingent Fund of the Senate, such sums as may be necessary to defray their necessary traveling expenses, and to pay the clerks and stenographer employed by them, under and by virtue of this resolution.

CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL ORDER.

The hour for the consideration of special order heretofore set for this hour—being the consideration of Senate Bill No. 138—having arrived, the same was taken up.

Senate Bill No. 138—An Act to revise the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California, by amending certain sections, repealing others, and adding certain new sections.

During second reading of bill, the following Committee Substitute for Senate Bill No. 138 was read and adopted:

COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE BILL No. 138.

An Act to revise the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California, by amending certain sections, repealing others, and adding certain new sections.

WHEREAS, The Legislature of the State of California did, by an Act approved on the twenty-eighth day of March, eighteen hundred and ninety-five, create "The Commission for the Revision and Reform of the Law" among other things, to revise and examine the Code of Civil Procedure of the State of California and to report such revision and examination to the Legislature; and whereas, pursuant to said Act, the Governor of the State of California did appoint said commission; and whereas, said commission did thereafter, in pursuance of said Act, file with the Secretary of State a report recommending among other things a revision of the Code of Civil Procedure; now, therefore, in view of said recommendation, and for the purpose of revising said code,

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section five of the Code of Civil Procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 5. The provisions of this code, and every amendment thereto, so far as they are substantially the same as existing statutes, or the common law, must be regarded as continuations thereof, and not as new enactments.

SEC. 2. Section eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 8. No action or proceeding commenced before this code, or any amendment thereto, takes effect, and no right accrued, are affected by its provisions, but the proceedings therein must conform to the requirements of this code, or of such amendment, as far as applicable.

SEC. 3. Section nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 9. When a limitation or period of time prescribed in any existing statute for acquiring a right or barring a remedy, or for any other purpose, has begun to run before this code, or any amendment thereto, goes into effect, and the same or any limitation is prescribed in this code, or in such amendment, the time which has already run shall be deemed part of the time prescribed as such limitation by this code, or by such amendment.

SEC. 4. Section eleven of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 5. Section seventeen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 17. Words used in this code in the present tense include the future as well as the present; words used in the masculine gender include the feminine and neuter; the singular number includes the plural, and the plural the singular; the word "person" includes a corporation as well as a natural person; the word "county" includes "city and county"; writing includes printing and typewriting; oath includes affirmation or declaration; and every mode of oral statement, under oath or affirmation, is embraced by the term "testify," and every written one in the term "depose"; signature or subscription includes mark, when the person cannot write, his name being written near it by a person who writes his own name as a witness.

The following words have in this code the signification attached to them in this section, unless otherwise apparent from the context.

1. The word "property" includes both real and personal property;
2. The words "real property" are coextensive with lands, tenements, and hereditaments;
3. The words "personal property" include money, goods, chattels, things in action, and evidences of debt;
4. The word "month" means a calendar month, unless otherwise expressed;
5. The word "will" includes codicil;
6. The word "writ" signifies an order or precept in writing, issued in the name of the people, or of a court or judicial officer; and the word "process" a writ or summons issued in the course of judicial proceedings;
7. The word "state," when applied to the different parts of the United States, includes the District of Columbia and the territories; and the words "United States" may include the district and territories;
8. The word "section," whenever hereinafter employed, refers to a section of this code, unless some other code or statute is expressly mentioned.

SEC. 6. Section eighteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 18. No statute, law, or rule is continued in force, because it is consistent with the provisions of this code on the same subject; but in all cases provided for by this code, all statutes, laws, and rules heretofore in force in this state, whether consistent or not with the provisions of this code, unless expressly continued in force by it, are repealed and abrogated. This repeal or abrogation does not revive any former law heretofore repealed, nor does it affect any right already existing or accrued, or any action or proceeding already taken, except as in this code provided.

SEC. 7. Section twenty-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 8. Section twenty-seven of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 9. Section twenty-eight of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 10. Section twenty-nine of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 11. Section thirty of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 12. Section thirty-one of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 13. Sections thirty-three to forty-six, inclusive, and forty-eight to fifty-five of said code, both inclusive, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 14. Sections sixty-five to sixty-nine of said code, both inclusive, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 15. Sections seventy to seventy-nine of said code, both inclusive, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 16. Section ninety-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 91. All legal process of every kind in actions, suits, or proceedings in said justices' court, shall be issued by the said justices' clerk, and the fees for issuance and service of all such process, and all other fees which are allowed by law for any official services of justices, justices' clerk, or sheriff, shall be exacted and paid in advance into the hands of said clerk, and be by him daily, or weekly, or monthly, as the supervisors may require, and before his salary is allowed, accounted for in detail, under oath, and paid into the treasury of such city and county, as part of the special fee fund thereof. Such payment in advance must not be exacted from parties who may prove to the satisfaction of the presiding justice that they have a good cause of action, and that they are not of sufficient pecuniary ability to pay the legal fees; and no judgment shall be rendered in any action before said justices' court, or any of said justices, until the fees allowed therefor, and all fees for previous services therein, which are destined to be paid into the treasury, have been paid, except in cases of poor persons, as hereinbefore provided.

SEC. 17. Section one hundred and three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 103. There shall be at least one justice's court in each of the townships of the state for which one justice of the peace must be elected by the qualified electors of the township, at the general state election next preceding the expiration of the term of office of his predecessor. In any county where, in the opinion of the board of supervisors, the public convenience requires it, the said board may, by order, provide that two justices' courts may be established in any township, designating the same in such order; and in such case one justice of the peace must be elected in the manner herein provided for each of such courts. In every city or town of the third and fourth class there must be one justice of the peace, and in every city or town of the second class there must be two justices of the peace, to be elected in like manner by the electors of such cities, or towns, respectively; and such justices of the peace of cities or towns, and justices' courts of cities or towns, shall have the same jurisdiction, civil and criminal, as justices of the peace of townships, and township justices' courts. Said justices of the peace of cities, and justices' courts of cities, shall also have jurisdiction of all proceedings for the violation of any ordinance of any city in which courts are established, both civil and criminal, and of all actions for the collection of any license required by any ordinance of any such city, or town; and generally exercise all powers, duties, and jurisdiction, civil and criminal, of police judges, judges of the police court, recorder's court, or mayor's court, within such city. No person is eligible to the office of justice of the peace in any city or town of the first, second, or third class (or of any township composed in whole or in part of either), who has not been admitted to practice law in a court of record; and no justice of the peace is permitted to practice law before another justice of the peace in the city, town, or county in which he resides, or to have a partner engaged in the practice of law in any justice's court in such city, town, or county. Every city justice of the peace in any city or town of the fourth class shall receive a salary of fifteen hundred dollars per annum, and every city justice of the peace in any city or town of the second or third class shall receive a salary of two thousand dollars per annum; and each justice of the peace shall be provided by the city or town authorities with a suitable office in which to hold his court. Where the compensation of the justice of the peace of any city or town is by salary, it shall be paid by warrants drawn each month upon the salary fund, or, if there be no salary fund, then upon the general fund, of such city or town, such warrants to be audited and paid as salaries of other city officials. All fees which are chargeable by law for services rendered by such city justices of the peace in the cities or towns aforesaid shall be by them, respectively, collected, and on the first Monday of each month every such city or town justice of the peace shall make a report, under oath, to the city or town treasurer, of the amount of fees so by him collected, and pay the amount so collected into the city or town treasury, to the credit of the general fund thereof. Said salaries shall be the sole compensation of said city justices.

SEC. 18. Section one hundred and fifteen of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 19. Section one hundred and thirty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 134. No court, other than the supreme court, shall be open for the transaction of judicial business on any of the holidays mentioned in section ten, except for the following purposes:

1. To give, upon their request, instructions to a jury when deliberating on their verdict;
2. To receive a verdict or discharge a jury;
3. For the exercise of the powers of a magistrate in a criminal action, or in a proceeding of a criminal nature.

Injunctions and writs of prohibition may be issued and served on any day.

SEC. 20. Section one hundred and thirty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 135. If any day mentioned in section ten be a day appointed for the holding or sitting of any court, other than the supreme court, it shall be deemed adjourned to the next succeeding judicial day.

SEC. 21. Section one hundred and forty of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 22. Section one hundred and forty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 144. If suitable rooms for holding the superior courts and the chambers of the judges of said courts are not provided in any county by the supervisors thereof, together with the attendants, furniture, fuel, lights, and stationery, sufficient for the transaction of business, the courts, or the judge or judges thereof, may direct the sheriff of the county to provide such rooms, attendants, furniture, fuel, lights and stationery; and the expenses incurred, certified by the judge or judges to be correct, are a charge against the county treasury, and must be paid out of the general fund thereof.

SEC. 23. Section one hundred and fifty-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 24. Section one hundred and fifty-seven of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 25. Section one hundred and sixty-one of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 26. Section one hundred and seventy of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 170. No justice, judge, or justice of the peace must sit or act as such in any action or proceeding:

1. To which he is a party or in which he is interested;
2. When he is related to either party, or to an officer of a corporation which is a party, or to an attorney, counsel, or agent of either party, by consanguinity or affinity, within the third degree, computed according to the rules of law;
3. When, in the action or proceeding, or in any previous action or proceeding involving any of the same issues, he has been attorney or counsel for either party; or when he has given advice to either party upon any matter involved in the action or proceeding.

4. When either party makes and files an affidavit that he believes that he cannot have a fair and impartial trial before any judge of a court of record about to try the case by reason of the prejudice or bias of such judge, he must forthwith secure the services of some other judge, of the same or another county, to preside at the trial of said action or proceeding. In an action in the superior court of a county having more than one department, said action shall be transferred to another department thereof, and tried therein in the same manner as though originally assigned to such department. The affidavit or affidavits alleging the disqualification of a judge must be filed and served upon the adverse party, or the attorney for such party, at least one day before the day set for trial of such action or proceeding. Counter affidavits may be filed at least one day thereafter, or such further time as the court may grant for filing such counter affidavits, not exceeding five days, and for this purpose the court may continue the trial. In no one cause or proceeding can more than one such change of judges be had. The provisions of this section do not apply to the arrangement of the calendar, the regulation of the order of business, the power of transferring the action or proceeding to some other court, nor the hearing upon such affidavits and counter affidavits.

Sec. 27. Section one hundred and ninety-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 198. A person is competent to act as a juror if he is:

1. A citizen of the United States of the age of twenty-one years, and not exceeding sixty-five years, who has been a resident of the state one year, and of the county ninety days, before being selected and returned;
2. In possession of his natural faculties, and of ordinary intelligence, and not decrepit;
3. Possessed of sufficient knowledge of the English language; and
4. Assessed on the last assessment roll of the county, on property belonging to him, or a member of a partnership whose property is so assessed.

Sec. 28. Section one hundred and ninety-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 199. A person is not competent to act as juror:

1. Who does not possess the qualifications prescribed by the preceding section; or,
2. Who has been convicted of any malfeasance in office, or of any felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude.

Sec. 29. Section two hundred and forty-one of said code be amended to read as follows:

Section 241. Every superior court, whenever in the opinion of the court the public interest requires it, may make and file with the county clerk an order directing a jury to be drawn, and designating the number, which, in case of a grand jury, must not be less than twenty-five nor more than thirty. In all counties having less than three superior court judges, there must be one grand jury drawn and impaneled in each year; and in all counties having three or more superior court judges, there must be two grand juries drawn and impaneled in each year. Such order must designate the time at which the drawing will take place. The names of such jurors must be drawn, the list of names certified and summoned, as provided for drawing and summoning trial jurors; and the names of any persons drawn, who may not be impaneled upon the grand jury, may be again placed in the grand-jury box.

Sec. 30. Section two hundred and sixty-nine of said code be amended to read as follows:

Section 269. The judge or judges of any superior court in the state may appoint a competent phonographic reporter, or as many such reporters as there are judges, to be known as official reporter or reporters of such court, and to hold office during the pleasure of the judge or judges appointing them. Such reporter, or any one of them, where there are two or more, must, at the request of either party, or of the court in a civil action or proceeding, and on the order of the court, the district attorney, or the attorney for defendant in a criminal action or proceeding, take down in shorthand all the testimony, the objections made, the rulings of the court, the exceptions taken, and all statements, remarks, and arguments of counsel, and all statements and remarks made and oral instructions given by the judge; and if directed by the court, or requested by either party, must, within such reasonable time after the trial of such case as the court may designate, write out the same, or such specific portions thereof as may be requested, in plain and legible longhand, or by typewriter, or other printing machine, and certify to the same as being correctly reported and transcribed, and when directed by the court, file the same with the clerk of the court.

Sec. 31. Section two hundred and seventy-three of said code be amended to read as follows:

Section 273. The report of the official reporter, or official reporter pro tempore, of any court, duly appointed and sworn, when transcribed and certified as being a correct transcript of the testimony and proceedings in the case, is prima facie evidence of such testimony and proceedings.

Sec. 32. Section two hundred and seventy-four of said code be amended to read as follows:

Section 274. For his services, the official reporter is entitled to the following fees, except in counties where a statute provides otherwise:

For reporting testimony and proceedings, ten dollars per day, which amount, when more than one case is reported in one day, must be apportioned by the court between the several cases;

For transcription, for one copy, twenty cents per hundred words; for two copies made at one time, fifteen cents each per hundred words; for three copies made at one time, eleven cents each per hundred words; for four copies made at one time, nine cents each per hundred words; and for five or more copies made at one time, eight cents each per hundred words.

In criminal cases, the fees for reporting and for transcripts ordered by the court to be made must be paid out of the county treasury upon the order of the court; provided, that when there is no official reporter in attendance, and a reporter pro tempore is appointed, his reasonable expenses for traveling and detention must be fixed and allowed by the court and paid in like manner.

In civil cases, the fees for reporting and for transcripts ordered by the court to be made must be paid by the parties in equal proportions, and either party may, at his option, pay the whole thereof; and, in either case, all amounts so paid by the party to whom costs are awarded must be taxed as costs in the case. The fees for transcripts and copies ordered by the parties must be paid by the party ordering the same. No reporter must be required to perform any service in a civil case until his fees therefor have been paid to him or deposited with the clerk of the court.

In each county in which a salary is provided by law for the official reporter, he must collect in advance, and pay into the county treasury, all fees herein provided to be paid by private parties which are, by such law, required to be paid into the county treasury.

SEC. 33. Section two hundred and eighty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 280. The clerk of the supreme court must keep a roll of attorneys and counselors admitted to practice by the court of which he is clerk, which roll must be signed by the person admitted before he receives his license.

SEC. 34. Section two hundred and eighty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 281. If any person shall practice law in any court, except a justice's or police court, without having received a license as attorney and counselor, or shall advertise or hold himself out as practicing or entitled to practice law, he shall be guilty of a contempt of the court in which he shall so practice, or respecting which he shall advertise or hold himself out as practicing, or entitled to practice.

SEC. 35. Section two hundred and eighty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 287. An attorney and counselor may be removed or suspended by the supreme court, or any department thereof, or by a superior court, for either of the following causes, arising after his admission to practice:

1. His conviction of a felony or a misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, in which case the record of conviction is conclusive evidence;

2. Willful disobedience or violation of an order of the court requiring him to do or forbear an act connected with or in the course of his profession, which he ought in good faith to do or forbear, and any violation of the oath taken by him, or of his duties as such attorney and counselor;

3. Corruptly or willfully and without authority appearing as attorney for a party to an action or proceeding;

4. Lending his name to be used as attorney and counselor by another person who is not an attorney and counselor;

5. Failing, refusing, or neglecting, if an alien, to become a citizen of the United States for six months after the time when entitled to such citizenship.

In all cases where an attorney is removed or suspended by a superior court, the judgment or order of removal or suspension may be reviewed on appeal by the supreme court.

SEC. 36. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered three hundred and to read as follows:

Section 300. The measure and mode of compensation of attorneys and counselors at law are left to the agreement, express or implied, of the parties; and no attorney or counselor at law shall have any lien whatever for his compensation except by express agreement between himself and his client. If by agreement in writing he is given any lien upon the recovery to be had in an action or proceeding, and such agreement is filed with the clerk of the court and entered upon the register in such action or proceeding, such filing and entry shall from its date be sufficient notice to all persons of the lien.

SEC. 37. Section three hundred and four of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 38. Section three hundred and twenty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 325. For the purpose of constituting an adverse possession by a person claiming title not founded upon a written instrument, judgment or decree, land is deemed to have been possessed and occupied in the following cases only:

1. Where it has been protected by a substantial enclosure;

2. Where it has been usually cultivated or improved;

3. Where, within defined boundaries, it has openly been so used as to exclude other persons therefrom.

SEC. 39. Section three hundred and twenty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 328. If a person entitled to commence an action for the recovery of real property, or for the recovery of the possession thereof, or to make any entry or defense founded on the title to real property, or to rents or services out of the same, is, at the time such title first descends or accrues, either:

1. Under the age of majority;

2. Insane;

3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge, or in execution upon conviction of a criminal offense, for a term less than life;—The time during which such disability continues is not deemed any portion of the time in this chapter limited for the commencement of such action, or the making of such entry or defense, but such action may be commenced, or entry or defense made, within the period of five years after such disability shall cease, or after the death of the person entitled who shall die under such disability, but such action shall not be commenced, or entry or defense made, after that period.

SEC. 40. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered three hundred and twenty-nine and to read as follows:

Section 329. In no case must adverse possession be considered established unless the party, his predecessors or grantors, have for a period of five years continuously paid all the taxes, state, county, and municipal, which during that period have been levied upon the land or interest claimed.

Sec. 41. Section three hundred and fifty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 352. If a person entitled to bring an action mentioned in chapter three of this title is, at the time the cause of action accrued, either:

1. Under the age of majority;
2. Insane;

3. Imprisoned on a criminal charge, or in execution under the sentence of a criminal court, for a term less than life;—The time of such a disability is not a part of the time limited for the commencement of the action.

Sec. 42. Section three hundred and fifty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 355. If an action is commenced within the time prescribed therefor, and a judgment therein for the plaintiff is reversed on appeal, the plaintiff, or if he dies and the cause of action survives, his representatives, may commence a new action within one year after the reversal. If a judgment for the possession of property is not appealed from, or, if appealed from, is affirmed, the possession held by the defendant and those claiming under him from the commencement of the action to its final determination must not be deemed adverse to the plaintiff for the purpose of creating or completing title by prescription.

Sec. 43. Section three hundred and sixty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 362. Neither this title, nor any amendment thereto, extends to any action commenced before this title or such amendment takes effect, nor to cases where the time prescribed by the law in force prior to the taking effect of this title or such amendment, for acquiring a right or barring a remedy, should, at that time, have fully run; but the laws in force at the time that this title or such amendment takes effect are applicable to such actions and cases, and are repealed subject to the provisions of this section.

Sec. 44. Section three hundred and sixty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 367. Every action must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest, except as provided in section three hundred and sixty-nine. A person to whom a cause of action has been assigned merely for collection, and with no interest in the title other than a commission on, or share in, the cause assigned or the amount collected, is not the real party in interest within the meaning of this section. But a plaintiff suing on a cause of action accruing in his own favor may join therewith any cause of action held by him by assignment, though such assignment is merely for collection.

Sec. 45. Section three hundred and seventy of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 370. A married woman may sue or be sued, and may prosecute or defend any action or proceeding, as if unmarried.

Sec. 46. Section three hundred and seventy-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 375. A father, or in case of his death or desertion of his family, the mother, may prosecute as plaintiff for the seduction of the daughter, though she was not living with or in the service of the plaintiff at the time of the seduction or afterwards, and there was no loss of service.

Sec. 47. Section three hundred and seventy-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 376. A father, or in case of his death or desertion of his family, the mother, may maintain an action for the injury or death of a minor child, when such injury or death is caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another. Such action may be maintained against the person causing the injury or death, or if such person is employed by another person who is responsible for his conduct, also against such other person.

Sec. 48. Section three hundred and seventy-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 377. When the death of a person, not being a minor, is caused by the wrongful act or neglect of another, his heirs or personal representatives may maintain an action for damages against the person causing the death, or if such person is employed by another who is responsible for his conduct, then also against such other person. In every action under this and the two preceding sections, such damages may be given as under all the circumstances of the case may be just.

Sec. 49. Section three hundred and eighty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 386. A defendant against whom an action is pending upon a contract, or for specific personal property, may, at any time before answer, upon affidavit that a person not a party to the action makes against him, and without any collusion with him, a demand upon such contract, or for such property, upon notice to such person and the adverse party, apply to the court for an order to substitute such person in his place, and discharge him from liability to either party, on his depositing in court the amount claimed on the contract, or delivering the property, or its value, to such person as the court may direct; and the court may, in its discretion, make the order. The person substituted as defendant must, within ten days after the service on him of a copy of such order and of the complaint in the action, plead to the same, and set forth his claim under such contract or to such property. Otherwise, the plaintiff is entitled to judgment for the money or property so deposited or delivered. And whenever conflicting claims are or may be made upon a person for or relating to personal property, or the performance of an obligation, or any portion thereof, such person may bring an action against the conflicting claimants to compel them to interplead and litigate their several claims among themselves. The order of substitution may be made, and the action of interpleader may be maintained, and the applicant or plaintiff be discharged from liability to all or any of the conflicting claimants, although their titles or claims have not a common origin, or are not identical, but are adverse to and independent of one another.

SEC. 50. Section three hundred and eighty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 387. Any person may, before the trial, intervene in an action or proceeding, who has an interest in the matter in litigation, in the success of either of the parties, or an interest against both. An intervention takes place when a third person is permitted to become a party to an action or proceeding between other persons, either by joining the plaintiff in claiming what is sought by the complaint, or by uniting with the defendant in resisting the claims of the plaintiff, or by demanding anything adversely to both the plaintiff and the defendant, and is made by complaint, setting forth the grounds upon which the intervention rests, filed by leave of the court and served upon the parties to the action or proceeding who have not appeared, and upon the attorneys of the parties who have appeared, who may answer or demur to it within ten days from the service thereof.

SEC. 51. Section three hundred and eighty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 388. When two or more persons, associated in any business, transact such business under a common name, whether it comprises the names of such persons or not, the associates may be sued by such common name, the summons in such cases being served on one or more of the associates; and the judgment in the action shall bind the joint property of all the associates and the individual property of the party or parties served with process, in the same manner as if all had been named defendants and had been sued upon their joint liability.

SEC. 52. Section three hundred and eighty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 389. The court may determine any controversy between parties before it: when it can be done without prejudice to the rights of others, or by saving their rights; but when a complete determination of the controversy cannot be had without the presence of other parties, the court must then order them to be brought in, and to that end may order amended and supplemental pleadings, or a cross-complaint to be filed, and summons thereon to be issued and served. And when, in an action for the recovery of real or personal property, or to determine conflicting claims thereto, a person, not a party to the action, but having an interest in the subject thereof, makes application to the court to be made a party, it may order him to be brought in, by the proper amendment.

SEC. 53. Section three hundred and ninety of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 54. Section three hundred and ninety-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 392. Actions for the following causes must be tried in the county in which the subject of the action, or some part thereof, is situated, subject to the power of the court to change the place of trial, as provided in this code:

1. For the recovery of real property, or of an estate or interest therein, or for the determination, in any form, of such right or interest, and for injuries to real property;
2. For partition of real property;
3. For the foreclosure of all liens and mortgages on real property.

Where the real property is situated partly in one county and partly in another, the plaintiff may select either of the counties, and the county so selected is the proper county for the trial of such action.

SEC. 55. Section three hundred and ninety-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 394. An action against a county may be commenced and tried in such county, unless such action is brought by a county, in which case it may be commenced and tried in any county not a party thereto. Whenever an action is brought by a county or city against residents of another county or city, or a corporation doing business in the latter, the action must be, on the motion of the defendant, transferred for trial to a county, other than the plaintiff, if the plaintiff is a county, and other than that in which the plaintiff is situated, if the plaintiff is a city.

SEC. 56. Section three hundred and ninety-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 395. In all other cases, the action must be tried in the county in which the defendants, or some of them, reside at the commencement of the action. If none of the defendants reside in the state, or, if residing in the state, and the county in which they reside is unknown to the plaintiff, the same may be tried in any county which the plaintiff may designate in his complaint, and if the defendant is about to depart from the state, such action may be tried in any county where either of the parties reside, or service is had, subject, however, to the power of the court to change the place of trial, as provided in this code. If any person is improperly joined as a defendant, or has been made a defendant solely for the purpose of having the action tried in the county where he resides, his residence must not be considered in determining which is the proper county for the trial of the action.

SEC. 57. Section three hundred and ninety-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 396. If the county in which the action is commenced is not the proper county for the trial thereof, the action may, notwithstanding, be tried therein, unless the defendant at the time he answers or demurs, files an affidavit of merits, and demands, in writing, that the trial be had in the proper county.

SEC. 58. Section three hundred and ninety-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 397. The court may, on motion, change the place of trial in the following cases:

1. When the county designated in the complaint is not the proper county;
2. When there is reason to believe that an impartial trial cannot be had therein;
3. When the convenience of witnesses and the ends of justice would be promoted by the change;
4. When from any cause there is no judge of the court qualified to act.

SEC. 59. Section four hundred and six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 406. The clerk must indorse on the complaint the day, month, and year that it is filed; and at any time within one year thereafter the plaintiff may have a summons issued; and if the action is brought against two or more defendants, who reside in different counties, may have a summons issued for each of such counties at the same time. But at any time after the complaint is filed, the defendant may, in writing, or by appearing and answering or demurring, waive the issuing of summons.

SEC. 60. Section four hundred and seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 407. The summons must be directed to the defendant, signed by the clerk, and issued under the seal of the court, and must contain:

1. The names of the parties to the action, the court in which it is brought, and the county in which the complaint is filed;
2. A direction that the defendant appear and answer the complaint within ten days, if the summons is served within the county in which the action is brought; within thirty days, if served elsewhere;
3. If the action is upon a contract, and the complaint demands judgment for money or damages, a notice that unless the defendant so appears and answers, the plaintiff will take judgment for such amount, naming it; and, in all other cases, a notice that unless the defendant so appears and answers, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint.

SEC. 61. Section four hundred and eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 408. If the summons is returned without being served on any or all of the defendants, or if it has been lost, the clerk, upon the demand of the plaintiff, may issue an alias summons, in the same form as the original.

SEC. 62. Section four hundred and nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 409. At any time after the commencing of an action affecting the title to, or the right to the possession of, real property, any party thereto may record in the office of the county recorder of the county in which such property, or any part thereof, is situate, a notice, signed by himself or his attorney, of the pendency of the action, stating the names of the parties thereto, and describing the property in that county affected thereby. Only from the filing of such notice for record shall a purchaser or incumbrancer of such property be deemed to have constructive notice of the pendency of the action, and only of its pendency against parties designated by their real names. Persons claiming any interest in, or lien upon, such property, under any writing executed by any of the parties named in such notice, but which writing has not at the time of filing such notice for record been filed for record in such county, are deemed to have constructive notice of the pendency of such action, and may intervene therein, and, whether they do so or not, are bound by the judgment and precluded from thereafter asserting any such interest or lien.

SEC. 63. Section four hundred and ten of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 410. The summons may be served by the sheriff of the county where the defendant is found, or by any other person over the age of eighteen years, not a party to the action. A copy of the complaint must be served with the summons, upon each of the defendants. When the summons is served by the sheriff, it must be returned, with his certificate of its service, and of the service of any copy of the complaint, where such copy is served, to the office of the clerk from which it issued. When it is served by any other person, it must be returned to the same place with an affidavit of such person of its service, and of the service of a copy of the complaint, where such copy is served.

SEC. 64. Section four hundred and twelve of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 412. Where the person on whom service is to be made resides out of the state, or has departed from the state, or cannot, after due diligence, be found within the state, or conceals himself to avoid the service of summons, or is a foreign corporation having no managing or business agent, cashier or secretary within the state, and the fact appears by affidavit to the satisfaction of the court, or the judge thereof; and it also appears by such affidavit, or by the verified complaint on file, that a cause of action exists against the defendant in respect to whom the service is to be made, or that he is a necessary or proper party to the action; or when it appears by such affidavit, or by the complaint on file therein, that it is an action which relates to, or the subject of which is real or personal property in this state, in which such person defendant or foreign corporation defendant has or claims a lien or interest, actual or contingent, therein, or in which the relief demanded consists wholly or in part in excluding such person or foreign corporation from any interest therein, such court or judge may make an order that the service be made by the publication of the summons.

SEC. 65. Section four hundred and thirteen of this code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 413. The order must direct the publication to be made in a newspaper, to be designated, as most likely to give notice to the person to be served, and for such length of time as may be deemed reasonable, at least once a week; but publication against a defendant residing out of the state, or absent therefrom, must not be less than two months. In case of publication, where the residence of a nonresident or absent defendant is known, the court or judge must direct a copy of the summons and complaint to be forthwith deposited in the postoffice, directed to the person to be served, at his place of residence. When publication is ordered, personal service of a copy of the summons and complaint out of the state is equivalent to publication and deposit in the postoffice, and in either case the service of the summons is complete at the expiration of the time prescribed by the order for publication. The plaintiff must annex to, and publish with, the summons a notice, signed by himself or his attorney, stating the nature of the cause of action, and of the relief sought; and when the action is to recover possession of, or to enforce a lien upon, or determine the title to, real or personal property, such fact must also be stated and the property described.

SEC. 66. Section four hundred and fifteen of this code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 415. Proof of the service of summons and complaint must be as follows:

1. If served by the sheriff, his certificate thereof;
2. If by any other person, his affidavit thereof;
3. In case of publication, the affidavit of the printer, or his foreman or principal clerk, showing the same, and an affidavit of a deposit of a copy of the summons in the postoffice, if the same has been deposited; or
4. The written admission of the defendant.

In case of service otherwise than by publication, the certificate or affidavit must state the time and place of service.

SEC. 67. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered four hundred and seventeen and to read as follows:

Section 417. In an action for libel or slander the plaintiff must, at the time of filing the complaint, file an undertaking on the part of plaintiff in the sum of five hundred dollars, with at least two sufficient sureties to the effect that if the action is dismissed or the defendant recovers judgment they will pay such costs and charges as may be awarded against the plaintiff by judgment or in the progress of the action, or on appeal, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking. An action commenced without filing such undertaking must be dismissed. Each of the sureties on such undertaking must annex to the same an affidavit such as is required by section ten hundred and fifty-seven.

SEC. 68. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered four hundred and eighteen and to read as follows:

Section 418. Within ten days after the service of the summons, the defendant may give to the plaintiff notice in writing that he excepts to the sufficiency of the sureties or either of them. Such surety or sureties must thereupon justify within the time and in the manner provided by sections four hundred and ninety-three, four hundred and ninety-five, and four hundred and ninety-six. If the sureties fail to appear, or the judge finds the sureties or either of them insufficient, he must order a new undertaking to be given. The judge may also at any time order a new or additional undertaking, upon proof that the sureties have become insufficient. In case a new or additional undertaking is ordered all proceedings in the case must be stayed until such undertaking is executed and filed, with the approval of the judge. If the undertaking is not filed within five days after the order therefor, the court must dismiss the action. In case plaintiff recovers judgment, he must be allowed as costs one hundred dollars, to cover counsel fees, in addition to the other costs. In case the action is dismissed, or the defendant recovers judgment, he must be allowed one hundred dollars, to cover counsel fees, in addition to the other costs, and judgment therefor shall be entered accordingly.

SEC. 69. Section four hundred and twenty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 422. The only pleadings allowed on the part of the plaintiff are:

1. The complaint;
 2. The demurrer to the answer;
 3. The demurrer to the cross-complaint;
 4. The answer to the cross-complaint;
- And on the part of the defendant:
1. The demurrer to the complaint;
 2. The answer;
 3. The cross-complaint;
 4. The demurrer to the answer to the cross-complaint.

SEC. 70. Section four hundred and twenty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 427. The plaintiff may unite several causes of action in the same complaint, where they all arise out of:

1. A single act committed by the defendant, or several such acts constituting but a single transaction;
2. Contracts, express or implied;
3. Claims to recover specific real property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof, or for waste committed thereon, and the rents and profits of the same;
4. Claims to recover specific personal property, with or without damages for the withholding thereof;
5. Claims against a trustee by virtue of a contract or by operation of law;
6. Injuries to character;
7. Injuries to person;
8. Injuries to property.

The causes of action so united must all, except in the cases mentioned in subdivision one, belong to one only of these classes, and must affect all the parties to the action, and not require different places of trial, and must be separately stated; but an action for malicious arrest and prosecution, or either of them, may be united with an action for an injury either to character or to the person.

SEC. 71. Section four hundred and thirty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 430. The defendant may demur to the complaint within the time required in the summons to answer, when it appears upon the face thereof, either:

1. That the court has no jurisdiction of the person of the defendant, or the subject of the action;
2. That the plaintiff has not legal capacity to sue;
3. That there is another action pending between the same parties for the same cause;
4. That there is a defect or misjoinder of parties plaintiff or defendant;
5. That several causes of action have been improperly united, or not separately stated;
6. That the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action; or,
7. That the complaint is ambiguous, unintelligible, or uncertain.

SEC. 72. Section four hundred and thirty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 431. The demurrer must distinctly specify the grounds upon which any of the objections to the complaint are taken. Unless it does so, it may be disregarded. It may be taken to the whole complaint, or to any of the causes of action stated therein; and the defendant may demur and answer at the same time.

SEC. 73. Section four hundred and thirty-two of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 74. Section four hundred and thirty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 439. If the defendant omits to set up a counterclaim upon a cause arising out of the transaction set forth in the complaint as the foundation of the plaintiff's claim, neither he nor his assignee can afterwards maintain an action against the plaintiff therefor.

SEC. 75. Section four hundred and forty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 442. Whenever the defendant seeks affirmative relief against any party to the action, relating to or depending upon the contract or transaction upon which the action is brought, or affecting the property to which the action relates, he may, in addition to his answer, file at the same time, or by permission of the court subsequently, a cross-complaint. The cross-complaint must be served upon the parties affected thereby, and such parties may demur or answer thereto as to the original complaint.

SEC. 76. Section four hundred and forty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 443. The plaintiff may within ten days after the service of the answer demur thereto, or to one or more of the several defenses or counterclaims set up therein.

SEC. 77. Section four hundred and forty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 444. The demurrer may be taken upon one or more of the following grounds:

1. That several causes of counterclaim have been improperly joined, or not separately stated;
2. That the answer does not state facts sufficient to constitute a defense or counterclaim;
3. That the answer is ambiguous, unintelligible, or uncertain.

SEC. 78. Section four hundred and forty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 446. Every pleading must be subscribed by the party or his attorney; and when the complaint is verified, or when the state, or any officer of the state, in his official capacity, is plaintiff, the answer must be verified, unless an admission of the truth of the complaint might subject the party to a criminal prosecution, or unless an officer of the state, in his official capacity, is defendant. In all cases of a verification of a pleading, the affidavit of the party must state that the same is true of his own knowledge, except as to the matters which are therein stated on his information or belief, and as to those matters that he believes it to be true; and where a pleading is verified, it must be by the affidavit of a party, unless the parties are absent from the county where the attorney has his office, or from some cause unable to verify it, or the facts are within the knowledge of his attorney or other person verifying the same. When the pleading is verified by the attorney, or any other person except one of the parties, he must set forth in the affidavit the reasons why it is not made by one of the parties. When a corporation is a party, the verification may be made by any officer thereof.

SEC. 79. Section four hundred and fifty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 459. In pleading a private statute, or an ordinance of a county or municipal corporation, or a right derived therefrom, it is sufficient to refer to such statute or ordinance by its title and the day of its passage.

SEC. 80. Section four hundred and seventy-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 472. Any pleading may be amended once by the party of course, and without costs, at any time before answer or demurrer filed, or after demurrer and before the trial of the issue of law thereon, by filing the same as amended, and serving a copy on the adverse party, who may have ten days thereafter in which to answer or demur to the amended pleading. A demurrer is not waived by filing an answer at the same time: and when the demurrer to a complaint is overruled, and there is no answer filed, the court may, upon such terms as may be just, allow an answer to be filed. If a demurrer to the answer is overruled, the facts alleged in the answer must be considered as denied to the extent mentioned in section four hundred and sixty-two. If the complaint is amended, a copy of the amendments must be filed, or the court may, in its discretion, require the complaint, as amended, to be filed, and a copy of the amendments, or amended complaint, must be served upon the defendants affected thereby. The defendant must answer the amendment or the complaint as amended, within ten days after service thereof, or such other time as the court may direct, and judgment by default may be entered upon failure to answer, as in other cases.

SEC. 81. Section four hundred and seventy-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 476. When a demurrer to any pleading is sustained or overruled, and time to amend or answer is given, the time so given runs from the service of the notice of the decision or order, unless it appears by the minutes of the court that the party or attorney entitled to notice was present in court when the order was made, in which case no notice is necessary.

SEC. 82. Section five hundred and twelve of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 512. Upon receipt of the affidavit and notice with a written undertaking, executed by two or more sufficient sureties, approved by the sheriff, to the effect that they are bound to the defendant in double the value of the property, as stated in the affidavit for the prosecution of the action, for the return of the property to the defendant, if return thereof is adjudged, and for the payment to him of such sum as may, from any cause, be recovered against the plaintiff, the sheriff must forthwith take the property described in the affidavit, if it is in the possession of the defendant or his agent, and retain it in his custody. He must, without delay, serve on the defendant a copy of the affidavit, indorsement, and undertaking, by delivering the same to him personally, if he can be found, or to his agent from whose possession the property is taken, or if neither can be found, by leaving them at the usual place of abode of either, with some person of suitable age and discretion, or if neither has any known place of abode, by putting them in the nearest postoffice, directed to the defendant.

SEC. 83. Section five hundred and nineteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 519. If the property taken is claimed by any other person than the defendant or his agent, and such person makes affidavit of his title thereto, or right to the possession thereof, and serves the same upon the sheriff, the sheriff is not bound to keep the property or deliver it to the plaintiff, unless the plaintiff, on demand of him or his agent, indemnifies the sheriff against such claim, by an undertaking, by two sufficient sureties, in a sum equal to double the value of the property taken: and the sheriff is not liable for damages for such taking to any person other than the defendant or his agent, unless such claim is made.

SEC. 84. Section five hundred and twenty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 525. An injunction is a writ or order requiring a person to refrain from a particular act. It may be granted by the court in which the action is brought, or by a judge thereof; and when granted by a judge, it may be enforced as an order of the court.

SEC. 85. Section five hundred and twenty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 526. An injunction may be granted in the following cases:

1. When it appears by the complaint that the plaintiff is entitled to the relief demanded, and such relief, or any part thereof, consists in restraining the commission or continuance of the act complained of, either for a limited period or perpetually;

2. When it appears by the complaint or affidavits that the commission or continuance of some act during the litigation would produce waste, or great or irreparable injury, to a party to the action;

3. When it appears, during the litigation, that a party to the action is doing, or threatens, or is about to do, or is procuring or suffering to be done, some act in violation of the rights of another party to the action respecting the subject of the action, and tending to render the judgment ineffectual;

4. Where pecuniary compensation would not afford adequate relief;
 5. Where it would be extremely difficult to ascertain the amount of compensation which would afford adequate relief;
 6. Where the restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of judicial proceedings;
 7. Where the obligation arises from a trust.
- An injunction cannot be granted:
1. To stay a judicial proceeding pending at the commencement of the action in which the injunction is demanded, unless such restraint is necessary to prevent a multiplicity of such proceedings;
 2. To stay proceedings in a court of the United States;
 3. To stay proceedings in another state upon a judgment of a court of that state;
 4. To prevent the execution of a public statute by officers of the law for the public benefit;
 5. To prevent the breach of a contract, the performance of which would not be specifically enforced;
 6. To prevent the exercise of a public or private office, in a lawful manner, by the person in possession;
 7. To prevent a legislative act by a municipal corporation.

SEC. 86. Section five hundred and twenty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 527. An injunction may be granted at any time before judgment upon a verified complaint, or upon affidavits, if the complaint in the one case, or the affidavits in the other, show satisfactorily that sufficient grounds exist therefor. A copy of the complaint or of the affidavits, upon which the injunction was granted, must, if not previously served, be served therewith. No injunction granted prior to the trial of the cause shall continue in force longer than twelve months, after answer filed, except by consent of the parties, unless the cause has been set for trial upon its merits, or unless the party in whose favor it was granted has sought to have the cause so set for trial, and the failure to set it has not been due to his fault.

SEC. 87. Section five hundred and twenty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 529. On granting an injunction, the court or judge must require, except when it is granted on the application of the people of the state, a county, or a municipal corporation, or a wife against her husband, a written undertaking on the part of the applicant, with sufficient sureties, to the effect that he will pay to the party enjoined such damages, not exceeding an amount to be specified, as such party may sustain by reason of the injunction, if the court finally decides that the applicant was not entitled thereto. Within five days after the service of the injunction, the person enjoined may except to the sufficiency of the sureties, and unless within five days thereafter, upon notice of not less than two days to the person enjoined, such sureties, or others in their place, justify before a judge of the court or county clerk at a time and place designated in such notice, the order granting the injunction must be dissolved.

SEC. 88. Section five hundred and thirty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 530. If the court or judge deems it proper that the person sought to be enjoined be heard before granting the injunction, an order may be made requiring cause to be shown, at a specified time and place, why the injunction should not be granted; and he may, in the meantime, be restrained. In all actions pending or which may be hereafter brought, when an injunction or restraining order has been or may be granted, or applied for, to prevent the diversion, pending the litigation, of water used or to be used for irrigation or domestic purposes only, if it be made to appear to the court that the plaintiff is entitled to the injunction, but that the issuance thereof pending the litigation will entail great damage upon the defendant, and that plaintiff can be fully compensated for such damages as he may suffer, the court may refuse the injunction upon the defendant giving a bond, such as is provided for in section five hundred and thirty-two; and upon the trial the same proceedings shall be had, and with the same effect, as in said section provided.

SEC. 89. Section five hundred and thirty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 531. An injunction to suspend the general and ordinary business of a corporation cannot be granted without due notice of the application therefor to the proper officers or managing agent of the corporation, except when the people of this state are a party to the proceeding.

SEC. 90. Section five hundred and thirty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 532. If an injunction is granted without notice to the person enjoined, he may apply, upon reasonable notice to the judge who granted the injunction, or to the court in which the action was brought, to dissolve or modify the same. The application may be made upon the complaint or the affidavit on which the injunction was granted, or upon affidavit on the part of the person enjoined, with or without the answer. If the application is made upon affidavits on the part of the person enjoined, but not otherwise, the person against whom the application is made may oppose the same by affidavits or other evidence in addition to that on which the injunction was granted. In all actions pending, or which may hereafter be brought, wherein an injunction or restraining order has been or may be granted or applied for, to prevent the diversion, pending the litigation, of water used, or to be used, for irrigation or domestic purposes only, if it be made to appear to the court that great damage will be suffered by the person enjoined, in case the injunction is continued, and that the person in whose behalf it issued can be fully compensated for any damages he may suffer by reason of the continuance of the acts enjoined during the pendency of the litigation, the court, in its discretion, may dissolve or modify the injunction, upon the person enjoined giving a bond with sureties to be approved by the judge, and in such amount as may be fixed by the court or judge, conditioned that such enjoined person will pay all damages which the person in whose behalf the injunction issued may suffer by reason of the continuance, during the litigation, of the acts complained of. Upon the trial the amount of such damages must be ascertained, and in case judgment is rendered for the person in whose behalf the injunction was granted, the amount fixed as such damages must be included in the judgment, together with reasonable attorney's fees. In any suit brought on the bond, the amount of such damages as fixed in said judgment is conclusive on the sureties.

Sec. 91. Section five hundred and thirty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 538. The clerk of the court must issue the writ of attachment, upon receiving an affidavit by or on behalf of the plaintiff, showing:

2. That the defendant is a nonresident of the state, and is indebted to the plaintiff, specifying the amount of such indebtedness over and above all legal setoffs or counterclaims, upon a contract, express or implied;

3. That the attachment is not sought, nor is the action prosecuted, to hinder, delay, or defraud any creditor of the defendant.

Sec. 92. Section five hundred and thirty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 539. Before issuing the writ, the clerk must require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff, in a sum not less than two hundred dollars and not exceeding the amount claimed by the plaintiff, with sufficient sureties, to the effect that if the defendant recovers judgment, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking, and that if the attachment is discharged on the ground that the plaintiff was not entitled thereto under section five hundred and thirty-seven, the plaintiff will pay all damages which the defendant may have sustained by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking. At any time after the issuing of the attachment, but not later than five days after notice of the levy thereof, the defendant may except to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fails to do so, he is deemed to have waived all objections to them. When excepted to, the plaintiff's sureties, upon notice to the defendant of not less than two nor more than five days, must justify before a judge in the same manner as upon bail on arrest; and upon failure to justify, or if others in their place fail to justify, at the time and place appointed, the judge must issue an order vacating the writ of attachment.

Sec. 93. Section five hundred and forty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 542. The sheriff to whom the writ is directed and delivered must execute the same without delay, and if the undertaking mentioned in section five hundred and forty is not given, as follows:

1. Real property, standing upon the records of the county in the name of the defendant, must be attached, by filing with the recorder of the county a copy of the writ, together with a description of the property attached, and a notice that it is attached;

2. Real property, or an interest therein, belonging to the defendant, and held by any other person, or standing on the records of the county in the name of any other person, must be attached, by filing with the recorder of the county a copy of the writ, together with a description of the property, and a notice that such real property, and any interest of the defendant therein, held by or standing in the name of such other person (naming him), are attached; and by leaving with such other person, or his agent, if known and within the county, or at the residence of either, if within the county, a copy of the writ, with a similar description and notice. The recorder must index such attachment when filed in the names, both of the defendant and of the person by whom the property is held or in whose name it stands on the records;

3. Personal property, capable of manual delivery, must be attached by taking it into custody;

4. Stocks or shares, or interests in stocks or shares, of any corporation or company, must be attached by leaving with the president, or other head of the same, or the secretary, cashier, or other managing agent thereof, a copy of the writ, and a notice stating that the stock or interest of the defendant is attached, in pursuance of such writ;

5. Debts and credits, and other personal property, not capable of manual delivery, must be attached by leaving with the person owing such debts, or having in his possession, or under his control, such credits and other personal property, or with his agent, a copy of the writ, and a notice that the debts owing by him to the defendant, or the credits and other personal property in his possession, or under his control, belonging to the defendant, are attached in pursuance of such writ.

SEC. 94. Section five hundred and fifty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 553. If the defendant recovers judgment against the plaintiff, and no appeal is perfected and undertaking executed and filed as provided in section nine hundred and thirty-seven, any undertaking received in the action, all the proceeds of sales and money collected by the sheriff, and all the property attached remaining in the sheriff's hands, must be delivered to the defendant or his agent, the order of attachment be discharged, and the property released therefrom.

SEC. 95. Section five hundred and fifty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 554. Whenever the defendant has appeared in the action, he may, upon reasonable notice to the plaintiff, apply to the court in which the action is pending, or to the judge thereof, for an order to discharge the attachment, wholly or in part; and upon the execution of the undertaking mentioned in the next section, an order may be made, releasing from the operation of the attachment any or all of the property attached; and all of the property so released, and all of the proceeds of the sales thereof, must be delivered to the defendant, upon the justification of the sureties on the undertaking, if required by the plaintiff. Such justification must take place within five days after notice of the filing of such undertaking.

SEC. 96. Section five hundred and fifty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 555. Before making such order, the court or judge must require an undertaking on behalf of the defendant, by at least two sureties, residents and freeholders, or householders, in the state, to the effect that in case the plaintiff recovers judgment in the action, defendant will, on demand, redeliver the attached property so released to the proper officer, to be applied to the payment of the judgment, or, in default thereof, that the defendant and sureties will, on demand, pay to the plaintiff the full value of the property released, not exceeding the amount of such judgment. The court or judge making such order may fix the sum for which the undertaking must be executed, and if necessary in fixing such sum to know the value of the property released, the same may be appraised by one or more disinterested persons, to be appointed for that purpose. The sureties may be required to justify before the court or judge, and the property attached cannot be released from the attachment without their justification, if the same is required.

SEC. 97. Section five hundred and fifty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 558. If upon such application it satisfactorily appears that the writ of attachment was improperly or irregularly issued, it must be discharged; provided, however, that when any irregularity in the proceeding can be corrected by amendment, such amendment may be permitted, subject to the provisions of section four hundred and seventy-three.

SEC. 98. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered five hundred and sixty, and to read as follows:

Section 560. An attachment as to any real property may be released by a writing signed by the plaintiff, or his attorney, and acknowledged and recorded in the like manner as a grant of real property; and upon the filing of such release, it is the duty of the recorder to note the same on the record of the copy of the writ on file in his office. Such attachment may also be released by an entry in the margin of the record thereof, in the county recorder's office, in the manner provided for the discharge of mortgages under section twenty-nine hundred and thirty-eight of the Civil Code.

SEC. 99. Section five hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 566. No party, or attorney of a party, or person interested in an action, or related to any judge of the court by consanguinity or affinity within the third degree, can be appointed receiver therein without the written consent of the parties, filed with the clerk. If a receiver is appointed upon an ex parte application, the court, before making the order, must require from the applicant an undertaking, with sufficient sureties, in an amount to be fixed by the court, to the effect that the applicant will pay to the defendant all damages he may sustain by reason of the appointment of such receiver and the entry by him upon his duties, in case the applicant shall have procured such appointment wrongfully, maliciously, or without sufficient cause; and the court may, in its discretion, at any time after said appointment, require an additional undertaking.

SEC. 100. Section five hundred and sixty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 567. Before entering upon his duties, the receiver must be sworn to perform them faithfully, and with two or more sureties, approved by the court or judge, execute an undertaking to the State of California, in such sum as the court or judge may direct, to the effect that he will faithfully discharge the duties of receiver in the action and obey the orders of the court therein.

SEC. 101. Section five hundred and sixty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 569. Funds in the hands of a receiver may be invested upon interest, by order of the court, upon the consent of all the parties to the action.

SEC. 102. Section five hundred and seventy-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 572. When it is admitted by the pleadings, or shown upon the examination of a party to the action, that he has in his possession, or under his control, any money or other thing capable of delivery, which, being the subject of litigation, is held by him as trustee for another party, or which belongs or is due to another party, the court may order the same, upon motion, to be deposited in court or delivered to such party, upon such conditions as may be just, subject to the further direction of the court.

SEC. 103. Section five hundred and seventy-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 573. Whenever money is paid into or deposited in court, the same must be delivered to the clerk in person, or to such of his deputies as shall be specially authorized by his appointment in writing to receive the same. He must, unless otherwise directed by law, deposit it with the county treasurer, to be held by him subject to the order of the court. The treasurer must keep each fund distinct, and open an account with each. Such appointment must be filed with the county treasurer, who must exhibit it, and give to each person applying for the same a certified copy of the same. It shall be in force until a revocation in writing is filed with the county treasurer, who must thereupon write "revoked" in ink, across the face of the appointment. For the safe-keeping of the money deposited with him the treasurer is liable on his official bond.

SEC. 104. Section five hundred and seventy-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 577. A judgment is the final determination of the rights of the parties in an action or proceeding. It may be interlocutory or final. An interlocutory judgment is one which finally determines some of the rights of the parties or of some of the parties, and orders an accounting, partition, or other proceeding to effectuate such rights. A final judgment is one that finally determines all the rights of all the parties or all the rights of certain of the parties as between themselves, and requires no further proceedings for the ascertainment of the rights so determined.

SEC. 105. Section five hundred and eighty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 581. An action may be dismissed, or a judgment of nonsuit entered, in the following cases:

1. By the plaintiff himself, by written request to the clerk, filed with the papers in the case, at any time before the trial, upon payment of costs; provided, a counterclaim has not been set up, or affirmative relief sought by the cross-complaint or answer of the defendant. If a provisional remedy has been allowed, the undertaking must thereupon be delivered by the clerk to the defendant, who may have his action thereon;
2. By either party, upon the written consent of the other;
3. By the court, when either party fails to appear on the trial, and the other party appears and asks for the dismissal;
4. By the court, when, upon the trial and before the final submission of the case, the plaintiff abandons it;
5. By the court, upon motion of the defendant, when upon the trial the plaintiff fails to prove a sufficient case for the jury.

The dismissals mentioned in subdivisions one and two hereof are made by entry in the clerk's register. The dismissals mentioned in subdivisions three, four, and five of this section must be made by orders of the court, entered upon the minutes thereof, and are effective for all purposes when so entered; but the clerk of the court must note such orders in his register of actions in the case.

SEC. 106. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered five hundred and eighty-two, and to read as follows:

Section 582. No action heretofore or hereafter commenced shall be further prosecuted, and no further proceedings shall be had therein, and all actions heretofore or hereafter commenced must be dismissed by the court in which the same shall have been commenced, on its own motion, or on motion of any party interested therein, whether named in the complaint as a party or not, unless summons shall have issued within one year, and all such actions must be in like manner dismissed, unless the summons shall be served and return thereon made within three years after the commencement of said action. But all such actions may be prosecuted, if appearance has been made by the defendant or defendants, within said three years in the same manner as if summons had been issued and served; provided, that, except in actions to partition, or to recover possession of, or to enforce a lien upon, or to determine conflicting claims to, real or personal property, no dismissal shall be had under this section as to any defendant because of the failure to serve summons on him during his absence from the state, or while he has secreted himself within the state to prevent the service of summons on him.

SEC. 107. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered five hundred and eighty-three, and to read as follows:

Section 583. In all cases other than those mentioned in the last two sections, judgment must be rendered on the merits.

SEC. 108. Section five hundred and eighty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 585. Judgment may be had, if the defendant fails to answer the complaint, as follows:

1. In an action arising upon contract for the recovery of money or damages only, if no answer has been filed with the clerk of the court within the time specified in the summons, or such further time as may have been granted, the clerk, upon application of the plaintiff, must enter the default of the defendant, and immediately thereafter enter judgment for the amount specified in the summons, including the costs, against the defendant, or against one or more of several defendants, in the cases provided for in section four hundred and fourteen;

2. In other actions, if no answer has been filed with the clerk of the court within the time specified in the summons, or such further time as may have been granted, the clerk must enter the default of the defendant; and thereafter the plaintiff may apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint. If the taking of an account, or the proof of any fact, is necessary to enable the court to give judgment, or to carry the judgment into effect, the court may take the account or hear the proof, or may, in its discretion, order a reference for that purpose. And where the action is for the recovery of damages, in whole or in part, the court may order the damages to be assessed by a jury; or if, to determine the amount of damages, the examination of a long account is involved, by a reference as above provided;

3. In actions where the service of the summons was by publication, the plaintiff, upon the expiration of the time for answering, may, upon proof of the publication, and that no answer has been filed, apply for judgment; and the court must thereupon require proof to be made of the demand mentioned in the complaint; and if the defendant is not a resident of the state, must require the plaintiff, or his agent, to be examined, on oath, respecting any payments that have been made to the plaintiff, or to any one for his use, on account of such demand, and may render judgment for the amount which he is entitled to recover.

SEC. 109. Section six hundred and two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 602. Challenges for cause may be taken on one or more of the following grounds:

1. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by this code to render a person competent as a juror;

2. Consanguinity or affinity within the fourth degree to any party, or to an officer of a corporation which is a party;

3. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, master and servant, employer and clerk, or principal and agent, to either party, or to an officer of a corporation which is a party, or being a member of the family of either party, or a partner in business with either party, or surety on any bond or obligation for either party;

4. Having served as a juror or been a witness on a previous trial between the same parties, for the same cause of action;

5. Interest on the part of the juror in the event of the action, or in the main question involved in the action, except his interest as a member or citizen of a municipal corporation;

6. Having an unqualified opinion or belief as to the merits of the action, founded upon knowledge of its material facts, or of some of them;

7. The existence of a state of mind in the juror evincing enmity against or bias to either party;

8. Having served as a juror on a previous regular panel within one year prior to the time of his being offered as a juror;

9. That he is a party to an action pending for trial in the court for which he is drawn, and which action is set for trial before the panel of which he is member.

SEC. 110. Section six hundred and eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 608. In charging the jury, the court may state to them all matters of law which it thinks necessary for their information in giving their verdict; and, if it states the testimony of the case, it must inform the jury that they are the exclusive judges of all questions of fact. All instructions given to the jury must be in writing, and must be delivered to the jury upon their retirement. The court shall not inform the jury at whose request any instruction is given.

SEC. 111. Section six hundred and twelve of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 612. Upon retiring for deliberation, the jury must take with them all instructions given, and may take with them all papers which have been received as evidence in the cause, except depositions or copies of such papers as ought not, in the opinion of the court, to be taken from the person having them in possession; and they may also take with them notes of the testimony or other proceedings on the trial, taken by themselves, or any of them, but none taken by any other person. No instruction handed to the jury must contain anything to show at whose request it was given.

SEC. 112. Section six hundred and fifteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 615. If, after the impaneling of the jury, and before verdict, a juror becomes sick, so as to be unable to perform his duty, the court may order him to be discharged. In that case the trial may proceed with the other jurors with the consent of the parties, or another juror may be sworn and the trial begin anew; or the jury may be discharged and a new jury then or afterwards impaneled.

SEC. 113. Section six hundred and thirty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 631. Trial by jury may be waived by the several parties to an issue of fact in actions arising on contract, or for the recovery of specific real or personal property.

with or without damages, and with the assent of the court in other actions, in the following manner:

1. By failing to appear at the trial;
2. By written consent, in person or by attorney, filed with the clerk;
3. By oral consent, in open court, entered in the minutes;
4. By failure of a party desiring a jury to demand such jury at the time the cause is set for trial, if present when the cause is so set, or if the same be set upon notice.

SEC. 114. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered six hundred and thirty-five and to read as follows:

Section 635. Upon the trial of a question of fact by the court, either party may, at any time before final submission, present to the court in writing a statement of any proposition of law upon which, were the action being tried by a jury, the court might be required to instruct the jury. The court must, before giving its decision in the case, indorse upon each of such requests a statement that the same is allowed, or refused or modified in such particular as the court may think proper. Any error in allowing, refusing, or modifying any such request, may be reviewed on motion for new trial and upon appeal, in the same manner and with the same effect as in the case of requested instructions to a jury.

SEC. 115. Section six hundred and forty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 641. A party may object to the appointment of any person as referee, on one or more of the following grounds:

1. A want of any of the qualifications prescribed by statute to render a person competent as a juror;
3. Standing in the relation of guardian and ward, master and servant, employer and clerk, or principal and agent, to either party; or being a member of the family of either party; or a partner in business with either party; or security on any bond or obligation for either party;
4. Having served as a juror or been a witness on any trial between the same parties for the same cause of action;
5. Interest on the part of such person in the event of the action, or in the main question involved in the action;
6. Having formed or expressed an unqualified opinion or belief as to the merits of the action;
7. The existence of a state of mind in such person evincing enmity against or bias to either party.

SEC. 116. Section six hundred and forty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 647. The verdict of the jury, the final decision in an action or proceeding, an interlocutory order or decision, finally determining the rights of the parties, or some of them; an order or decision from which an appeal may be taken; an order sustaining or overruling a demurrer, allowing or refusing to allow an amendment to a pleading, striking out a pleading or a portion thereof, refusing a continuance, modifying, giving, or refusing to give, in whole or in part, an instruction to the jury; an order made upon ex parte application, and an order or decision made in the absence of a party, are deemed to have been excepted to.

SEC. 117. Section six hundred and forty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 649. A bill containing the exception to any decision may be presented to the court or judge for settlement within ten days after the decision is made, and after having been settled, must be signed by the judge and filed with the clerk. When the decision excepted to is made by a tribunal other than a court, or by a judicial officer, the bill of exceptions must be presented to, and settled and signed by, such tribunal or officer.

SEC. 118. Section six hundred and fifty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 650. When a party desires to have exceptions taken at a trial settled in a bill of exceptions, he may, at any time thereafter, and within ten days after the entry of judgment, if the action was tried with a jury, or after receiving notice of the entry of judgment, if the action was tried without a jury, or such further time as the court in which the action is pending, or a judge thereof, may allow, prepare the draft of a bill, and serve the same by copy thereof upon the adverse party. Such draft must contain all the exceptions and proceedings taken upon which the party relies. It may also contain a statement of any matters occurring upon the trial, in the presence of the court, showing any of the matters mentioned in subdivisions one and two of section six hundred and fifty-seven of this code. Within ten days after such service the adverse party may propose amendments thereto, and serve the same, or a copy thereof, upon the other party. The proposed bill and amendments must, within ten days thereafter, be presented by the party seeking the settlement of the bill, to the judge who tried or heard the case, upon five days' notice to the adverse party, or be delivered to the clerk of the court for the judge. When received by the clerk he must immediately deliver them to the judge, if he is in the county; if he is absent from the county, and either party desires the papers to be forwarded to the judge, the clerk must, upon notice in writing of such party, immediately forward them by mail, or other safe channel; if not thus forwarded the clerk must deliver them to the judge immediately after his return to the county. When received from the clerk, the judge must designate the time at which he will settle the bill, and the clerk must immediately notify the parties of such designation. At the time designated the judge must settle the bill. The bill must thereupon be engrossed and presented to the judge to be certified, by the party presenting it, within ten days, and upon being certified must within five days thereafter be served upon the adverse party. If the action was tried before a referee, the proposed bill, with the amendments, if any, must be presented to such referee for settlement within ten days after service of the amendments, upon notice of five days to the adverse party, and thereupon the referee must settle the bill. If no amendments are served, or if served are allowed, the proposed bill may be presented, with the amendments, if any, to the judge or referee, for settlement, without notice to the adverse party. It is the duty of the judge or referee, in settling the bill, to strike out of it all redundant and useless matter so that the exceptions and proceedings may be presented as briefly as possible. When settled, the bill must be signed by the judge or referee, with his certificate to the effect that the same is allowed, and must then be filed with the clerk.

Sec. 119. Section six hundred and fifty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 651. Exceptions to any decision made after judgment may be presented to the judge at the time of such decision, and be settled or noted, as provided in section six hundred and forty-nine, or a bill thereof may be presented and settled afterward, as provided in section six hundred and fifty, and within like periods after entry of the order, upon appeal from which such decision is reviewable.

Sec. 120. Section six hundred and fifty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 652. If the judge in any case refuses to allow a bill of exceptions in accordance with the facts, the party desiring the bill settled may apply by petition to the supreme court to prove the same; the application may be made in the mode and manner, and under such regulations as that court may prescribe; and the bill, when proven, must be certified by the chief justice as correct, and filed with the clerk of the court in which the action was tried, and when so filed it has the same force and effect as if settled by the judge who tried the cause.

Sec. 121. Section six hundred and fifty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 656. A new trial is a reëxamination of an issue of fact in the same court after a trial and decision by a jury, court, or referee.

Sec. 122. Section six hundred and fifty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 658. When the application is made for a cause mentioned in the third or fourth subdivision of the last section, it must be made upon affidavits; for a cause mentioned in the first or second subdivision it may be made upon a bill of exceptions or upon affidavits, or upon both; for any other cause it may be made, at the option of the moving party, either upon the minutes of the court or upon a bill of exceptions.

Sec. 123. Section six hundred and fifty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 659. The party intending to move for a new trial must, within ten days after receiving notice of the entry of the judgment, file with the clerk and serve upon the adverse party a notice of his intention, designating the grounds upon which the motion will be made, and whether the same will be made upon affidavits, or the minutes of the court, or a bill of exceptions.

1. If the motion is to be made upon affidavits, the moving party must, within ten days after serving the notice, or such further time as the court in which the action is pending, or a judge thereof, may allow, file such affidavits with the clerk, and serve a copy upon the adverse party, who shall have ten days to file counter affidavits, a copy of which must be served upon the moving party;

2. If the motion is to be made upon a bill of exceptions, and no bill has already been settled as hereinbefore provided, the moving party shall have the same time after service of the notice to prepare and obtain a settlement of a bill of exceptions as is provided after the entry of the judgment, or after receiving notice of such entry by section six hundred and fifty, and the bill shall be prepared and settled in a similar manner. If a bill of exceptions has been already settled and filed, when the notice of motion is given, such bill shall be used on the motion;

3. When the motion is to be made on the minutes of the court, and the ground of the motion is the insufficiency of the evidence to justify the verdict or other decision, the notice of motion must specify the particulars in which the evidence is alleged to be insufficient; and, if the ground of the motion is errors in law occurring at the trial, and excepted to by the moving party, the notice must specify the particular errors upon which the party will rely. If the notice does not contain the specifications here indicated, when the motion is made on the minutes of the court, the motion must be denied.

Sec. 124. Section six hundred and sixty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 660. The application for a new trial must be heard at the earliest practicable period after notice of the motion, if the motion is to be heard upon the minutes of the court, and in other cases, after the affidavits, or bill of exceptions, as the case may be, are filed, and may be brought to a hearing upon motion of either party. On such hearing reference may be had in all cases to the pleadings and orders of the court on file, and when the motion is made on the minutes, reference may also be had to any depositions and documentary evidence offered at the trial, and to the report of the proceedings on the trial taken by the phonographic reporter and by him read at the hearing of the motion, or to any certified transcript of such report.

Sec. 125. Section six hundred and sixty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 661. The judgment roll and the affidavits, or bill of exceptions, used on the hearing, with a copy of the order made, constitute the record to be used on appeal from the order granting or refusing a new trial, unless the motion is made on the minutes of the court, and in that case the judgment roll and a statement to be subsequently prepared, with a copy of the order, constitute the record on appeal. Such subsequent statement must be proposed by the party appealing, or intending to appeal, within ten days after the entry of the order, or such further time as the court in which the action is pending, or a judge thereof, may allow, and the same or a copy thereof be served upon the adverse party, who shall have ten days thereafter to prepare amendments thereto, and serve the same, or a copy thereof, upon the party appealing, or intending to appeal; and thereafter proceedings shall be had, and within like periods, for the settlement of the statement as provided by section six hundred and fifty-nine. But the statement must only contain the grounds argued before the court for a new trial, and so much of the evidence or other matter as may be necessary to explain them; and it is the duty of the judge to exclude all other evidence or matter from the statement.

Sec. 126. That section six hundred and sixty-three and a half of said code be numbered six hundred and sixty-three a, and that said section be amended to read as follows:

Section 663*a*. The party intending to make the motion mentioned in the last section must, within ten days after notice of the entry of judgment, serve upon the adverse party and file with the clerk of the court a notice of his intention, designating the grounds upon which, and the time at which the motion will be made, and specifying the particulars in which the conclusions of law are not consistent with the finding of facts, or in which the judgment or decree is not consistent with the special verdict. The time designated for the making of the motion must not be less than ten nor more than twenty days from the time of the service of the notice. An order of the court granting such motion may be reviewed on appeal in the same manner as orders made on motions for a new trial, and a statement to be used on such appeal may be prepared in the same manner as statements after a motion is heard upon the minutes of the court, as provided in section six hundred and sixty-one.

Sec. 127. Section six hundred and sixty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 664. When trial by jury has been had, judgment must be entered by the clerk, in conformity to the verdict, within twenty-four hours after the rendition of the verdict, unless the court order the case to be reserved for argument or further consideration, or grant a stay of proceedings. If the trial has been had by the court, judgment must be entered by the clerk, in conformity to the decision of the court, immediately upon the filing of such decision. In no case is a judgment effectual for any purpose until so entered.

Sec. 128. Section six hundred and seventy of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 670. Immediately after entering the judgment, the clerk must attach together and file the following papers, which constitute the judgment roll:

1. In case the complaint is not answered by any defendant, the summons, with the affidavit or proof of service; the complaint with a memorandum indorsed thereon that the default of the defendant in not answering was entered, and a copy of the judgment; and in case the service so made is by publication, the affidavit for publication of summons, and the order directing the publication of summons;

2. In all other cases, the pleadings, all orders striking out any pleading in whole or in part, a copy of the verdict of the jury, or finding of the court or referee, and a copy of any order made on demurrer, or relating to a change of parties, and a copy of the judgment; if there are two or more defendants in the action, and any one of them has allowed judgment to pass against him by default, the summons, with proof of its service on such defendant; and if the service on such defaulting defendant be by publication, then the affidavit for publication, and the order directing the publication of the summons.

Sec. 129. Section six hundred and seventy-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 672. The docket mentioned in the last section is a book which the clerk keeps in his office, with each page divided into nine columns, and headed as follows: Date of entry in docket; judgment debtors; judgment creditors; judgment; time of entry; where entered in judgment book; appeals, when taken; judgment of appellate court; satisfaction of judgment, when entered. If the judgment is for the recovery of money, the amount must be stated in the docket under the head of judgment; if the judgment is for any other relief, a memorandum of the general character of the relief granted must be stated. The names of the defendants must be entered in alphabetical order.

Sec. 130. Section six hundred and seventy-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 674. The transcript of the original docket of any judgment, the enforcement of which has not been stayed on appeal, certified by the clerk, may be filed with the recorder of any other county, and from such filing the judgment becomes a lien upon all the real property of the judgment debtor not exempt from execution in such county, owned by him at the time, or which he may afterward, and before the lien expires, acquire. The lien continues for five years from the entry of judgment unless it is previously satisfied or the lien otherwise discharged.

Sec. 131. Section six hundred and eighty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 681. The party in whose favor judgment is given may, at any time within five years after the entry thereof, have a writ of execution issued for its enforcement. If, after the entry of the judgment, the issuing of execution thereon is stayed or enjoined by any judgment or order of court, or by operation of law, the time during which it is so stayed or enjoined must be excluded from the computation of the five years within which execution may issue.

Sec. 132. Section six hundred and eighty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 682. The writ of execution must be issued in the name of the people, sealed with the seal of the court, and subscribed by the clerk, and be directed to the sheriff, and it must intelligibly refer to the judgment, stating the court, the county where the judgment roll is filed, and if it is for money, the amount thereof, and the amount actually due thereon, and if made payable in a specified kind of money or currency, as provided in section six hundred and sixty-seven, the execution must also state the kind of money or currency in which the judgment is payable, and must require the sheriff substantially as follows:

1. If it is against the property of the judgment debtor, it must require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment, with interest, out of the property of such debtor;

2. If it is against real or personal property in the hands of the personal representatives, heirs, devisees, legatees, tenants, or trustees, it must require the sheriff to satisfy the judgment, with interest, out of such property;

3. If it is against the person of the judgment debtor, it must require the sheriff to arrest such debtor and commit him to the jail of the county until he pays the judgment with interest, or is discharged according to law;

4. If it is issued on a judgment made payable in a specified kind of money or currency, as provided in section six hundred and sixty-seven, it must also require the sheriff to satisfy the same in the kind of money or currency in which the judgment is made payable, and the sheriff must refuse payment in any other kind of money or currency; and in case of levy and sale of the property of the judgment debtor, he must refuse payment from any purchaser at such sale in any other kind of money or currency than that specified in the execution. The sheriff, collecting money or currency in the manner required by this chapter, must pay to the plaintiff or party entitled to recover the same, the same kind of money or currency received by him, and in case of neglect or refusal so to do, he is liable on his official bond to the judgment creditor in three times the amount of the money so collected;

5. If it is for the delivery of the possession of real or personal property, it must require the sheriff to deliver the possession of the same, describing it to the party entitled thereto, and may, at the same time, require the sheriff to satisfy any costs, damages, rents, or profits, recovered by the same judgment, out of the property of the person against whom it was rendered, and the value of the property for which the judgment was rendered to be specified therein if a delivery thereof cannot be had.

Sec. 133. Section six hundred and eighty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 687. Where the execution is against the property of the judgment debtor, it may be issued to the sheriff of any county in the state. Where it requires the delivery of real or personal property, it must be issued to the sheriff of the county where the property or some part thereof is situated. If the judgment directs or authorizes the issuing of any process requiring the sale, or the delivery of possession of, or otherwise affecting specific real property, which is then, or subsequently becomes, a part of a county other than that in which such judgment was entered, such process may be issued to, and executed by, the sheriff of such other county, as to the property situate therein. Executions may be issued at the same time to different counties.

Sec. 134. Section six hundred and eighty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 688. All goods, chattels, moneys, and other property, both real and personal, or any interest therein, of the judgment debtor, not exempt by law, and all property and rights of property seized and held under attachment in the action, are liable to execution. Shares and interests in any corporation or company, and debts and credits, and all other property, both real and personal, or any interest in either real or personal property, and all other property not capable of manual delivery, may be levied upon or released from levy in like manner as like property may be attached or released from attachment. Until a levy, property is not affected by the execution.

Sec. 135. Section six hundred and eighty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 689. If the property levied on is claimed by a third person as his property by a written claim verified by his oath or that of his agent, setting out his right to the possession thereof, and served upon the sheriff, the sheriff is not bound to keep the property unless the plaintiff, or the person in whose favor the writ of execution runs, on demand, indemnifies the sheriff against such claim by an undertaking by at least two good and sufficient sureties in a sum equal to double the value of the property levied on; and the sheriff is not liable for damages for the taking or keeping of such property to any such third person, unless such a claim is made.

SEC. 136. Section six hundred and ninety of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 690. The following property is, in favor of natural persons only, exempt from execution, except as herein otherwise specially provided:

1. Chairs, tables, desks, and books, to the value of two hundred dollars, belonging to the judgment debtor.

2. Necessary household, table, and kitchen furniture belonging to the judgment debtor, including one sewing-machine, stove, stovepipes and furniture, wearing apparel, beds, bedding, and bedsteads, hanging pictures, oil paintings and drawings drawn or painted by any member of the family, and family portraits and their necessary frames, provisions actually provided for individual or family use, sufficient for three months, and three cows and their sucking calves, four hogs with their sucking pigs, and food for such cows and hogs for one month; also, one piano, one shotgun, and one rifle;

3. The farming utensils or implements of husbandry of the judgment debtor, not exceeding in value the sum of one thousand dollars; also, two oxen, or two horses, or two mules, and their harness, one cart or wagon, and food for such oxen, horses, or mules, for one month; also, all seed, grain, or vegetables actually provided, reserved, or on hand for the purpose of planting or sowing at any time within the ensuing six months, not exceeding in value the sum of two hundred dollars; and seventy-five beehives; one horse and vehicle belonging to any person who is maimed or crippled, and the same is necessary in his business;

4. The tools or implements of a mechanic or artisan necessary to carry on his trade; the notarial seal, records, and office furniture of a notary public; the instruments and chest of a surgeon, physician, surveyor, or dentist, necessary to the exercise of his profession, with his professional library and necessary office furniture; the professional libraries of attorneys, judges, ministers of the gospel, editors, school teachers, and music teachers, and their necessary office furniture; also, the musical instruments of music teachers actually used by them in giving instructions, and all the indexes, abstracts, books, papers, maps, and office furniture of a searcher of records necessary to be used in his profession; also, the typewriters, or other mechanical contrivances employed for writing in type, actually used by the owner thereof for making his living; also, one bicycle, when the same is used by its owner for the purpose of carrying on his regular business, or when the same is used for the purpose of transporting the owner to and from his place of business;

5. The cabin or dwelling of a miner, not exceeding in value the sum of five hundred dollars; also, his sluices, pipes, hose, windlass, derrick, cars, pumps, tools, implements, and appliances necessary for carrying on any mining operations, not exceeding in value the aggregate sum of five hundred dollars; and two horses, mules, or oxen, with their harness, and food for such horses, mules, or oxen for one month, when necessary to be used on any whim, windlass, derrick, car, pump, or hoisting gear; and also his mining claim, actually worked by him, not exceeding in value the sum of one thousand dollars;

6. Two horses, two oxen, or two mules, and their harness, and one cart or wagon, one dray or truck, one coupé, one hack or carriage, for one or two horses, by the use of which a cartman, drayman, truckman, huckster, peddler, hackman, teamster, or other laborer habitually earns his living; and one horse, with vehicle and harness or other equipments, used by a physician, surgeon, constable, or minister of the gospel, in the legitimate practice of his profession or business; with food for such oxen, horses, or mules for one month;

7. One fishing boat and net, not exceeding the total value of five hundred dollars, the property of any fisherman, by the lawful use of which he earns a livelihood;

8. Poultry not exceeding in value twenty-five dollars;

9. Seamen's and sea-going fishermen's wages and earnings not exceeding one hundred dollars;

10. The earnings of the judgment debtor for his personal services rendered at any time within thirty days next preceding the levy of execution or attachment, when it appears, by the debtor's affidavit or otherwise, that such earnings are necessary for the use of his family, residing in this state, supported in whole or in part by his labor; but where debts are incurred by any such person, or his wife or family, for the common necessities of life, or have been incurred at a time when the debtor had no family, residing in this state supported in whole or in part by his labor, the one half of such earnings above mentioned is nevertheless subject to execution, garnishment, or attachment to satisfy debts so incurred;

11. The shares held by a member of a homestead association duly incorporated, not exceeding in value one thousand dollars, if the person holding the shares is not the owner of a homestead under the laws of this state;

12. All the nautical instruments and wearing apparel of any master, officer, or seaman of any steamer or other vessel;

13. All moneys, benefits, privileges, or immunities, accruing or in any manner growing out of any life insurance, if the annual premiums paid do not exceed five hundred dollars; and if they exceed that sum, a like exemption shall exist which shall bear the same proportion to the moneys, benefits, privileges, and immunities so accruing or growing out of such insurance that said five hundred dollars bears to the whole annual premiums paid;

14. All fire engines, hooks and ladders, with the carts, trucks, and carriages, hose, buckets, implements, and apparatus thereunto appertaining, and all furniture and uniforms of any fire company or department organized under any laws of this state;

15. All arms, uniforms, and accoutrements required by law to be kept by any person, and also one gun, to be selected by the debtor;

16. All courthouses, jails, public offices, and buildings, lots, grounds, and personal property, the fixtures, furniture, books, papers, and appurtenances belonging and pertaining to the jail and public offices belonging to any county of this state; and all cemeteries, public squares, parks, and places, public buildings, town halls, markets, buildings for the use of fire departments and military organizations, and the lots and grounds thereto belonging and appertaining, owned or held by any town or incorporated city, or dedicated by such town or city to health, ornament, or public use, or for the use of any fire or military company organized under the laws of this state;

17. All material, not exceeding one thousand dollars in value, purchased in good faith for use in the construction, alteration, or repair of any building, mining claim, or other improvement, as long as in good faith the same is about to be applied to the construction, alteration, or repair of such building, mining claim, or other improvement;

18. All machinery, tools, and implements necessary in and for boring, sinking, putting down and constructing surface or artesian wells; also the engines necessary for operating such machinery, implements, tools, etc.; also all trucks necessary for the transportation of such machinery, tools, implements, engines, etc.; provided, that the value of all the articles exempted under this subdivision shall not exceed one thousand dollars.

19. Shares of stock in any building and loan association to the value of one thousand dollars.

No article, however, or species of property mentioned in this section is exempt from execution issued upon a judgment recovered for its price, or upon a judgment of foreclosure of a mortgage or other lien thereon.

Sec. 137. Section seven hundred of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 700. Upon a sale of real property the purchaser is substituted to and acquires all the right, title, interest, and claim of the judgment debtor thereto on the date of the levy of the execution thereon, where such judgment is not a lien upon such property; if the judgment is a lien upon the real property the purchaser is substituted to and acquires all the right, title, interest, and claim of the judgment debtor on the day such judgment became a lien on such property; and in case property, real or personal, has been attached in the action, then on the day the attachment was levied upon such property.

Sec. 138. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered seven hundred a, and to read as follows:

Section 700a. Sales of personal property, and of real property, when the estate therein is less than a leasehold of two years' unexpired term, are absolute. In all other cases the property is subject to redemption, as provided in this chapter. The officer must give to the purchaser a certificate of sale, and file a duplicate thereof for record in the office of the county recorder of the county, which certificate must state the date of the judgment under which the sale was made and the names of the parties thereto, and contain:

1. A particular description of the real property sold;

2. The price bid for each distinct lot or parcel;

3. The whole price paid;

4. If the property is subject to redemption, the certificate must so declare, and if the redemption can be effected only in a particular kind of money or currency, that fact must be stated.

Sec. 139. Section seven hundred and fourteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 714. When an execution against property of the judgment debtor, or of any one of several debtors in the same judgment, issued to the sheriff of the county where he resides, or if he does not reside in this state, to the sheriff of the county where the judgment roll is filed, is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part, the judgment creditor, at any time after such return is made, is entitled to an order from a judge of the court, requiring such judgment debtor to appear and answer concerning his property before such judge, or a referee appointed by him, at a time and place specified in the order; but no judgment debtor must be required to attend before a judge or referee out of the county in which he resides, or in which he has a place of business.

Sec. 140. Section seven hundred and seventeen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 717. After the issuing or return of an execution against property of the judgment debtor, or of any one of several debtors in the same judgment, and upon proof by affidavit or otherwise, to the satisfaction of the judge, that any person or corporation has property of such judgment debtor, or is indebted to him in an amount exceeding fifty dollars, the judge may, by an order, require such person or corporation, or any officer or member thereof, to appear at a specified time and place before him, or a referee appointed by him, and answer concerning the same.

SEC. 141. Section seven hundred and nineteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 719. The judge or referee may order any property of the judgment debtor, not exempt from execution, in the hands of such debtor, or any other person, or due to the judgment debtor, to be applied toward the satisfaction of the judgment; but no such order can be made as to money or property in the hands of any other person or claimed to be due from him to the judgment debtor, if such person claims an interest in the property adverse to the judgment debtor or denies the debt.

SEC. 142. Section seven hundred and twenty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 720. If it appears that a person or corporation, alleged to have property of the judgment debtor, or to be indebted to him, claims an interest in the property adverse to him, or denies the debt, the judgment creditor may maintain an action against such person or corporation for the recovery of such interest or debt; and the court or judge may, by order, forbid a transfer or other disposition of such interest or debt, until an action can be commenced and prosecuted to judgment. Such order may be modified or vacated by the judge granting the same, or the court in which the action is brought, at any time, upon such terms as may be just.

SEC. 143. Section seven hundred and twenty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 726. There can be but one action for the recovery of any debt, or the enforcement of any right secured by mortgage upon real estate or personal property; which action must be in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. In such action the court may, by its judgment, direct a sale of the incumbered property (or so much thereof as may be necessary), and the application of the proceeds of the sale to the payment of the costs of court, and the expenses of the sale, and the amount due plaintiff, including, where the mortgage stipulates for the payment of attorneys' fees, such sum for such fees as the court shall find reasonable, not exceeding the amount named in the mortgage. The court may, by its judgment, or at any time after judgment, appoint a commissioner to sell the incumbered property. It must require of him an undertaking in an amount fixed by the court, with sufficient sureties, to be approved by the judge, to the effect that the commissioner will faithfully perform the duties of his office according to law. Before entering upon the discharge of his duties he must file such undertaking, so approved, together with his oath that he will faithfully perform the duties of his office. If it appear from the sheriff's return, or from the commissioner's report, that the proceeds are insufficient, and a balance still remains due, judgment must then be docketed by the clerk in the manner provided in section six hundred and seventy-two for such balance against the defendant or defendants personally liable for the debt, and it becomes a lien on the real estate of such judgment debtor, as in other cases in which execution may be issued. No person holding a conveyance from or under the mortgagor of the property mortgaged, or having a lien thereon, which conveyance or lien does not appear of record in the proper office at the time of the commencement of the action, need be made a party to such action, and the judgment therein rendered, and the proceedings therein had, are as conclusive against the party holding such unrecorded conveyance or lien as if he had been a party to the action. If the court appoints a commissioner for the sale of the property, he must sell it in the manner provided by law for the sale of like property by the sheriff upon execution; and the provisions of chapter one, title nine, part two of this code, are hereby made applicable to sales made by such commissioner, and the powers therein given and the duties therein imposed on sheriffs are extended to such commissioner. In the event of the death, or absence from the state, or other disability or disqualification of the commissioner so appointed to sell incumbered property, the court may, after the time for redemption has expired, appoint an elisor to make the deed or deeds due to the purchaser or purchasers, or his or their assigns, of the property so sold by said commissioner. If the land mortgaged consists of a single parcel, or of two or more contiguous parcels, situate in two or more counties, the court may, in its judgment, direct the whole thereof to be sold in one of such counties, by the same officer or commissioner, and upon such proceedings, and with like effect, as if the whole of the property were situate in that county.

SEC. 144. Section seven hundred and twenty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 728. If the debt for which the mortgage, lien, or incumbrance is held, is not all due, as soon as sufficient of the property has been sold to pay the amount due, with costs, the sale must cease; and afterwards, as often as more becomes due, for principal or interest, the court may, on motion, order more to be sold. But if the property cannot be sold in portions without injury to the parties, the whole may be ordered to be sold in the first instance, or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the principal debt, the accrued interest, and costs.

SEC. 145. Section seven hundred and twenty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 729. Within thirty days after making a sale, the commissioner must file with the clerk of the court in which the action is pending, a verified report and account thereof, together with the proper affidavits, showing that the regular and required notice of the time and place of the sale was given, which report and account shall have the same force and effect as the sheriff's return in sales under execution. In all cases of sales made by a commissioner, the court in which the proceedings are pending must fix a reasonable compensation for the commissioner's services, but in no case to exceed the sum of ten dollars.

Sec. 146. Section seven hundred and thirty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 731. An action may be brought by any person whose property is injuriously affected, or whose personal enjoyment is lessened by a nuisance, and by the judgment in such action the nuisance may be enjoined or abated, as well as damages recovered therefor. A civil action may be brought in the name of the people of the state to abate a public nuisance, by the district attorney of any county in which such nuisance exists, and such district attorney must bring such action whenever directed by the board of supervisors.

Sec. 147. Section seven hundred and thirty-two of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 148. Section seven hundred and thirty-three of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 149. Section seven hundred and thirty-four of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 150. Section seven hundred and thirty-five of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 151. Section seven hundred and thirty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 738. An action may be brought by any person against another who claims an estate or interest in real property, adverse to him, for the purpose of determining such adverse claim. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to deprive a party of the right to a jury trial in any case where, by the law, such right is now given.

Sec. 152. Section seven hundred and forty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 740. In an action for the recovery of property, where the plaintiff shows a right to recover at the time the action was commenced, but it appears that his right has terminated during the pendency of the action, the verdict and judgment must be according to the fact, and the plaintiff may recover damages for withholding the property.

Sec. 153. Section seven hundred and forty-four of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 154. Section seven hundred and forty-five of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 155. Section seven hundred and forty-nine of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 156. Section seven hundred and fifty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 752. When several co-tenants own real property as joint tenants, or tenants in common, in which one or more of them have an estate of inheritance, or for life or lives, or for years, an action may be brought by one or more of such persons for a partition thereof according to the respective rights of the persons interested therein, and for a sale of such property, or a part thereof, if it appears that a partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners.

Sec. 157. Section seven hundred and fifty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 753. The interests of all persons in the property, whether such persons are known or unknown, must be set forth in the complaint, as far as known to the plaintiff; and if one or more of the parties, or the share or quantity of interest of any of the parties, is unknown to the plaintiff, or is uncertain or contingent, or the ownership of the inheritance depends upon an executory devise, or the remainder is a contingent remainder, so that such parties cannot be named, that fact must be set forth in the complaint.

Sec. 158. Section seven hundred and fifty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 756. The summons must contain a description of the property sought to be partitioned, and must be directed to all of the persons named as defendants in the complaint, and when it shows that some person has or claims an interest in or lien upon the property whose name is unknown to the plaintiff, the summons must also be directed to all persons unknown who have or claim any interest in or lien upon the property.

Sec. 159. Section seven hundred and fifty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 757. If a party having or claiming a share, interest, or lien, is unknown, or if any of the known parties reside out of the state, or cannot be found therein, and such fact appears by the verified complaint, or by the verified answer of a defendant, or by affidavit, the summons may be served on such unknown or absent party by publication, as in other cases. At any time before interlocutory judgment, the court may order other parties, whether known or unknown, to be brought in as provided in section three hundred and eighty-nine; and must do so whenever satisfied by the verified answer of a defendant, or otherwise, that any person, whether known or unknown, not already a party, claims some share, interest, or lien.

Sec. 160. Section seven hundred and fifty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 758. If the defendant fails to answer within the time allowed by law, he is deemed to admit and adopt the allegations of the complaint. Otherwise he must controvert such of the allegations of the complaint as he does not wish to be taken as admitted, and must set forth his estate or interest in the property, and if he claims a lien thereon must state the date and character of the lien and the amount remaining due, and whether he has any additional security therefor, and if so, its nature and extent, and if he fails to disclose such additional security, he must be deemed to have waived his lien on the property to be partitioned.

Sec. 161. Section seven hundred and fifty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 759. The rights of the several parties, plaintiff as well as defendant, may be put in issue, tried, and determined in such action; and when a sale of the premises is necessary, the title must be ascertained by proof to the satisfaction of the court before the sale can be ordered; except that where there are several unknown persons having an interest in the property, their rights may be considered together in the action, and not as between themselves.

Sec. 162. Section seven hundred and sixty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 761. If it appears to the court that there are outstanding liens or incumbrances of record upon such real property, or any part thereof, which existed and were of record at the time of the commencement of the action, and the persons holding such liens are not made parties to the action, the court must either order such persons to be made parties to the action, by an amended or supplemental complaint, or appoint a referee to ascertain whether or not such liens or incumbrances have been paid, and if not paid, what amount remains due thereon, and their order among the liens or incumbrances severally held by such persons and the parties to the action, and whether the amount remaining due thereon has been secured in any manner, and if secured, the nature and extent of the security.

Sec. 163. Section seven hundred and sixty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 763. If it appears by the evidence, whether alleged in the complaint or not, that the property or any part of it is so situated that partition cannot be made without great prejudice to the owners, the court may order the sale thereof; otherwise, upon the requisite proofs being made, it must order a partition according to the respective rights of the parties as ascertained by the court, and appoint three referees therefor, and must designate the portion to remain undivided for the owners whose interests remain unknown, or are not ascertained; or the court, with the consent of the parties, may appoint one referee instead of three, and he, when thus appointed, has all the powers and may perform all the duties required of three referees. When the site of an incorporated city or town is included within the exterior boundaries of the property to be partitioned, the court must direct the referees to survey and appraise the entire property to be partitioned by actual lots and subdivisions then existing in the actual possession of the several tenants in common, exclusive of the value of improvements thereon, first setting apart necessary portions of the property for ways, roads, and streets, as in section seven hundred and sixty-four provided, and to report such survey and separate appraisement on each lot and subdivision to the court. The court may confirm, change, modify, or set aside the report in whole or in part, and if necessary appoint new referees. When, after the final confirmation of the report of such survey and appraisement, it appears by evidence to the satisfaction of the court that an equitable partition of the whole property is impracticable, and a sale of the site of such city or town, or any portion thereof, will be for the best interests of the owners of the whole property, it must order a sale thereof; provided, that within sixty days thereafter any tenant in common, or tenants in common, having improvements erected on any town or city lot or subdivision included in such order of sale, shall have the prior right to purchase the same at such appraised valuation, and may pay into court the amount so appraised as the value thereof, and upon such payment the title shall vest in such purchaser or purchasers, and the court shall cause to be executed by such referees a deed for such lot or subdivision in fee and in severalty to such purchaser or purchasers; such further proceedings shall then be had as to the remainder of the property, and the money so paid to the court, as by this chapter provided. If, during the pendency of the action, any of the parties die, or become insane or otherwise incompetent, the proceedings shall not for that cause be delayed or suspended, but the attorney who has appeared for such party may continue to represent such interest; and in case any such party has not appeared by an attorney, the court must appoint an attorney to represent the interest which was held by such party, until his heirs or legal representatives, or successors in interest, shall have appeared in the action; and an attorney so appointed must be allowed by the court a reasonable compensation for his services, which may be taxed as costs against the share or interest represented by such attorney, and may be adjudged a lien thereon, in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 164. Section seven hundred and sixty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 764. In making partition, the referees must divide the property, and allot the several portions thereof to the respective parties, quality and quantity relatively considered, according to the respective rights of the parties as determined by the court, pursuant to the provisions of this chapter, designating the several portions by proper landmarks, and may employ a surveyor with the necessary assistants to aid them. Before making partition or sale, the referees may, whenever it will be for the advantage of those interested, set apart a portion of the property for a way, road, or street, and the portion so set apart must not be assigned to any of the parties or sold, but must remain an open and public way, road, or street, unless the referees shall set the same apart as a private way for the use of the parties interested, or some of them, their heirs and assigns, in which case it shall remain such private way. Whenever the referees have laid out on any tract of land roads sufficient in the judgment of said referees to accommodate the public and private wants, they must report that fact to the court, and upon the confirmation of their report all other roads on said tract cease to be public highways. Whenever it appears, in an action for partition of lands, that one or more of the tenants in common, being the owner of an undivided interest in the tract of land sought to be partitioned, has sold to another person a specific tract by metes and bounds out of the common land, and executed to the purchaser a deed of conveyance, purporting to convey the whole title to such specific tract to the purchaser in fee and in severalty, the land described in such deed shall be allotted and set apart in partition to such purchaser, his heirs or assigns, or in such other manner as shall make such deed effectual as a conveyance of the whole title to such segregated parcel, if such tract or tracts of land can be so allotted or set apart without material injury of the rights and interests of the other co-tenants who may not have joined in such conveyance. In all cases it is the duty of the referees, in making partition of land, to allot the share of each of the parties owning an interest in the whole or in any part of the premises sought to be partitioned, and to locate the share of each co-tenant, so as to embrace as far as practicable the improvements made by such co-tenant upon the property, and the value of the improvements made by the tenants in common must be excluded from the valuation in making the allotments, and the land must be valued without regard to such improvements, in case the same can be done without material injury to the rights and interests of the other tenants in common owning such land.

SEC. 165. Section seven hundred and sixty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 765. The referees must make a report of their proceedings, specifying therein the manner in which they executed their trust, and describing the property divided, and the shares allotted to each party, with a particular description of each share. Any party to the action, after giving at least ten days' notice in writing to the other parties who have appeared therein of his intention to do so, may move the court to confirm, change, modify, or set aside such report.

SEC. 166. Section seven hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 766. The court may confirm, change, modify, or set aside the report, and if necessary, appoint new referees. Upon the report being confirmed, judgment must be rendered that such partition be effectual forever, which judgment is binding and conclusive:

1. On all persons named as parties to the action, and their legal representatives, who have at the time any interest in the property divided, or any part thereof, as owners in fee or as tenants for life or for years, or as entitled to the reversion, remainder, or the inheritance of such property, or any part thereof, after the determination of a particular estate therein, and who by any contingency may be entitled to a beneficial interest in the property, or who have an interest in any undivided share thereof, as tenants for years or for life;

2. On all persons interested in the property, who may be unknown, to whom notice has been given of the action for partition by publication;

3. On all other persons claiming from such parties or persons, or either of them.

And no judgment is invalidated by reason of the death of any party before final judgment or decree; but such judgment or decree is as conclusive against the heirs, legal representatives, or assigns of such decedent, as if it had been entered before his death. If, during the pendency of the action, and before final judgment therein, any of the co-tenants has conveyed to another person his interest, or any part of his interest, such conveyance, whatever its form, shall be deemed to have passed to the grantee any lands which, after its execution, may have been set aside to the grantor in severalty, or such proportionate interest in such lands as the interest so conveyed bears to the whole interest of the grantor.

SEC. 167. Section seven hundred and seventy-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 774. When the proceeds of the sale of any share or parcel belonging to persons who are parties to the action, whether known or unknown, are paid into court, the action may be continued as between such parties, for the determination of their respective claims thereto, which must be ascertained and adjudged by the court. Further testimony may be taken in court, or by a referee, at the discretion of the court, and the court may, if necessary, require such parties to present the facts or law in controversy, by pleadings, as in an original action.

SEC. 168. Section seven hundred and seventy-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 775. All sales of real property, made by referees under this chapter, must be made at public auction to the highest bidder, upon notice given in the manner required for the sale of real property on execution. The notice must state the terms of sale, and if the property, or any part of it, is to be sold subject to a prior estate, charge, or lien, that must be stated in the notice.

SEC. 169. Section seven hundred and eighty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 784. After completing a sale of the property, or any part thereof, ordered to be sold, the referees must report the same to the court, with a description of the different parcels of land sold to each purchaser; the name of the purchaser; the price paid or secured; the terms and conditions of the sale, and the securities, if any, taken. The report must be filed in the office of the clerk of the county where the property is situated. Thereafter any purchaser, or any party to the action, may, upon ten days' notice to the other parties who have appeared therein, and also to the purchaser if he be not the moving party, move the court to confirm or set aside any sale or sales so reported.

SEC. 170. Section seven hundred and eighty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 785. If the sale is confirmed by the court, an order must be entered, directing the referees to execute conveyances and take securities pursuant to such sale, which they are hereby authorized to do. Such order may also give directions to them respecting the disposition of the proceeds of the sale. If the purchaser, after the confirmation of the sale, refuses to pay the amount of his bid, the referees may again sell the property at any time to the highest bidder, and if any loss is occasioned thereby the referees may recover the amount of such loss and the costs from the bidder so refusing, or the referees, without making a resale, may maintain an action against the purchaser for the amount of his bid.

SEC. 171. Section seven hundred and ninety-five of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 172. Section seven hundred and ninety-seven of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 173. Section seven hundred and ninety-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 799. If it is necessary to have an abstract of title of the property to be partitioned, the plaintiff may procure one before commencing the action, and may, in his complaint, state that he has done so, and that the abstract is subject to the inspection and use of all the parties to the action, designating a place where it will be kept for such inspection. Otherwise the court may, upon application of any one of the parties, authorize him to procure an abstract, which, when made, shall be kept at some place designated by the court for the inspection and use of all parties, any of whom is entitled to make a copy thereof. The expense reasonably incurred in procuring such abstract must be allowed to the party incurring it, with interest thereon from the commencement of the action, if it had been procured before that time, otherwise from the time of payment.

SEC. 174. Section eight hundred and three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 803. An action may be brought by the attorney-general, in the name of the people of this state, upon his own information, or upon a complaint of a private party, against any person who usurps, intrudes into, or unlawfully holds or exercises any public office, civil or military, or any franchise within this state. And the attorney-general must bring the action, whenever he has reason to believe that any such office or franchise has been usurped, intruded into, or unlawfully held or exercised by any person, or when he is directed to do so by the governor. And if it is claimed that a corporation, either de jure or de facto, is exercising a franchise which it is not authorized to exercise, or is exercising corporate functions when not authorized to do so, such corporation must be made a party defendant.

SEC. 175. Section eight hundred and twenty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 824. If the attachment is not discharged, and a judgment is recovered in the action in favor of the plaintiff, and an execution issued thereon, the sheriff must sell at public auction, after publication of notice of such sale for ten days, the steamer, vessel, or boat, with its tackle, apparel, and furniture, or such interest therein as may be necessary. The notice must contain a general description of the steamer, vessel, or boat, and a statement of its measurement and tonnage. The officer must apply the proceeds of the sale as follows:

1. When the action is brought for demands other than the wages of mariners, boatmen, and others employed in the service of the steamer, vessel, or boat sold, to the payment of the amount of such wages, as specified in the execution;

2. To the payment of the judgment and costs, including his fees;

3. He must pay any balance remaining to the owner, or to the master, agent or consignee, who may have appeared on behalf of the owner, or if there is no appearance, then into court, subject to the claim of any party or parties legally entitled thereto.

SEC. 176. Section eight hundred and twenty-seven of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 177. Section eight hundred and thirty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 836. After an order has been made, transferring the action for trial to another court, the following proceedings must be had:

1. The justice ordering the transfer must immediately transmit to the justice of the court to which it is transferred, on payment by the party applying of all the costs that have accrued, all the papers in the action, together with a certified transcript from his docket of the proceedings therein;

2. Upon the receipt by him of such papers, the justice to whom the case is transferred has thereafter the same jurisdiction over the action as though it had been commenced in his court. He must issue a notice, stating when and where the trial will take place, which notice must be served upon the parties at least one day before the time fixed for trial.

SEC. 178. Section eight hundred and thirty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 832. Actions in justices' courts must be commenced, and, subject to the right to change the place of trial, as in this chapter provided, must be tried:

1. If there is no justices' court for the township or city in which the defendant resides—in any city or township in which he resides;

2. When two or more persons are jointly, or jointly and severally, bound in any debt or contract, or otherwise jointly liable in the same action, and reside in different townships or different cities of the same county, or in different counties—in the township or city in which any of the persons liable may reside;

3. In cases of injury to the person or property—in the township or city where the injury was committed, or where the defendant resides;

4. If for the recovery of personal property, or the value thereof, or damages for taking or detaining the same—in the township or city in which the property may be found, or in which the property was taken, or in which the defendant resides;

5. When the defendant is a nonresident of the county—in any township or city wherein he may be found;

6. When the defendant is a nonresident of the state—in any township or city in the state.

7. When a person has contracted to perform an obligation at a particular place, and resides in another county, township, or city—in the township or city in which such obligation is to be performed, or in which he resides; and the township or city in which the obligation is incurred is deemed to be the township or city in which it is to be performed, unless there is a special contract in writing to the contrary;

8. When the parties voluntarily appear and plead without summons—in any township or city in the state.

9. In all other cases—in the township or city in which the defendant resides.

Sec. 179. Section eight hundred and thirty-seven of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 180. Section eight hundred and forty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 844. The summons must be directed to the defendant, signed by the justice, and must contain:

1. The title of the court, name of the county, and of the city or township in which the action is brought, and the names of the parties thereto;

2. A direction that the defendant appear and answer before the justice, at his office, as specified in section eight hundred and forty-five;

3. If the action is upon a contract and the complaint demands judgment for money or damages, a notice that unless the defendant so appears and answers, the plaintiff will take judgment for such amount, naming it; and, in all other cases, a notice that unless the defendant so appears and answers, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint. If the plaintiff appears by attorney, the name of the attorney must be indorsed upon the summons.

Sec. 181. Section eight hundred and forty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 845. The time specified in the summons for the appearance of the defendant must be as follows:

1. If an order of arrest is indorsed upon the summons, forthwith;

2. In all other cases, within five days, if the summons is served in the city and county, township, or city, in which the action is brought; within ten days, if served out of the township or city, but in the county in which the action is brought; and within twenty days, if served elsewhere.

Sec. 182. Section eight hundred and forty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 848. The summons cannot be served out of the county wherein the action is brought, except in the following cases:

1. When the action is upon the joint contract or obligation of two or more persons, one of whom resides within the county;

2. When the action is brought against a party who has contracted in writing to perform an obligation at a particular place, and resides in a different county, in which case the summons may be served in the county where he resides;

3. When the action is for injury to person or property, and the defendant resides in a different county, in which case summons may be served in the county wherein he may be found.

4. In all cases where the defendant was a resident of the county when the action was brought, and thereafter departed therefrom, in which event he may be served wherever he may be found;

5. In actions of forcible entry and detainer, or to enforce and foreclose liens on, or to recover possession of, personal property situate within the county.

Sec. 183. Section eight hundred and forty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 849. The summons may be served by a sheriff or constable of any of the counties of this state, or by any other person of the age of eighteen years not a party to the action. When a summons issued by a justice of the peace is to be served out of the county in which it was issued, the summons must have attached to it a certificate, under seal, by the county clerk of such county, to the effect that the person issuing the same was an acting justice of the peace at the date of the summons, and must be served and returned, as provided in title five, part two, of this code, or it may be served by publication; and sections four hundred and thirteen and four hundred and twelve, so far as they relate to the publication of summons, are made applicable to justices' courts, the word "justice" being substituted for the word "judge" wherever the latter word occurs.

SEC. 184. Section eight hundred and fifty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 855. The answer may contain a denial of any or all of the material facts stated in the complaint, which the defendant believes to be untrue, and also a statement, in a plain and direct manner, of any other facts constituting a defense or counterclaim, upon which an action might be brought by the defendant against the plaintiff, or his assignor, in a justice's court.

SEC. 185. Section eight hundred and fifty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 859. Either party may, at any time before the conclusion of the trial, amend any pleading; but if the amendment is made after the issue, and it appears to the satisfaction of the court, by oath, that an adjournment is necessary to the adverse party in consequence of such amendment, an adjournment must be granted. The court may also, in its discretion, when an adjournment will by the amendment be rendered necessary, require, as a condition to the allowance of such amendment, made after issue joined, the payment of costs to the adverse party, to be fixed by the court, not exceeding twenty dollars. The court may also, on such terms as may be just, and on payment of costs, relieve a party from a judgment by default taken against him by his mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect, but the application for such relief must be made within ten days after notice of the entry of the judgment and upon an affidavit showing good cause therefor.

SEC. 186. Section eight hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 866. A writ to attach the property of the defendant must be issued by the justice at the time of, or after, issuing summons, on receiving an affidavit by or on behalf of the plaintiff, showing the same facts as are required to be shown by the affidavit specified in section five hundred and thirty-eight.

SEC. 187. Section eight hundred and sixty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 867. Before issuing the writ, the justice must require a written undertaking on the part of the plaintiff, with two or more sufficient sureties, in a sum not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars, to the effect that if the defendant recovers judgment, the plaintiff will pay all costs that may be awarded to the defendant, and all damages which he may sustain by reason of the attachment, not exceeding the sum specified in the undertaking. At any time after the issuing of the attachment, but not later than five days after notice of its levy, the defendant may except to the sufficiency of the sureties. If he fails to do so, he is deemed to have waived all objections to them. When excepted to they must justify in the manner and within the time provided in section five hundred and thirty-nine, otherwise the justice must order the writ of attachment vacated.

SEC. 188. Section eight hundred and eighty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows.

Section 887. If the complaint of the plaintiff, or the answer of the defendant, contains a copy, or consists of the original of the written obligation upon which the action is brought or the defense founded, the genuineness and due execution of such instrument are deemed admitted, unless the answer denying the same is verified, or unless the plaintiff, within two days after the service on him of such answer, files with the justice an affidavit denying the same, and serves a copy thereof on the defendant.

SEC. 189. Section eight hundred and ninety-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 892. When the trial is by the court, judgment must be entered within ten days after the submission.

SEC. 190. Section eight hundred and ninety-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 893. The judgment of a justice of the peace must be entered substantially in the form required in section six hundred and sixty-seven, and where the defendant is subject to arrest and imprisonment thereon that fact must be stated in the judgment. No judgment shall have effect for any purpose until so entered.

SEC. 191. Section eight hundred and ninety-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 895. If the defendant, at any time before the trial, offers, in writing, to allow judgment to be taken against him for a specified sum, the plaintiff may immediately have judgment therefor, with the costs then accrued; but if he does not accept such offer before the trial, and fails to recover in the action a sum in excess of the offer, he cannot recover costs incurred after the offer, but costs must be adjudged against him, and, if he recovers, be deducted from his recovery. The offer and failure to accept it cannot be given in evidence nor affect the recovery, otherwise than as to costs.

SEC. 192. Section nine hundred and five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 905. The sections of this code, from seven hundred and fourteen to seven hundred and twenty-one, both inclusive, are applicable to justices' courts, the word "constable" being substituted, to that end, for the word "sheriff," whenever the writ is directed to a constable, and the word "justice" for "judge." If the judgment debtor does not reside in the county wherein the judgment was entered, an abstract of the judgment, in the form prescribed by section eight hundred and ninety-seven, may be filed in the office of the justice of any town, township, or city wherein the defendant resides, and such justice may issue execution on such judgment, and may take and exercise such jurisdiction in proceedings supplemental to execution, as if such judgment were originally entered in his court.

SEC. 193. Section nine hundred and six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 906. A justice may punish as for contempt, persons guilty of the following acts, and no other:

1. Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior toward the justice while holding court, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;

2. A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct, or violent disturbance in the presence of the justice, or in the immediate vicinity of the court held by him, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;

3. Disobedience or resistance to the execution of a lawful order or process, made or issued by him;

4. Disobedience to a subpoena duly served, or refusing to be sworn or to answer as a witness;

5. Rescuing any person or property in the custody of an officer by virtue of an order or process of the court held by him;

6. Either of the acts specified in subdivisions four, eight, or eleven, of section twelve hundred and nine.

SEC. 194. Section nine hundred and thirty-six of said code is hereby numbered nine hundred and thirty-four, and as so numbered reads:

Section 934. A judgment or order in a civil action, except when expressly made final by this code, may be reviewed as prescribed in this title, and not otherwise.

SEC. 195. Section nine hundred and thirty-seven of said code is hereby numbered nine hundred and thirty-five, and as so numbered reads:

Section 935. An order made out of court, without notice to the adverse party, may be vacated or modified without notice, by the judge who made it; or may be vacated or modified on notice, in the manner in which other motions are made.

SEC. 196. Section nine hundred and thirty-eight of said code is hereby numbered nine hundred and thirty-six, and as so numbered reads:

Section 936. Any party aggrieved may appeal in the cases prescribed in this title. The party appealing is known as the appellant, and the adverse party as the respondent.

SEC. 197. Section nine hundred and thirty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 937. Whenever an appeal is perfected, as provided in this chapter, it stays all further proceedings in the court below upon the judgment or order appealed from, or upon the matters embraced therein, and releases from levy property which has been levied upon under execution issued upon such judgment; but the court below may proceed upon any other matter embraced in the action and not affected by the order (or judgment) appealed from. And the court below may, in its discretion, dispense with or limit the security required by this chapter, when the appellant is an executor, administrator, trustee, or other person acting in another's right. An appeal does not continue in force an attachment unless an undertaking is executed and filed on the part of the appellant, by at least two sureties, in double the amount of the debt claimed by him, that the appellant will pay all costs and damages which the respondent may sustain by reason of the attachment, in case the order or judgment of the court below is sustained; nor, unless, within five days after the entry of the order appealed from, such appeal is perfected, in which case the attachment is continued in force in the same manner as if such order had not been made, or such judgment given.

SEC. 198. Section nine hundred and sixty-five of said code is hereby numbered nine hundred and thirty-eight, and as so numbered is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 938. When an executor, administrator, or guardian who has given an official bond, appeals from a judgment or order made in the proceedings had upon the estate of which he is executor, administrator, or guardian, his official bond stands in the place of an undertaking on appeal; and the sureties thereon are liable as on such undertaking.

SEC. 199. A new section is hereby added to said code to be numbered nine hundred and thirty-eight a, and to read as follows:

Section 938*a*. When the judgment or order appointing an executor, administrator, or guardian, is reversed on appeal, for error, and not for want of jurisdiction of the court, all lawful acts in administration upon the estate performed by such executor, administrator, or guardian, if he has qualified, are as valid as if such judgment or order had been affirmed.

SEC. 200. Section nine hundred and sixty-three is hereby numbered nine hundred and thirty-nine and as so numbered reads:

Section 939. An appeal may be taken to the supreme court, from a superior court, within the times herein specified in the following cases:

1. From a final judgment entered in an action, or special proceeding, commenced in a superior court, within six months after the entry of judgment. But an exception to the decision or verdict, on the ground that it is not supported by the evidence, cannot be reviewed on an appeal from the judgment, unless the appeal is taken within sixty days after the entry of the judgment;

2. From a final judgment entered in an action or special proceeding, brought into a superior court from an inferior court, in cases of forcible entry and detainer, and cases involving the title or possession of real property, or the legality of any tax, impost, assessment, toll, or municipal fine, within ninety days after the entry of such judgment;

3. From an order granting or refusing a new trial; from an order setting aside or vacating a judgment or decree; from an order granting or dissolving an injunction; from an order refusing to grant or dissolve an injunction; from an order appointing a receiver; from an order dissolving or refusing to dissolve an attachment; from an order granting or refusing to grant a change of the place of trial; from any special order made after final judgment; from an interlocutory judgment; and from an order confirming, changing, modifying, or setting aside, in whole or in part, a report of referees in actions for partition of real property in the cases mentioned in section seven hundred and sixty-three; within sixty days after the order or interlocutory judgment is made and entered in the minutes of the court;

4. From a judgment or order granting or refusing to grant, revoking or refusing to revoke, letters testamentary, or of administration, or of guardianship; or admitting or refusing to admit a will to probate, or against or in favor of the validity of a will, or revoking or refusing to revoke the probate thereof; or against or in favor of setting apart property, or making an allowance for a widow or child; or against or in favor of directing the partition, sale, or conveyance of real property, or settling an account of an executor, administrator, or guardian; or refusing, allowing, or directing the distribution or partition of an estate, or any part thereof, or the payment of a debt, claim, or legacy, or distributive share; or confirming or refusing to confirm a report of an appraiser, or appraisers, setting apart a homestead; within sixty days after the order or decree is made and entered in the minutes of the court.

SEC. 201. Section nine hundred and forty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 940. An appeal is taken by filing with the clerk of the court in which the judgment or order appealed from is entered, a notice stating the appeal from the same, or some specific part thereof, and serving a similar notice on the adverse party or his attorney. The order of service is immaterial, but the appeal is ineffectual for any purpose unless within five days after service of the notice of appeal, an undertaking is filed, or a deposit of money is made with the clerk, as hereinafter provided, or the undertaking is waived by the adverse party in writing. If the adverse party has not appeared either in person or by attorney, service upon him may be made by delivering a copy of the notice to the clerk of the court from which the appeal is taken.

SEC. 202. Section nine hundred and forty-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 203. Section nine hundred and forty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 948. The adverse party may except to the sufficiency of the sureties to any of the undertakings mentioned in sections nine hundred and forty-one, nine hundred and forty-two, nine hundred and forty-three, and nine hundred and forty-five, at any time within thirty days after notice of the filing of such undertaking; and unless they or other sureties, within twenty days after the appellant has been served with notice of such exception, justify before a judge of the court below, or county clerk upon five days' notice to the respondent of the time and place of justification, execution of the judgment, order, or decree appealed from is no longer stayed; and, if the undertaking is of the class mentioned in section nine hundred and forty-one, the appeal must be dismissed. In all cases where an undertaking is required on appeal by the provisions of this title, a deposit in the court below of the amount of the judgment appealed from, including an amount to be fixed by the court sufficient to cover interest thereon pending the appeal, and three hundred dollars in addition, is equivalent to filing the undertaking, and in all cases the undertaking or deposit may be waived by the written consent of the respondent.

SEC. 204. Section nine hundred and fifty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 950. On an appeal from a final judgment, the appellant must furnish the court with a copy of the notice of appeal, of the judgment roll, and of any bill of exceptions upon which the appellant relies. Any statement, settled after the decision of a motion for a new trial, when the motion is made upon the minutes of the court, as provided in section six hundred and sixty-one, or any bill of exceptions settled, as provided in sections six hundred and forty-nine or six hundred and fifty, or used on motion for a new trial, may be used on appeal from a final judgment equally as upon appeal from the order granting or refusing the new trial.

SEC. 205. Section nine hundred and fifty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 952. On appeal from an order granting or refusing a new trial, the appellant must furnish the court with a copy of the notice of appeal, of the notice of intention to move for a new trial, of the order appealed from, and of the papers designated in section six hundred and sixty-one.

SEC. 206. Section nine hundred and fifty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 956. Upon an appeal from a judgment, the court may review the verdict or decision, and any intermediate order or decision excepted to, which involves the merits, or necessarily affects the judgment, except a decision or order from which an appeal might have been taken. When a judgment is reversed for error in refusing to grant a nonsuit or in refusing to direct a verdict, the appellate court may, in its discretion, direct the court below, without a new trial, to enter judgment of nonsuit or to enter judgment in favor of the party for whom a verdict should have been directed.

SEC. 207. Section nine hundred and fifty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 958. When judgment is rendered upon the appeal, it must be certified by the clerk of the supreme court to the clerk with whom the judgment roll is filed or the order appealed from is entered. A copy of the opinion of the supreme court must be attached to the certificate. In cases of appeal from the judgment, the clerk with whom the roll is filed must attach the certificate to the judgment roll, and enter a minute of the judgment of the supreme court on the docket against the original entry. In cases of appeal from an order, the clerk must enter at length in the records of the court the certificate received, and minute against the entry of the order appealed from, a reference to the certificate, with a brief statement that such order has been affirmed, reversed, or modified by the supreme court on appeal.

SEC. 208. Section nine hundred and fifty-nine of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 209. Section nine hundred and sixty-three of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 210. Section nine hundred and sixty-four of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 211. Section nine hundred and sixty-five of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 212. Section nine hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 213. Section nine hundred and seventy-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 974. Any party dissatisfied with a judgment rendered in a civil action in a police or justice's court, may appeal therefrom to the superior court of the county, at any time within thirty days after the notice of entry of the judgment. The appeal is taken by filing a notice of appeal with the justice or judge, and serving a copy on the adverse party. The notice must state whether the appeal is taken from the whole or a part of the judgment, and if from a part, what part.

SEC. 214. Section nine hundred and seventy-five of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 215. Section nine hundred and seventy-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 216. Section nine hundred and seventy-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 977. Upon receiving the notice of appeal, and on payment of the fees of the justice or judge, payable on appeal and not included in the judgment, and filing an undertaking as required in the next section, the justice or judge must, within five days, transmit to the clerk of the superior court a certified copy of his docket, the pleadings, all notices, motions, and all other papers filed in the cause, the notice of appeal and the undertaking filed; and the justice or judge may be compelled by the superior court, by an order entered upon motion, to transmit such papers, and may be fined for neglect or refusal to transmit the same. A certified copy of such order may be served on the justice or judge by the party or his attorney.

SEC. 217. Section nine hundred and seventy-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 978. An appeal from a justice's or police court where no stay of proceedings is claimed is not effectual for any purpose, unless an undertaking is filed with two or more sureties in the sum of one hundred dollars, for the payment of the costs on the appeal; or, if a stay of proceedings is claimed, in a sum equal to twice the amount of the judgment, including costs, when the judgment is for the payment of money; or twice the value of the property, including costs, when the judgment is for the recovery of specific personal property, and must be conditioned, when the action is for the recovery of money, that the appellant will pay the amount of the judgment appealed from, and all costs, if the appeal is withdrawn or dismissed, or the amount of any judgment and all costs that may be recovered against him in the action in the superior court. When the action is for the recovery of, or to enforce or foreclose a lien on, specific personal property, the undertaking must be conditioned that the appellant will pay the judgment and costs appealed from, and obey the order of the court made therein, if the appeal is withdrawn or dismissed, or any judgment and costs that may be recovered against him in said action in the superior court, and will obey any order made by the court therein. When the judgment appealed from directs the delivery of possession of real property, the execution of the same cannot be stayed unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, with two or more sureties, to the effect that during the possession of such property by the appellant, he will not commit or suffer to be committed, any waste thereon, and that if the appeal is dismissed or withdrawn, or the judgment affirmed, or judgment be recovered against him in the action in the superior court, he will pay the value of the use and occupation of the property from the time of the appeal until the delivery of possession thereof, or that he will pay any judgment and costs that may be recovered against him in said action in the superior court, not exceeding a sum to be fixed by the justice of the court from which the appeal is taken, and which sum must be specified in the undertaking. A deposit of the amount of the judgment, including all costs, appealed from or of the value of the property, including all costs, in actions for the recovery of specific personal property, with the justice or judge, is equivalent to the filing of the undertaking, and in such cases the justice or judge must transmit the money to the clerk of the superior court, to be by him paid out on the order of the court. The adverse party may except to the sufficiency of the sureties within five days after the filing of the undertaking, and unless they or other sureties justify before the justice or judge within five days thereafter, upon notice to the adverse party, to the amounts stated in their affidavits, the appeal must be regarded as if no such undertaking had been given.

SEC. 218. Section nine hundred and eighty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 980. In all cases the action must be tried anew in the superior court, and the trial must be conducted in all respects as other trials in such courts, and all the provisions of this code as to amendments to pleadings are applicable therein. If the judgment on the appeal is more favorable to the appellant than that from which he appealed, he is entitled to recover all costs incurred by him after filing his notice of appeal, and is not liable for any costs incurred by the respondent after that time; and if such judgment is less favorable to him than that from which he appealed, he is entitled to recover no costs incurred after filing his notice of appeal, and is liable for any costs incurred by the respondent after that time. For a failure to prosecute an appeal, or unnecessary delay in bringing it to a hearing, the superior court, after notice, may order the appeal to be dismissed with costs; and if it appears to such court that the appeal was taken solely for delay, it may add to the costs such damages as may be just, not exceeding twenty-five per cent of the judgment appealed from. Judgments rendered in the superior court on appeal have the same force and effect, and may be enforced in the same manner, as judgments in actions commenced in the superior court.

SEC. 219. Section nine hundred and ninety-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 992. Upon such summons, the defendant may answer within the time specified therein, denying the judgment, or setting up any defense which may have arisen subsequently; or he may deny his liability on the obligation upon which the judgment was recovered, by reason of any defense existing at the commencement of the action.

SEC. 220. Section nine hundred and ninety-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 993. If the defendant, in his answer, denies the judgment, or sets up any defense which may have arisen subsequently, the summons, with the affidavit annexed, and the answer, constitute the written allegations in the case; if he denies his liability on the obligation upon which the judgment was recovered, a copy of the original complaint and judgment, the summons, with the affidavit annexed, and the answer, constitute such written allegations, subject to the right of the parties, to amend their pleadings as in other cases.

SEC. 221. Section nine hundred and ninety-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 997. The defendant may at any time, not less than ten days before the trial, serve upon the plaintiff an offer to allow judgment to be taken against him for the sum or property, or to the effect therein specified. If the plaintiff accepts the offer, and gives notice thereof within five days, he may file the offer, with proof of notice of acceptance, and the clerk must thereupon enter judgment accordingly. If the notice of acceptance is not given, the offer is to be deemed withdrawn, and cannot be given in evidence upon the trial; and if the plaintiff fails to obtain a more favorable judgment, he cannot recover costs incurred after the offer, but must pay the defendant's costs from the time of the offer, and if the plaintiff recovers, such costs must be deducted from the amount of the recovery.

SEC. 222. Section ten hundred and five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1005. When a written notice of a motion is necessary, it must be given, if the court is held in the county in which the attorney, or some of the attorneys, of each of the parties have their offices, five days before the time appointed for the hearing; otherwise, ten days. When the notice is served by mail, the number of days before the hearing must be increased one day for every twenty-five miles of distance between the place of deposit and the place of service; such increase, however, not to exceed in all thirty days; but in all cases the court, or a judge thereof, may prescribe a shorter time.

SEC. 223. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered ten hundred and eight and to read as follows:

Section 1008. No order has any force or effect until filed or entered on the minutes of the court.

SEC. 224. Section ten hundred and ten of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1010. Notices must be in writing, and the notice of a motion, other than for a new trial, must state when, and the grounds upon which it will be made, and the papers, if any, upon which it is to be based. If any such paper has not previously been served upon the party to be notified, and was not filed by him, a copy of such paper must accompany the notice. Notices and other papers may be served upon the party or attorney in the manner prescribed in this chapter, when not otherwise provided by this code.

SEC. 225. Section ten hundred and eleven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1011. The service may be personal, by delivery to the party or attorney on whom the service is required to be made, or it may be as follows:

1. If upon an attorney, it may be made during his absence from his office, by leaving the notice or other papers with his clerk therein, or with a person having charge thereof; or when there is no person in the office, by leaving them between the hours of nine in the morning and five in the afternoon, in a conspicuous place in the office; or, if it is not open so as to admit of such service, then by leaving them at the attorney's residence, with some person of suitable age and discretion, if his residence is in the same county with his office; and if his residence is not known, or is not in the same county with his office, or being in the same county is not open, or there is not found thereat any person of suitable age and discretion, then by putting the same, inclosed in a sealed envelope, into the postoffice directed to such attorney at his office, if known; otherwise, to his residence, if known; and if neither his office nor his residence is known, then by delivering the same to the clerk of the court for the attorney;

2. If upon a party, it may be made by leaving the notice or other paper at his residence, between the hours of eight in the morning and six in the evening, with some person of suitable age and discretion; and, if his residence is not known, by delivering the same to the clerk of the court for such party;

3. The plaintiff at the time of filing the complaint, and the defendant at the time of appearing, may deposit with the clerk the address of a place at which notices or papers may be served on them respectively, and may at any time thereafter serve upon the adverse party and file with the clerk a change of such address; and any address so given must be deemed to be the office of the attorney or the residence of the party, as the case may be, within the meaning of the preceding subdivisions of this section.

SEC. 226. Section ten hundred and thirteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1013. In case of service by mail, the notice or other paper must be deposited in the postoffice, in a sealed envelope, addressed to the person on whom it is to be served, at his office or place of residence, and the postage paid. The service is complete at the time of the deposit, but if, within a given number of days after such service, a right may be exercised or an act is to be done by the adverse party, the time within which such right may be exercised or act be done is extended one day for every twenty-five miles distance between the place of deposit and the place of address; such extension, however, not to exceed thirty days in all.

SEC. 227. Section ten hundred and fifteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1015. When a plaintiff or a defendant, who has appeared, resides out of the state, and has no attorney in the action or proceeding, the service may be made on the clerk for him. But in all cases where a party has an attorney in the action or proceeding, the service of papers, when required, must be upon the attorney instead of the party, except of subpoenas, of writs, and other process issued in the suit, and of papers to bring him into contempt. If the sole attorney for a party is removed or suspended from practice, then the party has no attorney within the meaning of this section. If his sole attorney has no known office in this state, notices and papers may be served by leaving a copy thereof with the clerk of the court, unless such attorney shall have filed in the cause an address of a place at which notices and papers may be served on him, in which event they may be served at such place.

SEC. 228. Section ten hundred and twenty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1021. Parties to actions or proceedings are entitled to costs as hereinafter provided; and, except where otherwise expressly provided by law, the word "costs" includes only the following:

1. The fees allowed by law to any officer (except a phonographic reporter), for any official act performed by him in the action or proceeding, or in taking the verification to any paper filed in the action or proceeding, or in executing process therein;

2. The actual expense of the service, by a person other than the sheriff or constable, of a summons or subpoena, not exceeding the fees allowed by law to those officers for such service;

3. The fees allowed by law to a phonographic reporter for reporting the testimony and proceedings in the action or proceeding; and the fees allowed him by law for transcribing such testimony and proceedings, when such transcription has been ordered by the court;

4. The reasonable compensation of a notary, commissioner, or other person, for taking a deposition to be used in the action or proceeding, when no fee is fixed by the law of this state for such service;

5. The fees allowed by law to any officer for making and certifying a copy of any public writing, or any record of a private writing, put in evidence in the action or proceeding;

6. The fees and mileage allowed by law to any witness who has testified in the action or proceeding; and to any witness attending to give testimony upon subpoena or at the request of a party, though he gives no testimony, if it appears that his presence was procured in good faith and upon reasonable grounds; provided, that the mileage allowed to any witness attending without subpoena must in no case exceed thirty miles;

7. The reasonable compensation of expert witnesses called by the court, for their attendance, and for such preparation as the court may order, including the making of examinations, measurements, surveys, maps, diagrams, photographs, models, and other things so ordered to be made;

8. The fees allowed by law to the jurors impaneled to try the cause;

9. The fees allowed by law, or paid by agreement of the parties, to a referee, for his services in the action or proceeding;

10. Such reasonable amount as the court may allow for printing transcripts, briefs, and other documents, when required by law or by any lawful rule or order of the supreme court to be printed;

11. Any other disbursement made in the action or proceeding by lawful direction of the court, or by stipulation of the parties.

No item of costs must be taxed in favor of any party unless he has actually paid or become unconditionally liable to pay the same, nor unless the same was incurred in good faith, in accordance with law, and upon reasonable grounds.

SEC. 229. Section ten hundred and twenty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1023. When several actions are brought on one bond, undertaking, promissory note, bill of exchange, or other instrument in writing, or in any other case for the same cause of action, and costs have been allowed to the plaintiff in one of such actions, no item of costs shall be taxed in his favor in any subsequent one of said actions, which would not have been incurred had only one action been brought.

SEC. 230. Section ten hundred and twenty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1024. Costs must be allowed, of course, to a defendant, upon a judgment in his favor in the actions mentioned in section ten hundred and twenty-two, and in special proceedings.

SEC. 231. Section ten hundred and twenty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1025. In other actions than those mentioned in section ten hundred and twenty-two, costs may be allowed or not, and, if allowed, may be apportioned between the parties on the same or adverse sides, in the discretion of the court; but no costs can be allowed in an action for the recovery of money or damages when the plaintiff recovers less than three hundred dollars, nor in an action to recover the possession of personal property, when the value of the property recovered is less than three hundred dollars.

SEC. 232. Section ten hundred and twenty-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 233. Section ten hundred and thirty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1031. In an action or proceeding prosecuted or defended by an executor, administrator, trustee of an express trust, or a person expressly authorized by statute, costs may be recovered as in an action or proceeding by or against a person prosecuting or defending in his own right; but such costs must by the judgment be made chargeable only upon the estate, fund, or party represented, unless the court directs the same to be paid by the plaintiff or defendant, personally, for mismanagement or bad faith in the action or proceeding.

SEC. 234. Section ten hundred and thirty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1033. A party claiming costs must serve upon the adverse party and file with the clerk, within five days after notice of the entry of judgment, a memorandum of the items of his costs in the action or proceeding, verified by his oath, or the oath of his attorney or agent, or of the clerk of his attorney, stating that to the best of his knowledge and belief the items are correct, and were incurred in good faith in the action or proceeding, in accordance with law, and upon reasonable grounds. A party dissatisfied with the costs claimed, may have the same taxed by the court, upon written notice given within five days after service of the memorandum of costs, designating the items objected to and the grounds of such objection. Upon such motion, the party claiming costs must make proof of all items objected to by the adverse party.

SEC. 235. Section ten hundred and thirty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1034. A party awarded his costs by the supreme court on an appeal, or in an original proceeding therein, must, if he claims the same, serve upon the adverse party and file in such court, within ten days after its judgment has become final, a verified memorandum of his costs as provided in section ten hundred and thirty-three. Upon service of such memorandum, the adverse party, if dissatisfied with the costs claimed, may, within the time and in the manner provided in section ten hundred and thirty-three, have the same taxed by such appellate court. When such costs have been taxed or ascertained, the clerk of the court must, in an original proceeding, issue execution therefor. In all other cases he must certify the amount thereof to the clerk of the court from which the appeal was taken, and upon the filing of such certificate, execution therefor may issue from the latter court, as in case of a judgment of that court.

SEC. 236. Section ten hundred and thirty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1036. When the plaintiff in an action or special proceeding resides out of the state, or is a foreign corporation, security for the costs and charges, which may be awarded against such plaintiff, may be required by the defendant. When required, all proceedings in the action or special proceeding must be stayed until an undertaking, executed by two or more persons, is filed with the clerk, to the effect that they will pay such costs and charges as may be awarded against the plaintiff by judgment, or in the progress of the action or special proceeding, not exceeding the sum of three hundred dollars. A new or an additional undertaking may be ordered by the court or judge, upon proof that the original undertaking is insufficient security, and proceedings in the action or special proceeding stayed until such new or additional undertaking is executed and filed.

SEC. 237. Section ten hundred and thirty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1037. After the lapse of thirty days from the service of notice that security is required, or of an order for new or additional security, upon proof thereof, and that no undertaking as required has been filed, the court or judge must order the action or proceeding to be dismissed.

SEC. 238. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered ten hundred and forty and to read as follows:

Section 1040. None of the provisions of this chapter, except those of sections ten hundred and thirty, ten hundred and thirty-one, ten hundred and thirty-three, ten hundred and thirty-six, ten hundred and thirty-seven, ten hundred and thirty-eight, and ten hundred and thirty-nine, and subdivisions one, two, four, five, six, and eight of section ten hundred and twenty-one, and the general provisions of said section ten hundred and twenty-one, apply to justices' courts.

SEC. 239. Section ten hundred and forty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1049. An action is deemed to be pending from the time of its commencement until its final determination upon appeal, or until the time for appeal has passed, unless the judgment is sooner satisfied by or with the consent of the appellant.

SEC. 240. Section ten hundred and fifty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1054. When an act to be done, as provided in this code, relates to the pleadings in the action, or the undertakings to be filed, or the justification of sureties, or the preparation of statements, or of bills of exceptions, or of amendments thereto, or to the service of notices other than of appeal, the time allowed by this code may be extended, upon good cause shown, by a judge of the superior court in and for the county in which the action is pending, or by the judge who presided at the trial of the action; but such extension shall not exceed thirty days, without the consent of the adverse party; nor shall the time within which one may demur be extended; except that when it appears to the judge to whom said application is made, that the sole attorney of record for the party applying for said extension is actually engaged in attendance upon a session of the legislature of this state, as a member thereof; in which case it shall be the duty of said judge to extend said time until said session of the legislature adjourns, and thirty days thereafter. No extension of time for more than three days shall be granted, except upon notice of at least three days to the adverse party.

SEC. 241. Section ten hundred and fifty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1055. If an action is brought against any officer or person for an act for the doing of which he had theretofore received any valid bond or covenant of indemnity, and he gives seasonable notice thereof to the persons who executed such bond or covenant, and permits them to conduct the defense of such action, the judgment recovered therein is conclusive evidence against the persons so notified; and the court may, on motion of the defendant, upon notice of five days, and upon proof of such bond or covenant, and of such notice and permission, enter judgment against them for the amount so recovered and costs.

SEC. 242. Section ten hundred and fifty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1057. In any case where an undertaking or bond is authorized or required by any law of this state, the officer taking the same must, except in the case of such a corporation as is mentioned in the next preceding section, require the sureties to accompany it with an affidavit that they are each residents and householders, or freeholders, within the state, and are each worth the sum specified in the undertaking or bond, over and above all their just debts and liabilities, exclusive of property exempt from execution; but when the amount specified in the undertaking or bond exceeds three thousand dollars, and there are more than two sureties thereon, they may state in their affidavits that they are severally worth amounts less than the amount specified in the undertaking or bond, if the whole amount is equivalent to that of two sufficient sureties. Any corporation such as is mentioned in the next preceding section, may become one of such sureties. No such corporation must be accepted in any case as a surety when its liabilities exceed its assets, as ascertained in the manner provided in section ten hundred and fifty-six. Whenever an undertaking has been given and approved in any action or proceeding, and it is thereafter made to appear to the satisfaction of the court that any surety upon such undertaking has for any reason become insufficient, the court may, upon notice, order the giving of a new undertaking, with sufficient sureties, in lieu of such insufficient undertaking. In case such new undertaking so required shall not be given within the time required by such order, or in case the sureties thereon fail to justify thereon when required, all rights obtained by the filing of such original undertaking shall immediately cease.

SEC. 243. Section ten hundred and sixty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1069. The application must be made on the verified petition of the party beneficially interested, and the court may require a notice of the application to be given to the adverse party, or may grant an order to show cause why it should not be allowed, or may grant the writ without notice.

SEC. 244. Section ten hundred and eighty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1086. The writ must be issued in all cases where there is not a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy, in the ordinary course of law. It must be issued upon the verified petition of the party beneficially interested.

SEC. 245. Section ten hundred and eighty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1087. The writ may either be alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must command the party to whom it is directed immediately after the receipt of the writ, or at some other specified time, to do the act required to be performed, or to show cause before the court at a specified time and place why he has not done so. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he has not done as commanded must be omitted and a return day inserted.

SEC. 246. Section ten hundred and eighty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1088. When the application to the court is made without notice to the adverse party, and the writ is allowed, the alternative must be first issued; but if the application is upon due notice and the writ is allowed, the peremptory may be issued in the first instance. With the alternative writ and also with any notice of an intention to apply for the writ, there must be served on each person against whom the writ is sought a copy of the petition. The notice of the application, when given, must be at least ten days. The writ cannot be granted by default. The case must be heard by the court, whether the adverse party appears or not.

SEC. 247. Section ten hundred and eighty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1089. On the return of the alternative, or the day on which the application for the writ is noticed, the party on whom the writ or notice has been served may answer the petition under oath, in the same manner as an answer to a complaint in a civil action.

SEC. 248. Section eleven hundred and three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1103. It may be issued by any court except police or justices' courts, to an inferior tribunal or to a corporation, board, or person, in all cases where there is not a plain, speedy, and adequate remedy in the ordinary course of law. It is issued upon the verified petition of the person beneficially interested.

SEC. 249. Section eleven hundred and four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1104. The writ must be either alternative or peremptory. The alternative writ must command the party to whom it is directed to desist or refrain from further proceeding in the action or matter specified therein, until the further order of the court from which it is issued, and to show cause before such court, at a specified time and place, why such party should not be absolutely restrained from any further proceedings in such action or matter. The peremptory writ must be in a similar form, except that the words requiring the party to show cause why he should not be absolutely restrained, etc., must be omitted, and a return day inserted.

SEC. 250. Section eleven hundred and eight of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 251. Section eleven hundred and nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1109. Except as otherwise provided in this title, the provisions of part two of this code are applicable to, and constitute the rules of practice in, the proceedings mentioned in this title, and new trials and appeals therein.

SEC. 252. Section eleven hundred and ten of said code is hereby repealed, and a new section, numbered eleven hundred and ten, is hereby added to said code, to read as follows:

Section 1110. In case any court, judge, or other officer, or any board or other tribunal in the discharge of duties of a public character, is named as defendant, the complaint or petition must also disclose, so far as known to plaintiff or the petitioner, the name or names of the real party or parties, if any, in interest, or whose interest will be directly affected by the proceedings, and, in such case, the parties so named must be served with every notice, paper, or writ, served or required to be served upon the defendant, and are entitled to defend for their own interest.

SEC. 253. Section eleven hundred and fifteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1115. When an elector contests the right of any person declared elected to such office, he must, within twenty days after the declaration of the result of the election by the body canvassing the returns thereof, file with the county clerk a written statement, setting forth specifically:

1. The name of the party contesting such election, and that he is an elector of the district, county, or township, as the case may be, in which such election was held;

2. The name of the person whose right to the office is contested;

3. The office;

4. The particular grounds of such contest.

Such statement must be verified by the affidavit of the contesting party, that the matters and things therein contained are true.

SEC. 254. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered eleven hundred and twenty-four, and to read as follows:

Section 1124. Whenever the body canvassing the returns of any such election declares that no person has received the highest number of votes given for that particular office, any elector of the county, city, or political subdivision of either, in which such office is to be exercised, may, within twenty days after such declaration, contest the same by filing with the county clerk a written statement, setting forth specifically the matter stated in subdivisions one, three, and four of section eleven hundred and fifteen, and also the names of the persons shown by such declaration to have received an equal number of votes; which statement must be verified as provided in said section eleven hundred and fifteen. A citation must thereupon be issued for and served upon the persons so declared to have received an equal number of votes, as provided in section eleven hundred and nineteen, unless one of such persons is the contestant, in which case the citation need not be issued for or served upon him. Thereupon like proceedings must be had as are provided in this title for contesting the right of a person declared elected and all the provisions of this title, so far as applicable thereto, must govern in such proceedings.

Sec. 255. Section eleven hundred and twenty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1126. Either party aggrieved by the judgment of the court may, within thirty days after notice of the entry thereof, appeal therefrom to the supreme court, as in other cases of appeal thereto from the superior court.

Sec. 256. Section eleven hundred and thirty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1134. The statement must be filed with the clerk of the court in which the judgment is to be entered, who must indorse upon it, and enter in the judgment book, a judgment of such court for the amount confessed. The statement so verified and indorsed constitutes the judgment roll.

Sec. 257. The two sections of said code numbered eleven hundred and sixty-one, approved April first, eighteen hundred and seventy-eight, are hereby repealed, and a new section is hereby added to said code, numbered eleven hundred and sixty-one, to read as follows:

Section 1161. A tenant of real property for a term less than life is guilty of unlawful detainer:

1. When he continues in possession, in person or by subtenant, of the property, or any part thereof, after the expiration of the term for which it is let to him, without the permission of his landlord, or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be; but in case of a tenancy at will, it must first be terminated by notice, as prescribed in the Civil Code;

2. Where he continues in possession, in person or by subtenant, without the permission of his landlord, or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, after default in the payment of rent, pursuant to the lease or agreement under which the property is held, and three days' notice, in writing, requiring its payment, stating the amount which is due, or possession of the property, shall have been served upon him, and if there is a subtenant in actual occupation of the premises, also upon such subtenant. Such notice may be served at any time within one year after the rent becomes due. In all cases of tenancy upon agricultural lands, where the tenant has held over and retained possession for more than sixty days after the expiration of his term without any demand of possession or notice to quit by the landlord, or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, he shall be deemed to be holding by permission of the landlord, or the successor in estate of his landlord, if any there be, and shall be entitled to hold under the terms of the lease for another full year, and shall not be guilty of an unlawful detainer during said year, and such holding over for the period aforesaid shall be taken and construed as a consent on the part of a tenant to hold for another year;

3. When he continues in possession, in person or by subtenant, after a neglect or failure to perform other conditions or covenants of the lease or agreement under which the property is held, including any covenant not to assign or sublet, than the one for the payment of rent, and three days' notice, in writing, requiring the performance of such conditions or covenants, or the possession of the property, shall have been served upon him, and if there is a subtenant in actual occupation of the premises, also upon such subtenant. Within three days after the service of the notice, the tenant, or any subtenant in actual occupation of the premises, or any mortgagee of the term, or other person interested in its continuance, may perform the conditions or covenants of the lease or pay the stipulated rent, as the case may be, and thereby save the lease from forfeiture; provided, if the covenants and conditions of the lease, violated by the lessee, cannot afterward be performed, then no notice, as last prescribed herein, need be given to said lessee or his subtenant, demanding the performance of the violated covenant or conditions of the lease. A tenant may take proceedings, similar to those prescribed in this chapter, to obtain possession of the premises let to a subtenant, in case of his unlawful detention of the premises underlet to him.

4. Any tenant or subtenant assigning or subletting or committing waste upon the demised premises, contrary to the covenants of his lease, thereby terminates the lease, and the landlord, or his successor in estate, shall, upon service of three days' notice to quit, upon the person or persons in possession, be entitled to restitution of possession of such demised premises under the provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 258. Section eleven hundred and sixty-three of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 259. Section eleven hundred and sixty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1164. No person other than the tenant of the premises and subtenant, if there is one, in the actual occupation of the premises when the complaint is filed, need be made parties defendant in the proceeding, nor shall any proceeding abate, nor the plaintiff be nonsuited for the nonjoinder of any person who might have been made party defendant; but when it appears that any of the parties served with process, or appearing in the proceeding, is guilty of the offense charged, judgment must be rendered against him. In case a defendant has become a subtenant of the premises in controversy, after the service of the notice provided for by subdivision two of section eleven hundred and sixty-one, upon the tenant of the premises, the fact that such notice was not served on such subtenant constitutes no defense to the action. All persons who enter the premises under the tenant, after the commencement of the suit, are bound by the judgment, the same as if he or they had been made party to the action.

Sec. 260. Section eleven hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1166. The plaintiff, in his complaint, which shall be verified, must set forth the facts on which he seeks to recover, and describe the premises with reasonable certainty, and may set forth therein any circumstances of fraud, force, or violence which may have accompanied the alleged forcible entry or forcible or unlawful detainer, and claim damages therefor. In case the unlawful detainer charged is after default in the payment of rent, the complaint must state the amount of such rent. Upon filing the complaint, a summons must be issued thereon.

Sec. 261. Section eleven hundred and sixty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1167. The summons must require the defendant to appear and answer within three days after the service of the summons upon him, and must notify him that if he fails to so appear and answer, the plaintiff will apply to the court for the relief demanded in the complaint. In all other respects the summons, or any alias summons in such proceedings, must be issued and served and returned in the same manner as summons in a civil action.

Sec. 262. Section eleven hundred and seventy-five of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 263. Section eleven hundred and eighty of said code is hereby repealed.

Sec. 264. Section eleven hundred and eighty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1183. Mechanics, materialmen, contractors, subcontractors, artisans, architects, machinists, builders, miners, and all persons and laborers of every class, performing labor upon or furnishing materials to be used in the construction, alteration, addition to, or repair, either in whole or in part, of any building, wharf, bridge, ditch, flume, aqueduct, well, tunnel, fence, machinery, railroad, wagon road, or other structure, have a lien upon the property upon which they bestow labor, or furnish materials, for the value of such labor done and materials furnished, whether at the instance of the owner or of any other person acting by his authority, or under him, as contractor or otherwise; and any person who performs labor in any mining claim or claims, has a lien upon the same, and the works owned and used by the owners for reducing the ores from such mining claim or claims, for the work or labor done, or materials furnished, by each respectively, whether done or furnished at the instance of the owner of the building or other improvement, or his agent, and every contractor, subcontractor, architect, builder, or other person having charge of any mining, or of the construction, alteration, addition to, or repair, either in whole or in part, of any building or other improvement, as aforesaid, must be held to be the agent of the owner, for the purposes of this chapter. In case of a contract for the work, between the reputed owner and his contractor, the lien extends to the entire contract price, and such contract operates as a lien in favor of all persons, except the contractor, to the extent of the whole contract price; and after all such liens are satisfied, then as a lien for any balance of the contract price in favor of the contractor. All such contracts must be in writing when the amount agreed to be paid thereunder exceeds one thousand dollars, and must be subscribed by the parties thereto, and the said contract, or a memorandum thereof, setting forth the names of all the parties to the contract, a description of the property to be affected thereby, together with a statement of the general character of the work to be done, the total amount to be paid thereunder, and the amounts of all partial payments, together with the times when such payments shall be due and payable, must, before the work is commenced, be filed in the office of the county recorder of the county where the property is situated, who shall receive one dollar for such filing; otherwise they are wholly void, and no recovery shall be had thereon by either party thereto; and in such case, the labor done and materials furnished before the filing of such contract, by all persons aforesaid, except the contractor, must be deemed to have been done and furnished at the personal instance of the owner, and they have a lien for the value thereof.

Sec. 265. Section eleven hundred and eighty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1184. No part of the contract price, where the same exceeds one thousand dollars, must, by the terms of any such contract, be made payable, nor must the same or any part thereof be paid in advance of the commencement of the work, but the contract price must, by the terms of the contract, be made payable in installments at specified times after the commencement of the work, or on the completion of specified portions of the work, or on the completion of the whole work; provided, that at least twenty-five per cent of the whole contract price must be made payable at least thirty-five days after the final completion of the contract. No payment made prior to the time when the same is due, under the terms and conditions of the contract, is valid for the purpose of defeating, diminishing, or discharging any lien in favor of any person, except the contractor; but as to such liens, such payment must be deemed as if not made, and shall be applicable to such liens, notwithstanding that the contractor to whom it was paid may thereafter abandon his contract, or be or become indebted to the reputed owner in any amount for damages or otherwise, for non-performance of his contract or otherwise. As to all liens, except that of the contractor, the whole contract price shall be payable in money, and must not be diminished by any prior or subsequent indebtedness, offset, or counterclaim, in favor of the reputed owner and against the contractor; no alteration of any such contract shall affect any lien acquired under the provisions of this chapter. In case such contracts and alterations thereof do not conform substantially to the provisions of this section, the labor done and materials furnished by all persons except the contractor shall be deemed to have been done and furnished at the personal instance and request of the person who contracted with the contractor, and they shall have a lien for the value thereof. Any of the persons mentioned in section eleven hundred and eighty-three, except the contractor, may at any time give to the reputed owner a written notice that they have performed labor or furnished materials, or both, to the contractor, or other person acting by authority of the reputed owner, or that they have agreed to do so, stating in general terms the kind of labor and materials, and the name of the person to or for whom the same was done or furnished, or both, and the amount in value, as near as may be, of that already done or furnished, or both, and of the whole agreed to be done or furnished, or both. Such notice may be given by delivering the same to the reputed owner personally, or by leaving it at his residence or place of business, with some person in charge, or by delivering it to his architect or by leaving it at his residence or place of business, with some person in charge, or by posting it in a conspicuous place upon the mining claim or improvement. No such notice shall be invalid by reason of any defect of form, provided it is sufficient to inform the reputed owner of the substantial matters herein provided for, or to put him upon inquiry as to such matters. Upon such notice being given, it is the duty of the person who contracted with the contractor to, and he shall, withhold from his contractor, or from any other person acting under such reputed owner, and to whom by said notice the said labor or materials, or both, have been furnished, or agreed to be furnished, sufficient money, due, or that may become due to such contractor, or other person, to answer such claim and any lien that may be filed therefor for record under this chapter, including counsel fees, not exceeding one hundred dollars in each case, besides reasonable costs provided for in this chapter.

SEC. 266. Section eleven hundred and ninety-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1191. Any person who, at the request of the owner of any lot in any incorporated city or town, grades, fills in, or otherwise improves the same, or the street or sidewalk in front of or adjoining the same, or constructs any area, vault, cellar, or room, under said sidewalk, or makes any improvements in connection therewith, has a lien upon such lot for his work done and materials furnished, notice of which containing the statements provided for in section eleven hundred and eighty-seven must be filed, as therein specified, within thirty days after the completion of such work.

SEC. 267. Section eleven hundred and ninety-six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 268. Section twelve hundred and three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1203. Every contract required to be filed under the provisions of this chapter must be accompanied by a good and sufficient bond in an amount equal to at least twenty-five per cent of the contract price, conditioned for the faithful performance of the contract by the contractor, and for the payment by him to all persons who perform labor for or furnish materials to him, or to any subcontractor, which said bond must be filed at the same time and in the same manner as herein provided for the filing of such contract or memorandum thereof. Said bond must be executed by the contractor with at least two sureties, and must, by its terms, be made to inure to the benefit of any and all persons who perform labor for or furnish materials to the contractor, or any person acting for him or by his authority; and any such person shall have an action to recover upon said bond, against the principal and sureties, or either of them, for the value of such labor or materials, or both, not exceeding the amount of the bond; but such action does not affect his lien, nor any action to foreclose the same, except that there shall be but one satisfaction of his claim, with costs and counsel fees. Any failure to comply with the provisions of this section renders the owner and contractor jointly and severally liable in damages to any and all materialmen, laborers, and subcontractors entitled to liens upon the property affected by said contract.

SEC. 269. Section twelve hundred and four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1204. When any assignment, whether voluntary or involuntary, is made for the benefit of the creditors of the assignor, or results from any proceeding in insolvency commenced against him, the wages and salaries of miners, mechanics, salesmen, servants, clerks, laborers, and other persons, for services rendered for him within sixty days prior to such assignment, or to the commencement of such proceeding, and not exceeding one hundred dollars each, constitute preferred claims, and must be paid by the trustee or assignee before the claim of any other creditor of the assignor or insolvent.

SEC. 270. Section twelve hundred and five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1205. Upon the death of any employer, the wages, not exceeding one hundred dollars in amount, of each miner, mechanic, salesman, clerk, servant, laborer, or other employé, for work done or services rendered within sixty days prior to such death, must be paid before any other claim against the estate of such employer, except his funeral expenses, and expenses of the last sickness, the allowance to the widow and infant children, and the charges and expenses of administration.

SEC. 271. Section twelve hundred and six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1206. Upon the levy of any attachment or execution, not founded upon a claim for labor, any miner, mechanic, salesman, servant, clerk, laborer, or other person who has performed work or rendered services for the defendant within sixty days prior to the levy, may file a verified statement of his claim therefor with the officer executing the writ, and give copies thereof to the debtor and the creditor, and such claim, not exceeding one hundred dollars, unless disputed, must be paid by such officer from the proceeds of such levy remaining in his hands at the filing of such statement. If any claim is disputed, within the time, and in the manner prescribed in section twelve hundred and seven, the claimant must within ten days thereafter commence an action for the recovery of his demand, which action must be prosecuted with due diligence, or his claim to priority of payment is forever barred. The officer must retain in his possession until the determination of such action so much of the proceeds of the writ as may be necessary to satisfy the claim, and if the claimant recovers judgment, the officer must pay the same, including the costs of suit, from such proceeds.

SEC. 272. Section twelve hundred and seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1207. Within five days after receiving a copy of the statement provided for in the preceding section, either the debtor or the creditor may file with the officer a verified statement denying that any part of such claim is due for services rendered within sixty days next preceding the levy of the writ, or denying that any part of such claim, beyond a sum specified, is so due. If a part of the claim is admitted to be due, and the claimant nevertheless brings suit and does not recover more than the amount so admitted, he cannot recover costs, but the costs must be adjudged against him, and the amount thereof deducted from the sum found due him.

SEC. 273. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered twelve hundred and eight, and to read as follows:

Section 1208. If the claims presented under section twelve hundred and six and not disputed, or, if disputed, established by judgment, exceed the proceeds of the writ not disposed of before their presentation, such proceeds must be distributed among the claimants in proportion to the amount of their respective claims.

SEC. 274. Section twelve hundred and nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1209. The following acts or omissions in respect to a court of justice, or proceedings therein, are contempt of the authority of the court:

1. Disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior toward the judge while holding the court, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;
2. A breach of the peace, boisterous conduct, or violent disturbance, tending to interrupt the due course of a trial or other judicial proceeding;
3. Misbehavior in office, or other willful neglect or violation of duty by an attorney, counsel, clerk, sheriff, coroner, or other person, appointed or elected to perform a judicial or ministerial service;
4. Abuse of the process or proceedings of the court, or falsely pretending to act under authority of an order or process of the court;
5. Disobedience of any lawful judgment, order, or process of the court;
6. Assuming to be an officer, attorney, or counselor of a court, and acting as such, without authority;
7. Rescuing any person or property in the custody of an officer by virtue of an order or process of such court;
8. Unlawfully detaining a witness, or party to an action, while going to, remaining at or returning from the court where the action is on the calendar for trial;
9. Any other unlawful interference with the process or proceedings of a court;
10. Disobedience of a subpoena duly served, or refusing to be sworn or answer as a witness;
11. When summoned as a juror in a court, neglecting to attend or serve as such, or improperly conversing with a party to an action, to be tried at such court, or with any other person, in relation to the merits of such action, or receiving a communication from a party or other person in respect to it, without immediately disclosing the same to the court;
12. Disobedience by an inferior tribunal, magistrate, or officer, of the lawful judgment, order, or process of a superior court, or proceeding in an action or special proceeding contrary to law, after such action or special proceeding is removed from the jurisdiction of such inferior tribunal, magistrate, or officer.

SEC. 275. Section twelve hundred and ten of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1210. Every person dispossessed or ejected from any real property by the judgment or process of any court of competent jurisdiction, who, not having right so to do, re-enters into or upon or takes possession of any such real property, or induces or procures any person not having right so to do, or aids or abets him therein, is guilty of a contempt of the court by which such judgment was rendered or from which such process issued. Upon a conviction for such contempt the court must immediately issue an alias process, directed to the proper officer, and requiring him to restore such possession to the party entitled under the original judgment or process, or to his lessee, grantee, or successor in interest, and no appeal from the order directing the issuance of an alias writ of possession stays the execution thereof, unless a written undertaking is executed on the part of the appellant, with two or more sureties, to the effect that he will not commit or suffer to be committed any waste thereon, and if the order is affirmed, or the appeal dismissed, he will pay the value of the use and occupation of the property from the time of his unlawful re-entry until the delivery of the possession thereof, pursuant to the judgment or order, not exceeding a sum to be fixed by the judge of the court by which the order for the alias writ was made, and which must be specified in the undertaking.

SEC. 276. Section twelve hundred and seventeen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1217. When the person arrested has been brought up or appeared, the court must proceed to investigate the charge, and must hear any answer which the person arrested may make to the same, and may examine witnesses for or against him, for which an adjournment may be had from time to time, if necessary. If the contempt charged was not committed in the immediate view and presence of the court, and consists in disorderly, contemptuous, or insolent behavior toward the judge, or in a speech or publication reflecting upon or concerning the judge, the judge toward whom such behavior was directed, or upon or concerning whom such reflection was made, is disqualified to conduct such investigation.

SEC. 277. Section twelve hundred and eighteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1218. Upon the answer and evidence taken the court must determine whether the person proceeded against is guilty of the contempt charged, and if it is adjudged that he is guilty of the contempt, a fine may be imposed on him not exceeding five hundred dollars, or he may be imprisoned not exceeding five days, or both. If the contempt consists in disobedience of a lawful judgment, order, or process of the court, or an unlawful interference with the process of the court, whereby any party to the action or proceeding has suffered damage, the person found guilty thereof must also be adjudged to pay to the party so aggrieved the full amount of such damage and the costs of the proceeding, and be imprisoned until he make such payment.

SEC. 278. Section twelve hundred and twenty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1228. The application must be in writing, and must set forth:

1. That at a meeting of the stockholders or members called for that purpose, the dissolution of the corporation was resolved upon by a vote of two thirds of the members or of the holders of two thirds of the subscribed capital stock;

2. That all claims and demands against the corporation have been satisfied and discharged.

SEC. 279. Section twelve hundred and thirty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1230. Upon the filing of the application, the clerk must give notice of the same for such time as the court may order, but not less than thirty nor more than fifty days, by publication in some newspaper published in the county; and if there is none such, then by notices posted in three of the principal public places in the county.

SEC. 280. Section twelve hundred and thirty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1234. If the applicant is a savings and loan association, or engaged in the business of receiving money on deposit, and there is any unclaimed deposit or dividend in its hands belonging to a person whose whereabouts are unknown to the trustees, directors, or other officers presenting the application, the application must set forth the name of the person making such deposit, or entitled to such dividend, the time when such deposit was made or dividend declared, the residence, if known, of such person at the time of such deposit, the amount of such deposit or dividend, and the fact that the whereabouts of such person are unknown. The same facts must be stated in the notice of the application given by the clerk. If, at any time before the expiration of the time of publication, any person files a claim to such deposit or dividend, the court must, at the hearing and upon five days' notice to him, hear and determine his claim, and, if such claim is established, order such money to be paid to him. All such deposits or dividends not so claimed, or as to which no claim shall be established, must, upon order of the court, be paid into the state treasury, accompanied with a copy of the order, which must set forth the facts hereinbefore required to be stated concerning such deposits or dividends; and, upon production of the treasurer's receipt for such payment, the court may proceed to declare the corporation dissolved as in other cases. All unclaimed deposits and dividends so paid into the state treasury must be received, invested, accounted for, and paid out, in the same manner and by the same officers as is provided by law in the case of escheated estates, and in section twelve hundred and seventy-two.

SEC. 281. Section twelve hundred and fifty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1255. If the plaintiff, in his complaint, or by notice served and filed at least ten days before the trial, offers to permit judgment to be taken against him and in favor of any defendant for a sum specified, and the verdict is not for any greater sum, such defendant must not be allowed any costs incurred after the making of such offer, and the plaintiff may recover from such defendant such of his costs incurred after the making of the offer, as the court, in its discretion, deems just. Otherwise no costs must be allowed against any defendant, and every defendant to whom damages are awarded shall recover his costs, which must be deemed to be a part of the assessment in his favor.

SEC. 282. Section twelve hundred and fifty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1257. The provisions of part two of this code relative to new trials and appeals apply to the proceedings mentioned in this title, except in so far as they are inconsistent therewith. Upon the payment of the sum of money assessed, and the execution of the bond to build the fences and cattle-guards, as provided in section twelve hundred and fifty-one, the plaintiff is entitled to take and hold possession of the property sought to be condemned, and to improve and devote it to the public use in question. Neither a motion for a new trial, nor an appeal, shall, after such payment and the filing of such bond, in any manner retard the contemplated use and improvement. Any money deposited, as provided in section twelve hundred and fifty-four, must be applied to the payment of the sum assessed, and the balance, if any, returned to the plaintiff.

SEC. 283. Section twelve hundred and sixty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1269. When the attorney-general is informed that any estate has escheated to this state, he must file an information, in behalf of the state, in the superior court of the county in which said estate, or any part thereof, is situate, setting forth a description of the estate, the name of the person last possessed thereof, and the person claiming the estate, if known, and the facts and circumstances in consequence of which the estate is claimed to have escheated, with an allegation that, by reason thereof, the State of California has right by law to such estate. Upon such information, a summons must issue to said claimant and possessor, requiring them to appear and answer the information within the time allowed by law in civil actions; and the court must make an order setting forth briefly the contents of the information, and requiring all persons interested in the estate to appear and show cause, if any they have, within forty days from the date of the order, why such estate should not vest in this state; which order must, prior to the expiration of such time, be published for at least one month, in a newspaper published in the county, if one is published therein, and in case no newspaper is published in the county, in some other newspaper in this state.

SEC. 284. Section twelve hundred and seventy of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1270. The court, upon the information being filed, and upon application of the attorney-general, either before or after answer, upon notice to the party claiming the estate, if known, may upon sufficient cause therefor being shown, appoint a receiver to take charge of such estate, or any part thereof, or to receive the rents, income, and profits of the same until the title of such estate is finally settled.

SEC. 285. Section twelve hundred and seventy-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1271. All persons named in the information may appear and answer, and traverse or deny the facts stated therein at any time before the time for answering expires, and any other person claiming an interest in such estate may appear and be made a defendant, by motion for that purpose in open court within the time allowed for answering, and if no such person appears and answers within the time, then judgment must be rendered that the state is the owner of the property in such information claimed. But if any person appears or denies the title set up by the state, or traverses any material fact set forth in the information, the issue of fact must be tried as issues of fact are tried in civil actions. If, after the issues are tried, it appears from the facts found or admitted that the state has good title to the property in the information mentioned, or any part thereof, judgment must be rendered that the state is the owner and entitled to the possession thereof, and that it recover costs of suit against the defendants who have appeared and answered. In any judgment rendered, or that has heretofore been rendered by any court, escheating property to the state, on motion of the attorney-general, the court must make an order that such property, unless it consists of money, be sold by the sheriff of the county, where it is situate, at public sale, for gold coin, after giving notice of the time and place of sale, as may be prescribed by the court in such order; that the sheriff, within five days after such sale, make a report thereof to the court, and upon the hearing of such report, the court may examine the report and witnesses in relation thereto, and if the proceedings were unfair, or if the sum bid is disproportionate to the value, or if it appears that a sum exceeding said bid, exclusive of the expense of a new sale may be obtained, the court may vacate the sale, and direct another to be had, of which notice must be given, and the sale in all respects conducted as if no previous sale had taken place. If an offer greater in amount than that named in the report is made to the court in writing, by a responsible person, the court may, in its discretion, accept such offer and confirm the sale to such person, or order a new sale. If it appears to the court that the sale was legally made, and fairly conducted, and that the sum bid is not disproportionate to the value of the property sold, and that a sum exceeding such bid, exclusive of the expense of a new sale, cannot be obtained, or if the increased bid above mentioned is made and accepted by the court, the court must make an order confirming the sale, and directing the sheriff, in the name of the state, to execute to the purchaser or purchasers a conveyance of said property sold; and said conveyance vests in the purchaser or purchasers all the right and title of the state therein, and the sheriff must, out of the proceeds of such sale, pay the cost of said proceedings incurred on behalf of the state, including the expenses of making such sale, and also an attorney's fee, if additional counsel was employed in said proceedings, to be fixed by the court, not exceeding ten per cent on the amount of such sale, and the residue thereof must be paid by said sheriff into the state treasury.

Sec. 286. Section twelve hundred and seventy-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1272. Within twenty years after judgment in any proceeding had under this title, a person not a party or privy to such proceeding may file a petition in the superior court of the county of Sacramento, showing his claim or right to the property, or the proceeds thereof. A copy of such petition must be served on the attorney-general at least twenty days before the hearing of the petition, who must answer the same; and the court thereupon must try the issue as issues are tried in civil actions, and if it is determined that such person is entitled to the property, or the proceeds thereof, it must order the property, if it has not been sold, to be delivered to him, or if it has been sold and the proceeds paid into the state treasury, then it must order the controller to draw his warrant on the treasury for the payment of the same, but without interest or cost to the state, a copy of which order, under the seal of the court, shall be a sufficient voucher for drawing such warrant. All persons who fail to appear and file their petitions within the time limited are forever barred; saving, however, to infants, and persons of unsound mind, the right to appear and file their petitions at any time within the time limited, or within five years after their respective disabilities cease.

Sec. 287. Section twelve hundred and seventy-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1276. All applications for change of names must be made to the superior court of the county where the person whose name is proposed to be changed resides, by petition, signed by such person; and if such person is under twenty-one years of age, if a male, and under the age of eighteen years, if a female, by one of the parents, if living, or if both are dead, then by the guardian; and if there is no guardian, then by some near relative or friend. The petitioner must specify the place of birth and residence of such person, his or her present name, the name proposed, and the reason for such change of name; and must, if the father of such person is not living, name, as far as known to the petitioner, the near relatives of such person, and their place of residence. Any religious, benevolent, literary, scientific, or other corporation, or any corporation bearing or having for its name, or using or being known by the name of, any benevolent or charitable order or society, may, by petition, apply to the superior court of the county in which its articles of incorporation were originally filed, or in which the property of such corporation is situated, for a change of its corporate name. Such petition must be signed by a majority of the directors or trustees of the corporation, and must specify the date of the formation of the corporation, its present name, the name proposed, and the reason for such change of name. Upon filing such petition on behalf of such corporation, the same proceedings may be had as upon applications for changes of names of natural persons.

Sec. 288. Section twelve hundred and seventy-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1277. A copy of such petition must be published for four successive weeks, in some newspaper printed in the county, if a newspaper is printed therein, but if no newspaper is printed in the county, a copy of such petition must be posted at three of the most public places in the county for a like period, and proof must be made of such publication or posting before the petition can be considered.

Sec. 289. Section thirteen hundred of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1300. A petition for the probate of a will must show:

1. The jurisdictional facts;
2. Whether the person named as executor consents to act, or renounces his right to letters testamentary;
3. The names and residences of the heirs, devisees, and legatees of the decedent, so far as known to the petitioner, and whether any of them are minors, and if so who;
4. The probable value and character of the property of the estate;
5. The name of the person for whom letters testamentary are prayed.

No defect of form, or in the statement of jurisdictional facts actually existing, shall make void the probate of a will.

Sec. 290. Section thirteen hundred and four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1304. A copy of the notice of the time appointed for the probate of the will must be addressed to the person named as executor, if he is not the petitioner, also to any person named as co-executor not petitioning, at their places of residence, if known to the petitioner, and deposited in the postoffice, with the postage thereon prepaid, at least ten days before the hearing. Proof of mailing the copies of the notice must be made at the hearing. Personal service of copies of the notice at least ten days before the day of hearing is equivalent to mailing.

Sec. 291. Section thirteen hundred and six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1306. At the time appointed for the hearing, or the time to which the hearing may have been postponed, the court, unless the parties appear, must require proof that the notice has been given, which being made, the court must hear testimony in proof of the will, unless some person interested has appeared to contest the will.

SEC. 292. Section thirteen hundred and seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1307. If no person appears to contest the probate of a will, the court may admit it to probate on the testimony of one of the subscribing witnesses only, if he testifies that the will was executed in all particulars as required by law, and that the testator was of sound mind at the time of its execution. If it appears at the time fixed for the hearing that none of the subscribing witnesses resides in the county, but that the deposition of one of them can be taken elsewhere, the court must direct it to be taken, and may authorize a photographic copy of the will to be made and to be presented to such witness on his examination, who may be asked the same questions with respect to it and the handwriting of himself, the testator, and the other witness, as would be pertinent and competent if the original will were present. If neither the attendance in court nor the deposition of any of the subscribing witnesses can be procured, the court may admit the testimony of any other witness, as provided in section thirteen hundred and seventeen.

SEC. 293. Section thirteen hundred and eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1308. The testimony of each witness, reduced to writing, and signed by him, is good evidence in any subsequent contest, if the witness is dead, or has permanently removed from this state.

SEC. 294. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered thirteen hundred and ten, and to read as follows:

Section 1310. If the court is satisfied, upon the proof taken, that the will was duly executed, and that the testator at the time of its execution was of sound and disposing mind, and not acting under duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence, a certificate of the proof and the facts found, signed by the judge and attested by the seal of the court, must be attached to the will.

SEC. 295. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered thirteen hundred and eleven, and to read as follows:

Section 1311. The will, and a certificate of the proof thereof, must be filed and recorded by the clerk, and the same, when so filed and recorded, constitutes part of the record in the cause or proceeding. All testimony must be filed by the clerk.

SEC. 296. Section thirteen hundred and twelve of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 297. Section thirteen hundred and thirteen of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 298. Section thirteen hundred and fourteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1314. At the time appointed for the hearing, or at the time to which the hearing may have been postponed, any person interested may appear and contest the will. If any such contestant is a minor, he may contest the will through his guardian. Written grounds of opposition to the probate of the will must be filed, and a copy thereof must be served on the petitioner. Upon the filing of the opposition, a citation must be issued, upon the order of the court, to the executors named in the will, to all the devisees and legatees mentioned in the will, to all the heirs of the decedent so far as known, and generally to all persons unknown who have or claim any interest in the estate, which citation must require them to appear before the court, on some day therein specified, to answer the opposition. The day so specified must be not less than eighty nor more than ninety days from the issuing of the citation. The citation must be published for two months in some newspaper published in the county, to be designated by the court, and must be personally served upon each of the persons named therein who can be found within the state, at least thirty days before the return day thereof. The opposition must be accompanied by the affidavit of the contestant, setting forth the name and place of residence of each of the heirs, devisees, and legatees, so far as known to him, and so far as he can ascertain by diligent inquiry. If the residence of any such person is without the state, a copy of the citation must, at or before the date of its first publication, be mailed to such person at his postoffice address, if known. The first publication of the citation must be within seven days from the date of its issuance. On the day designated in the citation, or within such further time, not exceeding ten days, as may be granted by the court, the petitioner, or any person interested in the estate or in the will, may answer such opposition, or may demur thereto upon any of the grounds of demurrer provided for in chapter three of title six of part two of this code. If the demurrer is sustained, the court must allow the contestant a reasonable time, not exceeding ten days, within which to amend his opposition. If the demurrer is overruled, the petitioner and others interested may jointly or separately answer the contestant's grounds, traversing or otherwise obviating or avoiding the objections. Any issues of fact thus raised, involving:

1. The competency of the decedent to make a last will and testament;
 2. The freedom of the decedent at the time of the execution of the will from duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence;
 3. The due execution and attestation of the will by the decedent or subscribing witnesses; or,
 4. Any other questions substantially affecting the validity of the will;
- Must, on request of either party in writing, filed three days prior to the day set for the hearing, be tried by a jury. If no jury is demanded, as above provided, the court must try and determine the issues joined. On the trial the contestant is plaintiff, and the petitioner and all other persons interested in the estate or in the will are defendants; and the judgment upon such contest is conclusive upon all persons in any manner interested in the estate or in the will.

If more than one person appear as contestants, they shall be deemed co-plaintiffs, and such contests must be tried together as one contest. No contest can be dismissed until after the return day, nor then, except upon the consent of all parties who have appeared. A dismissal has the same effect as a final judgment against the contestants. A person is not interested within the meaning of this section unless the probate of the will would injuriously affect him in his property rights.

SEC. 299. Section thirteen hundred and fifteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1315. When a jury is demanded, the superior court must impanel a jury to try the case in the manner provided for impaneling trial juries in civil cases; and the trial must be conducted in accordance with the provisions of part two, title eight, chapter four, of this code. A trial by the court must be conducted as provided in part two, title eight, chapter five, of this code.

SEC. 300. Section thirteen hundred and sixteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1316. The jury, after hearing the case, must return a special verdict upon the issues submitted to them by the court, upon which the judgment of the court must be rendered, either admitting the will to probate or rejecting it. In either case, the proofs of the subscribing witnesses must be reduced to writing. If the will is admitted to probate, the judgment, will, and proofs must be recorded.

SEC. 301. Section thirteen hundred and seventeen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1317. If the will is contested, all the subscribing witnesses who are present in the county, and who are of sound mind, must be produced and examined, and the death, absence, or insanity of any of them must be satisfactorily shown to the court. If none of the subscribing witnesses reside in the county at the time appointed for proving the will, or if any subscribing witness is incompetent, or is unable to recollect the facts as to the sanity of the testator or the execution of the will, the court may admit the testimony of other witnesses to prove the sanity of the testator and the execution of the will; and as evidence of the execution it may admit proof of the handwriting of the testator and of the subscribing witnesses, or any of them. The court may also authorize the taking of the deposition of a subscribing witness, and the making of a photographic copy of the will, as provided in section thirteen hundred and seven.

SEC. 302. Section thirteen hundred and eighteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1318. If it appears from the verdict of the jury, or the decision of the court, that the will was duly executed, and that the testator at the time of its execution was of sound and disposing mind and not acting under duress, menace, fraud, or undue influence, a certificate of the proof and the facts found, signed by the judge and attested by the seal of the court, must be attached to the will.

SEC. 303. Section thirteen hundred and twenty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1323. When a copy of the will, and the probate thereof, duly authenticated, shall be produced by the executor, or by any other person interested in the will, with a petition for letters, the same must be filed, and the clerk of the court must appoint a time for the hearing; notice whereof must be given as hereinbefore provided for an original petition for the probate of a will.

SEC. 304. Section thirteen hundred and twenty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1327. When a will has been admitted to probate, without the filing of any contest, any person interested, as provided in section thirteen hundred and fourteen, may, at any time within one year after such probate, contest the same or the validity of the will. For that purpose he must file in the court in which the will was proved, a petition in writing, containing his allegations against the validity of the will, or against the sufficiency of the proof, and praying that the probate may be revoked.

SEC. 305. Section thirteen hundred and twenty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1328. Upon filing the petition, and within one year after such probate, a citation must be issued to the executor of the will, or to the administrator, with the will annexed, and to all the legatees and devisees mentioned in the will, or to their personal representatives, if any of them are dead, requiring them to appear before the court on some day therein specified, to show cause why the probate of the will should not be revoked. The citation may be served by publication in the cases and in the manner provided in sections four hundred and twelve and four hundred and thirteen. If, at the time such publication is ordered, the day specified in the citation has passed, or must pass before such publication can be completed, the court must make an order continuing the hearing to some later day, and a copy of such order must be published with the citation.

SEC. 306. Section thirteen hundred and twenty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1329. At the time appointed for showing cause, or at any time to which the hearing is postponed, proof having been made of service of the citation upon all of the persons named therein, the court must proceed to try the issues of fact joined in the same manner as an original contest of a will.

SEC. 307. Section thirteen hundred and thirty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1330. On written demand of either party, filed three days prior to the hearing, a trial by jury must be had as in cases of the contest of an original petition to admit a will to probate. If, upon hearing the proofs of the parties, the jury finds, or if no jury is had, the court decides, that the will is for any reason invalid, or that it is not sufficiently proved to be the last will of the testator, the probate must be annulled and revoked.

SEC. 308. Section thirteen hundred and thirty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1339. No will must be proved as a lost or destroyed will, unless the same is proved to have been in existence at the time of the death of the testator, or is shown to have been fraudulently destroyed in the lifetime of the testator, or to have been destroyed by him when he was not of sound and disposing mind, nor unless its provisions are clearly and distinctly proved by at least two credible witnesses.

SEC. 309. Section thirteen hundred and forty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1349. The court admitting a will to probate, after the same is proved and allowed, must issue letters thereon to the persons named therein as executors who are competent to discharge the trust, unless they or either of them have renounced their right to letters and if no objection is made as provided in section thirteen hundred and fifty-one. In the order, the court must ascertain and determine the value of the property of the estate, which determination is conclusive for the purpose of giving notice to creditors, but for no other purpose.

SEC. 310. Section thirteen hundred and fifty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1350. No person is competent to serve as executor who, at the time the will is admitted to probate, is:

1. Under the age of majority;
2. Convicted of an infamous crime;
3. Adjudged by the court incompetent to execute the duties of the trust by reason of drunkenness, improvidence, or want of understanding or integrity.

SEC. 311. Section thirteen hundred and fifty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1351. Any person interested in the estate or will may file objections in writing to granting letters testamentary to the persons named as executors or any of them, and the objections must be heard and determined by the court; a petition may, at the same time, be filed for letters of administration with the will annexed.

SEC. 312. Section thirteen hundred and fifty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1356. If no executor is named in the will, or if the sole executor or all the executors therein named are dead or incompetent, or renounce or fail to apply for letters, or to appear and qualify, letters of administration with the will annexed must be issued to the surviving wife or some competent person whom she may request to have appointed, or if there is no surviving wife, or if she makes no application or request, then to one or more of the legatees or devisees named in the will, or to some competent person whom he or they may request to have appointed, preference being given as between them in the order specified in section thirteen hundred and sixty-five. Administrators with the will annexed have the same authority over the estates which executors named in the will would have, and their acts are as effectual for all purposes.

SEC. 313. Section thirteen hundred and sixty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1365. Except as is by this code otherwise provided, administration of the estate of a person dying intestate must be granted to some one or more of the persons hereinafter mentioned, or some competent person whom he or they may request to have appointed, the relatives of the deceased being entitled to administer only when they are entitled to succeed to his personal estate, or some portion thereof; and they are, respectively, entitled thereto in the following order:

1. The surviving husband or wife;
2. The children;
3. The father or mother;
4. The brothers;
5. The sisters;
6. The grandchildren.
7. The next of kin entitled to share in the distribution of the estate;
8. The public administrator;
9. The creditors;
10. Any person legally competent.

If the decedent was a member of a partnership at the time of his decease, the surviving partner must in no case be appointed administrator of his estate.

SEC. 314. Section thirteen hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1366. Of several persons claiming and equally entitled to administer, males must be preferred to females, and relatives of the whole to those of the half blood, and when there is no such preference the court may grant letters to one or more of such persons.

SEC. 315. Section thirteen hundred and sixty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1367. Administration may be granted to one or more competent persons, although not otherwise entitled to the same, at the written request of the person entitled, or of a person who would be entitled if a resident of the state, filed in the court. When the person making such request is a nonresident of the state, affidavits, taken ex parte before any officer authorized by the laws of this state to take acknowledgments and administer oaths out of this state, may be received as prima facie evidence of the identity of the party, if free from suspicion, and the fact is established to the satisfaction of the court.

SEC. 316. Section thirteen hundred and sixty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1368. If the person entitled to administration is a minor or an incompetent person, letters must be granted to his or her guardian, if such guardian is competent and applies for letters.

SEC. 317. Section thirteen hundred and seventy-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1371. Petitions for letters of administration must be in writing, signed by the applicant or his counsel, and filed with the clerk of the court, stating the facts essential to give the court jurisdiction of the case, and when known to the applicant, he must state the names, ages, and residences of the heirs of the decedent, and the value and character of the property. If the jurisdictional facts exist, but are not fully set forth in the petition, the decree or order of administration and subsequent proceedings are not void on account of such want of jurisdictional averments.

SEC. 318. Section thirteen hundred and seventy-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1375. On the hearing, it being first proved that notice has been given as herein required, the court must hear the allegations and proofs of the parties, and order the issuing of letters of administration to the party best entitled thereto. In the order the court must ascertain and determine the value of the property of the estate, which determination is conclusive for the purpose of giving notice to creditors, but for no other purpose.

SEC. 319. Section thirteen hundred and seventy-nine of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 320. Section thirteen hundred and eighty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1383. When letters of administration have been granted to any other person than the surviving husband or wife, child, father, mother, brother, or sister of the intestate, any one of them who is competent, or any competent person at the written request of any one of them, whether the person so requesting is a resident or non-resident of the state, may obtain the revocation of the letters, and be entitled to the administration, by presenting to the court a petition praying the revocation, and that letters of administration may be issued to him.

SEC. 321. Section thirteen hundred and ninety-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1399. On the return of the citation, or at such other time as the judge may appoint, he must proceed to hear the proofs and allegations of the parties. If it satisfactorily appears that the security is from any cause insufficient, he must make an order requiring the executor or administrator to file a new bond in the usual form and penalty, within a reasonable time, not less than five days.

SEC. 322. Section fourteen hundred and four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1404. If a new bond is given, with sureties to the satisfaction of the judge, he must thereupon make an order that the surety who applied for relief shall not be liable on the bond for any subsequent act, default, or misconduct of the executor or administrator.

SEC. 323. Section fourteen hundred and five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1405. If the executor or administrator neglects or refuses to give a new bond, with sureties to the satisfaction of the judge, on the return of the citation, or within such reasonable time as the judge may allow, unless the surety making the application consents to a longer extension of time, the court or judge must, by order, revoke his letters.

SEC. 324. Section fourteen hundred and six of said code is hereby repealed.

SEC. 325. Section fourteen hundred and twelve of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1412. The appointment may be made at any time, and without notice, and must be made by entry upon the minutes of the court. Upon such order being entered, and after the person appointed has given bond, the clerk must issue letters of administration to such person in conformity with the order.

SEC. 326. Section fourteen hundred and fifteen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1415. The special administrator must collect and preserve for the executor or administrator, all the goods, chattels, debts, and effects of the decedent; all incomes, rents, issues, and profits, claims, and demands of the estate; must take charge and management of, enter upon and preserve from damage, waste, and injury, the real estate; and for any such and all necessary purposes may commence and maintain or defend suits and other legal proceedings as an administrator; he may sell such perishable property as the court may order to be sold, and exercise such other powers as are conferred upon him from time to time, by the orders of the court, but in no case is he liable to an action by any creditor on a claim against the decedent.

Sec. 327. Section fourteen hundred and seventeen of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1417. The special administrator must render an account, on oath, of his proceedings in a like manner as other administrators are required to do. He is entitled to a reasonable compensation for his services, to be fixed by the court at the time of the settlement of his final account, which shall be a debt against the estate, to be paid in the ordinary course of administration.

Sec. 328. Section fourteen hundred and twenty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1423. Upon the admission to probate of a will after a grant of letters of administration on the ground of intestacy, or upon the admission to probate of a later will than the one before admitted to probate, the pre-existing grant of letters testamentary or of administration must be revoked, and the administrator or executor whose grant of authority is thus terminated must render an account of his administration within such time as the court may direct.

Sec. 329. Section fourteen hundred and twenty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1426. If all such executors or administrators die, resign, or become incompetent, or the authority of all of them is revoked, the court must issue letters of administration, with the will annexed or otherwise, in the same order and manner as is directed in relation to original letters of administration, and, in case of a will, as provided in section thirteen hundred and fifty-six. The administrator so appointed must give bond in the like penalty, with like sureties and conditions, as hereinbefore required of administrators, and has the like power and authority.

Sec. 330. Section fourteen hundred and thirty-one of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1431. When a petition is filed in the superior court, praying for admission to probate of a will, or for granting letters testamentary or of administration, or when proceedings are pending in the superior court for the settlement of an estate, and there is no judge of said court qualified to act, an order must be made transferring the proceedings to the superior court of an adjoining county; and the clerk of the court ordering the transfer must transmit to the clerk of the court to which the proceedings are ordered to be transferred a certified copy of the order and all papers on file in his office in the proceedings; and thereafter the court to which the proceedings are transferred shall exercise the same authority and jurisdiction over the estate, and all matters relating to the administration thereof, as if it had original jurisdiction of the estate; provided, there shall not be any necessity for transferring such proceedings, or any of them, when a judge of some other county qualified to act attends at the request of the judge of the county where such proceedings are pending, to hold court, to conduct and to try such proceedings; and such judge, when so called upon to preside, shall exercise the same jurisdiction over any proceeding in the estate as is exercised in other cases under like circumstances.

Sec. 331. Section fourteen hundred and thirty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1432. The transfer of a proceeding from one court to another, as provided for in the preceding section, does not affect the right of any person to letters testamentary or of administration on the estate transferred, but the same persons are entitled to letters testamentary or of administration on the estate, in the order hereinbefore provided. If, before the administration is closed of any estate so transferred as herein provided, another person is elected or appointed, and qualified as judge of the court wherein such proceeding was originally commenced, who is not disqualified to act in the settlement of the estate, and the causes for which the proceeding was transferred no longer exist, any person interested in the estate may have the proceeding returned to the court from which it was originally transferred, by filing a petition setting forth these facts, and moving the court therefor.

Sec. 332. Section fourteen hundred and thirty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1436. Whenever a judge of a superior court has reason to believe, from his own knowledge, or from credible information, that any executor or administrator has wasted, embezzled, or mismanaged, or is about to waste or embezzle the property of the estate committed to his charge, or has committed or is about to commit a fraud upon the estate, or is incompetent to act, or has permanently removed from the state, or has wrongfully neglected the estate, or has long neglected to perform any act as such executor or administrator, he must, by an order entered upon the minutes of the court, direct such executor or administrator to be cited to appear and show cause why his letters should not be revoked, and may also suspend the powers of such executor or administrator, until the matter is investigated.

Sec. 333. Section fourteen hundred and thirty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1437. If the executor or administrator fails to appear in obedience to the citation, or, if he appears, and the court is satisfied from the evidence that there exists cause for his removal, his letters must be revoked.

Sec. 334. Section fourteen hundred and forty-three of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1443. Every executor or administrator must make and return to the court, within three months after his appointment, a true inventory and appraisement of all the estate of the decedent within this state, including the homestead, if any, which has come to his possession or knowledge. If the decedent requests in his will that no inventory be filed, or that no appraisement be made, the executor or administrator shall not file any inventory or obtain any appraisement, unless the court, upon the application of a creditor or of some person interested, after such notice as the court may direct, and for good cause shown, requires a complete or partial inventory or appraisement.

Sec. 335. Section fourteen hundred and forty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1445. Before proceeding to the execution of their duty, the appraisers must take and subscribe an oath, to be attached to the inventory, that they will truly, honestly, and impartially appraise the property exhibited to them, according to the best of their knowledge and ability. They must then proceed to estimate and appraise the property; each item of property must be set down separately, with the value thereof in dollars and cents, in figures, opposite to the items respectively. The inventory must contain all the estate of the decedent, real and personal, a statement of all debts, bonds, mortgages, notes, and other securities for the payment of money belonging to the decedent, specifying the name of the debtor in each debt or security, the date, the sum originally payable, the indorsement thereon (if any), with their dates, and the sum which, in the judgment of the appraisers, may be collected on each debt or security; and a statement of the interest of the decedent in any partnership of which he was a member, to be appraised as a single item. The inventory must also show, so far as the same can be ascertained by the executor or administrator, what portion of the property is community property, and what portion is the separate property of the decedent.

Sec. 336. Section fourteen hundred and forty-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1447. The naming of a person as executor does not thereby discharge him from any just claim which the testator has against him, but the claim must be included in the inventory, and the executor is liable for the same, as for so much money in his hands, when the debt or demand becomes due; unless he proves that he had not, either at that time or any time thereafter, any means wherewith to pay such debt or demand, or such part thereof as may remain unpaid, and that such inability did not arise from any fraud committed by him.

Sec. 337. Section fourteen hundred and fifty-two of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1452. The executor or administrator is entitled to the possession of all the real and personal estate of the decedent, and to receive the rents and profits of the real estate until the estate is settled, or until delivered over by order of the court to the heirs or devisees; and must keep in good tenable repair all houses, buildings, and fixtures thereon which are under his control. After the expiration of the time for the presentation of claims, he is not entitled to recover the possession of any property of the estate from an heir, devisee, or legatee, or the assignee of an heir, devisee, or legatee, unless he proves that the same is necessary for the payment of debts or legacies, or of expenses of administration already accrued, or for distribution to some other heir, devisee, or legatee entitled thereto.

Sec. 338. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered fourteen hundred and fifty-four, and to read as follows:

Section 1454. The surviving husband or wife of any deceased person, or, if no husband or wife is living, then the children of such decedent, may, without procuring letters of administration, collect of any savings bank, any sum which said deceased may have left on deposit in such bank at the time of his or her death; provided, such deposit shall not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars. Any savings bank, upon receiving an affidavit stating that said depositor is dead, and that affiant is the surviving husband or wife, as the case may be, or stating that decedent left no husband or wife, and that affiant is or affiants are the children of said decedent, and that the whole amount that decedent left on deposit in any and all savings banks or banks of deposit in this state does not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, and that the entire estate, so far as known to said affiants, other than such deposit or deposits, does not exceed the sum of one hundred dollars, may pay to said affiant or affiants any deposit of said decedent, if the same does not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars, and the receipt of such affiant is a sufficient acquittance therefor.

Sec. 339. Section fourteen hundred and fifty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1458. If any person embezzles, conceals, smuggles, or fraudulently disposes of any of the moneys, goods, chattels, or effects of a decedent, he is chargeable therewith and liable to an action by the executor or administrator of the estate for double the value of the property so embezzled, concealed, smuggled, or fraudulently disposed of, to be recovered for the benefit of the estate.

SEC. 340. Section fourteen hundred and fifty-nine of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1459. If any executor, administrator, or other person interested in the estate of a decedent, complains to the superior court, or a judge thereof, on oath, that any person is suspected to have concealed, embezzled, smuggled, or fraudulently disposed of any moneys, goods, or chattels of the decedent, or has in his possession or knowledge any deeds, conveyances, bonds, contracts, or other writings, which contain evidences of or tend to disclose the right, title, interest, or claim of the decedent to any real or personal estate, or any claim or demand, or any lost will, the said court or judge may cite such person to appear before such court, and may examine him on oath upon the matter of such complaint. If such person is not in the county where the decedent died, or where letters have been granted, he may be cited and examined either before the superior court of the county where he is found, or before the superior court of the county where the decedent died, or where letters have been granted. But if he appears and is found innocent, his necessary expenses must be allowed him out of the estate.

SEC. 341. Section fourteen hundred and sixty of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1460. If the person so cited refuses to appear and submit to an examination, or to answer such interrogatories as may be put to him, touching the matters of the complaint, the court may, by warrant for that purpose, commit him to the county jail, there to remain in close custody until he submits to the order of the court, or is discharged according to law. If, upon such examination, it appears that he has concealed, embezzled, smuggled, or fraudulently disposed of any moneys, goods, or chattels of the decedent, or that he has in his possession or knowledge any deeds, conveyances, bonds, contracts, or other writings containing evidences of or tending to disclose the right, title, interest, or claim of the decedent to any real or personal estate, claim, or demand, or any lost will of the decedent, the court may make an order requiring such person to disclose his knowledge thereof to the executor or administrator, and may commit him to the county jail, there to remain until the order is complied with, or he is discharged according to law; and all such interrogatories and answers must be in writing, signed by the party examined, and filed in the court. In addition to the examination of the party, witnesses may be produced and examined on either side.

SEC. 342. Section fourteen hundred and sixty-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1464. When a person dies, leaving a surviving spouse and minor children or either, they, until letters are granted and the inventory is returned, are entitled to remain in possession of the homestead, of the wearing apparel of the family, and of all the household furniture of the decedent; and the widow and children, or either, are also entitled to a reasonable provision for their support, to be allowed by the superior court. The surviving husband, in the case mentioned in section one hundred and seventy-six of the Civil Code, may also have such allowance out of the estate of his deceased wife as the court deems proper.

SEC. 343. Section fourteen hundred and sixty-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1465. Upon the return of the inventory, or at any subsequent time during the administration, the court may, on its own motion, or on petition therefor, set apart for the use of the surviving husband or wife, or in case of his or her death, to the minor children of the decedent, all the property exempt from execution, including the homestead, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 344. Section fourteen hundred and sixty-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1466. If the property set apart is insufficient for the support of the widow and children, or either, the court or a judge thereof must make such reasonable allowance out of the estate as shall be necessary for the maintenance of the family, according to their circumstances, during the progress of the settlement of the estate, which, in case of an insolvent estate, must not be longer than one year after granting letters testamentary or of administration.

SEC. 345. Section fourteen hundred and sixty-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1468. When property, other than the homestead selected and recorded during the lifetime of the decedent, is set apart to the use of the family, in accordance with the provisions of this chapter, such property, if the decedent left a surviving spouse and no minor child, is the property of such spouse. If the decedent left also a minor child or children, the one half of such property belongs to the surviving spouse, and the remainder to the child, or in equal shares to the children, if there are more than one. If there is no surviving spouse, the whole belongs to the minor child or children. If the property set apart is a homestead, selected from the separate property of the decedent, the court can set it apart only for a limited period, to be designated in the order, and, subject to such homestead right, the property remains subject to administration.

SEC. 346. Section fourteen hundred and seventy of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1470. If the widow has an income, derived from her separate property, the court must make to her only such allowance for her maintenance as, together with such income, is reasonable.

SEC. 347. Section fourteen hundred and seventy-four of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1474. If the homestead selected and recorded prior to the death of the decedent, is returned in the inventory appraised at not exceeding five thousand dollars in value, the superior court must, by order, set it off to the persons in whom the title to the same is vested under the provisions of the Civil Code.

SEC. 348. Section fourteen hundred and seventy-five of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1475. If the homestead so selected and recorded is returned in the inventory appraised at more than five thousand dollars, the appraisers must also determine and report whether the premises can be divided without material injury, and, if they find that they can be thus divided, they must admeasure, and set apart as a homestead, such portion of the premises, including the dwelling house, as amounts in value to the sum of five thousand dollars and make report thereof, giving a full description of the portion so set apart as a homestead.

SEC. 349. Section fourteen hundred and seventy-six of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1476. Any two of the appraisers concurring may discharge the duties imposed upon the three, and make the report. A dissenting report may be made by the third appraiser. The report must state fully the acts of the appraisers. Both reports may be heard and considered by the court in determining a confirmation or rejection of the majority report, but the minority report must in no case be confirmed.

SEC. 350. Section fourteen hundred and seventy-seven of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1477. When the report of the appraisers is filed, the court must set a day for hearing any objections thereto, from any one interested in the estate. Notice of the hearing must be given for such time, not less than ten days, and in such manner, as the court may direct. If the court is satisfied that the report is correct, it must be confirmed, otherwise rejected. In case the report is rejected, the court must appoint new appraisers to examine and report upon the homestead, and similar proceedings may be had for the confirmation or rejection of their report as upon the first report.

SEC. 351. Section fourteen hundred and seventy-eight of said code is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 1478. If the court confirms a report of the appraisers, admeasuring and setting apart a portion of the premises as a homestead, the court must, by order, set off, to the persons entitled thereto under the provisions of the Civil Code, the portion of the premises so admeasured and set apart. The remainder of the homestead, as selected and recorded, remains subject to administration, for the purpose of paying the debts of the decedent, and for no other purpose, and shall not be taken for the payment of debts if the other funds of the estate are adequate for that purpose. On distribution of the estate, the same, or so much thereof as shall not have been taken for the payment of debts, must be distributed to the persons entitled to succeed to the homestead under the provisions of the Civil Code. If the court confirms a report of the appraisers finding that the premises exceed in value the sum of five thousand dollars, and that they can not be divided without material injury, the court may thereafter make an order for the sale of the premises and the distribution of the proceeds to the parties entitled thereto. Such order cannot be made unless there are debts of the decedent remaining unpaid, and for the payment of which there is no other sufficient property of the estate. Of the proceeds of any such sale the sum of five thousand dollars must be paid to the persons entitled to succeed to the homestead under the provisions of the Civil Code, and only the remainder of such proceeds is applicable to the payment of debts. So much of the remainder of such proceeds as has not been applied to the payment of debts must, on distribution of the estate, be distributed to the persons entitled to succeed to the homestead under the provisions of the Civil Code.

SEC. 352. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered fourteen hundred and seventy-nine, and to read as follows:

Section 1479. Whenever the homestead, so selected and recorded, is returned in the inventory appraised at more than five thousand dollars, the persons entitled to succeed to the same under the provisions of the Civil Code may, if they so desire, pay to the executor or administrator the excess of value at which the same is appraised over five thousand dollars; and, in that case, the court must, upon such payment, set off the whole of the homestead so selected and recorded to such person.

SEC. 353. A new section is hereby added to said code, to be numbered fourteen hundred and eighty, and to read as follows:
